I've given Thanksgiving some serious thought and even amidst all the tragedy around lately, I managed to come up with some pretty heavy blessings that have been bestowed on me.

One particular blessing is the unselfishness I've witnessed in the face of so much disaster lately. I'm overwhelmed with all the giving and caring (even if some feel the need to brag about their good deeds).

Next on my list of blessings is my family, especially my husband. They all continue to support me and still love me no matter how grouchy I get. (I just quit smoking.)

Third on my list would be my friends, especially those who strive to enrich lives, rather than engage in picayune paltry (petty gossip). I'm also thankful for those who gossip about me. After all, if it's me they're picking apart, they're leaving someone else alone. Bless them.

When I tried to think of a fourth blessing, my co-workers came to mind. They try so hard to put up with my little? quirks. God bless them for being so human and for letting me be human.

Number five on my list is one of the most important blessings I can count. I have this friend who has strenghtened my faith, lifted my spirits with silliness and laughter, and increased my knowledge by imparting his wisdom and patience.

Wait a minute! I'm not always this sickeningly sweet. I'm more of a Nutra-sweet. All seriousness aside, there are two additional things that make me thankful as heck, 1) I'm not having the entire family for dinner this year, and 2) figuratively speaking, I'm not a turkey.

Honestly, have a happy Thanksgiving.

Cook's Quotes
by Susan Alvarez

Listed below are some direct quotes from the Thanksgiving Day cook overheard in kitchens across America.

"I hope this turkey has thawed out. . ."

"Did I forget to buy celery?"

"Please, snow, wait three more weeks so I can finish Christmas shopping. . ."

"Someone get the door. My hands are sticky."

"Where'd I put the butter?"

"Get your grubby hands outta the stuffing!"

"Now where'd I leave the cranberries? If they don't turn down that blasted football game. . ."

"Would anyone within hearing range of my voice care to set the table?"

"The next person that asks when we're eating is in real danger of getting this pumpkin pie right in the kisser."

"We haven't even eaten, and already I have a sink full of dishes."

"Would anyone within hearing range of my voice care to set the table?"

"I hope this turkey is ready."

"Uh oh, I forget to cook the yams."

"This gravy doesn't look right. Kids, where's your brown poster paint.?"

"I guess I better set the table."

"Come on, everybody! Time to eat!"

"I'm too tired to eat. I think I'll take a nap."

Puzzuoli Speaks Out . . .

by Dr. David Puzzuoli
Interim President
Garrett Community College

Garrett Community College has impacted the local community in many ways. The most obvious and most important impact is the College provides the opportunity for Garrett County Citizens to obtain a quality education at a relatively low cost. The College is also involved in many community events and activities.

One factor which is often overlooked is the College's impact upon the local economy. GCC employs 60 full-time and 90 part-time personnel. In Fiscal Year 1985, Garrett Community College's gross payroll was approximately $1,300,000.

Also, to facilitate the instructional program at Garrett Community College, many expenses other than payroll must be incurred. In Fiscal Year 1985, the College spent $920,395 on goods and services other than payroll expenditures. With its policy of spending its money locally, the greatest proportion of this money was spent in Garrett County.

To better understand the impact the College expenditures have on the local economy, a "multiplier" must be applied to the figures given above. The multiplier is the number of times a dollar turns over before it "dies". In other words, if the multiplier is five and $1.00 is put into the local economy, this dollar will have a $5.00 impact upon the economy.

In Fiscal Year 1985, the employees of Garrett Community College had a net payroll of $853,008. In addition, $54,419 of withholding stayed in the County; this would be items such as Christmas Club accounts. Workstudy and Pell Grant payments of $445,101 were also spent locally. The College also pumps $140,000 in Guaranteed Student Loans into the local economy. Thus, GCC was responsible for putting $1,492,528 directly into the local economy. The multiplier for this region is 4.8. Therefore, GCC had an impact of approximately $7,164,000 upon the local economy.

Certainly, the $7,164,000 is no small impact. Yet, this amount does not include Federal, State, Social Security, Unemployment, and other taxes that the College and its employees must pay. Many of these tax dollars, return to Garrett County in various forms. The total amount sent to various tax collecting agencies (Federal and State) is approximately $500,000.

If one were to look at the College in strictly business terms, that is, the return of investment, the expenditure of local tax dollars on GCC is a sound and wise investment. In Fiscal Year 1985, local taxes spent on the College by the County Commissioners was $632,200. This investment produced an impact of approximately $7,164,000 upon the local economy. That is, for every $1.00 of local taxes spent to operate Garrett Community College, approximately $11.30 was returned. A modest conclusion from all these figures is that Garrett County is receiving a pretty good economic return from local tax dollars spent to operate Garrett Community College.

Artice Building Career, Acclaim With Black Belt Skills In Tae Kwon Do

by Don Sincell

Success in the martial arts has resulted not only in some national awards for one Garrett County resident, but also in the creation and expansion of a local business.

Toney Artice, Friendsville, who is a second degree black belt in the Korean karate form of martial arts called Tae Kwon Do (pronounced "tie kwan doe"), began teaching his craft on weekends at Garrett Community College about five years ago. Since that time, when he had about 30 local students, he has opened four area studios and is about to start a fifth one. He and several assistant instructors are now teaching well over 200 persons in Oakland, Uniontown, Markleysburg, and Kingwood. His new studio will be in Davis.

"I never dreamed it would take off this way," stated Artice. "The response has just been remarkable."

Artice's athletic abilities became quite evident while he was a student at Northern High School, where he recorded an incredible 54-1 record in wrestling. After graduation in 1977, he attended Fairmont State College on a wrestling scholarship.

The following year he transferred to the University of Maryland at College Park, which is when he began studying karate in the private studio of Master Duk Choi, an eighth degree black belt, in Washington, D.C. Master Choi, who was the head instructor in Korea for years, plus a many-times full-contact world champion, was a student at the Chung Do Kwan, the first and most prestigious school of Tae Kwon Do established in Korea. The founder of the school, Master Lee, is now retired and residing in Washington, while his former students are teaching all over the United States and Korea.

TAE KWON DO, the Korean form of the martial arts, is something that Garrett County resident, Toney Artice, does quite well. In fact he is a second degree black belt in the sport and has established four local Tae Kwon Do studios which currently enroll over 200 students. Artice also recently placed second in his weight class in advanced black belt finals at the USA Tae Kwon Do Championships in Kansas City, Mo. A native and resident of Friendsville, Artice is a graduate of Northern High School, where he recorded a 54-1 record in wrestling.

Tae Kwon Do quickly became more than just a hobby or a daily workout for Artice and he decided to drop out of college and devote full time to the art. He worked from eight to 12 hours a day under Master Choi and, within three and one-half years, earned his black belt.

Artice was still residing and studying in Washington when he began teaching at GCC. However, after seeing the local interest and enthusiasm for the art form in Garrett County, he decided to come back to this area and establish a fulltime studio.

His first and largest studio is located on the third floor of the McLaughlin building (now Helbig building) in Oakland, where he teaches nearly 100 students. His Uniontown studio, which is located at the YMCA building, has about 40 students; he teaches over 50 at the Mt. Top Fellowship center in Markleysburg, and now has over 30 students at his Kingwood studio. Artice's staff is composed of former students who have climbed to the black belt level, including Gary Smoot, Mike Smoot, Cheryl Blamble, Jeanette Tracy, and Bill Friend. Artice says he spends most of his time teaching at the Oakland studio, but makes a point of going to each of the other locations at least once each week.

Several of his students have achieved the rank of black belt, including Jeanette Tracy's young sons, Dave, age 11, an Eddie, 12. Testing is done at the studios every two months for every level through brown belt, which is one step under black belt. Testing for the black belt must be done in Washington.

Two others who have achieved their black belts under Artice's instruction are Garrett County deputies, Paul Pratt and Rick Kutchman.

Artice not only teaches, but continues to work on his own black belt degrees and participate in various competitions. He recently returned from Kansas City, Mo., with a second place in fighting in the advanced black belt finals of the 1985 USA Tae Kwon Do Championships. He competed in the lightweight division which is under 185 pounds. Artice weighs 155 pounds.

There were nearly 500 persons overall in the competition at the various belt levels. Approximately two dozen of the top fighters in the country competed in Artice's category.

When asked about the various martial art forms and their differences, Artice said, "From a purely technical sense, only the Japanese use karate, which involves considerable use of the hands. Tae Kwon Do is the Korean form, which utilizes more kicking than karate. The Chinese martial art is Kung Fu. Only the Tae Kwon Do form is really well organized in this country."

Tae Kwon Do's roots go back some 2,500 years in Korea. However, the modern form was organized by the Korean government in 1942.

Artice said that Tae Kwon Do will be introduced by way of exhibition at the 1988 Olympics and will then hopefully become one of the regular Olympic events in 1992.

Artice was asked whether most students begin karate or Tae Kwon Do for the purposes of self-defense or from the standpoint of exercise.

"I think most come originally for the self-defense aspect," he said, "but it doesn't take them long to find out how their bodies change in terms of conditioning and flexibility. The cardiovascular system really gets a good workout too.

"Another characteristic of the sport is that it is not just repetition of certain moves, but also learning skills," he continued. "When you first begin it is a lot of repetition and memorization, but eventually you begin to use a lot of concentration at the same time, about how you should move and what your next move should be. This is one way it differs from, say, a regular exercise class."

Having the opportunity to learn self-defense, establish self-discipline, improve self-confidence, increase one's alertness, build character, improve the health of one's body and, thus, elevate one's self esteem, all at one time, must surely be why the classes and art/sport taught by Tony Artice are so popular.

Persons interested in learning more about the local Tae Kwon Do classes are invited by Artice to visit one of the studios during the evening hours, or telephone 746-5722.

ALL AGES seem to be attracted to learning the martial arts, for reasons of self-defense and general exercise. Above, Artice instructs white belt student William West, age 8, in the proper form. All beginning students start at the white belt level and, with time, persistence, and hard work, can rise through the various colors of belts all the way to black belt. Several of Artice's local students have acquired their black belt, including two Garrett County deputies. Several of these students now teach at one of Artice's four studios.

LOTS OF KICKING is a characteristic of Tae Kwon Do which sets it apart from the Japanese karate and the Chinese Kung Fu. Above, Artice demonstrates one technique to white belt student, Diane Whitacre. Artice has studios in Oakland, Uniontown, Markleysburg, and Kingwood and is planning to open another one in Davis, W.Va.

Real Estate

By ROBERT HUEBNER
Deep Creek Realty

DEED — VERB OR NOUN?

Title to real estate, today, is transferred by a written legal document—a deed. This wasn't always so. The word "deed" in common usage, means the doing of an act. At one time the "deed" which transferred land was just that.

American real estate law traces its roots to England, and there, several hundred years ago, title to land was transferred from seller to buyer after the two had walked the "metes and bounds"—or the property lines—of the real estate. Then, in the presence of witnesses, the seller threw a clod of dirt, striking the new owner! This symbolized the transfer. Later, the "deed" which closed the transfer came to be a bit less violent, such as handing a twig from the property to the new owner. Of course, the witnesses were necessary to insure there was proof of the transfer.

Transfer of real estate is far more sophisticated and complex now than it was in medieval England. No "deed" during the ancient time was ever held in escrow! Also, you can't get hit by a clod of dirt in today's market.

DEWEY J. WILCOX

Dewey James Wilcox, 64, of Backbone Mountain near Swanton, died Saturday shortly after admittance at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W.Va.

Born in Westernport, he was a son of the late Dewey Kenneth Wilcox and Leola (Reeves) Wilcox Walker.

He was a veteran of World War II; retired as a supervisor of machine coating at Westvaco's Luke mill; member of Trinity United Methodist Church, Hiram Lodge 103 AF&AM, Victory Post 155 American Legion and a life member of the McCoole VFW.

Surviving are his wife, Dorothy Lee (Poland) Wilcox; a son, Thomas Wilcox, Luke; five daughters, Mrs. Judy Ann Fulk, Waldorf; Mrs. Louella Friend and Mrs. Joyce Paugh, both of Swanton; Mrs. Jeanne Lee Bowman, Piedmont, W.Va., and Miss Janie Lyn Wilcox, at home; a brother, Kenneth E. Wilcox, Luke; a half-brother, James Walker, Barton; a half-sister, Mrs. Edith Raines, Lonaconing, and 11 grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Boal Funeral Home. Hiram Lodge 103 AF&AM conducted a memorial service Monday night, and a service was conducted at the funeral home Tuesday by the Rev. Curtis Saville. Interment was in Philos Cemetery.

Military rites were accorded at graveside by members of the American Legion.

DELBERT W. LEE

Delbert W. Lee, infant son of Jeff Hutt and Adria (Lee) McCarty of Kitzmiller, died Friday, November 22, at the West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown.

He was born in Oakland September 15, 1985.

Besides his parents, survivors include one brother, Charles William Lee, at home, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frances Lee, Kitzmiller.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Sunday by the Rev. Leslie Hipp. Interment was in Mount Zion Cemetery, Kitzmiller.

MRS. W. J. McALLISTER

Mrs. Harriett M. McAllister, 54, formerly of Oakland, died Thursday, November 21 at her residence in Bradenton, Fla.

Born in Oakland April 10, 1931, she was the daughter of Mrs. Mary (Gonder) Pollack, Oakland, and the late James L. Pollack.

Also a former resident of Cumberland, Mrs. McAllister was employed at the C&P Telephone Company and later the S.T. Little Company. She also was a Girl Scout leader with Shawnee Council. In Bradenton, she was employed as a nurse's aide.

Surviving besides her mother are her husband, Walter J. McAllister, Bradenton; three daughters, Amie Logsdon, Annapolis; Sylvia McFarland Wicklein, Annapolis; and Sharon McFarland, Takoma Park; four sons, Jody Logsdon, Florida; Marx McFarland, Ridgeley, W.Va.; Scott McFarland, Cumberland; and Craig McFarland, serving with the Army in Belgium; three sisters, Mrs. Barbara Rogan, Hometown, Pa.; Mrs. Jeannie Fruhlinger, Penn Hills, Pa., and Mrs. Nancy Ellis, San Ramon, Calif., and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. McAllister was previously married to Peter C. McFarland, Cumberland.

A memorial service will be held at the Stewart Funeral Home Friday at 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. Father Martin Feild officiating. Interment will be in Oakland Cemetery.

DARRELL W. DEAL

Darrell W. Deal, 49, of Meyersdale, Pa., died suddenly Friday, November 22, at his residence.

Born June 28, 1936, in Garrett County, he was a son of Myrtle (Meese) Deal, Salisbury, Pa., and the late Clarence Deal.

He was a self-employed carpenter and a member of the Greenville Lutheran Church and the Somerset County Farmers' Association.

Surviving besides his mother are his wife, Alice (Baker) Deal, and two brothers, Paul D. Deal, Salisbury, and Terry L. Deal, Meyersdale.

Friends were received at the Leckemby Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Monday by the Rev. David Fetter. Interment was in Greenville Union Cemetery.

THE HUNTER'S DREAM — A group of students at Southern High School recently completed a mural, "The Hunter's Dream", as part of the Maryland State Arts Council's Artists-in-Education Program. The students collaborated in all phases of the mural's design, construction, and installation during the 20 day workshop conducted by Donald Cook, artist-in-residence. "I chose the difficult theme of hunting as the focal point for this project for several reasons," said Cook. "Hunting is an important aspect in the life of Garrett County, and while the theme of hunting is an ancient and recurring theme in western art, today it is largely confined to magazine illustration. I also wanted the students to design the piece in such a way that parts of the mural would stand out, in relief, from the wall, creating an interesting and varied surface. The students responded to these problems in a lively and thoughtful way and the mural, designed and completed in a scant 20 days, is bold evidence of their enthusiasm, imagination and hard work." Cook went on to say that cooperation and support from Sonia Pratt and Linda Reeves-Cook, of the Southern Art Department; Al Ringer and Sally Wilson, of the Board of Education; Arthur Refosco, Henrietta Lease and Robert Quick, of Southern High School all aided in the completion of the mural, which will be installed in the school lobby. Pictured above with Cook (far left) are participating students, left to right: Mark Weeks, Joe Evans, Tim Kepple, Vickie Wilson, Kristin Rosenberry, Daina Savage, Miranda Fitzwater, and Tracy Humberson. Not pictured are: Claire Toussaint, Regina Tasker, Joey Sisler, Scott Lohr, John DeWitt, and Natalie Gregory.

Mathias Proposal Concerns Threat Of Killer Bees

A proposal by Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) that would control Africanized honeybee or killer bee migration to the United States from Central America was approved by the Senate recently.

In an amendment to the farm bill, Mathias requested that $2 million be spent over the next four years to conduct research on the killer bee and its habits and to find ways to control its population growth or tame its aggressive temperament.

The Africanized honeybee was introduced into this hemisphere some 30 years ago, in Brazil, and has been moving slowly northward ever since.

Farming in Maryland

"African bees dominate the European bees common in North America and will very quickly wipe out the gentler, more useful bees to which we are accustomed," said Mathias. "If that happens, it will not be only the beekeeper who will lose his livelihood, but also thousands of other farmers who depend upon pollination for their crops, because the dangerous Africanized bees do not lend themselves to commercial handling."

African bees differ from the European variety because they attack people and animals in swarms and they attack more readily. Their dominant genes, which could allow them to inhabit areas across the United States in a year's time, combined with their aversion to remain in an orchard or field long enough to commercially pollinate it, could cripple agriculture.

The Africanized bees are of the same variety that was found attacking animals in California this summer. While those bees were contained, there is potential for a more widespread invasion if the bees enter the country through Texas in 1990 as experts predict. "Acting now," Mathias said, "would enable us to understand and combat them before an invasion."

Mathias' amendment allows for $500,000 per year for four years to be allocated to study the bees. The funds would be divided between two laboratories of the U.S. Agricultural Research Service: the Beltsville Agricultural Research center in Maryland which will monitor the bees' migration into the United States and identify masses of bees through a new computer; and the Bee Breeding and Stock Center Laboratory in Baton Rouge, Lousiana which will conduct genetic research with the hope of developing a stronger variety of the European bee.

"This amendment would give us the opportunity to further the progress already made by the Beltsville laboratory and would help develop several possible methods of genetically restraining or trapping the Africanized bees before they arrive," Mathias said.

Beef Management Tips

Cull Cow Herds Hard - Every beef cow in Garrett County should be pregnancy checked by a competent veterinarian or technician and those open need to make a trip down the road. This is a paying practice that not enough cow-calf producers utilize. Cows that weaned light calves, poor quality calves, or cows that have advanced age or unsoundness need to go.

Implanting - The question always comes up as to whether calves that are to be wintered for spring sale or grazing next summer should be implanted during the winter. Steer and heifer calves that definitely are not going to be kept for replacement (breeding) should be implanted if you are putting 200 pounds or more on them during the winter. Ten to fifteen percent more gain can be put on calves from the same amount of feed by using implants. You have a choice of materials including Ralgro, Compudose, Synovex S for steers and H for heifers or Steer-oid. Implanting is a proven money making practice.

Feed Additives - All Calves that are to be wintered, including replacement heifers, where a significant amount of gain is expected can probably profit by being fed either Rumensin or Bovatec. On high forage rations, either one of these feed additive materials will increase feed efficiency and average daily gain. A convenient way for these feed additives to be purchased and used by farmers is to buy them in mineral supplement or premix. If either product has 1,200 grams per ton that equals 600 milligrams per pound. So if you plan to feed 200 milligrams per head per day, that would be ⅓ of a pound. If you know the grams per ton, dividing that number by 2 will give you the milligrams per pound of the product.

Worming time Is Here - Fall of the year is certainly the time when all young cattle, whether they are steers or heifers to be wintered and sold or replacement heifers, need to be dewormed with one of the good worming materials. Priority for worming are calves, young cows and then mature cows from a cost benefit ratio. Safe-Guard, Tramisol, TBZ and Rumatel are all good products. Ivomec is an effective worming material for internal and external parasites but do not use it after November 1 if cattle have not been treated for grubs. Remember there is no point in putting costly feed in worms this winter.

Lice Control - Mark New Year's Day on your calendar right now and plan on giving your beef a mid-winter lice treatment on that day or close to it. If you used a grubicide in the fall you can use Spotton, Warbex, Co-Ral or one of the materials at full or half strength. If you did not treat for grubs, use Dursban 44 or Lysoff. Do not wait until you see lice to treat them. Treat cattle, knowing lice are there and need to be killed.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

The Senate passed a massive piece of legislation Saturday called the 1985 Farm Bill. After spending 12 days or approximately 87 hours debating the bill, the final draft is a 440 page volume. The bill required 41 roll call votes to deal with the extraordinary 141 amendments which were made to the bill.

Those who have watched the Senate for years can't recall any other bill with that large a number of amendments. The 1983 Social Security bill had 80 amendments, which set a record at that time. Richard Weston of Sen. Charles McC. Mathias's office said that the Senate's end product may not be perfect, but it wasn't for want of trying.

The last amendment made before the final vote was taken late Saturday night, was a substitute amendment for everything else that had already been passed. This entirely new amendment, however, reflects in substance all the earlier votes. The most significant change made by this amendment dropped the compromise plan passed last week which gave the bill both a one-year freeze and a four-year freeze on income support prices, and substituted a new two-year freeze.

The definite wording of some of the most important parts of the Senate bill are as follows:

Under the wheat and feed grains portion of the bill, farmers will continue to receive crop loans at harvest with the option of repaying them or, if prices fail to reach the loan level, defaulting and letting the crop go into government storage. Loan rates, however, would be dropped in 1986. Corn loans would drop from their current $2.55 per bushel to $2.40, with wheat dropping from $3.30 per bushel to $3. Thereafter, the loan rates would be keyed to market prices, with any downward adjustment limited to five percent annually.

For wheat, a new three-year program would be created that would reward farmers who idle more of their land by giving them higher target prices. In 1986, for example, a wheat farmer who idled 15 percent of his cropland would be guaranteed $4.20 per bushel, while a 40 percent acreage retirement would bring a $5.50 per bushel guarantee. Payment levels would be phased down the next two years, and in 1989 the target price would be set at a minimum of $3.72. Unlike the House bill, the Senate bill allows for a wheat referendum, if at least 50 percent of wheat farmers called for a vote, on an alternative system of production and marketing controls with higher price supports.

For feed grains, the bill would provide a one-year freeze at the 1985 level, with annual reductions of up to five percent in 1987-89. But to offset the cuts, the farmer would receive government surplus commodities equal in value to the cuts in 1987 and 1988.

The dairy portion of the Senate bill is vastly different from the House version, which calls for diversions and whole herd buy outs. The Senate dairy provision calls for continuation of the current price support system but allows cuts in the price support rate beginning in 1987. Under this system, the government buys up non-fat dry milk, butter and cheese to soak up surplus milk production and maintain prices at $11.60 per hundred. That support rate could be trimmed by 50 cents to $1 a year so long as surpluses exceed certain levels.

A conservation and credit portion of the bill establishes "sodbuster" and "swampbuster" programs penalizing farmers who plow out new fragile lands or drain wetlands for planting. Farmers who plant on highly erodible land or wetlands would be denied farm program benefits such as subsidies, crop insurance and federal loans. A new long-term program would pay farmers to retire up to 40 million erodible acres from production and plant it in trees or other cover.

Under the bill, a $2 billion-a-year in-kind export bonus program would be used to make U.S. commodities more competitive overseas and $325 million would go specifically to offset the effects of foreign export subsidies. Food for Peace, the food-aid program for developing nations, would be extended for four years with underdeveloped countries allowed to buy increased amounts of food in foreign currencies, essentially another form of subsidy. And, programs designed to enhance commercial sales opportunities through credit or other subsidies would be exempted from "cargo preference" requirements that mandate that half of government-originated shipments be carried on more expensive U.S. vessels.

The Senate also made provisions for the food stamp program to be extended for four years, adding a requirement that states set up job training or job search programs and enroll at least 45 percent of able-bodied program beneficiaries by 1990.

This in essence, is the Senate bill; but don't start making plans on the basis of this bill. Both the Senate bill and the House bill must now go before a joint conference committee made up of senior members of both parties from the Senate and House Ag Committees. This conference committee is expected to begin work late in the first week of December, and just might stand a chance of completing the farm bill by the end of the year. Don't hold your breath though, because even after the conference committee is done, the bill must be passed by the full House and Senate then sent on to the president. It still has a long way to go.

USDA To Survey Maryland Farmers

Maryland agricultural producers will be asked to participate in a nationwide survey during late November and December.

The purpose of the survey, conducted by the Maryland Crop Reporting Service, is to gather information used to develop estimates for livestock numbers—including cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens. The survey will also provide the data used to develop the first indication of fall seeded winter wheat acreage for the 1986 crop.

M. Bruce West, statistician in charge of the Maryland Crop Reporting Service, said the survey will be comprised of a sample of several hundred farm operators located throughout the State.

Collection of data for the survey will begin November 20 and continue through the first week in December. Data will be collected by two methods. Staff members from West's office will personally interview a cross section of farmers and ranchers included in the sample. Other farmers will be asked to complete and return the questionnaire they receive in the mail.

West said, "Farmers' cooperation is necessary to provide reliable estimates and that all information reported by farmers and ranchers will be kept confidential. Individual reports will be used only in combination with other producer reports to develop official State and National estimates." Results from the survey will provide agricultural producers, business firms, policy makers, and other data users with information helpful in planning future activities.

One publication based on data from this survey is the Hogs and Pigs Report, released December 23. This report includes the U.S. and State Inventory of hogs and pigs on December 1, 1985, the pig crop for December 1984-November 1985, and farrowing intentions for the next six months.

Other publications with early 1986 relase dates drawing on data from this survey are: layers and egg production, released January 28; sheep and goats, released January 28; and cattle, released February 10.

Highlights of the Cattle Report will include U.S. and State estimates of the cattle inventory on January 1, and the number of cows that calved during 1985. The Layers and Egg Production Report will include the inventory of all chickens on farms on December 1, 1985, and egg production during the year. The Sheep and Goats Report will include the inventory for sheep and lambs on January 1, 1986.

More information about these reports can be obtained from the Maryland Crop Reporting Service, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

Davis Explains Provisions Of Loan Program

Olin S. Davis, Jr., chairman, Maryland State ASC Committee, says some farmers are considering the substitution provisions of the Price Support Loan Program to relieve tight grain storage conditions. Instead of having to transport their 1985-crop grain to commercial warehouses for storage, farmers who participate in the acreage reduction programs may request permission to buy grain at an approved warehouse and substitute that grain for their farm-grown grain.

"Substitution provisions of the Price Support Loan Program allow producers to place under loan a quantity of acquired grain equivalent to their eligible loan quantity, and then feed or sell their grain produced on the farm," Davis said.

When requesting substitution, Davis said farmers must own both the farm-produced grain and the acquired grain. The eligible production may be stored on the farm or in a warehouse. "It is not acceptable or necessary for farmers to bring each individual truck load of grain to our office for verification," he said.

Loan rates on substituted comodities will not be increased to reflect transportation and handling charges. County loan rates where the substituted commodity is stored, shall be used for substitution loans, according to Davis. Warehouse receipts for the substituted grain transferred from a current farm-stored loan to the warehouse must be submitted to the County ASCS Office within 15 days after approval.

"To be eligible for substitution, farmers must be willing to accept loan proceeds when our office approves the request and is in a position to disburse the loan," the ASCS official said. The substituted commodity must be the same class as the eligible commodity. Acquired grain placed under regular loan cannot be substituted again, expect for entry of the grain into the reserve. Grain in the reserve may be replaced with acquired grain no more than once in a 12-month period.

Lien searches will be made on all substituted commodities. For further program details, farmers may contact the local ASCS office.

Soil And Manure Testing Should Be Done Now

Now is the ideal time for farmers to have soil and manure testing done to show them the kinds and amounts of nutrients their land needs to produce healthy crops, says Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms. "This time of year is best for farmers because many fertilizer companies have special prices now that they can take advantage of, and the state lab is not as busy in the fall as they are in the spring," he said.

The University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service encourages farmers to get their soil tested for two reasons. Dr. Allan Bandel, a professor in the University's Department of Agronomy and head of the University's task force to help Maryland farmers reduce agricultural pollution of the Chesapeake Bay, says, "A good soil test may well show you that you have been using too much, too little, or the wrong kind of fertilizer. Or it could show that your crops are starved for only one element that could be added to your present fertilizer program."

Bandel also feels that farmers can actually reduce their production costs by adopting measures which will help control pollution. "We will try to show farmers that, in some cases, they will be able to spend less money on fertilizers that contain nitrogen and phosphorus simply because their land is already getting as much of those two nutrients as it needs," said Bandel.

A five-year study of the Bay by the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) indicated that much of the Chesapeake's decline can be attributed to "nutrient over-enrichment", the estuary is getting too much nitrogen and phosphorus. The study indicated that approximately two-thirds of the nitrogen and one-third of the phosphorus may come from runoff from farms and forests.

According to Bandel, the task force will launch a campaign to help farmers test their soil frequently to determine their crops' nutrient needs. Soil tests, he believes, can help alleviate this problem and save farmers money because the costs of fertilizer are high. He adds that soil testing is easy. "Contact your county Extension Office and ask for a soil sample kit. Instructions on how to take the sample and get it tested are included in the kit," he says.

A regular soil test costs $4 and results will show soil texture, pH, and levels of magnesium, phosphorus, and potassium. An address for mailing the samples is included with the kit also. Results and recommendations will come back by mail. If farmers have questions about interpreting the results, they can contact Simms at the Extension Office for help.

It is becoming more important to have manure testing done now that many farmers have holding ponds or storage areas and spread manure less often than in the past. Manure testing goes along with soil testing because the two together can determine if the farmer is putting too much or too little nutrient value into the soil. Either way puts an economic impact on harvests.

"Animal manure applications that supply too little of the nutrients nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash will not help farmers get the kinds of harvest yields they are hoping for," says Bandel. "On the other hand, manure applications that supply too much nitrogen and phosphorus cause 'nutrient over-enrichment', which may actually bring a decline in yields and may eventually end up as pollution in ground water, rivers, streams, and the Bay," he added.

Bandel's task force is advising farmers to take three major steps toward improving their profitability while, at the same time, helping in the Bay clean up effort:

1. Get a soil test to find out exactly what nutrients, and how much, your land needs for the crops you grow.

2. If you use animal manure, have it tested also to determine its nutrient content. Animal manure is not uniform from farm to farm, according to Bandel, who points out that the nutrient content of manure can vary from herd to herd of livestock, and from house to house for broilers.

3. Follow the recommendations for your land and crops from the soil test and, based on the analysis of the manure test, spread the natural fertilizer accordingly.

Bandel realizes that the problem of nutrient over-enrichment cannot be solved by simply telling farmers to spread manure differently than their current custom. For example, says Bandel, manure is not only inexpensive and readily available, it is abundant to the point that many farmers have only one disposal alternative - spread it on fields and forget the nutrient balance on the soil. Farmers just do not have any other way to get rid of the material.

Getting the proper amount on a field is a problem area, too, Bandel adds. It takes some technical calibration on manure spreaders to ensure even and accurate distribution of the natural fertilizer.

And finally, says Bandel, getting manure tested properly requires some care. Samples must be taken properly so that they accurately represent the manure the farmer plans to spread. The manure sample must be packaged properly for transit to the University's Soil Testing Lab. Instructions on how to take manure samples, and submit them for testing, and containers for samples, can be obtained from Simms at the Garrett County Extension Office.

Yes, There Are Still Reasons For Farmers To Give Thanks This Year

by Bernice Kepple

It began as a day to give thanks for a bountiful harvest, one that would see our founding fathers through a hard New England winter. Throughout the years, Thanksgiving Day has remained a time for us all to give thanks for the food we've produced, or have been able to buy, to nourish our families.

This year, for perhaps the first time since Plymouth Rock, United States farmers wonder just how thankful we should be for what has been possibly the most successful harvest in the history of our country. An overabundance of farm products has put farm incomes in a downward spiral. Development of workable farm legislation has been causing quite a problem for Congress, while our nation's largest farm lender, Farm Credit, has had to turn to the government for help.

The whole situation is depressing for farmers, to say the least. Every farmer in the country grew up thinking that there would always be a market for what he could produce. The world needed fed, and we could help. American Farm Bureau Federation President Robert Delano related recently that "There were so many false signals sent all through the 1970's to produce, produce, produce. Not too long ago they were telling us to plant from fence row to fence row, and to borrow as much as we needed to expand."

Now we find that we've become such efficient producers that we're putting ourselves out of business. Overabundance and overproduction are now causing such a decline in farm income that, along with a nationwide decrease in land values and a decrease in demand for farm products, farmers are indeed having a hard time staying in business.

This year the nation's farmers have harvested 8.6 billion bushels of corn, four percent more than the previous high in 1982. Yields in some mid-western states ran from 165 to 195 bushels per acre, and even after that corn is turned into cereal for the kids to eat for breakfast, sweetener for soft drinks, alcohol for fuel additives, and fed to livestock to produce beef steaks for summer cookouts and chicken for Colonel Sanders, there will still be a large surplus.

An example, used to explain the surplus, shows that if all the surplus corn in the nation was stored in a bin enclosing the Washington, D.C., Mall, it would rise 115 feet above the 555-foot Washington Monument.

Corn is not the only surplus farm product. Soybean growers produced an estimated 2.11 billion bushels, 13 percent more than last year. Cotton output is up, and farmers have harvested bumper crops of wheat, rice and other grains.

Since most farm-commodity prices are below levels guaranteed by Congress, the bulk of this year's harvest will end up in already swollen government-owned stockpiles of surplus food stored in warehouses, grain elevators and even caves leased by the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC).

The CCC has enough wheat in storage today, 463.5 million bushels, to bake nearly seven 16-ounce loaves of bread for every man, woman and child on earth. The CCC has enough nonfat dry milk in storage, most of it in cool, dark caverns near Kansas City, Kans., to meet domestic demand for 16 months. Refined beet sugar is stored in Colorado and raw cane sugar in Florida. Cotton warehouses in the south are crammed with 128.6 million bales.

Growers of specialty crops, fruits, vegetables, nuts, are also suffering from overproduction. Cheap imports add to that surplus, in fact, new U.S. vineyards are producing such a large amount of grapes that wine producers, unable to match low prices of European wines, now own an ocean of unsold wine. Some growers are turning their excess wine grapes into raisins, only to help swell another oversupply.

Not only farmers, but our whole rural economy is suffering from this overproduction, and net farm income this year is forecast at $25 billion compared with $34.5 billion in 1984.

The Reagan administration feels that one solution to overproduction is to increase exports. It turns out though that countries that once were good customers of American farmers have become self-sufficient in food, and some have begun to export farm products themselves. What is extremely sad, is that many of these countries import their products into the United States. The rest of the world, using United States technology and aid, is undergoing the same sort of technological revolution that transformed American agriculture in the 1950's and 1960's.

Maryland's U.S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. has proposed, as an amendment to the farm bill, that the president call an international conference of the major agricultural producers, a kind of agricultural summit, to consider the long-range consequences of overproduction worldwide. "At the agricultural summit, we would need to look at the overall food needs of the world," the senator said. "Our prime consideration would have to be how much food it takes to feed all of the world's people. We also would need to look at how food can be equitably and adequately distributed to every corner of the world, from sub-Saharan Africa where food production is scarce, to the temperate zones where food production is plentiful. In addition, we would need to make sure that there would be a reserve against the bad years of harvest because, even with the magnificent means of producing food that we have today, there is no guarantee that there will not be a year of major famine in the future."

So, after reading all of this, just what do we have to be thankful for this Thanksgiving? The list is just as long. We can give thanks for the way of life we have created for our children, the way of life we inherited from our parents. Farming teaches us a basic moral way of life, to have patience, to deal with stress, to face up to our limitations, accept the inevitable, to make decisions, and deal with the outcome of what we decided. We can be thankful for all of these.

Farming gives us the opportunity to love and care for animals, to teach our children that love, and to love and care for the land.

Farming still gives us a degree of independence not enjoyed by other businessmen. It was independent farmers that made our country strong, from its birth through 200 years up to the present time. This country and the world still needs farmers. Be thankful for that.

I'm sure every farmer reading this will be able to add to my list your own reasons for being thankful this year. Have a Happy Thanksgiving.

Stockholders Of Southern States Attend Conference

Members and guests of Southern States Cooperative who attended the cooperative's annual stockholders live videoconference at the Ramada Inn, Morgantown, W. Va., on November 20, heard Gene A. James, the association's president and chief executive officer, report that "deflation in the price of major commodities handled by the organization made the difference between perhaps a record year and one in which dollar volume and net savings declined."

The cooperative's videoconference, which originated from Richmond, Va., was viewed by members and guests at 10 locations across the co-op's five-state territory by means of broadcast signals beamed to satellites and relayed back to earth. This was the first such conference for regional farm supply cooperatives in the U.S.

James reported "Our volume of $676.6 million was down three percent, but there is every evidence that we markedly increased our share of the market. We moved more fertilizer tonnage than ever before in our history. Feed tonnage was only slightly below the prior year's outstanding sales record, in spite of the abundance of home-grown grains and forages. Petroleum gallonage rose, as did total farm supply volume. Our grain marketing division finished the year with good net savings, from which it paid a healthy patronage refund. This was in stark contrast to the grain marketing efforts of others in the business.

"But feed, seed, fertilizer and petroleum unit costs all underwent deflation during the year and dollar volume and margins suffered accordingly," he said.

Net savings (after taxes) was $5.7 million, down from $10.5 million last year.

Feed tonnage reached 568,000 tons, down from the 575,000 tons of last year.

Fertilizer volume rose to 752,000 tons, up from 692,000 tons for 1983-84.

Petroleum sales totaled $178.8 million as compared to $188 million last year despite the fact that gallonage reached 229 million as compared to 224 million the previous year.

Seed sales stood at $23.8 million, down from $27.3 million last year.

Total farm supply and chemical volume decreased from $109.4 million last year to $107.2 million.

Grain marketing volume was $118 million as compared to $112 million in 1983-84. Bushel volume was 32.7 million as compared to 26 million last year.

Southern States 199 branch locations and managed local cooperatives had a combined retail volume of $457 million in their respective fiscal years. While this was a small increase from prior years sales, combined net savings declined.

"While deflationary forces drove down the prices of our major commodity lines, general inflation drove up most operating costs," James said.

The program also included a report by board chairman M. Willard Miller of Locust Grove, Va.

In addition, there were videotaped welcomes from several of the governors of the five states involved, videotaped statements by each of the cooperative's 15 directors, and confirmation of newly elected directors plus the announcement of the reappointment of a public director from West Virginia.

The elected directors are J. Marvin Padgett of Waverly, Va., John F. Copehaver of Glade Spring, Va., Earl L. Campbell, of Danville, Ky., and Dr. J. Wayne McAtee of Cadiz, Ky. The public director is John W. Stone of Spencer, W. Va.

The session also heard an address by Wayne Boutwell, president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, Washington, D.C.

Wayne K. Harman, the cooperative's regional manager from Clarksburg, W. Va., was the recipient of three president's awards for outstanding performance by his region, which covers 24 counties in northern West Virginia.

There was also an open forum moderated by Robert W. Bryan, SSC vice president, member and public affairs, during which members at the various sites viewing the meeting were able to ask questions of the cooperative's top management.

Southern States members from the Accident, area attending were Tom Bunnell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ringer, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Margroff, Mrs. Gary Fratz, and Mrs. Paul H. Miller.

Also attending the session were Harry M. Wolfe, and wife, Linda. Wolfe is manager of Bruceton Farm Service-Fratz Division.

Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Joan (Carskadon) Fike; two daughters, Mrs. Tammy L. Skiles, Mrs. Darla S. Panther, both of Mountain Lake Park; a brother, Darwin O. Fike, Oakland; and four grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland. A service was conducted Sunday at the Crellin United Brethren Church by Rev. Charles Teets. Interment was in Eglon Cemetery.

Approximately 35 uniformed firefighters besides the pallbearers, some from as far away as Bladensburg, attended the funeral.

Serving as pallbearers were Oakland Fire Department members, Buzz Updyke, chief; Clay Winters, first assistant chief; Robert Rudy, second assistant chief; Carroll Deem, captain; Don Sincell, president; and Dennis Murray, firefighter.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Oakland Fire Department.

Flood Relief

has organized a fund drive to collect money for local flood victims.

The organization said it would match, dollar for dollar, donations received up to $2,000.

All donations will be given to The Red Cross for direct distribution to local areas involved in the recent flooding.

All donations should be made to the Lutheran Brotherhood and mailed to Lisa Broadwater, treasurer, R.D. 2, Box 426, Grantsville, Md., 21536.

Bank Aid

A contribution of $5,000 was recently made by the employees of First United National Bank and Trust, to aid flood victims in Garrett and Allegany Counties and six neighboring counties in West Virginia.

The contribution was made possible by employees voting to relinquish certain fringe benefits they would have received during 1985.

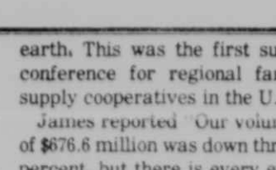
Operation Thanksgiving

Approximately 5,000 Thanksgiving dinners with all the trimmings will be flown into West Virginia's flood disaster areas as a goodwill gesture, officials said Monday.

"Operation Thanksgiving" will be a joint project of private businesses, the Salvation Army and state government.

Salvation Army Maj. Marshall Clary said the dinners would be a supplement to regular disaster relief programs. "We're not feeding starving people. These people have enough food for dinner. We're just carrying on a tradition," he said.

Hughes Declares Adoption Week



Governor Harry Hughes has proclaimed the week of November 24 through November 30 as Adoption Week in Maryland. According to Judith A. Eveland, president of the Maryland Coalition for Adoption, the national observance of Adoption Week annually recognizes families who have grown through adoption and highlights the many children who are waiting for permanent families.

In Maryland, children waiting for adoption are largely children with special needs. They may be of school age; physcially, mentally or emotionaly handicapped; or of mixed or minority race. Some come in sibling groups.

Adoption Week draws attention not only to the children in need of families, but to the dramatic changes with regard to adoption over recent years. According to the Adoption Coalition, which represents all public and private adoption agencies in the State, not only are the children needing adoption today different, but the adoptive parents are different too. Today, people who are single, disabled, or of low income are adopting children.

Ram Gridders Named To HFC All-Star Squad

Four Southern High School football players were among those named to the All-Highland Football Conference team for the 1985 season. The Rams also finished as runners-up for the HFC title behind Keyser.

Named to the All-Conference team were running back Bruce Bosley, who has led the Rams the past two seasons in rushing and all-purpose running; Warren Livengood, as offensive tackle, who also anchored the Ram defensive line; Gary Wotring, offensive guard; and Donnie Horner, defensive back. All four are juniors.

Mike Calhoun, coach of Keyser, was named Coach of the Year.

The annual HFC banquet is slated for December 15 at Keyser, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Featured speaker for the event will be Wally Hood, head coach at Fairmont State College, which finished in the top ten in small college national rankings with a 7-3 season this year.

Jerry Calhoun, retired after several years as coach at Beall High School, will be honored for his contributions to the conference over the years.

Tickets to the banquet, which are $3.50 per person now and $4.00 at the door, may be purchased at Southern High School from Tom Woods, Southern coach and athletic director.

NOTICE

TO: Property Owners in Garrett County

SUBJECT: Meeting, Thurs., Dec. 5, 7:30 p.m., Auditorium, Garrett Community College

Subject meeting has been arranged by the Garrett County Commissioners to provide the opportunity to present and seek answers to perplexing actions being taken by the state which are of concern to all property owners in Garrett County.

The meeting was originally scheduled for October 17, 1985, following the announcement by Governor Hughes that the state of Maryland will proceed with acquisition of up to 8,000 acres of property in the Youghiogheny Valley in order to protect it from uncontrolled development. However, that meeting was postponed because of the Governor's call for an emergency session of the General Assembly to deal with the Savings and Loan situation in Maryland.

The meeting, now scheduled for December 5, 1985, will not only cover land acquisition but other areas such as contemplated legislative and administrative actions concerning property in Garrett County.

The following have been invited to attend: Ms. Jane Nishada, Staff Assistant to the Governor; Dr. Torrey C. Brown, Secretary, Department of Natural Resources; Senator John N. Bambacus, and Delegate George Edwards.

If you care about your property and the future of Garrett County, you are urged to attend this meeting.

In behalf of the Board of Directors

Awards Banquet Held Recently By Oakland Jets

The annual Jets Youth Football League sports banquet was held Saturday, November 9, at Dennett Road Elementary School.

Guest speaker for the banquet was Dave Jagdmann, former West Virginia University football player, who stressed academic achievement as well as athletic achievement to the players. Special guest, Jim Bosley, also talked to the team, saying, "You were the best team in the league on the field, even though your regular season record was 5-1." Tom Drefhall gave the invocation.

Before dinner, gag awards were presented to the coaching staff by team captain, Marshall Pike. Statisticians Van Evans and Joe Ashby Jr. were given the "pencil" and "stepstool" awards, respectively. Other coach awards given were: Paul Lewis, "Band-Aid"; Rich Skipper, "sack"; Dave Upole, "stick"; Mole Alexander, "silent, but deadly"; Paul Harvey, "green shoe"; Brian Sanders, "skull and crossbones"; and head coach, Tom Ritchey, "Dapper Dan - white pants".

The coaches were also presented plaques by the team.

Following the meal, every member of the team was given a participation trophy. Those receiving special recognition and trophies included: Robbie Colaw, most coachable; Shane Eyler, most improved; Bobby Mersing, Mr. Hustle; Mike Tasker, best defensive lineman; Tommy Ritchey, best offensive back; Jamie Ashby, best offensive lineman; Eric Jamison, best defensive back; Billy Welch, best offensive player; Robbie Reckart, best defensive player; and Marshall Pike, most valuable player.

The Mr. Jet award went to Marshall Pike while the Ms. Jet award was given to Missy DiSimone. They were selected by the team members from last year players and cheerleaders.

Cheerleading trophies were presented by Peggy Cannon, advisor. Those receiving trophies and medallions were Joy McCain, captain; Shelli Cannon, co-captain; Missy DiSimone, Angela Bittinger, Cindy Drefhall, Penny Rinker, Melanie Tasker, Amy Piper, and Wendy Craver and Annie Ashby, mascots. Katy Ashby, a three-year-old self-appointed mascot also received honorary pom-pons and a medallion because "she was the littlest cheerleader who loved to do the funky chicken."

The cheerleaders then presented Mrs. Cannon with a gift of appreciation. Marilyn McCain also received a gift from the cheerleaders for her assistance during the year.

Entertainment for the banquet was provided by the team who did impromptu cheers taught to them by the cheerleaders and by the cheerleaders who played impromtu football taught to them by the team.

Cathy Alexander was also presented with a special award for coordinating fundraising events and the banquet. Others receiving special recognition were Clark Sharpless, Judy Wilt, Scott Thrasher, Terry King, Pam Ashby, Vicki Lewis, Linda Ritchey, Lisa Schmidt and the doctors at the Garrett Medical Group.

Raffle winner for the shotgun was Cheryl Coddington from Nest Lick Acres. The door prize was won by Richie DeWitt and Jamie Ashby won a jar of candy for guessing the amount of candy in it.

Lakers Open Campaign With Exciting Win

The Garrett Community College men's basketball team, under new head coach Dennis Gibson, opened the 1985-86 campaign on an exciting note Saturday evening in McHenry with a last-second jump shot win over Penn State of New Kensington, 70-68.

The Lakers blew a 13-point halftime lead, allowing New Kensington to rally and take a seven-point advantage with 4:12 remaining in the game.

Gibson calmed his team down, however, and the Lakers regained control of the game, coming back to knot the score at 68 with just one minute to play.

Garrett had possession of the ball and an opportunity to take the lead at the 54-second mark, but Jim Feagins jump shot with 19 seconds remaining bounced off the rim and into the hands of his teammate, Justin Fagan. Gibson then called a timeout with 17 seconds left.

The Lakers allowed the clock to run down to the three-second mark and Feagins fired a 21-footer to give Garrett the win.

Leading the Laker comeback late in the game was sophomore Jim Ragler, who finished with seven steals and five assists. Feagins paced GCC's scoring with 20 points on eight buckets and four of seven free tosses. Fagan and former Southern High standout, Scott Stem, each added ten points.

Beall finished with 17 points for the Pennsylvanians, while Pollock and Pollino contributed 14 and 10 points, respectively.

Sean Hazel and Torin Savoy led the Lakers' rebounding with 10 and eight, respectively.

The loss was the second in as many starts for New Kensington. The Lakers will take their 1-0 record to Keyser after the Thanksgiving break to take on the Potomac State Catamounts.

FFA Award

Camp. He attended both state and national FFA Conventions.

DeBerry was also an active member of the Country Kids 4-H Club, and is involved in the Mason-Dixon Polled Hereford Association, the Garrett County Livestock Association, and the FFA Alumni Association.

Former Oakland FFA Chapter Advisor Janet Boggess said that DeBerry was a very active member of the Oakland chapter while in school, and has been supportive of chapter activities as a member of the Alumni Association. "Since graduation from high school," she said, "Tom has become an established part of the agricultural community in Garrett County."

To qualify for the American Farmer Degree, the national organization requires that the applicant be an active FFA member with a record of satisfactory participation in the activities of the local chapter and the state association. The applicant must also be a holder of the State Farmer Degree.

The applicant must have completed a program of vocational education in agriculture, and must be involved in an agricultural occupational experience program which shows comprehensive planning, continuation, growth, and an increase in scope with records to substantiate such accomplishments, with earnings of at least $5,000 from the member's efforts which have been productively invested.

The member applying must also be able to show outstanding ability, evidenced by leadership and cooperation in student, chapter and community activities and have a satisfactory scholarship record certified by the local school superintendent or principal.

In his application, DeBerry said that he tries to use the knowledge that was given him by his parents and the vocational training offered to him in high school. "By using the skills taught to me," DeBerry said, "I try to strengthen our agriculture practices here on the farm and in the community. I am presently working full time at an off-farm ag-related job and building the farm as I go along, so that one day I can become a full time farmer and raise a family where they, and myself, can be happy with the life I have chosen."

Jail Sentence

for charges of battery, trespassing, and intoxication stemming from an incident in August of 1984.

However, in District Court on Thursday, Judge Jack Turney modified Wilson's original sentence, ruling that it will run concurrently with the five-year sentence he received in Circuit Court.

Wilson was charged by Cpl. Ron E. Beeghly following his assault of three youths last September near his home on Poplar Street, Oakland. The case was transferred from District Court to Circuit Court last year.

Wilson was found to be not guilty of two counts of carrying a deadly weapon.

The judge found Jeffrey S. Miller, 21, Friendsville, to be guilty of breaking and entering with intent to steal and two counts of theft.

He received a one-year sentence, which was then suspended. The judge placed Miller on one year of supervised probation and fined him $200 and court costs.

The special conditions of Miller's probation were that he must pay the fine and court costs as directed, undergo counseling as recommended through the Garrett County Health Department, and pay restitution of $95.88.

Miller was charged by Harland Tichnell, Chief Deputy (then Assistant Chief Deputy) following a January 4 incident in Friendsville. According to court documents, Miller took various items from Friendsville Amoco, including a CB radio, Bear Cat Scanner, and AM-FM cassette radio. Total value of the items reached $421.

Miller's attorney was Richard K. Wehner, Kingwood.

Site Selected

site," Rickert said.

Rickert noted that the MVA chose the Winchester Road site over other possible locations because of its accessibility and it will not be too distant for the majority of Allegany and Garrett county residents.

The projected 12,000 to 15,000 square-foot office will replace the nearly three-times smaller MVA office at the Searstown Mall. The $1.6 million building would be completed with a lease-lease back option and land acquisition costs would hike projects costs to about $1.8 million.

Rickert also noted that MVA services in Oakland will be expanded to two days per week instead of the current one-day service. He said he also hopes to change the location of the Oakland office from the armory to another site and alter the driver testing from off-road to on-road. He said the new site would be able to house the MVA computers which will increase the speed and efficiency of service. Driver improvement classes will also be held locally and he added that there will most likely be some limited title service added to the Oakland office.

Garrett County District Court Cases Noted

In Garrett County District Court proceedings last week Judge Jack Turney ordered a presentence investigation for a McHenry man after finding him guilty of a theft charge.

The charges were filed against Bryan D. Olszewski, 26, following a September 7 incident at Walton's Trailer Park, McHenry.

According to court documents, Olszewski stole two traveling bags from a vehicle belonging to Mark A. Thompson. One of the bags contained $1,150 cash.

Thompson later saw Olszewski throw the two bags from the vehicle onto Deep Creek Drive. However, the money had been removed.

The cash was later recovered by the Maryland State Police on the Accident-Bittinger Road.

In another case, the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Carmella M. Kish, 35, after finding her guilty of using an illegal prescription to buy a drug. The charges were filed by Gary M. Long of the Maryland State Police.

According to court documents, the incident occurred September 27 at Revco Drugs, Mtn. Lake Park, when Kish handed the pharmacist, Cynthia Wilson, a prescription for Talwin tablets, claiming Dr. Daniel Miller had written the prescription earlier that day. However, Wilson did not recognize the signature as Miller's and called him to confirm the order. Miller hadn't seen Kish that day, and had not authorized the prescription.

Kish was represented by Henry R. Adams, an Oakland attorney.

The judge also ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Edwin D. Liller, 24, Oakland, after finding him guilty of a disorderly conduct charge.

The charge was filed by Cpl. Ronald E. Beeghly, Oakland City Police Department, following an October 2 incident at P.C.'s 1897 Saloon & Eatery.

According to court records, Liller became disorderly and was asked to leave by the bartender. He refused, and Cpl. Beeghly was called in. Beeghly asked Liller to leave twice, and when Liller refused, he was arrested.

Liller was represented by Adams.

A bad check charge against Kathryn Dillsworth, 48, McHenry, was placed on the stet docket.

The complaint was filed by Leif Piper, Oakland, representing Piper Building Supply, following an August 2 incident.

Also placed on the stet docket were charges of battery and malicious destruction of the property of another against Gary A. Ferguson, 26, Deer Park.

The complaint was filed by Brenda L. Perando, also of Deer Park, following an October 8 incident there.

A battery charge against Anthony L. Miller, 24, Oakland, was also placed on the stet docket. The charge was filed by Melody S. Miller, also of Oakland, after an October 7 incident.

An illegal shotgun charge against Sonny R. Bowman, 20, Oakland, was not prosecuted by the court because the shotgun was too long to be considered an illegal sawed-off shotgun.

The charge was filed by Charles P. Nolan, Deputy Sheriff, after an October 7 incident in Oakland.

Bowman's attorney was Bill L. Smith.

Police Charge Two With DWI

Maryland State Police this week reported that two men were charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

John Eugene Casper, Jr., 18, Frostburg, was charged by Tfc. Gary Resh on November 17 at 12:15 a.m. near the McHenry detatchment of the State Police.

Daniel Patrick Conway, 37, Hagerstown, was charged with DWI on November 20 at 1:34 p.m. on the Lower New Germany Road.

Garrett Offers Applied Art For Senior Citizens

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer Fundamentals of Applied Art for Seniors beginning Tuesday, December 3. Registration is now being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis. There will be no charge for senior citizens and materials will be supplied. Non-seniors will be charged $10 plus materials.

For more information persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 334-8266.

COVE

There will be a worship service at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, on Thanksgiving evening, Wednesday, November 27, at 8 p.m. There will be a worship service at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 28, at 10 a.m. Rev. Wilfred Karsten will conduct both services. Everyone is welcome.

An open house to celebrate the 65th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Hetz will be held on Sunday, December 1, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Accident Fire Hall. All friends and relatives are invited to attend. They were surprised during the church service on Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church, LCA, where they are faithful members. They were called to the front of the church where Rev. Stephen Yelovich gave a short sermon in their honor and they were presented with a corsage and boutonniere. A special song was sung in their honor by Roy Deniker, Paul Deniker and Melvin Schwing. The congregation held a social hour with refreshments to complete the surprise. The actual date of their anniversary is Tuesday, November 26.

The Cove Homemakers Club met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Darwin Bender. Mrs. Wanda Guard, Friendsville, was in charge of the demonstration "Quick Meals" and Mrs. Chester Otto passed out information on "How to hold a club meeting." The Christmas party with gift exchange, will be held Monday, December 2, at the home of Mrs. Oren Bender at 7:30 p.m.

School System To Conduct Flood Relief Effort

Because of the extraordinary nature of the conditions brought about in this county and others as a result of recent flooding, the Garrett County Board of Education has approved a waiver of their policy to strictly limit charity drives in schools. As a result, a three-pronged, system-wide effort will be launched in the Garrett County schools after the Thanksgiving holidays and will extend until Friday, December 13.

This system-wide effort is not intended to supplant any local school effort, but is hoped to further emphasize in all school children in the county the value of helping others in need, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools. The effort will take the form of (1) a toy/book collection which will be conducted in conjunction with Radio Stations WXIE/WMSG, (2) a monetary collection which will go to the flood relief trust fund which was recently established at the First United Bank & Trust, (3) a school assistance effort which may provide surplus school materials to those schools currently in need.

All 17 schools in Garrett County will participate in the effort, Ryscavage said, with final distribution to be made during the week of December 16. Should individuals not associated with children in the schools want to contribute, Ryscavage said they should feel free to contact any local school principal or the Garrett County Board of Education central office.

Commissioners

president. They said the college head explained that the Oakland branch idea was just an idea he had that he wanted to share with the board and the faculty and staff at the college.

The commissioners said that through his own admission, Dr. Puzzuoli told the county board that he should have touched base with that funding body.

"Ours is the same open door policy here that now exists at the college," said Groves.

"Since we are a funding body of the college we do expect communications with them on a million dollar plus project."

Commissioner Braskey said the interim president has a responsibility to communicate with the county board, and that a good working relationship can continue if communications do not break down.

The commissioners also said they were unaware of the meeting with State Board for Community Colleges head, Dr. James Tschectelin, which Dr. Puzzuoli and some 100 Garrett County residents attended last Thursday at Allegany Community College.

At that meeting the interim president informed the SBCC officials that they were unhappy with the status report given to the governor which recommended that GCC either merge with or become a branch of ACC.

"I just hope we can get all this resolved at the college and get to the business of educating the students at GCC," said Gregg.

Bakery Position

The commissioners said yesterday that they had received many calls regarding the closing of the Country Oven Bakery.

"We didn't have a thing to do with the closing of the bakery," said Gregg. "We do help fund the Appalachian Parent Association directly through the Mental Health Board, but we have nothing to do with the operation of the bakery."

The commissioners explained that the bakery was losing money which was the reason for its closing. They will still fund the program which is set up mainly for the training of the handicapped. The kitchen facilities will still be used in instruction for the handicapped. The type of program will be determined by the executive director, William Aspinal, not the commissioners.

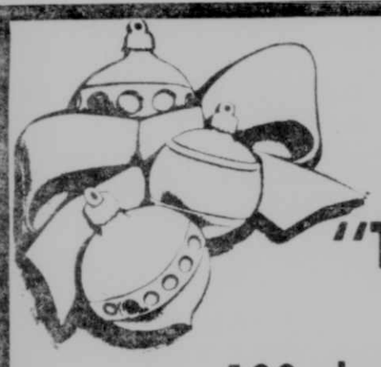
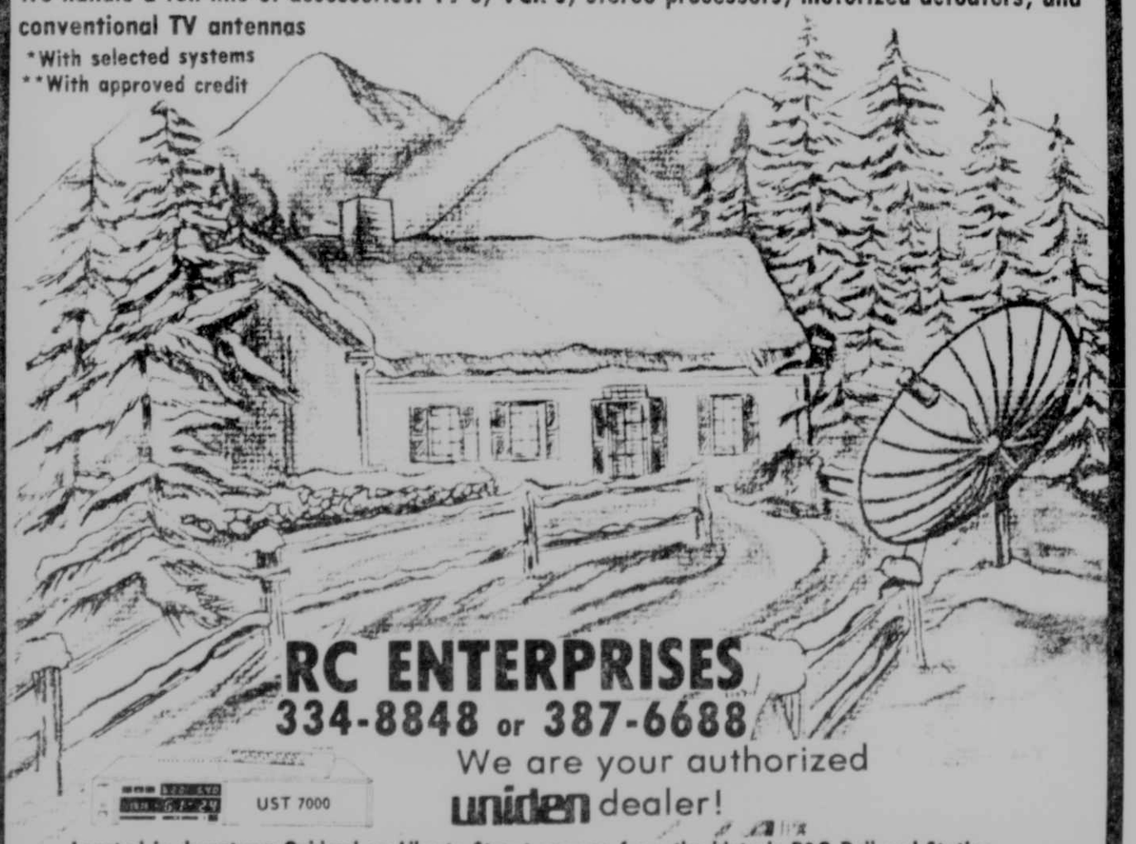
seem favorable to the public this time," he said. "It's tough to get a firm grip on the situation with this kind of backlash."

Some of the more prominant issues discussed at the hearing included what materials can be used for floatation devices on the lake. At one hearing comment caused steel barrels to be ruled out. Comment and debate at the next hearing caused a change permitting steel barrels if they were clean and had not contained toxic materials. Argument at Saturday's hearing was against steel barrels again and in favor of only plastic or fiberglass floatation devices.

Another debate was on the amount of land required to be owned on the buffer strip to be eligible for a dock permit. A 150-foot limitation for a new single family residence to obtain a three-slip dock had been changed after the last hearing to a 100-foot limitation. At this hearing the comment was, "Why was it changed? We'd rather have a 150-foot limitation."

A limit of the number of boats allowed on the lake was also suggested. It was suggested that a study be done to determine how many boats the lake can safely and environmentally hold. Gregory said that this issue has a lot of variables because there are fewer boats on the lake during the week than on weekends.





It is not known at this time when Sec. Brown will make a decision of the most recent set of Deep Creek Lake regulations.

In the spirit of the first
THANKSGIVING BLESSINGS TO ALL...

That first Thanksgiving was celebrated in a time of great hardship and suffering. A band of outcasts in a strange land, the pilgrims were surrounded by the unknown and often frightening presence of things they did not understand. That first day of thanksgiving came after a period of hardship and scarcity . . . and yet, they gave thanks to God for his protection and blessing . . .
Then, as now we pause to give thanks during a time of trouble . . . as many of our neighbors are only now beginning to face the long, hard task of rebuilding after the recent flooding throughout the tri-state area. In spite of economic loss and human suffering, courage and convictions remain strong as the work continues. We pause, at this holiday, to give thanks for the human spirit, and for the faith that sustains in a time of trouble.
For all this, we give thanks ...

Progress Of Area Agency On Aging Explained By Margo Van Diver

The local Area Agency on Aging has made significant progress during the past year and is facing 1986 with an expanded series of programs, according to Margo Van Diver, director. Financial assistance has come from many quarters and is in the form of grants from local, state and federal governments. Mrs. Van Diver said in a recent interview that the commissioners "are to be thanked for their generous support in the coming year." The county contribution has been directly applied to supplement the federal congregate and home delivered meal programs.

Additionally, the Maryland State Office on Aging extended their support by increasing the amount of funds to be applied directly to the congregate meals, as well as offering a separate grant to continue the necessary work furnished by the Area Agency's personal care aide.

Support to expand and continue programs was furnished by Delegate George Edwards and Senator John Bambacus. "Delegate Edwards pursued many topics directly with the State Office staff. Without his support it is doubtful our programs would have fared well," said Van Diver.

Not all grant proposals submitted were approved, although they were noted to have merit. One in particular, the Senior Companion Program for Garrett County, was sent from the Federal Region III, ACTION headquarters "as the highest ranked project." While the need to assist seniors with in-home services was recognized, the proposal lost in nationwide competition with 77 other applications. Only 19 were awarded, Van Diver said. However, the Agency will resubmit this proposal in the spring, attempting once again to bring jobs and aid to the county seniors.

As a recap of the past fiscal year, 27,447 congregate meals were served at 13 meal sites, 7,536 meals were delivered to seniors confined to their homes. Sixty-four seniors received over 1,950 visits from the personal care aides assisting them with daily services which they can no longer manage. Agency-sponsored trips were attended by over 1,450 seniors.

The two part-time Gateway Coordinators, providing information and referral assistance to seniors on programs ranging from income tax to medical assistance, helped 701 seniors with over 2,108 matters of concern. While there is no fee for any of these services, a contribution is suggested and welcomed, Mrs. Van Diver said.

She said that the rural nature of Garrett County impacts greatly on the needs of the seniors and increases the difficulty of making the programs operate as efficiently and economically as they do in other Maryland counties. For example, within the state, Garrett is the only county in which meals are prepared on-site by agency cooks. Adina Brode, Coordinator, Older Americans Act Programs, explains: "In many locations there are no restaurants nor catering service, so we must cook; however, we have reduced the sites by three over the past year in which this is necessary. It is no small task to order, store and deliver the amount of food necessary to cook on-site. Bertha Green, Purchasing Agent, insures that this is accomplished each month."

"Also," Mrs. Brode continued, "Due to the isolation and transportation difficulties many of the seniors face, home deliveries are very necessary; unfortunately they are also very expensive in a county this large."

The size of the county also created a demand for the 13 meal sites where, on the average, 30 congregate meals are shared twice a week. "In many other counties, they have two or three sites feeding hundreds each day, therefore such systems are less expensive, but inadequate to fulfill Garrett County's needs," Mrs. Brode said.

"During the next year, the Agency will work very hard to address the housing concerns of seniors," Mrs. Van Diver stated. She said there is a great desire to create more housing options and opportunities for seniors who need moderate assistance with daily living. Housing such as board and care and sheltered housing is gaining popularity as community organizations attempt to provide interim housing to meet the needs of the growing senior population.

The Agency expanded its financial base from four to 11 grants during the year. All grants were for the minimum amount and were designated to provide a specified program or service—not to expand those already in place, Van Diver noted. "New program terms such as Ombudsman, Life Support, and eventually Gateway II will all gain recognition by community residents as they are all designed to meet one goal: Keeping the senior population healthy within their homes or assisting them wherever they reside," she said.

For more information on any of these programs, persons may contact the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging at 334-3900.

NEW HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS — Twelve volunteers who completed training as Hospice caregivers were awarded certificates of completion at Garrett Community College Thursday. The class was sponsored by GCC and Hospice of Garrett County. Some of the volunteers will become direct caregivers to Hospice patients, while others will join the auxiliary and help with fund-raisers and other supportive efforts. There was a covered dish dinner after the presentation of certificates at which volunteer caregivers from previous classes related experiences they have had while serving terminally ill patients and their families. The next volunteer training class will begin March 20 at GCC. Persons wishing to register or obtain further information may call 334-8111, 895-3111, extension 46, or GCC at 334-8266. In the photo, left to right, seated are Nedra Kisner, Joann Schrock, Alice Vitez, and Cindy Vitez. Standing, same order, are Bill Baker, Jackie Snelson, R.N., Hospice nurse coordinator; Pat Hyson, Wayne Johnson, executive director; Juanita Swauger, Bonnie Evans, Norma Bolding, R.N., director of Home Health; Doris Baker, and Rev. Manning Smith, education coordinator for Hospice.

Health Officials Warn Consumers Of Raccoon Meat

The Department of Health and Mental Hygiene has issued a warning to consumers about the dangers associated with eating raccoon meat.

The sale of this meat is permitted during the raccoon trapping season which runs from November 1 (November 15 on the Eastern Shore) to February 15.

Maryland is experiencing an unprecedented outbreak of wildlife rabies, which affects primarily raccoons. Approximately 90% of all laboratory confirmed cases of animal rabies are found in raccoons. This situation is expected to continue in the forseeable future. Therefore, the possibility of purchasing the carcass of a rabid raccoon "is very real," according to a Department spokesman.

The danger to the consumer is from inadequate handling techniques prior to cooking the meat. Proper cooking destroys the virus, but rabies may infect a person through small cuts or other breaks in the skin during handling or preparation of the meat. Once people exhibit symptoms of rabies, they nearly always die.

Consumers who still wish to eat raccoon meat should protect themselves by wearing gloves while handling the carcass and uncooked meat. The meat should be well cooked. Utensils and work areas should be washed with detergent and then thoroughly rinsed with a strong disinfectant, such as a tablespoon of household bleach in a quart of water, following preparation of the meat.

MSTA Calls For Higher Standards For New Teachers

The Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA) has come out in support of new regulations to increase the standards applied to new teachers entering the profession.

Speaking before the State Board of Education on November 20, MSTA President Beverly Corelle Stonestreet said that the Association favors higher standards for teachers. She also said that MSTA would not oppose the use of a standardized test to screen out unsuitable applicants.

"We see higher standards as one more step toward achieving the best learning, teaching and working conditions for our faculty and students," she told the board.

MSTA still has serious concerns about the impact of the testing program on minority applicants. Noting the severe decline in the number of minority students pursuing education as a career and evidence that a disproportionate share of minority applicants score below several states' cut-off points, the MSTA President called for improved teacher education programs in Maryland's historically black colleges and universities.

Stonestreet also expressed concern that prospective teachers—and current teachers who seek additional certification—will be penalized by having to pay nearly $100 in testing and certification fees. She urged the board to "seek funding for this program from the governor, not from the state's future public school teachers."

DO YOU KNOW THIS BOOK?

Maybe it seems odd to think that anyone has to "discover" the Bible. Yet stop and think how few of us really know this Book of books.

Time was when families read the Bible together, and most youngsters could quote their Scriptures. Biblical allusions were commonplace and understood by one and all.

Then somehow, over the years, a lot of people forgot about the Bible. Or they reserved it exclusively for Sundays in church.

Now, there is a great and blessed resurgence of Bible reading throughout the world — thanks to the great work of organizations like the American Bible Society. Youngsters like these are learning new truths for themselves. They are putting God's word not just into Sunday, but into every day.

Sunday Psalm 90:1-17	Thursday Proverbs 16:1-9
Monday Psalm 111:1-10	Friday Proverbs 16:1-9
Tuesday Proverbs 2:1-9	Saturday James 3:13-18
Wednesday Proverbs 8:32-36

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GOD'S SPECIALTY

December 1, 1985

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 9:1-7; Luke 1:26-56.
Devotional Reading:
Luke 1:46-56.

Zechariah the priest and Mary, his wife's kinswoman in Nazareth, both pose pretty much the same question that countless people have asked from the beginning of time and it is a question which many of us continue to ask today. To be sure, there are many different ways of putting the question into words, but essentially all the questioners want to know how it is possible for God to fulfill all that he promises--or at least all that people tell us he has promised.

Although his wife had long proven barren and both were "advanced in years", Zechariah was promised by an angel that his wife, Elizabeth, would bear him a son. And, although this had been Zechariah's unceasing prayer, he could not help responding: "How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in years" (1:18).

"HOW SHALL THIS BE?"

Later, when the angel Gabriel assured Mary that she too would bear a son who would be God's annointed, she responded, saying: "How shall this be, since I have no husband?" (1:35).

Both Zechariah and Mary are saying, in effect, this is wonderful news, to wonderful to be true. We can not blame them for being dubious. Zechariah and Elizabeth had tried for so many years and all they had to show for it was a sense of disappointment and failure. Why should they believe it would happen now when they were well past the childbearing age? And Mary: why should she believe that God would choose her to be the mother of the Messiah? She wasn't even married.

Often, that's the way God's message and promises seem to us. He speaks to us of his plan and purpose for creation, but the world seems chaotic and bent on self-destruction. He speaks of world brotherhood and peace and his kingdom come on earth, but we can't help looking at the world and asking, "How can this be?"

NOTHING IMPOSSIBLE

The answer that Gabriel gives Mary is the same answer that he gives us and the whole world: "For with God nothing will be impossible" (1:37). That's the theme of both Advent and Christmas: not that God does the impossible, but that with God, nothing is impossible.

At youth camp we used to sing this song:

Got any rivers you think are uncrossable? Got any mountains you can't tunnel through? God specializes in things thought impossible; He'll do for you what no other power can do.

God's specialty is what we think is impossible.

Thanksgiving To New Years
Will Your Stomach Regret It?

It seems most of us cannot resist packing in those wonderful holiday foods. And as a result every year we hear a great deal about stomach upsets in that period from the end of November to the first of January.

Fortunately, most of this indigestion and stomach upset are of a simple nature and short lived. Sensible eating could probably eliminate them completely. But, if you can't resist and do over indulge, we stock a great many products to relieve the discomfort and help you to recover quickly.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"

Is 'Comedy Break' the big break for comics?

By Frank Lovece

Remember the Edsel? Jack Paar? "Comedy Break with Mack & Jamie"?

Jamie Alcroft (l.) and Mack Dryden

It may be premature to consign the new syndicated comedy series to the land of reminiscence, but then, "Comedy Break" isn't exactly "Saturday Night Live." (Neither is "Saturday Night Live" anymore, but that's another story.) Regardless, Mack Dryden and Jamie Alcroft are in there pitching.

Their "Comedy Break" is a half-hour of skits and stand-up, punctuated by guest comics ranging from the known to unknown. In fact, the five-times-weekly series could be considered a public service, since it offers hard-working comedians national exposure. How much the exposure will help soft-spoken Dryden and rapid-fire Alcroft, however, is less certain.

Certainly, the two performers have had a whirlwind romance with comedy. After hooking up in Key West, Fla. in 1980 and successfully touring clubs through the state, they headed north.

"Four months after we got to New York," recalls the urbane Alcroft, "we were signed by the William Morris Agency." "Eight months after we got here," interrupts Dryden, "we got our first national TV spot." They don't sound the least bit arrogant — just bewildered at how fast things have changed.

"I know where my need to do comedy came from," explains Alcroft. "I spent seventh to ninth grade in a private boys' school when my family relocated to England, and since I was a Yank, I naturally got beat up a lot. The only way I found acceptance was by doing impressions of teachers."

After working in public relations, then as a blacksmith, jewelry maker and part-time disc jockey, Alcroft turned his talents to comedy.

Mississippi-born-and-bred Dryden, 36, had to endure the same tough "apprenticeship."

"I was a small kid," he remembers in an endearing drawl. "I was never brutalized, but I was picked on. My defense was that I was funny." Dryden worked as a journalist — he won two Associated Press awards — before hitting funny fame.

"Comedy Break" could, of course, be Mack and Jamie's big break. Yet they are not worried about stardom. "To me, 'making it' means just having the time and resources to take on a new project as soon as I've finished the last," says Dryden. "That's about it."

John and Yoko's love story brought to TV

By Marc Minnelli

Shortly after John Lennon met avant-garde artist Yoko Ono in a London art gallery, he told his friend (and Beatle partner) Paul McCartney: "She's what I've been waiting for my whole life. We're two halves of a whole person. And until then, I never realized I'd never been a whole person."

Mark McGann and Kim Miyori

Lennon married Tokyo-born Miss Ono in Gibraltar on March 20, 1969. And though there was a seven-year age difference between them (Miss Ono was born in 1933; Lennon in 1940), their relationship was steeped in love and trust. The Lennons survived criticisms, miscarriages, self-induced retirements, drug convictions and public scorn.

What they didn't survive — or, more precisely, what Lennon didn't survive — was an assassin's bullet. On Dec. 8, 1980, two months after the singer's 40th birthday, Lennon, standing alongside his wife in front of their beloved New York City apartment building, was shot by Mark David Chapman. Lennon died that night.

On Monday, Dec. 2, the legacy of Lennon and Miss Ono will be told in "John and Yoko: A Love Story." Mark McGann, who admits "I wept when I got the role," stars as the former Beatle. Kim Miyori portrays Miss Ono.

"I greeted the role with great trepidation because Yoko is such a living figure," says Miss Miyori, 29. "But I knew that if the role was going to work, I had to put aside my preconceived notions. That's why I didn't want to meet her; I wanted to be on my own, without intimidation or pressure."

Before she tackled the role, the actress plunged into research. "I read nearly every book I could find and watched videotapes of Yoko on talk shows," explains Miss Miyori. "But the biggest problem came by trying to look like her. Everyone thinks I am a Yoko clone, but," she adds with a laugh, "I don't see a resemblance." To perfect the famous look, Miss Miyori donned several wigs ("Yoko's hair was longer than mine"), large sunglasses and penciled her eyebrows a darker shade.

Miss Miyori met Miss Ono on the film's second-to-last day of shooting. "She told me she met with Sandor (Stern, the film's director) for 40 hours, and knew she'd be proud of the film because she had trust in the filmmakers," the actress recalls. "Then she looked at me, told me how comfortable I made her feel and called me her friend. I left the set," Miss Miyori adds, "with a smile and a new perception of Yoko Ono."

Call it the "Case of the Reincarnated Series." Raymond Burr stars as defense attorney Perry Mason and Barbara Hale reprises her role as secretary Della Street in "Perry Mason Returns," airing Sunday, Dec. 1 on NBC.

Miss Pratt's past; Getz's TV credits

By Kimberly Redmond

What can you tell me about Susan Pratt, the actress who portrays Claire Ramsey? She's my all-time favorite daytime performer. — D.R., Pigeon Forge, Tenn.

Susan Pratt

Miss Pratt grew up in Yorktown Heights, N.Y., where her parents ran a French restaurant. When she was 16, Miss Pratt began a stint at modeling; soon she became a top European fashion model. The actress has been divorced twice, and currently is married to Alfredo Pecora. The couple has a daughter, Sophia.

Before winning the role of Clair on "Guiding Light," Miss Pratt starred as Anne Logan on "General Hospital." While appearing on "GH," the actress was known as Susan O'Hanlan.

I'm positive that John Getz, who used to star on the nighttime series "MacGruder and Loud," is the actor who originally portrayed Benny Sago on "All My Children." My husband disagrees. Help! — B.G., Trenton, N.J.

Sorry, B.G., you lose. Benny Sago was originally portrayed by Larry Fleischman. Getz portrayed Neil Johnson on "Another World" and Dr. Daniel Gentry on the nighttime show, "Rafferty."

Whatever happened to Taylor Miller? She left "All My Children" and her role as Nina Cortlandt Warner, and I'm also curious to know what she's been up to. — J.K., Exton, Pa.

Miss Miller is currently appearing as Sally Ewing on the NBC soap "Another World."

WEDNESDAY

Good grief! Is it Christmas already? Not quite, but that doesn t stop the Peanuts gang from spreading Yuletide cheer in "A Charlie Brown Christmas," airing Wednesday, Dec. 1 on CBS. (Rebroadcast)

(Stations reserve the right to make last-minute changes.)

John Lennon and Yoko Ono were people who strived to live life in peace until an assassin's bullet shattered their dream. Mark McGann stars as the former Beatle and Kim Miyori stars as his wife, Yoko Ono, in "John and Yoko: A Love Story," airing Monday, Dec. 2 on NBC.

'Love Boat' mermaid stays dry to keep fit

By Renee Ross

Though she's a member of the Love Boat Mermaids, the new addition to ABC's "Love Boat" cast, Deborah Bartlett prefers to exercise on dry land.

Deborah Bartlett

"Keeping in shape is a seven-day-a-week job," says Miss Bartlett, 33. "After a full day's work, it can be very difficult to muster enough energy to take an exercise or dance class. But I've found that keeping in shape gives you more stamina to continue working since your body is in condition. You find yourself more exhausted when you don't keep up with classes."

To focus on her dream of becoming a full-time dancer, Miss Bartlett opted to give up her other work-out hobbies. "I was very athletic and loved to participate in track and tennis when I was in school," she recalls. "But as I became a professional dancer, I didn't have freedom or time to stay in the athletic arena."

For the 5-foot-5, 110-pound Miss Bartlett, staying thin comes naturally. "Luckily, I never had to worry about going on a strenuous diet," she says. "When you overeat as a child, you gain extra fat cells. Then it becomes difficult to take the weight off as an adult."

A former sweet tooth convinced her to change nutrition habits. "Many years ago I could eat half a gallon of ice cream in two days," she remembers. "I became very ill and went to a nutritionist. He put me on a good eating program, and since then, I've eaten balanced meals that include lots of fresh vegetables, fruit and small portions of pasta and grains."

Though she doesn't swim in it, this "Love Boat" mermaid Bartlett does swear by the benefits of drinking plenty of water.

"I've found it's especially important when we're working on the show from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.," she says. "Dancers perspire greatly and lose a lot of water. By constantly sipping water, I'm able to keep going. If I don't replace the water, I'm not able to maintain my stamina."

Miss Bartlett says she builds her spiritual strength through belief in a supreme being. "I'm a Christian," she explains, "but wouldn't put myself in a religious category. My inner support system — which gives me tremendous strength and peace — is this belief in a positive life force of love and creative energy."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

After waiting years for its return, my favorite series of all time, "The Patty Duke Show," is back on my local station. Can you give me an address where I can write to Patty Duke Astin? Also, I remember seeing her in an episode of "Outer Limits" or "The Twilight Zone." Do you remember which show it was? — C.G., Florence, Ala.

Patty Duke

First things first. The actress recently divorced her husband actor John Astin, and she now bills herself as Patty Duke. Two of her children, Sean Astin ("The Goonies") and Mackenzie Astin ("The Facts of Life"), are following in their parents' footsteps. Address your mail to 1888 Century Park East, Century City, CA 90067. And for the record: Miss Duke was never on either "Outer Limits" or "The Twilight Zone." You may be confusing her with former child star Peggy Ann Garner, who did appear in an episode of "Outer Limits."

Whatever happened to Harry Von Zell? He appeared on the classic "Burns and Allen Show," but I haven't heard his name (or seen his face) in years. — J.K.H., Sturgis, S.D.

Von Zell, who began his career as a radio announcer, died in 1981. He was 75.

I've been married for just 10 months, and my wife and I are ready to split. We're having an argument about Judy Garland's husbands. Sharon insists the actress-singer was married four times, but I say Judy said "I do" three times. Our divorce is up to you, Val. — D.L.R., Yonkers, N.Y.

Call a truce, D.L.R. Judy Garland Rose Minnelli Luft Herron Deans, who died in 1969, was married five times. Liza's dad was Judy's second husband, director Vincente Minnelli; "Trapper John" star Lorna Luft's dad was husband No. 3, producer Sid Luft.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally, but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

CINDY SAYS

Fiery Stanwyck is hot as she returns to TV

By Cindy Adams

Barbara Stanwyck doesn't need money. She doesn't need employment. She doesn't need to do interviews. So if anyone asks me why La Stanwyck finally accepted Aaron Spelling's offer to do "Dynasty II: The Colbys," I tell them it's because her house caught fire, she had to temporarily move into a hotel and she hated staring at four walls. That's precisely why the silver-haired actress can be seen each Thursday night on ABC. And speaking of the fiesty, fiery actress, Arbor House publishes Jane Ellen Wayne's biography "Stanwyck" next year.

Barbara Stanwyck

"Fanny," the Broadway musical of long ago, is returning. Ezio Pinza's role will go to either Yves Montand or Robert Goulet. Curtis Roberts will produce. ... Best-selling novelist Harold Robbins has undergone cataract surgery at New York City's Jules Stein Eye Institute.

My favorite Princess Di quote: "My job is 70 percent slog, 30 percent fantastic." ... Tony Bennett, the actor, is also Tony Bennett, the artist. One of Tony's works, the oil painting "The South of France," was recently bought by Cary Grant.

Harold Robbins

The Hollywood Women's Press Club has announced this year's list of nominees. For the coveted Golden Apple Award as Most Newsworthy Male Star: Bill Cosby, Clint Eastwood and Bruce Springsteen. Most Newsworthy Female Star nominees: Madonna, Meryl Streep and Elizabeth Taylor. Male Discovery nominees: Don Ameche, Michael J. Fox and Don Johnson. Female Discovery nominees: Phylicia Ayers-Allen and Emma Samms.

Up for Sour Apples as Least Newsworthy: Farrah Fawcett and Ryan O'Neal, Prince and Apollonia and that other lovable pair, Sylvester Stallone and Rambo. Winners will be announced later this month.

SHOW AND TELL

Marian makes a living on revised TV sitcom

By Gregory Garver

It isn't often that a television show gets a second chance. But not only is "It's a Living" having a syndicated rebirth, one of the sitcom's original stars, Marian Mercer, is also enjoying success once again.

Marian Mercer

Other original cast members have returned to the series — Ann Jillian, Gail Edwards, Barrie Youngfellow — and there are a couple of new additions, Crystal Bernard and Richard Stahl.

"All of us from the original cast have kept in touch through the years," says Miss Mercer. "We liked each other, so we kept in touch. And it is very nice to have this second chance."

She says there are only a few parts she has played that she would play again. This is one of them.

"I had no hesitation about doing this part again," the actress says. "I love its sophistication. Most sitcoms ask for brassiness and loudness, and I don't like that kind of humor. I like laughter that comes from recognition — shows such as "M*A*S*H" and "Mary Hartman."

Miss Mercer says most sitcom producers ask their cast to be louder, but "It's a Living" producers Paul Junger Witt and Tony Thomas ask their cast to take a more realistic acting approach.

As she grew up, Miss Mercer's forte was singing, and music is still her first love. But she says she eventually realized that "I don't have a first-rate instrument — I have a pleasant voice, but not a classical voice." So she turned to acting, and has never regretted that decision.

"I love acting," she says. "It's positive. And it happens like that," she adds, snapping her fingers. "Acting came easily to me. I'm an emotional person. I never really had the personality for singing.

"Syndicated shows are more relaxed than network shows," adds the actress. "This is more fun. And they aren't skimping — the clothes I wear are so beautiful. I'm supposed to be only a restaurant hostess, but watch out Joan Collins!"

WVU Specialist Warns Of Health Problems Associated With Floods

Flood related illnesses could result from crowded shelters and lack of personal hygiene as well as from contaminated water or inadequate sewage disposal, according to a West Virginia University specialist in public health.

"With flooding, the major problem gets down to the basics of public hygiene," says Phillip J. Murray, WVU assistant professor of community medicine.

"Disposal of sewage and contaminated water supplies are major concerns but personal hygiene is also a problem. People may not be able to bath or wash their clothes as they normally would. Skin infections and infestations are more likely to occur under these conditions.

"People living in crowded conditions in shelters or with relatives also are more at risk for contracting respiratory diseases. We assume conditions are crowded in some instances because 20,000 people left homeless have to stay somewhere. The elderly and people with chronic illnesses are most at risk."

Dr. Murray said these individuals should receive flu shots and pneumococcal vaccines if they haven't already done so.

Another problem is food spoilage. Many people lost refrigerators in the flood and temperatures have been warm enough to cause fairly rapid spoilage if food isn't regrigerated or consumed quickly after cooking.

Murray said contaminated food and water can produce diarrheal diseases caused by viruses or parasites as well as bacteria.

"Unless they are sure the water supply is being treated or is unaffected, people should use bottled water, boil their water or drink other beverages," he said. "Both surface and ground water can be contaminated by flood water and it can affect people in low-lying areas or those who have wells."

Since normal sewage treatment systems have been interrupted, many streams are being polluted by sewage but, according to Murray, this should not be a major health threat unless people drink the polluted water.

"Likewise, there should be no problem with decaying animals unless people handle them," he said. "To remove them, front-end loaders or spades should be used. But the mud can become contaminated, too. The primary concern is that people who must handle the animals wash their hands before eating. This may seem simple enough but in some areas it may be difficult to do under the circumstances."

Murray downplayed the threat of diseases such as tetanus or typhoid fever.

"I would hope that the bulk of the population is immunized against tetanus," he said. "It is required for school entry but older people may not have had the vaccine within the past 10 years. However, tetanus can only occur if the spores are introduced into a wound—so if there has been no injury, there is really no problem.

"And typhoid hasn't been a problem in West Virginia for many years, although there are still a few cases in the state. The bacteria would have to be introduced into the area by a typhoid carrier, which makes it unlikely that any cases would erupt."

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Airman Jeffrey L. Green, son of Harold W. and Linda J. Green of Star Route, Grantsville, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Completion of this training earned the individual credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1985 graduate of Northern High School.

Staff Sgt. Carson E. Hummel, son of Henry J. Hummel, Frostburg, has completed the Army automotive repair course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The course included troubleshooting, repair, replacing, adjusting, and maintaining the mechanical, electrical, air and hydraulic systems plus other major components and assemblies of wheeled and tracked vehicles.

Instruction was also given on the performance of maintenance operations in a field environment.

Hummel is scheduled to serve at Fort Lewis, Wash.

His wife, Ramona, is the daughter of Edgar A. Bender and Arlena Edwards, both of Grantsville.

The sergeant is a 1970 graduate of Northern High School.

Marine Cpl. Willard J. Reckart, son of Larry R. and Patsy M. Reckhart, Route 1, Oakland, recently received a Meritorious United Commendation while stationed with Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, S.C.

He received the decoration for his meritorious service in providing operational and administrative support of the Air Station, and to Marine Aircraft Group 31, and 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing, Beaufort, from January to December 31, 1984.

During this time, the unit provided administrative support to more than 750 personnel to the squadron and staff of Marine Corps Air Station, Beaufort, as well as contributed to the combat readiness of the tactical squadrons.

A 1980 graduate of Southern High School, he joined the Marine Crops in June 1980.

Navy Seaman Recruit Michael B. Berry, son of David D. and Helen V. Berry, Route 2, Oakland, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Il.

During Berry's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Berry's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1985 graduate of Southern High School, he joined the Navy in March 1985.

Tree Expert Exam Scheduled For December 11

An individual who calls himself an arborist, tree specialist, tree expert or otherwise who treats and cares for trees for compensation must have a tree expert license that is issued by the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Department of Natural Resources. The license is obtained after passing an examination and acquiring insurance. The licensing of Maryland's tree experts provides protection for all landowners as well as the protection of their trees, according to the DNR.

To date, Maryland has 428 licensed tree experts. A test is given quarterly to applicants desiring a license. The next tree expert exam is scheduled for Wednesday, December 11, in Annapolis at the State Treasury Building. Applications must be received by the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service by November 26, 1985.

To qualify as a tree expert a person must:

1) pay a fee

2) be 18 years old

3) have two years approved college education in forestry, arboriculture, horticulture, applied agricultural services or the equivalent education; with a minimum of one year's experience with a licensed tree expert company in another state; or at least five years experience immediately preceding the date of application and engaged continously in practice as a tree expert with a licensed tree expert in Maryland or with an acceptable tree expert in another state.

4) have passed the examination given by the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

For more information about the tree expert test or to receive an application, persons may contact the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, telephone (301) 269-3776. Each application is reviewed prior to the examination date.

Maryland Selected To Pilot Dental ID Program

Through the efforts of the Maryland State Dental Association and the Allegany/Garrett Dental Society, Maryland has been selected as the pilot state for introduction of the American Dental Identification Registry (ADIR) microdisk in February 1986. This one-month trial period will allow close monitoring of the public and professional response to the program before introduction on the national level.

The American Dental Identification Registry, sponsored by the American Dental Association, is not a "missing children program" but rather a national identification system appealing to children as well as the elderly, singles, frequent travelers, etc. The ADIR registry will be computerized and contain basic identifying information including patient name, address, telephone number, social security number, sex and treating dentist.

Other facts about the ADIR microdisk include:

* The tradename of the ADIR microdisk will be DataDisk.

*The ADIR microdisk will utilize a microfilm material, be circular in shape and not exceed 2.5 millimeters in diameter.

*The ADIR microdisk will be formatted to include:

a. unique patient identification number up to 10 digits;

b. a national, telephone number; and

c. the ADA logo.

*An electronic scanning device is not necessary to read the information on the ADIR microdisk. Reading can be accomplished with any readily available magnification device.

*The ADIR microdisk will be packaged in lots of 10, numbered sequentially, and sold to licensed dentists and recognized related organizations through the ADA's Order Department.

*The cost to ADA members will be $10 per DataDisk. Non-members will be charged $12.50 per DataDisk to remain consistent with the ADA's pricing policies.

*The ADIR microdisk location will be standardized by placement on the upper first molar (on the facial or "cheek" side of the tooth) in adults and the equivalent surface of the most posterior primary molar in childrens the first choice of placement.

*The ADIR micordisk is bonded to the tooth surface with commercially available composite resins. This procedure takes approximately 10 minutes and requires no pain, drilling or anesthesia.

*The ADIR microdisk cannot be seen when the patient smiles or talks.

Legal Aid Bureau Notes December Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during December in Oakland on December 3 and 17 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College and in Grantsville on December 10 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Health Center.

The Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland Office of the Legal Aid Bureau is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for one of the outreach locations or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to Bureau officials.

Certification Of Oil Tank Truck Drivers Required

Drivers of oil tank trucks and transports in the State of Maryland are required to receive certification from the Department of Natural Resoures, Water Resources Administration. Failure to receive certification may result in fines or jail sentences, a WRA spokesman said. Drivers involved in interstate transportation, not loading or off-loading in Maryland, are not required to be certified.

The certification program will assist transport drivers in meeting their responsibilities in the safe handling of petroleum products and will help protect life, property and the environment from the devastating effects of oil spills.

The Water Resources Administration's Oil Control Division, in order to facilitate driver certification, has developed a simplified procedure. Drivers wishing to be certified may request the Study Manual for Oil Vehicle Operator's Certification and test from the Administration. The information in the manual includes the Regulations, how to report oil spills and in the event of a spill, what to do before help arrives. Drivers are required to read the manual and complete the test. Completed tests must then be returned to the Administration for grading. A Drivers' Certification Card will be issued to those correctly answering 70% of the test questions.

The State of Maryland Oil Vehicle Operator's Certification and test can be obtained free of charge from the Oil Control Division, Water Resoures Administration, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 or call (301) 269-2104.

Entertainment Spending Grows

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says Marylanders spent nearly $103 million on taxable entertainment during the July, August and September 1985, period, or about 3.3% more than entertainment spending for the same quarter the previous year.

"We are sending checks totaling $6,076,172 to Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City as their share of the admissions and amusement tax revenues collected for the first quarter of fiscal year 1986," Goldstein said. "This distribution is about 8.6% more than the $5,593,203 the subdivisions received for the first quarter of fiscal year 1985."

Garrett County received $30,872.

The comptroller cited significant increases in spending in the categories of athletic events, theatres and concerts, and amusement parks. Spending for admission to amusement parks jumped 75% to $3.9 million, while live theatre and concert goers spent $6.5 million, a 51% growth. Admissions to athletic events jumped 78% to $6.7 million.

"The increase in revenue from athletic events reflects increased attendance at sports events," Goldstein noted.

The admissions and amusement tax is collected by the Comptroller's Office at rates set by local governments and the revenue is returned to them quarterly.

Something To Think About
R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR
NO HIDDEN COSTS
All of us have had the experience of opening a bill and being staggered by the amount. This is often because what we THOUGHT we were paying has been considerably augmented by "hidden costs,"—taxes, service charges, surcharges, interest charges, etc.
The great majority of funeral directors adhere to a professional code of ethics which includes provisions for seeing that this doesn't happen. In order to eliminate those hidden costs, you will find that these funeral directors are explicit about the costs of goods and services. In addition, once the family decides on the kind of service desired, the funeral director should provide a written document for the family to review and approve.
This should include a description of the service and price. Any supplemental charges for merchandise or service should be listed. It should also make mention of any sums which the funeral director will advance on behalf of the family, e.g. newspaper notice.

Curran To Visit Here December 9

Maryland Lt. Governor Joseph Curran will be in Garrett County on December 9 to kick off his campaign for attorney general of Maryland. He will be hosted by the local Friends of Joe Curran for Maryland Attorney General, an organization which is chaired by Dr. William H. Buser.

The public is invited by the Friends of Joe Curran to meet the candidate at the Will O' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake, at 7 p.m. that evening. A limited number of tickets are available at the office of Burnett, Eiswert and Janes at 1,000 Thayer Center, Oakland. They may be picked up there or at Vogue Beauty Salon, 131 S. Second Street from Phyllis Trickett. The cost of the tickets is $10 each and checks should be made out to Friends of Joe Curran in Garrett County.

Among the items Curran has supported in his political career are tougher drug and drunk driving laws and laws designed to improve the state judicial and correctional systems.

Other members of the local Friends of Curran committee are Suzanne Ryan, vice chairman; Ralph M. Burnett, treasurer; James Shank, John Braskey, Phyllis Trickett, Ruth Ryan, Mike Pula, Spencer Schlosnagle, and Rick Deloach.

Dr. H. Leighton To Host Family Practice Resident

Dr. Elene Brandt, a third-year resident in the Family Practice Program of the University of Maryland in Baltimore, will be spending the next three weeks in Dr. Herbert Leighton's office, Oakland, learning about the practice of family medicine in a small town. Dr. Brandt has a special interest in obstetrics.

Dr. Brandt is from southern California. After graduating from the University of California at Berkeley, she lived in the Brazilian Amazon for several years working on a medical research project. She was graduated from medical school at Yale University.

After completing her residency, Dr. Brandt plans to practice medicine in Hermiston, a small agricultural community in northeastern Oregon.

CRELLIN

Helen Schroyer, Crellin, and Dean Schroyer and Ethel Hines, Mtn. Lake Park, visited Mrs. Inez Metcaf in Lancaster, Pa., last weekend.

Floyd Carskadon is a surgical patient in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Larimore, Harrington, Del., and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Christiana, Buffalo Mills, Pa., were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Fike and attended the funeral of their uncle, Milton Fike, on Sunday at the Crellin U.B. Church.

Westvaco Notes Fourth Quarter, Year-End Figures

Westvaco Corporation, a major producer of paper, packaging, and specialty chemicals, announced fourth quarter and audited year-end net income and sales for fiscal 1985.

Sales for the fiscal year, ended October 31, declined by 2.5% to $1.72 billion from fiscal 1984's all-time record sales of $1.77 billion. Net income was $104.6 million, or $3.65 per share. This compares with the company's all-time record of $130 million, or $4.60 per share, for fiscal 1984.

For the fourth quarter, sales were $436.9 million, a decrease of 4.8%, from sales of $458.9 million, a year earlier. Net income was $35.8 million, or $1.25 per share, compared with earnings of $41.2 million, or $1.45 per share, in the fourth quarter of 1984. Quarterly earnings were benefited by a net 17 cents per share resulting from the disposal of some real estate assets which did not fit the company's business plans, partially offset by the write-off of certain assets.

In 1985, the company extended to 90 consecutive years its record of uninterrupted quarterly cash dividends, one of the longest continuous records of dividend payment among all the companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Future Resident Is Finalist As Mrs. Maryland

Bonnie Kabara, Baltimore, has been selected as a finalist in the Mrs. Maryland contest which will be held December 8, at the Hunt Valley Inn in Towson. If she wins the Maryland title, she will represent the state in the Mrs. America pageant.

Mrs. Kabara and her husband, Edward, own property in the Cove area and plan to build a home there in the near future. She is the sister of local residents, Bill Smouse, the Cove, and Betty Betz, Deep Creek Lake.

The Kabaras are the parents of three children, Timothy, Christopher and Carrie.

Mrs. Kabara obtained a BS in music education from Towson University and has training in voice, piano, organ, dance, acting and modeling. She presently teaches vocal music at Our Lady of Fatima School and is the music director of Our Lady of Fatima Church.

The Mrs. Maryland hopeful has acted with many theatre groups and most recently directed and narrated "We Got Rhythm", a musical revue to benefit charities.

Former titles attributed to Mrs. Kabara include Miss Baltimore, Miss Towson University, and first runner-up to Miss Maryland, having won the preliminary talent and swimsuit categories.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

The Mars Hill Homemakers Club met November 12 at the home of Ruth Stanton for its regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Hilda Sturtz had the opening devotions.

Norma Bowser read the Scripture. Karin Durst was in charge of the music.

Roll Call was answered by "What is Your Favorite Quick Meal?" The demonstration was "Quick Meals," given by Mrs. Mary Kamp, who prepared chicken and served it over rice.

Mrs. Janice Stockslager presided over the business session. Plans were made for the December 10 Christmas turkey dinner at noon at the home of Marlene Beachy. A covered dish dinner will be brought in by members. Secret Sisters will be revealed and new names drawn. Santa will appear to give gifts. Each member will give a reading and the group will sing Christmas Carols. The roll call will be "What Do You Plan To Do To Make Christmas Special for someone else?"

Refreshments were served. Those attending were Alma Stanton, Clara Wiley, Esther Stanton, Marcie Beiler and daughter, Randi; Marlene Beachy, Hilda Sturtz, Norma Bowser, Karin Durst, Hope Folk and son Michael; Betty Jo Wiley and son, Wade; Ruth Stanton, Janice Stockslager, Sara Ruth Butler and Mary Kamp.

A card was signed by those attending and sent to Mrs. Martha Beachy who recently underwent hip surgery at Memorial Hospital.

WOW News

The Woodmen of the World Lodge No. 41, Grantsville, met for a regular meeting with James Guthrie, president, presiding.

Oakland Chapter Welcomes Past Matrons, Patrons

"Strangers" was the opening thought of Worthy Matron, Eleanor Teats, as Oakland Chapter held its regular meeting November 19 at the Masonic Lodge in Oakland.

Under reception of guests, the Worthy Matron extended a special greeting to Myrna Lancaster, president; and William Greenwood, vice president of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Caravan of Western Maryland. They were then invited to sit in the East with the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron.

Also greeted were the Past Matrons of Oakland Chapter belonging to the Caravan, Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Oakland Chapter, officers and members.

A special program entitled "The House that Past Matrons' and Past Patrons' Built" was given by the Worthy Matron and her officers.

Ms. Lancaster then addressed the chapter and read "A Thanksgiving Poem." Mr. Greenwood addressed the chapter and informed all on their upcoming events with the Caravan. They both thanked the Chapter for all courtesies extended to them during their visit.

Mrs. Teats then closed the Chapter with the message "The Art of Giving Thanks." She thanked all for coming and asked that all remain for fellowship with refreshments which were served by Arvetta Savage and her committee.

The next meeting will be December 3, at which time degrees of the order will be conferred upon a candidate. Also, donations to flood victims will be collected for distribution at this meeting. All those wishing to participate in giving aid to the flood victims should bring monetary or non-perishable goods to the Chapter at this time.

GOP Luncheon Set

The Northern Garrett County Republican Club's Christmas luncheon will be held at Hill Top Inn December 7 at 1:00 p.m. Persons are asked to make reservations with Carolyn Ganoe or Wilma Wilburn by December 4.

GCC Offers Classes To Local Nursing Home Residents

In an effort to serve all segments of the county's population, Garrett Community College has been offering courses at the two Oakland nursing homes. These courses, both credit and non-credit, have been designed to provide the residents with intellectual stimulation, as well as physical and recreational activities.

Non-credit courses scheduled through the Continuing Education Office by Mrs. Pat Helmick have included Communication Skills and Adult Basic Education taught by Donna Werdebaugh; Physical Education taught by Sandy Schofield, Jeri Marucci, and Nan Gangler; Applied Arts taught by Lorraine Leddon; and Horticulture taught by Debbie Milburn. These classes have been given throughout the year, usually for period of 8-10 weeks.

Credit courses have been scheduled and taught by Joan B. Crawford, Coordinator of Extended Learning at the college. For several years, Crawford has taught creative writing at Dennett Road Manor and Cuppett Weeks Nursing Home. Last year, the students in the class at Dennett Road Manor published a short book of their poetry and other writings, and this year there are plans for both nursing homes to publish a collection of writings.

Crawford, who is pictured above, standing, is teaching a new course, Literature of the Family, to the residents this year. In this class students listen to readings of short stories, personal essays, and poetry about family members and situations. After discussing literary structures and themes, and comparing the family relationships of literature to those of real life, the students express their ideas in collaborative writing.

"Although the course started out to be a literature course, I have found that the residents have enjoyed the creative writing we did last year, and want to do more of that," Crawford stated. "We now devote about half of each class period to writing activities. This gives the students an end product, which they have come to value."

These courses have been made possible through the Directed Studies medium of the college that allows courses to be tailored for particular target groups.

Rehabilitation Aid Available Through Corps Of Engineers

Residents of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia may request public aid for repairs to flood control structures damaged by flooding related to Hurricane Juan, since the flood areas were declared disaster areas by the president.

Maryland residents have until December 11 to request assistance, while the deadline for West Virginia is December 7.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has authority under Public Law 84-99 to rehabilitate these structures, regardless of ownership, when damaged by floods. All requests for aid should be addressed to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Baltimore District, Emergency Management Division, P.O. Box 1715, Baltimore, Md. 21203.

Sing Scheduled At Red House Church

The annual "Christmas Melodies" sing will be held this Sunday, December 1, at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House.

The presentation will consist of selections by choirs, quartets, group singing, and solos. It is being sponsored by the Adult Fellowship of the church. The public is invited to attend.

Local Educators Attend Workshop

Les McDaniel and Ron Kuhn, guidance counselors at Southern High School, recently attended a workshop on Advising for College held at Allegany Community College in Cumberland. Sponsored by the Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland, the purpose of the workshop was to provide high school counselors in Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties with the opportunity to meet with college representatives and financial aid representatives to receive information on admissions expectations of colleges and available college financial aid options. The counselors will then be able to provide students with the most current information for college selection decisions.

Cissy VanSickle and Darlene Tressler, of Garrett Community College, were present to discuss financial aid opportunities and admissions requirements, respectively. Other colleges and universities represented were West Virginia University, Frostburg State College, Allegany Community College, Hagerstown Junior College, Towson State University and the University of Maryland.

The counselors heard a presentation by Senator John Bambacus on the Senatorial Scholarship Program, with additional detail and program statistics provided by Mona Smith, district administrator to Senator Bambacus.

Dr. Douglas MacDonald, the newly appointed executive director of the Maryland State Scholarship Board, also spoke to the counselors concerning the various forms of college financial aid available through the State; Captain Martin Wisda, R.O.T.C. coordinator at Frostburg State College, provided information on financial aid available through the military; and John Cantalupo, of College Student Financial Aid Services, Ltd., presented information on innovative financing alternatives for parents.

The Workshop on Advising for College is the first in a series of RESA workshops designed to assist in increasing the percentage of Western Maryland students furthering their education.

DEER PARK

A special program was presented by the children at the United Methodist Sunday School on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Beckman were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baggett, Fairfax, Va., the past weekend.

Miss Mary Thrasher, Corinth, W.Va., visited her grandmother, Mrs. Pleasant Thrasher, recently.

On the job for 79 years!

A THANKSGIVING TREAT

("Family Corner" is fortunate to have as its guest writer this week, Miss Sheila Bender, Maryland's State Dairy Princess. Garrett Countians should be proud of the fine job that Sheila is doing to represent her state, her county, and the dairy industry.)

Thanksgiving is a time for reflecting on God's blessings you have received in the past year. People are often too busy preparing food and rushing to family reunions that they forget the true meaning of Thanksgiving. This year, spend more time with your family and less time in the kitchen by preparing foods ahead of time. Some foods, such as salads and desserts can be prepared earlier, thus giving you more family time.

A nutritious snack is often a favorite of the family, but does not have to be time consuming in preparation. An example is the following recipe:

Cheddar Peanut Ball

2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
2 tablespoons finely chopped red onion
1/8 teaspoon curry powder
½ cup chopped salted peanuts

Beat together Cheddar and cream cheese until well blended. Stir in onion and curry powder. Shape to form a cheese ball. Roll in peanuts. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Serve at room temperature with assorted crackers. Yield: About 2 cups cheese spread.

This recipe is easy to make and provides the family with many vitamins and nutrients. One and one-half ounces of Cheddar cheese contains about the same amount of calcium as one cup of whole, skim or buttermilk. The intake of calcium is important and essential for healthy bones and teeth. Milk and other dairy products are a main source of calcium and can be obtained in many forms and flavors.

When buying milk and other dairy products be sure to look for the REAL seal, a stylized drop of milk enclosing the word "REAL". This seal assures consumers that the product is made from real milk and not imitation products.

May you have a great Thanksgiving filled with love and happiness and another year of God's grace and blessings!

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club held its annual achievement program on November 9 with a covered dish dinner for members and their families at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House.

Following the dinner, the meeting was opened by everyone singing "West Virginia Boys and Girls" and saying the 4-H Pledge. Danny Roth outlined the club year activities and achievements.

First-year members were recognized by Arlene Roth and Melissa Evans was named the Most Active First Year Member. She also presented to the leaders, Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth, copies of the cookbook, "The Flavor of Jackson's Mill."

Leader Linda Lewis reported that the club was recognized as a banner club and a blue ribbon club at the County Achievement program.

Debra Rinehart handed out 20 faithful and five perfect attendance certificates.

Outgoing member Willie Lantz was recognized and a County Health Award presented to Elizabeth Whitehair by Mrs. Lewis. Mrs. Roth then gave the new members pins and welcomed them to the club. They are: Chad Bishop, Jeremy Bolyard, Brian Corbin, Billy Moore, Kevin Teets and Matt Utterback.

The horticulture judging team members were given recognition and Friends of 4-H Certificates were presented to Bill Lantz and to the Miners and Merchants Bank accepted by Don Roth.

The puppet show featuring handicapped puppets prepared by Jennifer, Elizabeth and Jeanne Whitehair provided entertainment and a lesson.

New officers for 1985-86 were installed and yearbooks given out. The meeting closed with a prayer.

Those in attendance, in addition to the above named, were: Tonya Beckman, Dayton Bolyard, Heather Cole, Kevin Corbin, Stephanie Evans, Mark Harsh, Jackie Lantz, Emily and Julie Lewis, Evelyn Lipscomb, Donna Mullenax, Connie Rinehart, Laura Shaffer, Nathan and Nicole Teets, John and Mark Utterback and their families.

County 4-H Officers Training School was held October 19 in Kingwood Elementary school. Those from the Eglon Mountaineer club who attended were Elizabeth Whitehair, Brent Hauser, Julie and Emily Lewis, Debra Rinehart, Stephanie and Melissa Evans, Tonya Beckman, Tammy Slaubaugh, Linda Lewis, Jean Rinehart, Arlene and Elaine Roth. The class for reporters was taught by Arlene Roth.

An executive meeting was held on October 22 at the Eglon Memorial Building where plans for the new year were formulated. Those attending were Elizabeth and Jennifer Whitehair, Julie and Emily Lewis, Stephanie and Melissa Evans, Heather Cole, Laura Shaffer, Tammy Slaubaugh, Linda Lewis and Elaine Roth.

The Club expressed its appreciation to those who helped save glass and aluminum cans for the recycling program. It is requested also that persons continue to save both the clear glass and aluminum cans during the winter. Bill and Willie Lantz provided the truck and took the load to Keyser to the collection point.

A morning workshop to make woven ribbon baskets was held November 19 in the home of Bonnylin Lantz. Planned and executed by the Membership and Public Relations Committee and Cultural Arts Committee of the Aurora Extension Homemakers, instructor for the workshop was Joan Reeves. She was assisted by Alma Snyder. Betty Fint, chairman of Membership and Public Relations Committee thanked them and acknowledged their contribution to the craft session. The committee also gave the guests, Crystal Lantz of Aurora and Pat Johnson of Fellowsville, gifts which were a packet called My Bag and containing materials pertinent to the Extension Homemaker organization.

Members present for the covered dish luncheon which followed were Martha Bolyard, Maxine Hauser, Bonnylin Lantz, Beulah Lipscomb, Opal Myers, Mary Belle Myers, Wilda Wilt, Eva Wotring, Julie Adams, Betty Fint and the visitors named above.

At 1 p.m the group gathered to hold their regular meeting with the president, Martha Bolyard, presenting some thoughts concerning Thanksgiving and its continuing lack of commercialism. She read Psalm 147 and verses from Ephesians. She mentioned the obligation to the people who are suffering from the recent floods.

Bonnylin Lantz discussed the lesson topic, "Drinking and Driving: Everybodys Problem. She was assisted by Anita Lantz and lesson leaflets and other information were distributed.

Julie Adams, chairman of Christmas Festival, reported on progress made and finalized the plans for this December 7 event. Dolls to be dressed and stockings to be filled for the Salvation Army's Christmas effort in the county were distributed.

Martha Bolyard reported collection of food, clothing, other supplies and money for the flood victims of November 4.

Betty Fint reported on her survey of seat belt use. Martha Bolyard said that Hospice is seeking volunteers to be trained to serve in this capacity. Also, County Council is seeking suggestions for a replacement activity for the Tannebaum Festival which they will no longer be having.

Bonnylin Lantz presented the insurance issue which came before the County Extension Homemaker's Council concerning liability of the membership and the club decided that it would accept the suggestion that this year the money be taken from the treasury and the following year be added to dues paid.

A quilt square will be designed and embroidered in a historical theme by club members to be joined with others from the clubs in Preston County to be made into a quilt to be presented to Queen Ceres at the 1986 Buckwheat Festival.

Maxine Hauser displayed a quilt made about 1941 by various Aurora persons and also showed school records given to her by Miss Jessie Trotter. These things are to be preserved in a case in the Community Building.

The hostess showed a pitcher with an etched bird and a split bottom stool, both of which she had made, doing only the etching on the pitcher.

The pig-in-the-poke was drawn by Betty Fint. On December 3 the Aurora Extension Homemakers will meet in the home of Bonnylin Lantz for a salad luncheon and gift exchange. The gift to be something handmade by the giver. The time is 11 a.m. for this meeting.

First nine weeks Honor Roll for Aurora Junior High has been released by Gary Henline, principal. Named to the seventh grade honor roll are Tamie Ball, Shannon Fike, Donna Mullenax, Kevin Stemple and Mark Utterback. Those from the eighth grade are Jackie Adams, Shannon Eskridge and Jennifer Whitehair.

A Christmas Festival will be held December 7 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building in Aurora. Hours are 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and Santa will visit from noon until 2 p.m. There will be door prizes, food available, and gifts for the children. Tables of crafts will be displayed including items for gifts and baked goods, plus decorative items, which are being offered for sale by various local groups.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Harry Fox had worship services at all three churches of the Bittinger Parish on Sunday. Lectors for the morning services were: St. John's, Nickey O'Brien; Phyllis Buckel, Emmanuel; and Mrs. George Shawley, Zion.

The annual congregational meetings will be held at each congregation after the worship services on December 8.

Death Noted

Joel Brenneman died on November 17 at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Rockville, where he had been a resident for the past two years. He was 85 years of age and the father of two sons and two daughters. He was born in Bittinger, and was a brother of Mrs. Etta Buckel. Flowers were placed on the altar on Sunday at Emmanuel in his memory.

Birth Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William Buckel announce the birth of a son on November 23 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The baby weighed 8 lbs., 8 ozs., and was named Derek Robert.

Hospital News

Howard Hetrick remains a patient in the intensive care unit at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, at this time.

Homemakers Meet

Ten members of the Bittinger Homemakers Club met at the home of Ethel Buckel on November 19 for a luncheon meeting. Mrs. Buckel presented the topic "Quick Meals" and the luncheon featured various dishes prepared by several club members. The roll call was "What is your favorite Quick Meal?" In keeping with the season, the dessert was "Impossible Pumpkin Pie." Loretta Opel, newly elected president, conducted the business meeting, and the club will participate in the fire department's Christmas party instead of having the December meeting.

Party Scheduled

The Bittinger Volunteer Firemen and Auxiliary will sponsor their annual Community Christmas Party at the fire hall on Sunday evening, December 8, to which everyone is invited. Santa Claus will be present, and give out gifts provided by the parents. Instead of a gift exchange by the adults, a money box will be available for the Flood Relief. Each family is asked to bring its favorite "finger" food.

Featured In Exhibit

Mrs. Russell Brenneman's work was featured in an exhibit on Friday at the Textile Building, connected with the Smithsonian Institution, Washington. The exhibit was on weaving, place mats and rugs, woven by hand looms. The event was held by Dr. Geraldine Johnson, who had bought 500 woven place mats made by Mrs. Brenneman. Dr. Johnson has written a book, entitled "Weaving Rag Rugs, A Woman's Craft in Western Maryland." The book contains much about Garrett County, and was selling for $25.00. Each person buying a book on that day was presented with a woven place mat, 13x20 inches, made by Mrs. Brenneman.

Both Mrs. Brenneman's and Irene Miller's picture appears in the book, and a large picture of both women was on display. A buffet dinner was served to a crowd of 100 people. It was discovered that Dr. Johnson's husband is a dentist at the White House.

Attending the event besides Mrs. Brenneman were Mrs. Irene Miller and Loretta Opel. They were guests at the buffet dinner. Mrs. Brenneman reports that the book may be on sale at Penn Alps.

Personal Items

Hamill Glotfelty was home for a few days last week. On Tuesday evening he along with Helen Hostetler, Salisbury, visited Mrs. Leonora Buckel.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Detrick 84, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brenneman over the weekend.

Lois Brenneman returned to Traverse City, Mich., last week after spending two weeks at the home of his mother, Amelia Brenneman.

Mary Glotfelty and daughter visited Cora Glotfelty on Sunday afternoon.

Broad Ford PTA To Meet Dec. 2

The Broad Ford Elementary School PTA will meet in the school cafetorium on Monday, December 2, at 7:30 p.m.

Following a short business meeting, Beverly Sincell, a part-time counselor with Women's Refuge, Inc., will present a program on the prevention of child sexual abuse. A film for children and parents will be included in the presentation and a question and answer period will follow.

Also scheduled to speak is Mark Durst, vice-president of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department, who will speak on the "Tot-finder" sticker program.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

AURORA

Vesta Stemple, Aurora; 30 grandchildren, and 28 great-grandchildren.

She was a member of the Eglon Church of Brethren and services were held at the Maple Spring Church on Tuesday, November 19, by Rev. Donald Matthews and Rev. J. Michael Fike, with interment in the Eglon Cemetery following.

Tom Lewis returned Friday to Eglon after being absent from home for the past three weeks helping his unit of W.Va. National Guard in various areas of the state with service to the flood victims. As a member of the National Guard Med-Evac unit, he remains on call at this time.

Donations have been made to the Union Ambulance Association recently by Vera Stemple and Paul Stemple.

Donations to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department were received from Dr. Edward Arnett of Martinsburg, John and Mildred Dean of Macomber, Mary Katharine Dellis, Mabank, Tex. and to the truck fund, from Walter and Kate Shaffer.

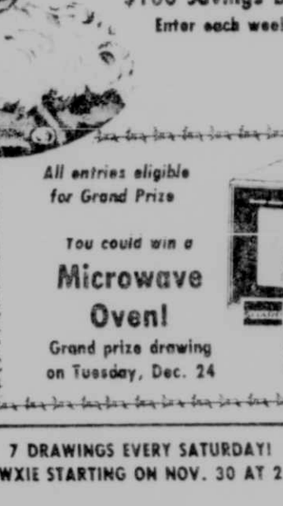
Al/c J.R. Hartley Jr., his wife, Lisa and daughter, Fallon, of Tacoma, Wash., are spending a three-week leave here with his parents, Joe and Eloise Hartley, in Terra Alta, her parents, Ron and Judy Paugh, Charlotte and Ronnie, in Aurora and with their grandparents, and other relatives and friends.

The afghan made and donated to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department by Luella Fike was won Sunday, November 24, at the buckwheat cake dinner by Don Roth.

Kurt Lowrey of Martinsburg and his father, Bill Lowrey are here for deer hunting and guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons, Eglon.

A guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rembold and family at Eglon is Fred Perry of Pennsylvania.

Word has been received that Joe Miller of Broadway, Va., is quite ill.



Mrs. Lucille Arnold of Eglon was taken Saturday evening to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she remains in serious condition.

Linda Brittner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strawser, her parents, and nephew, Chad Harvey, all of Rowlesburg, were Sunday visitors in Eglon with Mr. and Mrs. Armand Heckert and Barbara.

"I GUARANTEE CAR REPAIRS FOR LIFE."

"That's a pretty strong statement, and I couldn't say it if I couldn't back it up. But my Lifetime Service Guarantee means what it says: you'll never pay twice for the same repair for as long as you own your vehicle. Here's how it works. If you ever need to have your Ford, Lincoln, Mercury or Ford Light Truck fixed, you pay once, and I'll guarantee that if the covered part ever has to be fixed again, I'll fix it free. Free parts. Free labor. For as long as you own your vehicle. No matter when or where you bought it. The Lifetime Service Guarantee. It's a service commitment from me to you, because I stand behind my work, and I put it in writing.

Vicki Shreve Becomes Bride Of Darren Ream In November Ceremony

Vicki Rae Shreve and Darren Todd Ream were joined in marriage in a double-ring ceremony on Saturday, November 9, at noon at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, with the Rev. Daniel Yeiser officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Shreve, Oakland. The groom is the son of Elaine Ream, Oakland, and the late Dale Ream.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was given in marriage by her parents. The bride chose a short length white dress with a long lace collar. In her hair she wore a crown of baby's breath. She carried a bouquet of red roses, pink mini carnations, mini white mums and baby's breath. Her jewelry consisted of a string of pearls and matching pearl earrings.

The maid of honor, Terri Bowers, friend of the bride, wore a short length pink polyester crepe dress and a crown of silk red, white, and pink flowers in her hair. She carried a bouquet of white roses, pink mini carnations, and baby's breath.

The groom was attired in a three-piece, dark blue, pinstriped suit, accented with a white shirt, rose colored tie, and a boutonniere consisting of a white carnation and baby's breath.

The best man, Steve Weaver, friend of the groom, wore a three-piece dark blue, pinstriped suit, with a white shirt, burgundy tie, and a white carnation boutonniere.

A reception followed at the Deer Park Fire Hall, which was decorated in white, red and pink. The three-tier wedding cake was baked and decorated by Margie Sanders, relative of the bride, and featured ivory colored icing, white, pink and burgundy roses and a lighted fountain with burgundy tinted water running through it. The fountain was surrounded by icing roses and greenery with baby's breath. The cake was topped with bride and groom figures.

Daisy Murray, cousin of the bride, and Barbara Beerbower, relative of the groom, cut and served the cake.

The punch was served by Barbara Sweitzer, aunt of the bride, and the coffee by Lisa Murray, relative of the bride.

After a honeymoon at Canaan Valley Resort, the couple established residency in Mtn. Lake Park.

Insight Into Education

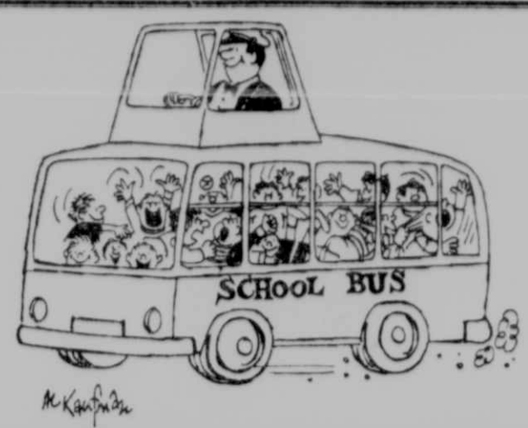
Accident Elementary School

This article was written by obert E. Wilson, principal of ie Accident Elementary :hool.

Built in 1982, the Accident Elementary School is the newest of the Garrett County Schools. Comprising approximately 34,800 square feet the school can house a maximum of 300 kindergarten through fifth grade students. Although the most recently constructed it is the first to counter the trend to modified open-space schools in the county and, reflecting the philosophy of the community and staff, is designed with closed classrooms.

The school is presently staffed with ten classroom teachers, two special education teachers, two special education aides, two instructional aides, one clerical aide, one media/computer aide, and traveling Physcial Education, Art, Music and Gifted/Talented teachers serving a current enrollment of 250 students.

The building is equipped with a media center, gymnasium/auditorium, kitchen/cafeteria, and separate art, music and gifted/talented classrooms. In addition to fenced areas for kindergarten, first grade and special education, the playground facilities provide for general play and group game activities as well.



Serving as the special education center for the northern end of the county the school also has a Level III classroom for those students who need up to three hours special instruction in Reading, Math or Language Arts; a Level IV classroom for those students who receive more than three hours of one-to-one teaching in their academic subjects; an Adaptive Home Living Skills area, complete with all major appliances found in the home and where students are taught self-help and survival skills; a well equipped physical therapy room and is the location of the Northern Admissions, Review and Dismissal team for the present school year. Referred to as the ARD team these people assess, place and monitor the programs for all special education referrals in the northern area schools.

Currently a classroom is being remodeled to serve as a computer lab and when completed this month will have 16 computers on line that will enable the students to develop an awareness of and to exploit the computer as a learning tool.

Collectively, the 13 full-time professional staff members have over 167 years of teaching experience and have also earned ten master's degrees and two advanced professional certificates. This personal commitment by the staff coupled with a long history of educational support by the community has given the Accident School a higher than average academic rating, frequently scoring well above the national norms on the state mandated achievement tests with results that typically are beyond anticipated levels.

Widespread parental support and commitment, a strong academic-orientated curriculum and a staff with high expectations for themselves and their students is evidenced by the fact that 40% of last year's fifth grade received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award from the U.S. Department of Education.

To qualify for this award a student had to attain an accumulated B+ grade average and scored at or above the 80th percentile on a nationally recognized standardized achievement test battery. The award itself consisted of an embossed certificate, a lapel pin and a letter of congratulations from President Reagan.

4-H Club News

Monte Vista 4-H Club

Monte Vista 4-H Club met at the Tri-R Roller Rink for their November meeting. Lori Dodge presided at the meeting.

Members turned in their money for cookbooks which the club is selling. Members are also taking orders for hard tack candy, peanut crunch and peanut brittle. Anyone not getting their order in should contact the president at 334-4022.

Members were asked to bring their ideas for next year's program to the December meeting, which will be December 5, 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Extension Office.

The winners at the Halloween party were announced: prettiest, Rachna Magoon; ugliest, Christi Mattingly; most original, Sherri Nelson; scariest, Tara Wildesen; funniest, Jessica Yost and most creative, Marion Evans. Judges were Alice Hevner, Lois Martin, Joan Sprangel, and John Sines. The Guess cake was won by Sherri Nelson.

North Glade
by Chris Herbert

The 4-H Club of North Glade met on November 13, with seven members and five adults present.

The club will fix a food basket this month for someone in the community. It will be delivered the day before Thanksgiving.

The club will also be going Christmas caroling at Cuppett & Weeks Nursing Home sometime in December.

The Christmas dinner this year will be held on Sunday, December 15, at 2 p.m.

All members brought a Christmas craft to show that they had made. Then each one made a tree decoration.

The next meeting will be December 11 to work on record books.

Yough Valley Indians
by William Nedrow, reporter

The November 11 meeting of the Yough Valley Indians was called to order by Peggy Bowser, vice president.

Barbie Umbel, secretary, gave roll call which was answered by nine members and two leaders. Jeff Lowdermilk gave the treasurer's report.

Under old business, the club decided to go bowling at North Garrett Lanes in Grantsville, on November 23. We decided to call a special meeting to discuss further our bowling trip for November 18.

Due to the delay of the club's candy order, the club decided to cancel the order and sell candy in the spring.

Under new business the new officers for 1986 were elected. They are Rebecca Meyers, president; Barbara Umbel, vice president; Regina VanSickle, secretary; Jeff Lowdermilk, treasurer; Peggy Bowser, photographer; Scott Sines, activity leader; and William Nedrow, reporter. These new officers will take their offices the first meeting of January 1986.

Demonstrations were given by William Nedrow on his collie, Bandit, and Peggy Bowser on her pet rabbit, Punky.

NOTICE

Of Application for Merger of Bank Holding Companies.

GNB Bankshares, Inc., Oakland, Maryland and LTC Bancorp, Cumberland, Maryland, intend to apply to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System for permission to consolidate. We intend for the resulting corporation, WM Bancorp, Cumberland, Maryland, to acquire control of Liberty Bank of Maryland, Cumberland, Maryland, and Garrett National Bank, Oakland, Maryland. The Federal Reserve considers a number of factors in deciding whether to approve the application, including the record of performance of banks we owned in helping to meet local credit needs.

You are invited to submit comments in writing on this application to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, P.O. Box 27622, Richmond, Virginia 23261. The comment period will not end before December 19, 1985 and may be somewhat longer. The Board's procedures for processing applications may be found at 12 C.F.R. Part 262. Procedures for processing protested applications may be found at 12 C.F.R. Section 212.25. To obtain a copy of the Board's procedures or if you need more information about how to submit your comments on the application, contact James F. Tucker, Community Affairs Officer of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond at (804) 643-1250. The Federal Reserve will consider your comments and any request for a public meeting or formal hearing on the application if they are received by the Reserve Bank on or before the last date of the comment period.

FRANK G. GOSS, ET UX
Plaintiffs
FRANK BELL and the unknown heirs of Frank Bell
Defendants
NO. 8618 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 18th day of November, 1985, a Motion was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the State of Maryland and for Garrett County, Maryland, against the unknown Defendants.

The Motion alleges in substance, Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes, is holding the sum of TWO THOUSAND EIGHTEEN AND 88/100 DOLLARS ($2,018.88), representing the amount received from the tax sale of property owned by the late Frank Bell, that all reasonable efforts have been made to ascertain the heirs of the decedent, and believes Exhibit A filed therewith contains all heirs of the late Frank Bell; however, it is not known whether all heirs have been acertained and that the said sum will be distributed to the known heirs as listed on Exhibit A unless cause to the contrary be shown.

The relief prayed in the Petition is substantially as follows: That an Order of Publication be issued against all unknown heirs of Frank Bell, warning them the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall pass an Order distributing the aforesaid sum of $2,018.88 to the heirs as shown on Exhibit A, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

WHEREUPON, it is ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 18th day of November, 1985, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 13th day of December 1985, giving notice to the said Defendants of the objects and substance of the Petition and warning them to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 14th day of January, 1986, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on December 5, 1985 at 7:30 p.m. in the Old Grand Jury Room (Third Floor Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket VR-131: An application made by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Railey for Variances from the terms of the zoning ordinance as it affects the minimum land area requirement and the lot width requirement for a residential building lot. Specifically, the Raileys wish to re-subdivide their property to establish a new lot having a land area of 35,577 square feet and a lot width of 116.39 feet (the required dimensions are 43,560 square feet and a width of 150 feet). The property is located off Mayhew Inn Road near Red Run (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-132: An application made by Mr. Fred E. Davis for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the lot width requirement and the minimum width required for a "back lot" access point onto the Penelec Buffer Strip. Specifically, Mr. Davis wishes to construct a house on a lot which is 145.5 feet wide instead of the required 150 feet and the Davis lot also has deeded access to Deep Creek Lake across a 35 foot wide access strip. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR-133: An application made by Ms. Geneva Wadell for Variances from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the minimum land area and lot width requirements for three building lots. Specifically, Ms. Wadell wishes to establish three lots which would be 100 feet wide instead of the required 150 feet wide and the parcels would also be smaller than the required one acre lot size. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

4) Docket VR-134: An application made by Mr. Sandy Stevenson, representative for Modular Construction Corporation for Variances from the rear yard set-back requirement for balconies. Specifically, the Corporation wishes to extend townhouse balconies eight feet into the required rear yard instead of the allowable four feet projection. The property is located on Deep Creek Drive (Zoned TC).

5) Docket SE-145: An application made by Mr. William T. Gaither for a Special Exception permit to allow the placement of a mobile home for use as a storage building on his property located on O'Brien Road (Zoned LR).

SEARCHING THROUGH THE RUBBLE hoping to find some unharmed company records is Ken Maust, an employee of Rigidply Rafters Inc., which was nearly destroyed by fire Monday evening. High winds and sub-zero wind chill assisted the blaze and hampered efforts of local firefighters to extinguish it. Damages are estimated at over $350,000. See story.

Commissioners Resolve Issue Of Rescue Squad Tax

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced at a press conference Tuesday that they have resolved the issue of the rescue tax to aid local rescue squads.

"We are sending a proposal to Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards requesting legislation to dedicate the equivalent of $.02 of the county tax rate which will actually come from the state-shared tobacco tax," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.

County Clerk Robert J. Fousek said that those state-shared funds were previously undedicated and became part of the general county fund.

Gregg said the county officials will, if legislation is passed, request an annual audit of expenditures from the Northern and Southern Rescue Squads since the law would then require such records.

He said he felt their decision was the best one, since adding on the real estate tax itself would have put a burden on those county residents who do not use the services of the county squads. Bloomington residents normally use Tri-Towns while Finzel residents often use the Frostburg Ambulance services.

The commissioners met earlier in the day with Phil Rook of the Southern Rescue Squad and Nancy Trimble of the Northern Rescue Squad to unveil their plans and outline the provisions of such a tax.

Mitchell Manor Request

The commissioners said Tuesday that they have had several requests from residents of the Mitchell Manor and old U.S. Route 219 to be included in the town of Oakland's sanitary district.

Commissioner John Braskey said Wendell Beitzel, sanitary commissioner, will be working to lay out the boundaries of such a proposal. He said the next step would be a public meeting to receive comments from the residents. The final stage before a decision would be made would be a survey of the area. The town would then request in their application to the state the inclusion of that area in the sanitary district.

IRB Finalized

The final signing of the Industrial Revenue Bond for the expansion and new press for the Sincell Publishing Company was completed Tuesday.

The local company requested an IRB in the amount of $260,000 for the expansion of the existing building to accommodate a new off-set press. The off-set press will replace the antiquated letter press presently in use by

Rigidply Rafters Devastated By Fire; Loss Estimated At Over $350,000

The major portion of a local rafter-building business was destroyed by fire Monday evening as volunteer fire fighters from two local departments attempted to stop the blaze against extremely high winds and wind chill temperatures of 50 below zero.

The main building of Rigidply Rafters, located along the Paul Friend Road south of Oakland and measuring 120 by 164 feet, was leveled, and most of the equipment inside the structure was destroyed. An adjacent barn which contained hay was also gutted and a truck located alongside the main building was destroyed. Damage was estimated by Emanuel Miller, manager of the business, to be between $350,000 and $400,000, about 80 percent of which was covered by insurance.

Fire fighters and other bystanders were successful, however, in saving an adjacent house, plus warehouses located just south of the main building, and one tractor trailer. The house, which serves as the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, was directly in the path of the flames from the main building, however firemen were able to keep the house cooled with water and, at the same time, attack the fire to keep it from blowing more toward the house. The house sustained minor damage, including several broken windows.

Garrett Emergency Management received a call from Miller at about 6:35 p.m., who stated that he thought the flue in the main building was on fire. When Oakland VFD arrived on the scene, they discovered that flames had already burst through the roof around the flue on the north side of the building.

According to I. Robert Rudy, assistant chief of Oakland VFD who was the officer in charge on the initial attack, it was his intention to attack the fire from the inside of the building, entering from the south side, and push the flames out, while having another crew protect the house. But he said that a dropped ceiling made access to the fire difficult, plus the winds, estimated to be as high as 60 miles per hour, caused the fire to spread rapidly and with intense heat.

Rudy said the inside of the frame structure, which had an exterior of metal, was lined with plastic foam insulation, which also intensified the rapid advance of the blaze.

"In my 11 years in the fire service, I have never seen a building burn so rapidly," Rudy

Public Hearing On ORV Regulations Slated For Sat.

A public hearing will be held in the auditorium of Garrett Community College in McHenry on Saturday, December 7 at noon on proposed revision of the existing off-road vehicle regulations that affect off-road vehicle trails in Garrett County.

The proposed regulations call for the addition of approximately 68 miles of trail to an already existing 45 miles of trail. The additional miles of trail have been developed on Potomac-Garrett and Savage River State Forests.

The revised off-road vehicle (ORV) regulations were published in the November 8 Maryland Register. The December 7 hearing and the publication of the proposed regulations are required before final adoption of the regulations. The adoptions of the regulations in mid-January will increase opportunities for snowmobiling this winter.

Written comments about the proposed regulations may be sent to Ross Kimmel, Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland, or persons may call (301) 269-3771, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 .m. Public comment must be received no later than 4 p.m. on December 16.

Copies of the proposed regulations are available in the Deep Creek Lake Management Office at 387-4111 or in the Annapolis office of the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

High Winds Cause Power Outages Affecting 2,000

An approximate 2,000 customers of Potomac Edison experienced power outages or interruptions during the period of extremely high winds felt in the area on Monday, according to Gerald Kremer, area line superintendent of Potomac Edison.

Kremer said that trouble began around 7 a.m. on Monday with outages affecting customers on State Park Road, Underwood Road, and in Sang Run, Shallmar, and Altamont. Crews worked all day getting power back to those scattered areas.

At 2:30 Monday afternoon, a large tree was uprooted by the wind and fell across power lines on Broadford Road near the elementary and middle school complex. All residents of Mtn. Lake Park were affected by the downed tree. Without power at that time also were the areas of Loch Lynn, Route 560, Route 135, and most areas east of Oakland, bringing the total for that outage alone to 1,500 customers.

Kremer gave credit to the Garrett County Roads Department for assisting with the tree removal. He said that luckily a Potomac Edison crew was only 10 minutes away, and through their combined efforts, power was restored by 3:20 p.m.

On Tuesday morning beginning at 4:30, 300 customers in the Crellin area were without power. Potomac Edison crews had that power restored by 8:30 a.m.

Kremer said that as of Tuesday afternoon the only work needing to be completed was the replacement of a pole and transformer on Glendale Road. He said that problems were caused not only by the high winds blowing lines togeher, but because the ground is so wet that large trees uproot easily, disrupting power around the county.

Bad Weather Blamed For Low Buck Harvest

Unofficially, 748 bucks were harvested in Garrett County during the first three days of deer season, according to the Maryland Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service.

Last fall 1,005 bucks were taken during the same period. Poor hunting conditions, widespread fog on opening day, and blizzard conditions on Monday, are the major reasons for the decrease in harvest this year.

Last season (1984) was the highest buck kill recorded for Garrett County, with good hunting conditions on opening day, so comparisons are difficult. "If the snow cover we now have remains and weather conditions improve, the buck harvest should increase during the last days of the season," said Al Bourgeois, DNR Wildlife Manager for Garrett County.

Garrett County, on opening day however, was the top deer-producing county in the western portion of the state with 541 bucks killed on Saturday. Allegany County's total for opening day was 503. There were 357 deer tagged in Washington County and 265 in Frederick. The opening day total for the four-county region was 1,666 which is a decline of 800 deer from last year's first-day harvest.

Bourgeois reminds hunters that only antlered deer (bucks) may be taken during the cur-

DECD Financing Renovation Of Accident School

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development will provide $150,000 in construction and permanent financing for a project to convert a former elementary school in Accident to housing for households with limited incomes, according to a release from the DECD.

The project, which is sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Agency, will renovate the school to provide seven apartments and a senior citizens' center. The project includes two two-bedroom apartments, three three-bedroom apartments, and two four-bedroom apartments.

Financing for the development will be provided by the Community Development Administration, the state's housing finance agency, a division of DECD. CDA's Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program (MHRP) provides preferred interest loans for the renovation of single-family homes, rental housing and commercial property. MHRP financing is used to bring property up to applicable building codes and standards, and to finance a limited amount of general improvements.

Total cost of the project is $242,990. The CDA financing will be supplemented by a $72,860 Community Development Block Grant and a $20,130

GCC Transfers Animal Shelter Equipment & Operations To County

Effective June 30, 1986, the management and operation of the Garrett County Animal Shelter will be transferred from Garrett Community College to county government, according to Dr. David Puzzuoli, interim president at GCC.

Presently, the Animal Shelter is being managed and operated by GCC as part of its Veterinary Science Technology Program. In addition to the management and operations functions, GCC will transfer ownership of equipment and buildings valued in excess of $100,000.

Recently, the administrative staff of GCC met with officials of the Maryland State Department of Education, division of Vocational-Technical Education, and the Appalachian Regional Commission to negotiate the transfer of approximately $70,000 worth of equipment to Garrett County government.

Also during the November 19 meeting, the GCC Board of Trustees passed a motion by unanimous vote to transfer approximately $30,000 worth of Animal Shelter equipment and facilities to the county. The college will leave an inventory of supplies and medicines worth several thousand dollars. Over the years, GCC expended two to five thousand dollars annually on supplies and medicines to treat animals brought to the shelter.

Dr. Puzzuoli said the college became involved in the shelter in the mid-1970's. At that time, the county was served by a building approximately one-fifth the present size. The current shelter was constructed in four phases. The first phase was the original small building known as the dog pound. The second phase was constructed by the county and equipped by GCC. The third phase of the construction was built and equipped by the college, members of the staff and building construction students. The fourth and final phase was built through funds allocated to GCC by the Maryland State Department of Agriculture. That addition was required to house the new equipment purchases by GCC for the shelter.

"The county and GCC owes a special thanks to GCC professor, David Slagle, William Nedrow, director of plant operations at GCC, and William Moore, for their labor and foresight in constructing the animal shelter," said Dr. Puzzuoli. "For example, those gentlemen spent one of their Christmas vacations doing the interior finishing work in the building.

The interim president also extended his appreciation to Richard Bolden, instructor of building construction at GCC, and his students for constructing the third phase from the ground up.

Puzzuoli noted that the present facility houses the latest and most up-to-date veterinary equipment. He said an X-ray machine purchased by GCC for the shelter was sought out by local hospital officials and that a Nitrogen Bone Drill was borrowed by Garrett County Memorial Hospital to facilitate surgical procedures on its patients. He added that the Planning Comm. Hears Development Project Proposal

The Garrett County Planning Commission met Wednesday at the courthouse with the main topic of discussion being the development of 389 acres adjacent to the Wisp Ski Area.

Gary B. Blucher, president of Rachuba Enterprises Inc., and Bob Galvin from the engineering firm of Daft-McCune-Walker Inc., spoke of their plans for single-dwelling units and townhouse units, as well as a proposed hotel-conference center and ski trails to complement the existing Wisp Ski Area.

They said their intention Wednesday was to inform the commission and the private landowners near the development area of their plans and to discuss any obstacles which may occur with such a project. Some of the potential problems discussed were increased traffic on Marsh Hill Road, sewer and water accessibility, road improvements and marketability of the project.

Both Blucher and Galvin stressed that they are only doing feasibility studies now. Galvin stated, "It would be foolish to plan a community before we know what we're allowed to do. That's why we came here today—to begin touching base with all the

Second Hearing On Re-Districting Of Schools Set

The second public hearing on the three proposals to re-district school attendance areas will be held Monday, December 9 at 7 p.m. in the Garrett Community College auditorium.

The Garrett County Board of Education invites the public to attend to learn about the proposals and offer input for the Board's consideration.

The school communities involved include the Accident Elementary School, the Broad Ford Elementary School, the Dennett Road Elementary School, the Friendsville Elementary School, the Grantsville Elementary School, and the Yoder School.

A NICE FOUR-POINT, BUT . . . Dave Stonesifer of Swallow Falls bagged this four-point in the Fingerboard Road/Sanders Lane area on Saturday, the opening day of Maryland's antlered deer season. To his surprise, however, the "buck" was not a buck at all, but a doe disguised as a buck. The 100-pound animal still had velvet on its antlers, because like male deer, it did not have the instinct to rut, and thereby remove the velvet. According to Al Bourgeis, district wildlife manager, such a pheonomenon is quite rare. It is caused by an elevated level of the male hormone, testosterone. He stated that such does do have the capability of having offspring.

"YOU BETTER NOT CRY . . . better not pout," warns Santa Claus lovingly as the children gather 'round. Santa made his first official visit of the year to downtown Oakland last Friday night to help kickoff the Christmas shopping season. The parade is sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association. While in town, Santa handed all the kids a popcorn ball, some of which had marked on them the name of a local merchant that entitled the bearer a gift from that store. Santa will be seen roaming the streets during the holiday season to check his list for the naughty and the nice. So, you better watch out.

Police Protection A Possibility For Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn

At a recent meeting of the Mtn. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council, Mayor Russell B. Alexander read a letter from Sheriff Van Evans regarding police protection for the towns of Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn. It was agreed by the council that the town would be willing to pay $7,000 or more per year on a contractual basis, and that Loch Lynn would surely make a contribution for this service. If it can be agreed by both towns involved, the sheriff's department, and the county commissioners, the towns will have police protection by the sheriff's department 40 hours per week.

The mayor also read a petition from citizens on N Street and Oakland Avenue regarding a four-way stop sign being installed at this intersection. The mayor asked the council for approval to install this four-way sign and received it. Also, several citizens from other areas of the town requested speed bumps be installed on streets in the town. This was discussed and rejected, as the council felt that speed bumps would create a hazard when plowing and removing snow.

During the meeting, the mayor and council held a lengthy discussion with Wendell Keaton, muncipal coordinator, regarding the water problem in the 300 feet of sewer line on Allegheny Drive and B Street. It was agreed by the mayor and council that the problem must be corrected as soon as possible. The town engineer, Morgan France, will be contacted for smoking and testing this line.

Councilman David Turney informed the council that he had received several complaints about people entering the Braethorn late at night. A discussion followed with a decision to call the state fire marshal, as this property has been condemned.

Mayor Alexander informed the council that the audit report for the town has been received and the town is financially sound and has ended the 1984-85 fiscal year with a surplus.

The mayor stated that with all the flooding in the county, there was only one apparent problem in the town, which occurred at the H.M. Weeks property on Youghiogheny Drive. He said that he had made a spot check of this property and at this area there was approximately 16 inches of water on the street and also in the basement of the owner. The utilities had to be turned off for a period of time because of the water. The council agreed that this problem would have to be taken care of, and weather permitting they would have it corrected this year.

The council set Friday, December 20, as the date to give out the Christmas treats. The time will be between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m.

The mayor reported to the council that the town crew has been called out several times to Dennett Road School, due to back-up of sewage in the lines, also large amounts of grease were in those lines, due to the fact that Dennett Road School does not have grease traps to take care of this. The state health department will be contacted to insure that grease traps be installed by the board of education.

The council also discussed past due property taxes and delinquent sewer bills. This was necessary because several properties have been repossessed by mortgage companies and the delinquent taxes and sewer charges were not paid.

The council complied with a request from several citizens to install a street light on M Street near the cul de sac.

A list of complaints from several citizens regarding the sewer rehabilitation work done by the contractor was discussed. These problems must be corrected before the bond for the contractor will be released by the town.

The mayor discussed with council an article that appeared in the Cumberland Evening Times regarding the Allegany County Commissioners taking over the county's Sanitary Commission and putting it under full control of the commissioners. The mayor read letters in which the town of Mtn. Lake Park in 1983 and again in 1985 had requested this same action. Mayor Alexander will be contacting Senator John Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards on this matter and requesting that Garrett County also be included in this piece of legislation or let the voters of Garrett County decide the issue by referendum vote.

Bloominton Dam Lessened Flood Damage In Area

The Bloomington Dam in Garrett County greatly minimized damage along the Potomac River during the November 5 and 6 flooding, according to the Army Corps of Engineers.

The dam, located on the north branch of the Potomac River, prevented an estimated $113 million in damage in western Maryland and West Virginia, the corps said.

The flood waters in Paw Paw, W. Va., for instance, would have risen 2.5 feet higher than the 54-foot level the river reached there if the dam had not been in place.

"It doesn't sound like a lot, but it sure does mean a lot when you spread it out over land," said corps spokesman Charles Walker. "We think our projects really proved worthwhile."

By holding back floodwaters, the dam spared riverside areas from volumes of water and also slowed the Potomac's velocity, said Walker.

He said the river level in Hancock would have been four feet higher than the 42-foot level that caused nearly $3 million in damages to the downtown area.

He went on to say that by comparison the uncontrolled south branch of the Potomac River destroyed entire towns in West Virginia, causing $200 million in damage and dozens of fatalities.

The $175 million Bloomington Dam was completed in 1981. The dam's impounding lake has a long-term shortage capacity of 30 billion gallons of water. The dam's flood control storage capacity is 11 billion gallons.

Open House Set At New Accident Post Office

There will be an open house at the new Accident Post Office this Sunday, December 8, from 2 to 4 p.m., according to Earleena Tressler, postmaster.

Postal employees will be available to give guided tours of the new facility and provide information as to how the public can make better use of postal services and products.

"The post office is an important part of this community and we are inviting everyone to come and learn about what we do and how we do it," Ms. Tressler stated.

Juvenile Placed In Youth Center

An Oakland area juvenile was committed to the secretary of health and mental hygiene for placement at a youth center following a Garrett County juvenile court case November 27.

The 16-year-old male was found to be delinquent on two counts of breaking, entering and stealing and one theft charge early in November.

The first breaking and entering charge stemmed from a September 26 incident when the juvenile stole $4,000 worth of tools from Douglas Fitzwater's Auto Body Shop. On September 18, he stole a radio and two speakers, the property of Paul I. Koffman, worth $150.

On a separate date, the youth forced open a door on the property of Paul Tressler and removed money and goods including a scanner, camera, and two calculators.

Breaking, Entering Theft Investigated

Maryland State Police continue to investigate a breaking and entering theft which occurred at a summer home on the Zeddock Miller Road sometime between 11 a.m. November 11 and 10 a.m. November 27.

Police said the thief entered the house by breaking a window in a door and then reaching in and unlocking the door.

Virginia K. Weise, Bethesda, owner of the house, reported that stolen items included a General Electric Toaster Oven, a two-slice toaster, a radio/-control module combination with speakers and a turntable, six green sleeping bags with red flannel interiors, and a maroon 1973 Yamaha motorcycle.

Cpl. M.R. Mattingly, who is investigating the theft, reported that total losses reached $200.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST bucks to be harvested in Garrett County so far this season was this 151-pound, ten-point by C. Alaric Craver, who resides along Bray School Road. Craver shot the animal near the railroad tracks in the Swanton area. The rack measured 22 inches across. It was the fourth deer Craver has bagged since he began hunting.

Snowmobile Task Force Meets To Discuss Goals

The newly formed Snowmobile Task Force Committee met in the Garrett County Commissioners' meeting room at the courthouse yesterday to discuss the purposes and goals of the committee. The group also heard from various state and county officials regarding legislation and new winter trails.

Sgt. William Graham from the Maryland State Police told the committee that legislation had been passed that will now allow the crossing of public highways, not controlled-access highways, at 90-degree angles with written permission from the landowners on each side of the highway.

He said that with the change in law, it is now a criminal offense, not a traffic offense, to ride snowmobiles on or to cross the highway from privately owned land without permission.

Warren Groves from the Department of Natural Resources outlined the basics of the public hearing to be held this Saturday at Garrett Community College. Among the topics to be discussed will be the additional miles of trails for ORV's and/or snowmobiles. He said that presently, only state-owned land or privately-owned land with an easement granted to the State of Maryland is being considered as a part of the trail system.

E. C. Keith from the State Highway Administration told the group that parts of U.S. Route 135 and Route 219 are also controlled-access highways other than just Route 48, as most people assume. He said it would create a problem with the new 90-degree crossing law.

John Nelson of the Garrett County Planning Office said that funds are now available to have the master winter trail plan organized. He said the bidding process should be ready for advertisement within the next two weeks.

Delegate George Edwards spoke of the difficulties to accommodate individual requests from the private landowner, the snowmobile owner, the skier, the hunter or the private citizen.

"Our purpose, again, is to work together to concisely make recommendations to Delegate Edwards as to methods in which to handle each problem from the legislative viewpoint," said committee chairman Karen Spiker.

Spiker said that the delegate recognized that snowmobiling and cross-country skiing are especially important to the economic impact of tourism in the county and that compromise will have to be met "in order to have a safe, legal and enjoyable sport available."

Rose Elsey from the Snowmobilers Club said that organization is now attempting to obtain leases to use private lands for snowmobile trails and to issue a club decal sticker to members giving visible evidence of their permission to ride on those properties and to identify snowmobile riders.

The next committee meeting will be held December 18, at 10 a.m. at the courthouse where the topics of discussion will be 1) licensing of snowmobiles and/or ORVs, 2) liability insurance requirements, 3) trespassing laws and ways to relieve the private landowner of liability should a rider on his land be injured, and 4) other states' handling of these issues.

The committee putting together specifics for the next meeting include Billy Sisler, Denny Glotfelty and chairman Spiker.

Anyone having comments or suggestions or the desire to volunteer to serve on committees should contact the Garrett County Promotion Council at 334-3888.

Accident School Renovation To Be Topic Of Meeting

The town of Accident and the Garrett County Community Action Agency will jointly hold a public meeting to discuss the basic design for renovating the gymnasium area of the old Accident Elementary School into a Senior Citizen/Community Center. The meeting is scheduled to be held on Wednesday, December 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Accident Town Hall.

According to Community Action staff, funding to renovate this section of the old school for a Senior Citizen/-Community Center may be coming in the near future. Both Community Action officials and the mayor and town council want to assure that all interested persons or groups who have expressed an interest in using the facility have an opportunity to discuss the design prior to final approval of the plans. All interested persons of the community are encouraged to attend the public meeting to ask questions and to comment and make recommendations.

Construction began last month to renovate the classroom section of the old school building to provide seven apartments. The project includes two two-bedroom apartments, three three-bedroom apartments, and two four-bedroom apartments. Under the terms for financing, the apartments will be reserved for households with low to moderate incomes.

Plans are also underway to renovate the former kindergarten building into a Head Start/Day Care Center tentatively scheduled to open for the September 1986 school year.

All projects in the old school complex are sponsored by the Garrett County Community Action Agency with the cooperation and support of the town of Accident.

Gift Collection Underway In County Schools

Garrett County Board of Education recently approved a waiver of their policy which strictly limits charity drives in school.

As a part of the toy/book collection for flood victims which is being conducted in conjunction with radio stations WXIE/WMSG, parents are asked to send a wrapped gift of no less than $5 to school with their children by December 13. The gift should have the age and sex for which the gift is appropriate written on the outside.

Anyone not associated with children in schools may also participate, and may contact any local school principal or the Garrett County Board of Education.

Gifts will also be collected at Ben Franklin, Oakland, and C. P. Martin and Son, Mtn. Lake Park.

All 17 Garrett County Schools are participating in the drive. Gifts collected in the county will be given to flood victims in Garrett and Tucker Counties.

Home Health Week Observed December 1-7

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday proclaimed the week of December 1-7, as National Home Health Week and met with members of the Home Health staff recently to sign the appropriate proclamation.

The Home Health Agency of the Garrett County Health Department offers alternative health care to homebound or terminally ill patients in the county by visiting their homes at their private bedsides. The home health staff offers skilled nursing care, physical therapy, speech therapy, home health aide, medical social worker and nutrition consultation to county residents, regardless of age, who are confined to their homes due to illness or injury.

During the fiscal year 1985, home health visits included 4,019 skilled nursing visits, 1,808 home health aide calls, 271 physical therapy visits, 27 speech therapy visits and 76 medical social worker visits totaling 4,194 visits in all. The monthly caseload involves between 100-125 patients.

Norma B. Bolding, RN, director of Home Health Services, explained that care is generally short-term in nature, although the program carries some patients for several months.

The staff operates under written orders from the patients' physicians, attending them however many times the doctor feels necessary in the home environment. Many of the services administered by the staff are taught to family members, making it easier to maintain the patient's comfort in the absence of a staff member.

A patient's family or physician may contact the office for entry into the program. The department fulfills the special needs of many county residents, according to Mrs. Bolding, in order to assist the patient to maintain the optimum level of health for his/her age and physical condition in a comfortable home environment.

In the proclamation, the county commissioners urge all residents of the community to join in the observance and to recognize, support and encourage those of the Home Health Agency for their unending care.

NATIONAL HOME HEALTH WEEK was proclaimed this week by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. Congress has designated December 1-7 as National Home Health Week. Home health care has been demonstrated in Maryland to serve the special physical, psychological and social needs of the homebound patients and their families. Pictured above for the signing of the proclamation are, standing, left to right, Dr. William Pope, Maryland Health officer; Nancy Trimble, RN, MSN, Southern supervisor; Marsha McKenzie, RN, ANP, Northern supervisor; and Norma Bolding, RN, director of Home Health Services. Seated, left to right, are commissioners Ernest Gregg Jr., Elwood Groves II, and John G. Braskey.

First United's Charity Campaign To Be Continued

Over $25,000 has been donated, as of November 15, through First United National Bank & Trust's Charity Campaign, "Help yourself, help our children", according to a spokesman for First United. Because of the positive response to the campaign, First United's Board of Directors recently announced the extension of this program indefinitely, beyond the original December 31, 1985, deadline.

In early summer, First United began the charity campaign to benefit the following organizations: Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart Hospital, the Memorial Hospital, Frostburg Community Hospital, Allegany County League for Crippled Children, and the Garrett County Crippled Children's Fund. For each one thousand dollars invested in a Certificate of Deposit (with a maturity of one, two, or three years), First United donated five dollars to one of the above charities, as designated by the customer.

These charities have reported finding many uses for the additional funds, the spokesman said. The crippled children organizations have purchased such items as a new audiometer (to test hearing), braces, and orthopedic shoes. The hospitals have plans ranging from renovations of pediatric departments to purchasing a new portable neo-natal monitor.

According to the spokesman, a strong response is expected to continue throughout the campaign.

A Good Decision . . .

There has been a proposal before the county commissioners to consider seeking legislation which would earmark an additional two cents on the hundred in property taxes for the two local rescue squads. A decision was made this week by the commissioners on this proposal and we are pleased with their response.

The commissioners turned down the proposal and instead decided to commit a portion of the cigarette tax revenue which is received from the state to aid the squads. Until now, this tax revenue, which is shared by all counties of the state, was simply placed into the county's general fund and used where needed.

We agree with the commissioners' idea for several reasons. First, it will not place additional financial burden on the taxpayers, despite the fact that it is a truly worthy cause. Secondly, it will not place the rescue squads in an obligatory position, whereby the general public would seek and expect their services for sore throats, hangovers, and a variety of other non-emergency situations, because their property tax money would be supporting the squads. Thirdly, a local tax might discourage those who presently make generous donations to the squads from doing so.

It's a fact that, because of a small population and business base, the Northern Rescue Squad is in great need of assistance. Just because they serve a more rural area than does Southern, the equipment they need to maintain their high level of emergency medical care costs them just as much as it does a Baltimore based squad. Because of the great distances Northern Rescue must travel, their gasoline costs and wear and tear on their equipment are far more excessive than for the more urban squads. Donations and membership are simply not enough to cover the costs.

The local fire departments have for several years shared a five-cent-on-the-hundred county tax. This amounts to about $13,000 per year for each Garrett County fire department, most of which is consumed just for regular maintenance and paying utility bills. There is rarely anything left for equipment purchases.

For example, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department recently purchased a new, needed pumper at a cost of nearly $120,000. They still owe over $90,000. Other departments face similar indebtedness on a regular basis.

We trust that during this Christmas season, a time of giving, persons will attempt to make a contribution to a local fire department or rescue squad. It is recognized that many have already generously donated to the local flood relief efforts and to other worthy causes. Perhaps each person who is in the financial position to do so could give up just one more Christmas gift and donate its value to an emergency service organization, whose value to the community is inestimable.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

During the 1985 session of the Maryland Legislature, a bill was passed that prohibits the sale of tobacco products to children under the age of 16. This bill was signed into law by the governor on May 21, 1985.

The purpose of this letter is to inform merchants of this new law, and to solicit their strict adherence to the spirit and letter of the law. We urge all merchants to start a program immediately to inform their employees of this law and insure that youngsters be required to show proof of age (16) or over prior to any tobacco purchase.

Our organization, the Group Against Smoking Pollution, plans to monitor compliance with this law and to assist companies and merchants in any way possible in its enforcement. We plan to support those who actively comply with the law through favorable publicity in local, state and national publications. We, also, plan to report willful violators to enforcement authorities.

We solicit the help of the news media, merchant, civic, health, religious, legal, medical and concerned parent organizations in achieving enforcement of this law which is aimed at protecting our children.

For additional information, please contact me at (301) 262-5867, Bill Norwood at (301) 982-0541 or write Box 863, Bowie, Maryland 20715.

Sincerely,
John H. O'Hara

To the Editor:

As Fred Learey suggested in last week's paper, some "objective reporting" and "in-depth analysis" concerning Garrett Community College would indeed be helpful. I agree with Mr. Learey that "the real story has still not been told." It seems logical to me that no one would be in a better position to tell "the real story" than Mr. Learey himself, perhaps with help from Randal Harman and the rest of our illustrious Board of Trustees. I seriously doubt that such an explanation will be forthcoming. Probably Mr. Learey and Mr. Harman would have much to lose with such a disclosure and evidently the Board of Trustees is not capable of it, as evidenced by their profound silence at the public meeting this summer and their subsequently pathetic attempt to respond in writing to the various questions raised by our community.

The slandering, bush league treatment of Dr. James Tschectelin by our present so-called leadership fits, I am sure, the image that too many downstaters already have of our county.

Last summer Dr. Tschectelin graciously gave our college his serious and considerate attention which, quite frankly, pleasantly surprised many of those involved in the effort to contend for the basic humanitarian decency of our local institution.

I suggest that contrary to the snow job we are presently seeing, Garrett Community College is in quite the same terrible state it was in last year, if not worse.

I suggest further that the problem was not the shared responsibility of everyone, but rather the assigned responsibility of the Board of Trustees and their selected administration. That same accountability continues and when the "real story" is told it will be seen that the Board has not regrouped at all. They have merely selected someone more adroit, with less to lose, to carry on their masquerade of leadership.

I would like to remind those 300 citizens who assembled this summer to voice their concern for GCC that Dr. Dennis Fearnow is still unemployed in higher education and Dr. Paul Deal and Mr. Don Carstens are still without GCC contracts.

The current Interim President of our college claims to represent this community, yet he contends that the public hearing was wrong, the "contacts" who called for it were wrong and the citizens who turned out made fools of themselves. He furthermore specifically maligned the sincere plea of Dr. Raymond McCullough for our elected officials to "do something to help us." Ironically enough, Dr. McCullough is now on the Board himself.

What we actually have is a strange apparition of verbal vulgarity and profanity mixed with sweet talk about ethics, values and principles along with back-room community politics.

If David Puzzuoli actually believes that Dr. Tschectelin's "contacts" were wrong and our community as represented at the public meeting was stupid, and our elected officials have no right to become involved, then he should in good conscience resign and petition the Board to return the Harman and Learey team to action.

I am proud to say that I was one of Dr. Tschectelin's "contacts" and that fact is no secret to our interim President who has listened to the tape of the public meeting. I don't know why he still has to ask "Who are these contacts?" If he is actually so courageous, why does he not gather these "contacts" together and "take them on" as he puts it? I am frankly amused that this courageous and dynamic forceful fighter is going to "take on" anyone.

As of this date, this crusader, against those who "take liberties with the truth," has not so much as engaged in even one formal conversation with me and, in fact, has not so much as entered my office.

So, if Mr. Puzzuoli is really itching to "take on" someone as he puts it, perhaps he could stop by or give me a call, now that the mystery of the missing contacts has been at least partially solved.

I sincerely hope that our community which rallied so decisively this summer is not fooled by such a one-sided understanding of the situation at GCC. I think you'll find that what we have is simply another manifestation of the "big wind, no rain" phenomena.

Thank you,
Michael L. Friend

To the Editor:

Early this year citizens, activists, churches, PTA's, public service organizations and legislators worked together to raise the tobacco-buying age in Maryland from 15 to 16. This is a worthwhile improvement in Maryland law, considering that it affects the whole state and did result in a major increase in public awareness about the sales-to-minors law in Maryland.

The main improvements in Maryland Law I would like see are as follows: remove the note-from-parent clause from Maryland law, require all points-of-sale bear a notice stating Maryland law, require all cigarette machines be supervised, and require all tobacco products be shelved behind the counter.

I have heard many parents complain about the note-from-parent clause. They feel that it is widely abused by merchants and children. Let's get this clause removed when the 1986 legislative session begins in January. Then in the following year we can push for legislation to get Maryland Law posted at all points-of sale.

Marylanders should write ASAP to their State Senator and/or Delegates and tell them they want them to sponsor or cosponsor legislation next year to delete the clause from Maryland law which allows children to buy tobacco products if they have a note from parent or legal guardian. Persons who are unsure of voting district should ask at school or library or call Maryland General Assembly information toll-free at 1-800-492-7122. The address for all Senators is James Senate Office Bldg., Annapolis Md. 21401. The address for all Delegates is Lowe House Office Bldg., Annapolis, Md. 21401.

Special reasons to protect the young: 1) The younger a person is when he/she starts to smoke the harder it is to quit smoking as an adult. 2) About 87% of children who get involved with illegal drugs started out with cigarettes. 3) Ad campaigns are directed at the young. 4) Children, being under the age of consent, don't have the maturity to make an informed choice.

About 99% of the public seems to feel that it is obvious that our representatives would actively support legislation lessening tobacco sales to minors. There are a lot of other things which are also obviously the right thing to do. If the growers, manufacturers and sellers of tobacco products want to make money and if the citizens don't complain much, what are the legislators supposed to do? Our legislators are overworked and can't justify spending time on issues where there are few complaints. They will need to see thousands of letters from all over Maryland to be convinced that we parents really do want to protect our children.

Sincerely,
Bill Norwood
Greenbelt

To the Editor:

We're sure you know of the tremendous amount of damage done by the recent flooding in West Virginia. Many families homes and belongings were totally wiped out. Over 4,000 homes were destroyed.

With Christmas approaching in a few weeks, we are asking persons to please remember these families.

Possibly, instead of exchanging gifts within community organizations, members of these organization might sponsor a family. Their names, ages, and sizes will be supplied.

We are beginning to collect Christmas items in this area to send to as many flood victims as we can possibly supply. Included in these items are: new or used toys, new clothing, Christmas decorations, or any other item you think might be suitable for Christmas giving. Monetary donations will also be accepted, with this money being used specifically for buying suitable gifts for the families.

The American Legion Home on Armstrong Street (beside the Stray Cat Cafe) in Keyser is the collection point.

Also, if members of an organization would like to volunteer their time to help with this project, it will be greatly appreciated.

Those who need any further information or have any questions may contact Marian Miller (788-5474), Kathy Ravenscroft (788-2811), or Joe Sanders (788-1907). Persons may also stop by the American Legion Building.

We hope the true spirit of the Christmas season, that of giving to others, will help us to help those less fortunate in our area who are victims to the recent flooding.

Sincerely,
Flood Victims'
Christmas Committee

people and regulatory agencies involved."

Some of the Marsh Hill residents who attended the meeting were concerned about increased traffic on the unimproved road and sewer and water problems.

Galvin said they will study the road situation before any decision is made. He also said that two test wells will be dug to determine the amount of water potential at the development site. He said they also planned to meet with the Sanitary Commission to discuss sewer system improvements. A consultant has also been hired to do a study of the area regarding a sewer system for the development.

Galvin said that if and when all systems were go, the estimated $40 to $50 million project would have a four to seven year completion date. The work would be done in phases if it is approved.

Other topics of discussion at yesterday's meeting were Potomac River monitoring by Civil Defense, zoning appeals applications and the amending of ordinance 801 to eliminate a six-year provision for certain businesses in re-zoned areas of Deep Creek Lake.

Planning Commission director John Nelson announced that there would be a census tracting committee meeting on December 11, at 10 a.m., and that anyone interested in the project is welcome to attend.

Friend Family History . . .

Editors Note: The Friend Family Association of America recently opened its National Headquarters in Friendsville. The headquarters includes a library and museum. Local resident, Ina Hicks, would like to share the following Friend Family history with us.

by Ina Hicks

People who are not named Friend and who do not think they are related to the Friend family might be wondering what all the fuss is about having a Friend Family Association of America and having a National Headquarters in Friendsville. What is so special about the Friend family? Nothing and everything that is special about any family that has been growing across this country for nearly three hundred and fifty years.

When John Friend, his brothers and son came wandering into the Youghiogheny Valley he was already a fourth generation American and he dealt with Shawnee who had always been American, or were descended from people who had been in this valley for 10,000 years, which seems like something close to always.

John's aunts and uncles were elsewhere, his grandparents had settled around Chester, Pa., and New Jersey. His cousins were down at Harper's Ferry, Va., or Southern Maryland.

John stayed in Friendsville, his brother went north to Turkeyfoot in Pennsylvania. Brother Augustine went to Sang Run and Charles went to McHenry, and later on, to Missouri.

John's children, for the most part, stayed in the area. Some of each following generation moved on west and some of their children moved further west. Now there are twelfth generation Friends and people related to Friends all over the country. Many tenth and eleventh generations are also represented.

It is safe to say there are thousands of descendants of John Friend's family living today. Some of them started an association ten years ago. That small group has grown to well over 500 members. Those who have seriously traced their family have found themselves in Friendsville, or Swanton, or Sang Run, or Turkeyfoot, somewhere around here. When all the information was put together it was enough to start a genealogical library.

That library needed a place to be, where people who are searching for the names of their ancestors can come to try to find those names. In August, 1985, that place became Friendsville. In addition to the library, there is a museum that seeks to make the history of the area more tangible by showing us things that have been important in the lives of our forebears.

The information in the library is not complete. Some of the missing information may be lost forever. Some of it is in the minds of our living elders and needs to be written down, now. A lot of information is being lost right now in the present generation who cannot realize that someday their grandchildren might want to know their names, or know who their cousins are. Tomarrow's history is happening today.

Won't you write down as much as you know about your family? Go back as far as you can, ask your parents or aunts and uncles, ask your grandparents if you can. Then bring it in to the Lester D. Friend Library in Friendsville, open on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 3 p.m. Or send it to Box 96, Friendsville, Maryland 21531.

Your information will be filed according to last name. Someday we will put it all on a computer and find out that we are all related to each other, and wonder why we didn't know that.

"We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And know the place for the first time."

T.S. Elliott, "Little Gidding"

Our Turn

I Get To Christmas Shop
by Susan Alvarez

I love the Christmas shopping season because it's the one time of year I can walk into a store, act like a little kid and get away with it. Yes, it's great to walk into a huge toy section and push buttons, pull strings, jiggle knobs and watch magic happen; all under the pretense of "I'm just looking for toys for my kids."

Funny, it seems like there's a lot of people shopping for kids now. That's because when we were younger, dolls just sat there and wet. They didn't speak three languages fluently and require passports. The play cars had wheels that turned and maybe lights that really worked, but they didn't need to be registered by the Department of Motor Vehicles. And the only thing that "transformed" was the look on mother's face when she came into the room and saw that her little helpers' cleaning set had just been used to rewash all of daddy's clean, starched shirts.

Anyway, as a result of my toy shopping, I end up buying the toys I like to play with, causing considerable tension on Christmas morning when the kids and I are arguing over who gets to play with the toy first. (Tip: Say "Let me see how it works then I'll show you." This works almost every time until the child enters the preadolescent stage.)

I suppose this year I'll just have to stifle the urge to whisper in Santa's ear, "If you have any leftover Zoombots, please leave one for me."

Keeping Warm With Heat

by R. Craig Speicher

As those of you who own personal home computers already realize, winter is upon us once again. Suggestions on how to conserve winter fuel abound like so many snowflakes, so I have given the topic my best research efforts and come up with the following tips on heating your house efficiently this winter, and keeping warm besides.

1. The best advice on reacting to your first heating bill of the winter is, Don't panic! Instead, do someting sensible about it, like closing the windows so it doesn't get hot outside.

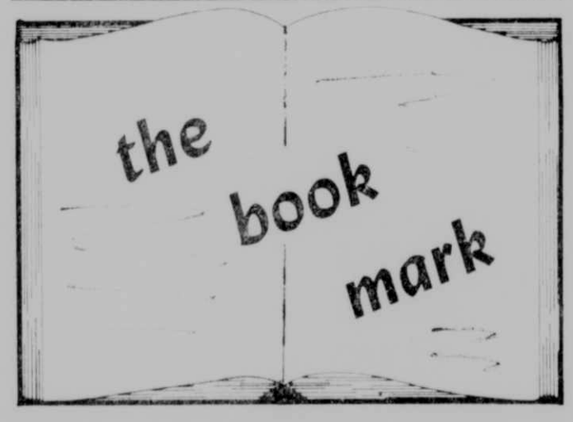
2. Next, stop using your doors entirely in the winter. Doors have been called "Columbia Gas' Best Friend." Try boiting or nailing your doors shut for the entire duration of winter, and watch your fuel bills plunge like the outdoor mercury.

3. Wearing warm clothes to bed will enable you to keep the heat much lower at night. Remember the wise words of Benjamin Franklin (or was it Terry Bradshaw?), who said, "A heavy blanket and long johns will keep you warmer than a heavy blanket."

4. Cracks in the wall should be repaired, particularly if they are more than one inch wide, or if they allow snow to blow in your house, or both. Of course, some homeowners like a living room full of snow. (They claim it creates a rustic atmosphere with a fire burning in the fire place.) In such cases the cracks should not be tampered with.

5. Room not being used? Consider building a bonfire in it. This will provide the whole house with a warm, cheery glow, not to mention lighting it up like the National Christmas Tree in Washington.

6. Close the curtains over the windows at night. This will allow your curtains to "breath" and "perspire," which has not the slightest thing to do with keeping your house warmer, although it sounds good.



7. Keep a rug rolled up against the bottom of the door to keep out cold. If there is one thing the cold does not trust, and is actually terrified by, it's a rug rolled up against a door, although no one really knows why.

8. Stay inside the house. Studies conducted by the Harvard School of Icicles and Thermometers show that a heated kitchen is warmer than the outdoors during a blizzard.

9. Tape plastic over your windows. Tape a pane of glass over the plastic. Tape a second layer of plastic over the second pane of glass. Continue in this manner until you feel the house becoming noticeably warmer.

10. Finally, beware of foolish tips on how to heat your house efficiently and conserve winter fuel. About the only real value they have lies in using the paper they are printed on for kindling in your fireplace.

My feature review for this column is by the author of gothic-style novels Cashelmara, Penmarric, and most recently, Sins of the Father. Her newest novel, Wheel of Fortune, has quickly become one of my favorite novels. It is about the trials and tribulations of the Godwin family, who literally live and die for the splendor of their home, Oxmoon castle. It opens with the return of Robert Godwin, in the pre-World War I era. His truest love, Ginevra Kinsella, has also returned, but is immersed in a secret hidden in shame at Oxmoon that could destroy this tender love. The story then moves to John, a man a little too obsessed with "doing the done thing." The tale continues with the next generation: Kester, the man locked in a fairy-tail existence at Oxmoon, and Harry, his cousin and arch-enemy. This feud will end in the murder of one, and the near destruction of beloved Oxmoon. The story concludes with the return of Hal Godwin, who faces a torrid dilemma; can he save Oxmoon or will he lose it forever?.

I would not recommend V.C. Andrew's Heaven. Unlike the Dollanger series, it is dull and boring. The story is slow, and never quite resolves itself, most of the characters are unbelievable, and the setting is very depressing. Taking all of this into consideration, I would not recommend this book for your leisure hours.

In the next edition of this column, I will review newly-discovered tales by two authors; Stephen King (of Carrie fame) and Rex Stout (Nero Wolfe's creator).

BLOWIN' SNOW — The snow guns of the Wisp Ski Resort have been blasting the white stuff all over Marsh Mountain almost non-stop this week as winter finally arrived early Monday morning. Wisp officials plan to open this weekend. When considering the wind chill factor, the temperature on Monday evening was approximately 100 degrees lower than on Sunday evening.

"STILL, STILL THE NIGHT," sing the carolers of the Garrett Choral Society as they prepare for their annual Christmas concert. The concert will be held at St. Paul's United Methodist Church on Saturday, December 21, at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, December 22, at 3 p.m. The cost of the concert is $3 for adults and $2 for children and senior citizens. Advance tickets are available at Englander's Pharmacy. The Choral Society is under the direction of Nancy Learey. Accompanist is Dr. David Sheets. Ruth Heubner will be playing the flute. Kathryn Sincell, a graduate student at Southern Methodist University, will be guest soloist. A brass quartet featuring Jim and Fred Fox, Tim DeWitt and Don Sincell will also perform during the concert. Selections from J.S. Bach as well as contemporary music will be presented.

Fire

said. "We were almost defenseless against the wind, which suddenly shifted direction on us."

Another Oakland fireman stated the men were literally blown off balance several times by gusts of wind.

When firemen knew they were going to lose the main structure, they turned their attention to saving the house and attempting to save the adjacent 32 by 40 foot barn. Another hindrance, though, was a live 440-volt power line which was between firemen and the barn. The lower portion of the barn was salvaged, however, and the livestock in the barn was saved.

Water had to be shuttled to the scene by tankers from Oakland, Deer Park, and Gorman VFDs. Deer Park also sent a pumper and several men to assist in attacking the fire.

Another unexpected problem occurred when the Oakland tanker arrived on the scene, however the portable dump tank kept on top the tanker was not there. It was discovered later that the strong winds had blown the tank off the top of the truck while enroute to the scene, unbeknownst to the driver. Buzz Updyke, Oakland chief, stated however that no amount of water would have been sufficient to save the main building and the loss of the dump tank made little diference in terms of the effectiveness of the firemen's efforts.

Firemen remained on the scene for nearly seven hours and returned at about 2:30 a.m. to extinguish a flare-up in the hay from the barn.

Also responding to the scene was the Southern Rescue Sqaud. There were no injuries reported.

Besides damage to the dump tank and to the tanker when the dump tank blew off of it, Oakland and Deer Park VFDs also lost several hundred feet of hose fighting the blaze. The wind carried thouands of pieces of burning material through the air, some of which landed on the hose and burned holes through it.

According to Miller, he and John Feather, a member of the Oakland fire department who was first on the scene, went into the burning building and salvaged some papers and money. However, the main office, in which were all of the company papers and records, was destroyed.

Miller owned the buildings and equipment until about one year ago when he sold it all to the parent company, Rigidply Rafters Inc., located in Richland, Pa. He stated this morning that they are planning to rebuild the buildings and hope to erect a temporary office in the next few days. The office is presently located in the basement of the house.

He said there are 23 employees at the company and, in a meeting set for this afternoon, he said he was going to tell them there would be no layoffs and he planned to guarantee them a 40-hour wage.

"We are, of course, stunned by our loss," he said. "But we are so thankful that no one was hurt and that the fire departments were able to save the house. They did everything they could under the circumstances and we really appreciate their efforts."

The sudden cold weather also spawned a number of flue fires and some downed wires in the county, however most resulted in little or no damage.

Accident Sponsors Christmas Contest

The Accident Mayor and Town Council announce that the town will sponsor its fourth annual outdoor Christmas decorating contest.

Monday, December 16, beginning at 7:30 p.m. is scheduled as the evening for the judging to take place. For residential dwellings, first prize is $25, second prize is $15, and third prize is $10. There is one commercial category with a prize of $20.

Decorated wooden signs will be placed again this year on the lawns of those residences and business selected for prizes. Winners will be announced by the town as soon as they are selected by the judges.

Commissioners

The Republican Newspaper.

The Garrett National Bank of Oakland agreed to purchase the bonds. Ultimately, the state backs the bonds and issues them with the full faith and credit of the state. The county is not liable for IRBs, although they endorse them for new or established businesses in the county when they feel they are warranted.

Present for the signing Tuesday were Robert B. Sincell and Donald W. Sincell from the publishing company; Ralph Burnett, attorney for the company; David Nordeck, vice-president of the Garrett National Bank; Tom Jones, Development Corporation director; Eugene Helbig, CPA from Rodeheaver and Associates; Dwight Stover, county attorney; John Nelson, Zoning director, the board of commissioners and County Clerk Robert Fousek.

The commissioners all wished the Sincells well in the expansion of their "well-established business."

Buck Harvest

rent firearm season; this applies to landowners as well as licensed hunters. The separate antlerless deer (doe) season is scheduled for Friday, December 13, and Saturday, December 14.

Every deer harvested, whether by a licensed hunter or a person entitled to hunt without a license, must be checked in at a checking station within 24 hours after being killed. The person who killed the deer must be present to check the deer in.

The Forest, Park and Wildlife Service also reminds hunters that each deer taken must be field tagged before moving it out of the woods. This regulation applies to landowners as well. Field tags should include the hunters name, the date, county where the deer was killed and the location of the kill. Buck season will end Saturday, December 7.

THE ROUTE 50 QUILT SHOP, offering a variety of quilts, loom rugs, and crafts, recently opened in the Red House area. The business is owned by Ruth Janoske, and is located just east of Red House on Route 50. Business hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. seven days a week. For more information call 334-4418.

Newsy Notes From SMS

by Southern Middle School Student Government Newspaper

The next copy of "SMS Mumbler" will be given out on December 10, 1985. The cost per copy is five cents.

Social Happenings

There will be a school dance on December 20, 1985 from 4:00-7:00 p.m. The dance is sponsored by Student Government. Hot dogs, munchies and beverages will be available, so don't worry about supper. DJ will be Dave Terlizzi, of Oakland Teen Center.

Team News

Each teaching team will be choosing a student of the month each month from now until the end of school year. Students for the month of November are: 6A—Patrick Skipper, 6/7—Shawna Henline, 7A—Melvin Spiker, 8A—Rebecca Finch, 8B—Mary Thorn. Students are recommended by individual teachers, based on their overall contributions to the classroom. The selections are made with both classroom and social compatability considered.

Star of the Week

The Physical Education Star of the week for November 30 is Tammy Moore. Tammy is a sixth grader. She displays three trophies in the trophy case. Her first two are for getting 90% or better on the Physical Fitness Program. Her third trophy is for helping her school participate in the Physical Fitness Program.

School Store

We ordered posters and stickers which we plan to have available for Christmas. We appreciate the students' supporting of the store and we will try to provide all of your school necessities.

Student Government News

There will be A Christmas Door Decorating contest throughout the school, sponsolred by the Student Government. The doors will be judged on Monday, December 16. The winning homeroom will keep the Ram for the week.

Featured Teacher

This week's featured teacher is Ms. Marcette Danner, Art teacher at SMS.

Ms. Danner was born in Boston, Mass., and grew up in the states of Michigan and Vermont, the second daughter of a minister. She graduated from William G. Mather High School in Munsing, Mich., in 1963. From there she went on to Augustina College, Rock Island, Ill. She received her BA degree in 1968 and later went on to receive her M.Ed. from the University of Maryland in 1981.

She has been teaching for a total of 17 years. She began as a traveling art teacher for two years, taught five years at Southern High School and has been at Southern Middle School for 10 years. She presently resides in Swanton with her two cats, Magnificat and Seraphim.

When questioned about her likes and dislikes, Ms. Danner stated that what she liked most about teaching is that ". . . every student is different." Her strongest dislike? "Grading Papers!"

Ms. Danner is also a very busy lady in her "free" time. She is the church organist at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, where she also sings in the choir. She is presently serving as chairman of the Heritage Craft Festival, a member of the Governing Board of Garrett County Arts Council and a member of Garrett Choral Society.

Her wishes are "for everyone to make an effort to get along and to have peace in the world."

Several students were asked to make a statement concerning Ms. Danner. We heard, "Ms. Danner has respect for students," "She doesn't expect more than we can do," "She's a wonderful teacher," "She really knows her art!" Hats off To Ms. Danner!

LOCAL ATHLETE AWARDED FUNDS — Kevin Sines, an outstanding athlete at Northern High School who sustained a serious knee injury near the end of the football season this year, was the recipient of $500 Tuesday evening at a special benefit basketball game, which put the Northern alumni against the Southern High alumni. The event was planned by the Southern Garrett Athletic Association. Presenting the check to Sines in the above photo is John Hill, president of SGAA. Also pictured is Sines' father, Gene. Sines was the starting quarterback for the Huskies the past three seasons and had to be treated at a Baltimore hospital for his injuries. The only bad news for him Tuesday evening was that the Southern alumni won the game.

Laker Women Open With Easy Win Over Wilson

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team opened its season on a positive note Monday evening in Chambersburg, Pa., by coasting to a 58-33 victory over Wilson College. The Lakers were on top 30-7 at halftime.

Leading the Lakers' scoring were Nina Layman and Lisa Llewellyn, who netted 13 and 12 points, respectively. Defensively, Garrett was paced by Vicki Plitt, a freshman from Fort Meade High School, with 15 rebounds and four steals, Llewellyn with four steals and four assists, and four assists each by Amy Berry and Lisa Roberts.

Winningham led Wilson with 17 points, followed by Pearson with 10.

"For a first game I felt that the team showed poise and determination," stated GCC Coach Ann Wellham. "We are still making errors in our transition, but I feel that time will help mold this aspect of our game."

Wellham noted that her team's 20 steals were a result of good overall team speed.

The Lakers finished with 45 rebounds and shot 37 percent from the floor.

Sophomore co-captain Lillie Jeffries, along with sophomore transfer student Clarissa Jordan and freshman Cheri Duncan were unable to play because of injuries. Natalie Vetter, former Southern High standout and the other GCC co-captain, finished with six points from her new position as shooting guard.

Jeffries averaged 10 points and 10 rebounds last season behind team leader, Cindy Peet. Jordan, who played for Potomac State College last season, adds to Garrett's strength on the boards, while Duncan, a graduate of Hammond High School, is a newcomer to the game.

Wellham said that a major change in this season's team compared to last year's is the increased depth in the guard position, evident in the Wilson game when freshmen point guards Amy Berry and Sharon Taylor came off the bench to direct the offense and finish with seven and three points, respectively. Berry also had four assists.

"I believe we will be very competitive this season," Wellham sad. "We are looking forward to traveling to Potomac State Friday evening to participate in their tournament."

Garrett will face Mt. Aloysius in the 8 p.m. game. The consolation contest will be held Saturday at noon, followed by the championship game at 2 p.m.

GCC Baseball Sponsoring Flood Relief Raffle

The Garrett Community Collge baseball team is sponsoring a raffle with all proceeds being directed to area flood victims. The prize winner will receive his or her choice of a video cassette recorder or a cash prize of $300. A one-dollar donation per ticket is asked for the December 16 drawing.

The team has set a goal of raising at least $1,000, to be divided among the areas hit closest to home. Tickets will be available from team members this weekend (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) at the following businesses: Browning's Foodland, Hecks, Gonder Insurance Company, Arrowhead Deli, and Fratz Red and White, Accident.

Tickets will also be sold at home basketball games on December 11, 14, and 15.

Oakland Rotary Dribbler Club To Open Season

The Oakland Rotary Club, in conjunction with the Board of Education's School Community Center Program, has announced the opening of the third annual Oakland Rotary Dribblers Club, beginning this Saturday, December 7, at 9 a.m. at the Dennett Road and Southern Middle school gymnasiums.

This basketball league is open to girls and boys in grades three through six, according to Dave Bender, director. There is no cost for participation.

Participants will have an opportunity to learn basic basketball skills, play on a team, and play a 22-game schedule plus a post-season tournament. Bender said every youngster is given the opportunity to play, there is weekly newspaper coverage of the games, surprise guest speakers, expert instruction from Southern High coaches and players, and certificates and awards are presented at the end of the season.

The league will run for 12 weeks, concluding on March 8. It will meet from 9 a.m. to noon. Third and fourth grade students are to report to the Dennett Road School gym, while fifth and sixth graders are to report to the Southern Middle School gym.

Bender said youth wishing to participate should see their school physical education teacher for an application or register this Saturday morning at the appropriate gym.

Bill Ewing is the assistant director of the program.

Lakers Crush Catamounts For Second Victory

The Garrett Community College Lakers upped their season record to 2-0 last night by blasting host Potomac State, 97-78.

Jimmy Ragler provided the spark for the Lakers as he recorded 14 points, 16 assists, nine steals, and six rebounds. Former Southern High standout Scott Stem led Garrett in scoring with 31 points, while teammate Jim Feagins finished with 26 points and eight rebounds. Stem also pulled down 12 rebounds.

Pacing the Catamounts were McCollum with 26 points, Martin with 22, and Nichols with 18.

The Lakers took control of the game early, but went cold midway through the first half, allowing Potomac State to rally. The score traded hands several times until just before the half when Garrett resumed control. The Lakers led at intermission, 44-39, and stretched out the advantage throughout the second half.

"Jimmy (Ragler) was just unbelievable," stated first-year coach Dennis Gibson. "He was everywhere. I just can't say enough about his performance. We believed before the season started that he would be one of the leaders on this team, and he has proven that beyond a shadow of doubt with his performance in our first two games.

"We don't have any great size," Gibson continued, "but we have tremendous talent and good quickness."

Other details of the game were not available at press-time.

The Lakers return to action this Saturday at Boyce Campus in Pennsylvania and then travel to the Fayette Campus of Penn State on Monday. Their next home encounter is next Wednesday against Frederick CC.

Red Heads Game With Elk Garden VFD Rescheduled

The All-American Red Heads, a nationally known female professional basketball team, will perform at the Elk Garden School on Tuesday, December 10, at 7:30 p.m. in a benefit game against the Elk Garden Volunteer Fire Department. The contest was postponed from an earlier date because of the flooding which occurred recently in the area.

Tickets for the game may be purchased at Elk Garden School or at Burdock's General Store in Elk Garden. Advance tickets are $3 for adults and $2.50 for students. Door prices are $3.50 and $3.00, respectively.

Proceeds will benefit the Elk Garden School Athletic Department.

Owners Of Village Nautilus Open New Gaithersburg Center

Jim and Patty Jackson, owners/managers of the Village Nautilus, Oakland, announced this week the opening of another Nautilus health and fitness center at the Corner Kick Recreation Center in Gaithersburg.

The Jacksons will reside in Frederick to manage the new facility and the manager of the Oakland facility will be Linda McCartney.

The Oakland Village Nautilus, which is located on the below-ground floor of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, currently has approximately 400 members.

SHS Girls Lose Top Players, But Remain Confident

LADY RAMS REBUILDING — With four of five starters from last season's Maryland Class C state finalist team lost to graduation last spring, the Southern High School varsity girls basketball team is facing a year of rebuilding. However, Coach Don Stemple believes that the experience of a number of underclassmen will result in a strong nucleus and a winning season this year. In the photo, left to right, seated, are Robin Rohrbaugh, Kristi Heatherman, Marci Stemple, Courtney Smith, Christine Bittinger, Dionne Shahan, and Becky Sanders. In the second row, same order, are Debbie Martin, Tracy Watson, Jackie Noe, Tracy Ridder, Tricia Heatherman, Patti Gnegy, Kendra Stemple, Vickie Dilgard, and Joy Thrasher. In the third row, same order, are Dianne Butts, manager; Bobbi Cline, Cheri Bosley, Kim Grimm, Chris Gregory, Misti Savage, Coach Stemple, Coach Ken McLaughlin, and Coach Gary Newcomb. The Rams will open their season this Friday evening, December 6, at Hancock, followed by a game at Mercersburg Academy on Saturday afternoon. Their first home game will be next Wednesday against Allegany.

For the past four seasons, the Southern High School girls varsity team has been blessed with the presence of players such as Jenny Hillen, Jane Bell, and Kelly Bittinger, all three of whom were key players on teams which won the Region I Class C championship and made the state finals the past two seasons. However, the Rams will take the court without them this season.

Hillen is a scholarship player at West Virginia University and Bittinger is a scholarship player at West Liberty. Also lost to graduation was another starter from last season, Joy Hamilton.

Even with the loss of this talent, Coach Don Stemple believes the Rams will have another winning season this year.

"Even though we have little experience, the kids we have back have been in the program for a long time and they are scrappy and hard workers," he said. "That's half the battle."

Returnees include Chris Gregory, the only starter from last season, who is an excellent defensive player and will be depended upon this year for more scoring.

Players who saw considerable action last year are Jackie Noe and Kendra Stemple, who Stemple says should supply the inside-outside punch and team balance.

Those still battling for a starting spot who had strong performances last year as jayvee players are Misty Savage, Tracy Watson, Tricia Heatherman, Vickie Dilgard, Tracy Ridder, Joy Thrasher, Cheri Bosley, and Patti Gnegy. New members to the team are Bobbi Cline and Kim Grimm.

Also new to the program is Gary Newcomb, who will handle the jayvee coaching chores. The jayvees are set to play a 13-game schedule. Team members are Courtney Smith, Marci Stemple, Dionne Shahan, Kristi Heatherman, Becky Sanders, Christine Bittinger, Robin Rohrbaugh, and Debbie Martin.

Team managers are Dianne Butts and J.J. Glotfelty.

Stemple and assistant coach Ken McLaughlin have guided the Lady Rams to 16-5 and 18-5 records the past two seasons.

Southern will open its season this Friday evening at Hancock, followed by a contest at Mercersburg on Saturday.

Local Hay Is Being Gathered To Aid Flood Area

Farmers in West Virginia who were victims of the recent flood are in great need of hay for their remaining stock. Hampshire County Extension Agent Steve Carcaterra has organized a drive for hay donations and Garrett County farmers are getting into the act by arranging a shipment of two tractor trailer loads of hay to Romney, either the end of this week or sometime next week.

Spearheading this Garrett County drive is Atlee Hershburger of Gortner, who has been working in the flooded areas of Parsons and Rowlesburg with the Mennonite Disaster Service (MDS). Carcaterra explained that one of their biggest problems is finding transportation to haul hay that has been donated. The Garrett County group has solved this problem too. Edward Miller of Grantsville, who also works with the MDS, has offered to haul the Garrett County hay donations in his tractor trailer truck, free of charge.

Carcaterra has arranged for the hay to be stored in barns in the Romney area, and that will be Miller's destination. From there the hay will be picked up by, or delivered to, the farmers whose stock is in need of it. The agent emphasized that this is not a government program, and that the hay is being rationed to farmers depending upon their need and their herd size, as long as supplies last.

Any farmer in the county who would like to add hay to this donation may call Hershburger at 334-4191.

Farming in Maryland

Carcaterra says that he is pleased with the results of the drive so far. "Hampshire County has received around 5,000 bales, and probably a total of 15,000 to 20,000 bales have been donated and distributed to Hampshire and the other four or five hard-hit counties," the agent said. He added that the need will continue because at this time of year these farmers have no way to replenish their hay supply, and without donations will be forced to sell their livestock because of the lack of feed.

Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference Set For December 18 In Timonium

Maryland farmers are invited to attend the Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference on December 18 at the Maryland State Fairgrounds in Timonium.

The theme for this twelfth annual Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference is "No-Tillage—A Best Management Practice." Some 53 commercial exhibitors will be on hand.

In line with the theme, the first three morning program topics are related to manure management and groundwater quality. Topics and speakers are as follows: "Managing Animal Manures as a Resource", Stuart D. Klausner, Extension agronomy specialist at Cornell University; "Manure Management on No-Till Corn and Alfalfa", Dr. Douglas B. Beegle, Extension agronomy specialist at Penn State; "Groundwater Quality and Manure Management", Patricia L. Lietman, hydrologist for the U.S. Geological Survey at Harrisburg, Pa.

The last morning speaker will be John F. Marten of West Lafayette, Ind., a farm owner with academic credentials in agricultural economics who is a consultant to various organizations and staff economist for "Farm Journal" magazine.

Marten's topic for the conference will be "Marketing Grain Under the Farm Bill." (This assumes that Congress will have passed a farm bill by that time.)

Other topics presented at the conference will include "Managing Hard-To-Control Weeds in Corn and Soybeans" and "No-Tillage Insecticides for the 1990s." The afternoon session will offer opportunities to visit commercial exhibits in the 4-H and Home Arts building on the fairgrounds or to meet morning program speakers in a "Quiz the Experts" session at nearby Exhibition Hall.

Tickets for the noon luncheon are available at $3 each from the Garrett County Extension Office, and must be purchased in advance no later than December 6.

Early arrivals will be able to visit the commercial exhibits beginning at 8 a.m., before the morning program session gets under way at 9 a.m. Free coffee, milk and doughnuts will be served by older Maryland 4-H members from Baltimore and Carroll counties.

Give A Different Gift This Year, A Wild Horse

Frank and Doris Goodlander, who operate the U.S. Department of Interior's Northeast Wild Horse and Burro Adoption Center in Lewisberry, Pa., suggest a different Christmas gift this year - a horse.

Adopting a wild horse fresh from overcrowded ranges out west can be a rewarding experience for both the owner and the animal, say the Goodlanders. "Not only are you giving or receiving a one of a kind gift, but you're finding a home for a living legend that might otherwise have had tough going foraging for food this winter on depleted rangelands," they say.

"Now is the time to make a selection from some 60 young and healthy horses on hand, says Doris Goodlander, and with a wink adds, "We'll even add a pretty red bow."

For information about adopting a wild horse for Christmas call (717) 938-2560 or write the Goodlanders at P.O. Box 178, Lewisberry, Pa., 17339. There is an adoption fee of $125 per horse.

The Goodlanders have operated the center under contract for the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management since 1982. In that time over 1,600 horses and burros have been adopted from the center by caring people in a dozen states.

Unusual Disease Kills Area Sheep

An unusual disease has killed 11 sheep belonging to Lee Shillingburg, whose farm is located on the White Church Road in southern Garrett County.

The state Animal Health Lab, through tests done in its Frederick lab on the spinal cords of the dead sheep, has confirmed that the sheep died of a disease caused by an internal parasite (Parelathostrongylus tenuis), meningeal worm, or more commonly known as brain worm.

The unusual and unstudied disease goes to the central nervous system and the spinal cord of the sheep, resulting in lumbar paralysis. Damage is done to the trunks of the nerves in the spinal cord, and the sheep is not able to use its rear legs, and either dies or must be killed. There is no cure.

Dr. James Fearer, lab director of the Maryland Department of Agriulture Animal Health Lab in Oakland, says that for this disease there is no effective treatment and no self-healing process through time. The sheep will continue to eat and drink but will never regain the use of its hind-quarters.

Fearer says that the carriers of the nematode which cause the disease are white-tailed deer. The internal parasite causes no problems for the deer, but is passed to the ground through deer droppings. There it meets with intermediate hosts, slugs and snails. The slugs, snails, or the parasite itself are then ingested by sheep on pasture, causing the deadly disease.

Sheep and goats are the only domestic animals known to pick up the disease, says Fearer, but he goes on to say that moose and elk are also susceptible to "brain worm". "Nothing that seems to work well on other internal parasites works with this. Maybe frequent worming before symptoms are noticed would help, but we don't know," said Fearer.

Both Shillingburg and Fearer mentioned that only young lambs born this spring seem to die from the disease. Because no study has been done, Fearer says it's not known if the older sheep in the flock have developed an immunity or not.

Fearer says that the disease has never been much of a problem in the eastern United States. However, in 1971 and 1972, flocks in the Moorefield, W.Va., area were hit by lumbar paralysis believed to be caused by brain worm. Shillingburg has lost sheep to the disease for the last three years, losing nine lambs the first year. This year is the first year that the disease has been confirmed.

Shillingburg took the stricken lambs to the Animal Health Lab in Oakland at the first sign of paralysis, and before the sheep died Dr. Fearer was able to determine that no other health problem was present. After death, the sheep's spine was sent to the Frederick lab where the final confirmation was made.

Al Bourgeois, of the Maryland Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service, says that the disease was probably transmitted by the deer, but is not density dependent. In other words, a large number of deer don't necessarily mean that they are carrying the disease. Bourgeois explained that deer travel and pick up the parasite in other areas.

According to Bourgeois, the two best ways to keep sheep free from the dangerous parasite are to isolate the sheep from the deer, and to keep pastures clean. Moving sheep to pastures closer to the barn in the late summer and fall may keep them from areas inhabited by deer. Since snails and slugs are intermediate hosts, keeping pastures clean of brush and wet, shaded areas will help. And finally, sheep and goats should not be pastured in woods.

Fearer says that he expects the cold weather to put a halt to the onset of the disease for this year.

Winterize Your Sprayer Now

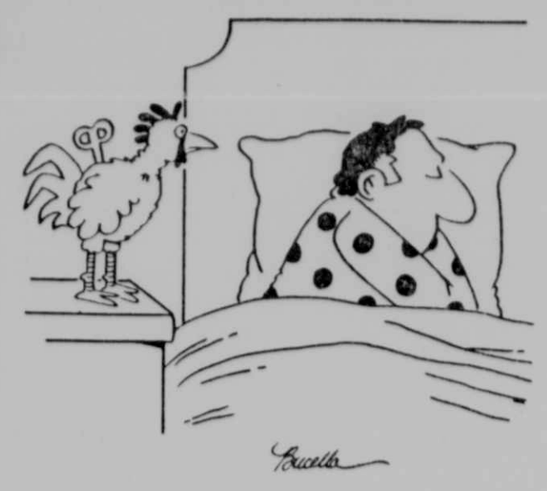
As the rush of field work subsides, it is time to catch up on chores such as preparing equipment for proper winter storage. Proper care of your sprayer now will help to ensure its good performance next year and its long life of reliable service. Cleaning, checking, and storing your sprayer properly this fall will save valuable time next spring when, again, the rush of field work is upon you.

It is important to clean the sprayer thoroughly to remove dirt, grime, and chemical residues. All parts of the sprayer, particularly the pump, need to be protected from the harsh winter weather. Spray tanks and hoses, and water-cooled engines must be drained or protected from freezing temperatures. If the sprayer has no rubber parts, such as gaskets, diaphragms, hoses, pump rollers, etc., put 2 to 5 gallons of new or used motor oil in the tank prior to the last flushing to help prevent corrosion. A film of oil will be left as the water is pumped out.

If the pump contains rubber parts, a tablespoon of radiator rust inhibitor can be placed in each of the inlet and outlet ports. Automotive antifreeze with rust inhibitor can be used. Rotate the pump several times to coat all surfaces.

Nozzle tips, screens, and no-drip valves, if used, should be removed and stored in a can of light-oil, such as diesel fuel or kerosene to prevent corrosion. Close nozzle openings with tape to prevent dirt, insects, or mice from gaining entrance.

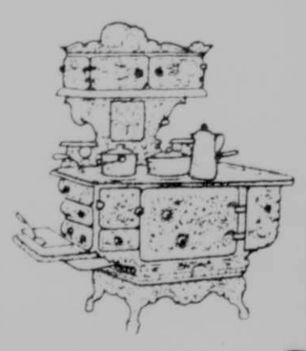
Store the sprayer in a reasonably clean and dry building after it has been cleaned, drained, and prepared for winter. The reward in the spring will be a sprayer ready for good service.

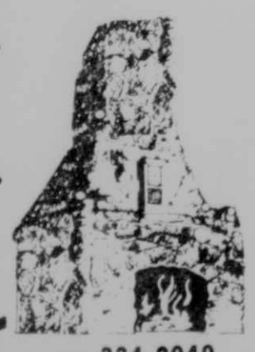


Wear Life of Agricultural Spray Nozzles

Representatives from a major manufacturer recently reported on a study of factors influencing pesticide application equipment spray tip wear. Despite seemingly controlled conditions in wear tests, results generally are not in agreement with similar tests done at other locations. In addition, applicators introduce other variables which affect wear life, such as changes in chemicals sprayed, pressure changes, differences in water quality (suspended solids) and tip maintenance methods (tip cleaning). All the variables suggest it is extremely difficult to predict the useful life of a spray tip.

The factors affecting the abrasion and erosion of orifice material are 1) the orifice shape and size, 2) spraying pressure (velocity), 3) spray liquid (abrasive media), and 4) nozzle material.





The sharp edged flat spray tip generally wears much faster initially than a flooding tip with its long circular orifice. Reducing the pressure from 60 psi to 20 psi increased the wear life of a flat spray tip by five times in a particular test. The abrasive materials in the spray liquid vary considerably as does the resultant wear. The final factor was the material from which the spray tip was fashioned. Generally, the material is the most controllable factor. From hardest to softest, the ranking of materials is tungsten carbide, ceramic, hardened stainless steel, stainless steel, brass, and nylon. The hardest two materials are used in disc-core nozzles.

The bottom line is that the applicator needs to pay attention to his nozzles and check them regularly to ensure proper application of expensive spray materials. Predictions on the wear life of nozzle tips have not been very reliable.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Beruice Kepple

A combined Congressional Conference Committee began this morning to haggle over the two very different versions of the farm bill which emerged from the House and Senate. None of the farm cooperatives, who normally take a political stand, nor even the American Farm Bureau Federation has reacted to the Senate's bill which was passed last week, because they feel that everything now hinges on the Conference Committee.

The Conference Committee is made up of the senior members of both parties from both the Senate and the House Ag Committees. Senators who will be serving on the committee are: Jesse Helms (R-N.C.), Robert Dole (R-Kan.), Richard G. Lugar (R-In.), Thad Cochran (R-Miss.), Rudolph E. Boschwitz, (R-Minn.) Edward Zorinsky (D-Neb.), Patrick J. Lehy (D-Vt.), John Melcher (D-Mont.), and David Pryor (D-Ark.).

As of 5 p.m. yesterday, Representatives from the House had not yet been chosen to serve on the Conference Committee.

No one knows what to expect from the committee. It's unlikely that a bill will be ironed out soon, but it's hoped that it can be completed by the end of the year.

Last week I reported on some portions of the Senate bill which are most important to our area. For comparison I'd like to report, this week, on portions of the bill which may have minor interest here, but are of major importance to other parts of our state or other parts of the country, and will affect us all as purchasers if not producers.

For the 1985 soybean crop, the loan rate would remain at $5.02 a bushel but fall to a minimum of $4.25 in the four following years. For the first time, and for the 1985 crop only, soybean producers holding loans or eligible to hold them would get direct payments of $35 an acre, so long as they forego a loan or repay it at the $5.02 level. The grower can opt to receive a $1 a bushel payment instead of the acreage-based payment if it would be more advantageous to him. There would be a $250,000 limit on price-support loans.

A new program for the 1985 sunflower crop would make payments of $2 per hundred pounds to producers.

The Senate bill generally extends the current programs for sugar, peanuts and wool. Support levels would be frozen for sugar and wool, and peanut supports would be held steady except for an adjustment for producer costs. Sugar loan rates of 18 cents a pound would continue to go to processors, with annual increases to be considered by the Secretary of Agriculture based on inflation and production costs. One change would require the president to lower sugar import quotas from the current 1.7 million tons to about 1.1 million tons to keep cheaper foreign sugar out of the United States and keep domestic market prices high enough to result in a no-cost program for the government.

For peanuts, marketing quotas would be retained for domestic sales under the $559 per ton support rate, plus a cost-of-production factor not to exceed six percent. Farmers without quotas could continue to grow "additional" peanuts for sale abroad or for nonfood uses under a $148 per ton support rate, similarly adjusted for costs.

For the first time, a $50,000 payment limit would be applied to wool payments.

In the Senate bill's cotton and rice section, crop price-support loans for 1986 would be set at 55 cents per pound for cotton and $7.20 per hundred pounds for rice. This compares with the current rate of 57 cents for cotton and $8 for rice. Thereafter, loan rates would be 85 percent of a five-year market average, with a minimum of 50 cents for cotton and $6.50 for rice. Annual reductions would be limited to no more than five percent. A "marketing loan" would let cotton and rice growers repay their loans at less than they borrowed if market prices are below loan levels, with maximum forgiveness of 20 percent of the loan amount for cotton.

The rice section would set the forgiveness level in the marketing loan to 50 percent for 1986-87, 40 percent for 1988, and 30 percent for 1989, with up to half that benefit payable in federal surplus rice. Cotton and rice target prices would be frozen for 1986, with annual reductions of up to five percent for 1987-89. But those reductions would be made up with surplus government commodities of equal value in 1987 and 1988.

A $50,000 payment limit would apply, but with exceptions for payments made to compensate for loan rates lowered more than five percent and for forgiven crop loans. Producers would have to cut acreage by a maximum of 35 percent for rice and 20 percent for cotton in order to qualify for price supports. One option would allow the agriculture secretary to increase the acreage reduction by five percent if surpluses exceeded certain trigger levels, but would end authority for acreage-cutting requirements in 1989.

Next week's column should feature the first report from the joint Conference Committee, whose job is to set farm policy for the next four years—the 1985 Farm Bill.

Production Agriculture Is Taught At WVU's Experiment Farms

To learn how to grow more and better apples, it is first necessary to plant an apple tree. To study beef production, you must raise cattle. To improve tomato varieties, hundreds of tomato plants must be grown.

All of these activities take place at West Virginia University's Experiment Farms where students and researchers test their theories against the realities of nature.

WVU operates eight experiment farms. Four (livestock and dairy, poultry, plant sciences, and horticulture) are within a short distance of the Morgantown campus and have a total of 1,040 acres. In nearby Preston County, the Reedsville Experiment Farm covers 882 acres.

The University operates two farms in the Eastern Panhandle of West Virginia. At Kearneysville in Jefferson County, the 158-acre university experiment farm includes apple and peach orchards and other crops. Reymann Memorial Farms, near Wardensville in Hardy County, include the C. Jett Cunningham Beef Cattle Improvement Center. The Reymann Farms are 996 acres in size.

The Willow Bend Demonstrational Farm in Monroe County covers 238 acres.

The main product of the farms is information, which is distributed to farmers and the food industry through publications, extension agents and by graduates of the College of Agriculture and Forestry.

But a second product of the work on the farms is a bountiful supply of the food products which are being studied.

Up to 30,000 bushels of apples, thousands of dozens of eggs, tons of potatoes and peaches and a cornucopia of fruits, vegetables, milk and meat are sold each year by the university.

"For us this is just salvage," says Steven H. Blizzard, who manages WVU's plant science farms. "We can't just let it drop on the ground. The public has a right to it."

This year's peach crop at the university's Kearneysville Experiment Farm suffered the same killing frost that wiped out other Eastern Panhandle growers. But the apple harvest was plentiful, and between 5,000 ad 6,000 bushels were sold at the WVU Horticulture Farm in Morgantown where fruits and vegetables are offered to the public. Some of the apples are sold fresh; others are squeezed into cider.

Mannon E. Gallegly, chairman of the division of plant and soil sciences, says the cash income from sales of fruits, berries and vegetables doesn't come close to covering the costs of the carefully tended and watched research plots. "If you counted the cost of growing that food, it would be like eating gold," he says.

Blizzard says about 100 bins of apples, each large wooden bin holding 22 bushels, are trucked from Kearneysville to Morgantown each week during the harvest season. When word gets out in Morgantown that apples or peaches have arrived, the road to the horticulture farm is clogged with cars.

"People know they can get fresh produce here and they choose their own from bins or pick it themselves. There's something about going to a farm to buy food that brings people out," Blizzard says.

A short distance down the road at the WVU Poultry Farm, university hens lay hundreds of eggs in the service of science. Some are sold at the farm but most are packaged and distributed through local grocery stores.

"We sell about 1,200 dozen eggs a month," says Bill Jones, a farm manager. Stores are willing to pay about five cents a dozen more for the WVU eggs than the commercially produced ones, and charge a premium price for them at the check-out counter.

Jones says the WVU eggs in Morgantown supermarkets are likely to be several days to a week fresher than eggs that have passed through a supermarket chain's distribution system.

The egg sales bring in $40,000 to $50,000 a year for the poultry program, he adds.

A dairy plant located in the Agricultural Sciences Building supplies most of the university's needs for milk and ice cream, items in heavy demand among residents of college residence halls.

Paul M. Smith, who manages the dairy plant, supervises the processing of 2,500 gallons of milk each week. Almost all the milk is from cows on the WVU dairy farm.

When there is a surplus of cream, freshly made ice cream is offered for sale to the public on Thursday afternoons, Smith says. The dairy plant produces nearly $200,000 worth of products each year.

Most of the meat produced at the farms, including chickens, calves, and sheep, is sold directly to commercial processors, according to Bill Foley, chairman of the division of animal and veterinary sciences. But some is slaughtered on campus for study purposes in the meat science lab, and this is made available through occasional sales there, says Brett Kenney, who supervises the lab.

Some of the meat is sold fresh; some cured or smoked by students before it is offered for sale. "We're not actively engaged in processing meat for sale all the time," Kenney said. "But we make some very good sausage."

Attention Employers!

With today's economy, it makes good business sense to consider all your options . . .

ON THE JOB TRAINING

On-The-Job Training, commonly referred to as OJT, is widely recognized as the most efficient and cost effective way to assure workers are trained to meet the specific needs of an employer. Employers may receive reimbursement of 50% of the participant's starting hourly wage throughout the training period to offset the cost of providing training. Eligible and qualified applicants for the OJT program are referred by Western Maryland Consortium's local county office but the final selection is made solely by the employer. All training is provided by the employer following the employer's own procedures with the expectation of continued employment following the OJT period for all successful completers.

Antlerless Deer Hunting Zones Are Clarified

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service reminds area hunters that Garrett County has been divided into two zones for the antlerless deer season which is scheduled for December 13-14, 1985. Antlerless (doe) permits have been designated for either Zone I or Zone II. However, since this is the first year Garrett County has been zoned considerable confusion has resulted over where each zone is located.

To clarify this problem the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service provides the attached map which delineates the boundaries of each zone. Zone I includes the eastern portion of Garrett County from the Allegany-Garrett County line west to where U.S. Rt. 40 enters Maryland from Pennsylvania to the junction with U.S. Rt. 219 at Keysers Ridge, then proceeds south on Rt. 219 to Oakland, then follows State Rt. 135 to State Rt. 560 at Loch Lynn, then south on Rt. 560 to the Potomac River at Gorman. Zone II includes the remainder of the county west of Zone I.

Antlerless deer zones were initiated in Garrett County to better direct the antlerless deer harvest to areas in the county where crop damage from deer is a problem, while maintaining the deer population at desirable levels in other parts of the county. One thousand doe permits were issued for Zone I and there were 2,084 hunters who applied for them. In Zone II there were 1,400 permits available, with 1,713 hunters requesting permits.

ANTLERLESS DEER SEASON is December 13 and 14, and the Maryland Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service has designated all antlerless (doe) permits to be used in either Zone 1 (right of the dividing line) or Zone 2. See the accompanying story for zoning clarifications.

Hunters are reminded they must hunt in the zone specified on their permit. If caught hunting in the wrong zone, they will be charged with hunting without a doe permit and subject to a $100 fine. Persons entitled to hunt without a hunting license can also hunt antlerless deer without a permit, however, they can only hunt on their own property.

Licensed hunters and landowners alike may not hunt deer during the antlerless season if they have already taken a buck in the firearm season. Also, every deer harvested during the season must be checked at a checking station within 24 hours.

Persons with further questions about the antlerless deer season can contact the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service at Mt. Nebo Wildlife Management Area, telephone 334-4255.

Mishaps Result In Minor Injuries

Maryland State Police at McHenry reported several vehicle accidents which resulted in minor injuries during the past week.

Kimberly S. Spear, 24, Friendsville, was released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital yesterday after being admitted following an accident late Sunday night.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger, who investigated the accident, reported that Spear was operating a 1979 Chevrolet Monte Carlo. The vehicle was traveling east on Maple Street, Friendsville, when it struck a parked vehicle, a 1968 Dodge Charger owned by Gary B. Shoemaker. The parked vehicle was pushed forward 36½ feet and forced into a second parked vehicle, a 1983 Chevrolet S10 owned by the M.C.R. Leasing Corporation, Wayne, Pa.

Spear's vehicle then traveled across the road and came to rest next to a garage.

Hershberger reported that there were no lines or edge markings on the roadway. Spear claimed she either fell asleep or passed out.

Spear was charged with negligent driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Susan Boniece, 33, Swanton, was treated at Garrett Memorial for an ankle injury and released following an accident yesterday evening on the Sand Flat Road.

Tfc. Cindy Smith, who investigated the mishap, reported that Stephen R. Harvey, 37, Mtn. Lake Park, was operating a 1984 Ford Escort southbound. He failed to grant the right-of-way to Boniece, causing the Harvey vehicle to strike Boniece's vehicle in the right front.

A single vehicle accident occurred Saturday at 1:41 a.m. on the Deep Creek Lake State Park Road.

Donald L. Byler, 21, Laurel, was treated and released from Garrett Memorial Hospital later that day.

According to State Police reports, Byler was a passenger in a vehicle driven by James A. Stewart, 24, McHenry, who was apparently not injured.

Stewart was traveling northbound when the vehicle traveled off the left side of the road and struck a utility pole and several mail boxes before skidding back onto the roadway.

Stewart was charged with a speeding count and a second violation.

Police reported several accidents which resulted from weather conditions on Monday.

At approximately 10 a.m., Beverly Bagan, 60, Richmond, Va., was slightly injured in an accident on Route 48 near the Amish Road.

Tfc. Dale K. Williams, who investigated the incident, reported that Bagan was eastbound in the far right lane when a car operated by Trudy A. Woerz, Massena, N.Y. struck the Bagan vehicle in the rear. Apparently, Woerz was unable to stop her car in time.

Tfc. Williams investigated a similar accident near the Blooming Rose Road at 11:25 a.m.

He said Steven R. Kilmer, 44, Orangeville, Calif., was traveling east in a tractor trailer, operating at about five to 10 miles per hour, when Gary G. Woody, 33, Lewisburg, Pa., drove into the rear of the truck. Woody said he saw the tractor trailer and hit the brakes of his 1983 Oldsmobile, but was unable to stop the vehicle.

A jeep owned by the Department of Natural Resources was damaged in a 10:20 a.m. accident on Route 48.

Police said Steven P. Hamilton, Accident, had stopped on the eastbound shoulder to assist with a separate accident when a vehicle slid into the jeep. Jean G. Bonsall, 59, Morgantown, W.Va., operator of the vehicle, was slightly injured in the accident, according to police.

Tfc. G.D. Chaney was not injured when he was struck by a vehicle while investigating an accident.

Do you ever think about all that money you spend? Is it gone forever? Does it ever come back to you?

When you shop locally, you're not just spending money, you're investing it. Part of every dollar you spend locally is returned to your community in the form of merchants' taxes, contributions to local charities and employee salaries.

Local business firms help pay the taxes that support schools and other vital community services. Their charitable contributions support your house of worship, youth activities and more. When you support local businesses by shopping locally...you're also supporting your own community.

No need to roam...the best shopping's here at home!

Michelle Glotfelty Will Represent County As Page

Melvin A. Steinberg, president of the Maryland Senate, and Benjamin L. Cardin, speaker of the House, have announced that Michelle L. Glotfelty has been selected as Garrett County's representative to the Maryland Student Page Program. Miss Glotfelty, a senior at Northern High School, is the daughter of Roy and Lucille Glotfelty, Star Route 1, Oakland.

Miss Glotfelty will be assigned a two-week work schedule in either the House or Senate during the spring session of the General Assembly. During this period she will assist her assigned delegate or senator during the General Assembly's regular and special sessions. Each member of the Assembly has a set of bill books in his/her desk. It is the responsibility of the pages to change these books every day to keep up with their chamber's legislative calendar. During legislative sessions, pages will run errands, get additional legislative materials for the members, distribute material on the floor, and answer phone calls.

The alternate page for Garrett County is Robbie Germain, son of Joe and Carolyn Germain, Oakland. Robbie is a senior at Southern High school and may be called upon to serve in the event another page is unable to attend.

District Court Cases Noted

In Garrett County District Court proceedings last Tuesday, Judge Jack Turney sentenced William T. Wright, 18, Grantsville, after reading a presentence investigation report.

Wright was sentenced to 18 months in the Department of Corrections. The judge then suspended 12 months of the sentence, placing Wright on 24 months supervised probation.

Wright was found to be guilty of two counts of malicious destruction of the property of another, breaking, entering, and stealing, and theft in a trial at the beginning of October.

The charges were filed by Harland Tichnell, Chief Deputy, following several incidents on July 27.

According to court documents, Wright and a juvenile had escaped from the Meadow Mountain Youth Camp, Grantsville. Wright damaged a diesel tractor belonging to Allegany Welding, Inc., then stole several items and damaged others in a cabin belonging to George, David, and Walter Scheffel. Total damages and losses reached nearly $700.

The judge ordered Wright to pay restitution of $175 to Allegany Welding, and to make an effort to remain employed.

Wright was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

In another case, the judge sentenced Brian J. McMullan, 23, Wayne, Pa., to 12 months in the Garrett County Jail. The sentence was then suspended, and McMullan was placed on 12 months supervised probation.

McMullan was convicted of a theft charge in October, and the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

The charge was filed by Tfc. Randy C. Resh following a September 22 incident when McMullan stole a radar detector worth $100.

McMullan was represented by Toston.

The judge sentenced Brenda K. Emerick, 24, Grantsville, to 18 months in the local jail, then suspended the sentence, placing her on 36 months supervised probation.

Emerick was found guilty of a theft charge in September, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

According to court documents Emerick supplied false information to the Security of American Life Insurance company about an illness she was suffering from. The company then made payments to the First United National Bank, Grantsville, for a 1978 Ford Bronco.

The judge ordered that Emerick make restitution of $1,633.35 to the American Life Insurance Company, Reading, Pa., and continue counseling with the Garrett County Health Department.

Emerick was represented by Michael Morrissette.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation for Lillian L. Wilson, 21, Oakland after finding her guilty of a breaking and entering charge.

The charge was filed by Sheiladean I. Landis following an October 19 incident.

According to court documents, Wilson entered the trailer of Shelbadean and Carlos Bolyard to recover several articles she left behind when she moved out. However, she hadn't obtained permission from the Bolyards, or from Landis, an agent the Bolyards had assigned to care for the property in their absence.

Wilson was found not guilty of a trespassing charge. She was represented by Toston.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation for Timothy A. Welch, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, after convicting him of a trespassing charge.

The charge was filed by Deputy Phillip K. Buckel following an October 11 incident on the property of Joseph Healy.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Michael M. McCrobie, 27, Oakland, after he was found to be guilty of trespassing.

The charge was filed by Cpl. Ron E. Beeghly following an October 12 incident at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

According to court records, McCrobie refused to leave the emergency room of the hospital while his wife was being treated.

The judge found McCrobie to be not guilty of an intoxication charge.

A charge of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance against Philip R. Coddington, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted by the court in exchange for a plea of guilty to two drug charges in circuit court.

Coddington was represented by Morrissette.

A bench warrant was ordered for Peggy E. Doyle, 22, Baltimore, when she failed to appear in court on a theft charge.

The charge was filed by Gary Resh, Maryland State Police, following a July 23 incident at Walker's Skyview Motel, Frostburg.

Adorable Adoptables

"TAKE ME HOME FOR CHRISTMAS," says Whiskers, the four-month-old domenstic grey Tabby. Whiskers is a female and would make a super gift for that special child on your list. The kitten can be yours by calling the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 334-3553. Those desiring a pet for the holidays should contact the shelter early so that shots can be administered to the pet before leaving the shelter.

"Mis-assignment"

Albert Shanker, in a recent column which appeared in Education Week, discussed what has become known as education's "dirty little secret"—teachers licensed and qualified in one subject area assigned to teach subjects which they may never have taken or are totally unfamiliar with.

This situation seems ironic when at the same time most states, including Maryland, are setting tougher and higher standards for student graduation and promotion and everyone involved applauds this move.

Students will now be required to take a specified number of years in English, social studies, etc., along with passing state required "functional" tests. Again we applaud these advances. But who is teaching these required classes?

According to a survey done by the Council for Basic Education (CBE), "Nationwide, thousands of teachers stand before thousands upon thousands of students, charged with instruction in disciplines not their own. The consequences for the nation's students, supposedly being educated in these basic subjects, are enormous."

The state by state survey shows some subjects with 30 to 40% of the students being taught by teachers not qualified in those subjects. The survey only hints at the problem. While it does show evidence of mis-assignment, it is unable to document the exact numbers because most states do not require accurate reports on the extent of the problem and "rules and sanctions against mis-assignment are rarely enforced."

There seems to be a number of reasons why mis-assignment occurs, according to Shanker. The first is that there are principals and superintendents who believe a good teacher can teach anything. Their motto seems to be "we teach children, not math, science or English." We should be thankful this type of administrator is in the minority.

A second reason would seem to be periodic shortages in specific subjects. In this case mis-assignment is used as a coverup designed to convince the public that there is no shortage.

The third reason would be over/underload. When all classes have been filled in a particular subject by the teachers, the last teacher gets four sections. Since he is expected to teach six periods, he is assigned two classes outside his field to fill his schedule.

Realistically, mis-assignment constitutes malpractice in the classroom. There are some things that can be done to remedy this situation:

1) Require full disclosure to the public by state law;

2) Each classroom should display a certificate showing what subjects the teacher is qualified to teach, just as other professionals hang their certificates in their offices;

3) Require written permission from parents for a child to be placed in a classroom with a mis-assigned teacher;

4) Give additional salary to teachers who are qualified to teach more than one subject since this allows greater flexibility in programming schools.

We are not talking about uncertificated people in the classroom, but well qualified educators who, for some unacceptable reason, are put in an area for which they neither have the expertise nor background. Until this is done, most of the other educational reforms will fail.

Card Of Thanks

We would like to send a special thanks to all the friends and relatives who expressed their concern following the death of my husband, Dad and Grandad.

Special thanks also to Tri-Towns Rescue Squad, the Emrgency Staff at Potomac Valley Hospital, Boal's Funeral Home, and Rev. Curtis Saville.

Youghiogheny Glades Chapter Of DAR Meets

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. Hugh Echard on November 18. After the opening ritual conducted by Regent Mrs. Richard Sherwood, with prayer by Chaplain Mrs. Asa Lewis, and the flag salute, the speaker for the evening was introduced.

Shaun Sanders, district manager of the Garrett Soil Conservation District and member of the Land Reclamation Committee, included in his talk many facts about conservation, with emphasis on the detrimental effects of erosion. Programs developed to help prevent erosion are being practiced in Garrett County. He spoke about flood control, and measures which helped to prevent or to lessen the effects of floods. Sanders told of the different types of conservation and related services available to residents. Many other points of interest were brought out during the question and answer session at the conclusion of Sanders' talk.

The meeting continued with routine reports and announcements. Work on the Garrett County Cemetery Book is complete and ready to go to the publisher.

Names of members wishing to attend the State Congress in March or the 95th Continental Congress in April must be submitted by February 1.

It was decided to hold a soup and sandwich luncheon as a fund-raising project. Mrs. Gretchen Shaffer, Mrs. Clara Bell Briner and Mrs. Barbara Lee were appointed to a committee for arrangements.

A letter was read from the National Society of the DAR acknowledging the gift of "Preston County West Virginia History" from Mrs. Lewis Jones through the Youghiogheny Chapter.

Mrs. Echard and co-hosstesses, Mrs. Eugene Nordeck, Mrs. Robert Lohr, Mrs. Robert Railey and Mrs. Leo Helbig, served refreshments. The group adjourned to meet in January at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Oakland. At that time a program on National Defense will be presented by Tom Bittinger.

PRESELECTING A FUNERAL HOME

There are a number of important advantages to choosing a funeral home in advance of death. To begin with, it will enable you to find the one that best suits your needs. As with most other professions, there is a whole range to choose from. With a little effort on your part, you can surely find a funeral home that will offer the arrangements you want, at what you feel is a fair price.

Having pre-selected a funeral home can be especially helpful if you or a loved one dies away from home. They can help make arrangements with a funeral home where the death took place. If the place was another country, this is doubly true. Our country's embassy or consulate abroad MUST have the name of a funeral home in the home city in order to ship the body. Having named one will save the survivors from having to investigate and decide upon a funeral home under pressure of haste and grief.

New Horizons Sets Final Fall Career Workshop

"Where, Oh Where, Has The Day Gone?" is the title of the last career workshop in New Horizons' fall workshop series. This workshop deals with time management and is prepared to help those persons who never seem to have enough hours in the day. Suggestions will be given to help individuals use their time wisely. The workshop will be held on Wednesday, December 11, from 10 a.m. to noon, at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College, in Room 603.

The workshop is free and is open to the public. To preregister or for further informatikon persons may contact the New Horizons office during regular office hours, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at 334-9184.

Casselman Valley Choral Society Concerts Slated

The Casselman Valley Choral Society will present its fall concert on Friday, December 6, at 8 p.m., at the First Brethren Church in Berlin, and again on Sunday, December 8, at 8 p.m., at Zion Lutheran Church in Meyersdale.

The 48-voice choir will perform traditional Christmas carols including "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," "O Come, O Come Emmanuel," and "Joy To The World." Two selections from the Gloria of Antonio Vivaldi, "Gloria In Excelsis," and "Et In Terra Pax," will be sung, as well as "Et Incarnatus Est" from the Mass in B-Minor by J.S. Bach. The "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah will conclude the concert.

The choral society, now in its tenth season, was founded by its present conductor, John Yoder. Its repertoire has included major sacred works as well as familiar hymns and spirituals. The choir has joined the Johnstown Symphony and with the West Virginia Symphonette in past concerts. In the spring of 1986, the choir will present a concert in Meyersdale and also be featured in the Laurelville Lyceum series at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., with a performance of sacred music marking the Easter season.

Society membership is by audition. Members include people from a variety of backgrounds: teachers, farmers, miners, nurses, homemakers and business persons.

Choral society concerts are funded by individual and business contributions. There will be no admission charge, but an offering will be received at intermission.

Fire Prevention Group To Discuss Local Matters

The State Fire Prevention Commission met this morning at the Laurel Municipal Building in Laurel.

The agenda for the meeting includes appeal hearings on the State Fire Prevention Code for the Highview Park Apartments, Oakland, and the El Lobo Restaurant, Mountain Lake Park. Additionally, fire code appeal hearings are being heard by the Commission on Performance Cruising, Inc., a boat manufacturing facility in Anne Arundel County and the Hartge Yacht Yard, Inc., also of Anne Arundel County.

In addition to the appeal hearings, State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele was to address the State Fire Prevention Commission concerning programs and matters of the State Fire Marshal's Office.

The State Fire Prevention Commission, which was first formed in 1964, promulgates, amends, and repeals regulations concerning fire safety for the State of Maryland. Anyone wishing to schedule an issue on the agenda before the fire Prevention Commission is invited to contact Mrs. M. Elizabeth Weiderhold at (301) 836-4843.

Maryland Legal Line Successful

Maryland Legal Line, the free telephone service available for persons wishing information on common legal matters, has been well received, according to figures released after two months of operation.

Since Legal Line was started in mid-September over 640 calls, from persons seeking help on legal rights and services, have been received.

Towson State University President Hoke L. Smith, said he was pleased that so many citizens are taking advantage of this service. "The strong interest in the service demonstrates that a definite need within the community is being met," said Dr. Smith. "Towson State is pleased to be part of this program."

Towson State University joined efforts with the Maryland State Bar Association in providing this service. The Legal Line tapes are written and composed by the members of the State Bar Association's Public Awareness Committee. To date callers have a choice of over 30 legal topics and plans are to expand that number of listings in the future.

According to Herbert J. Belgrad, president of the Maryland State Bar Association, "This unique service is a quick and convenient way for people to obtain answers to common legal questions." Belgrad added, "Legal Line offers citizens the proper avenue to take in protecting or exercising their rights."

Inquiries regarding divorce led the number of calls, while wills, rights and duties of landlords, child support, buying and selling a home were the legal topics receiving the most inquiries.

Citizens may utilize the service simply by calling toll-free 1-800-638-8862. Maryland Legal Line is staffed by university students and is in operation seven days a week. Hours are: Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. - 10 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 p.m. - 9 p.m.

Brochures listing the topics available on Legal Line are available at most public libraries or may be obtained from the State Bar Association at 687-7878.

Peace is a baby sleeping. Peace is a walk in God's forests. Peace is gentle Love for one another.

Great word. . . Peace! We see it in the newspapers, on T.V., in magazines beside horror pictures of war and carnage. But, Peace is not something outside ourselves. It is within. It is the quiet calmness of mind and soul, unperturbed, undismayed.

But it is difficult to acquire this frame of mind, this elusive state of soul, this tranquil spirit.

To achieve it we need guidance and help, and therefore we turn to our Church. Here, one sets problems in order, sees difficulties in perspective and consults with one's Creator. Peace of heart is a two-way street — our way to God, and His way to us.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

A MANGER FAITH

December 8, 1985

Background Scripture:
Isaiah 11:1-9; Micah 5:2; Matthew 1:18-25; Luke 2:1-7.
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 11:1-9.

If it is true, as we indicated last week, that God specializes in things we think impossible, it is also true that he also specializes in doing what he does in ways that absolutely mystify us.

That he should act to fulfill his longstanding promises to Israel, that we can understand. But that he should do it in such a strange manner still puzzles us and the world.

If you were writing the script, how would you write it? Wouldn't you choose some powerful, noble figure to be the one annointed to represent God in his world? Wouldn't this person be a wielder of power, a source of wisdom and a person of charisma? And, if you had to choose a locale, wouldn't you choose one of the world's greatest cities, or a towering mountaintop?

NO VACANCY!

So look how God does it: no might, no power, no prestige, no noble lineage, and no mountaintop. Instead God chooses to express himself in the birth of a baby -- a baby born to an unwed peasant girl betrothed to a simple tradesman. And instead of a reception fit for a Son of God, the incarnation is an obscure event in which the world is virtually unmindful. Not only is Jesus the Messiah not born in a great palace, but his mother and father cannot even manage a place in the inn. The Saviour of the world is laid "in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn" (Luke 2:7). And it wasn't even a Jersualem manger, but a Bethlehem one.

God does things like this, not because he wants to surprise us and mystify us, but because he needs to remind us as often and as loudly as he can that his ways are not our ways. What we think is important may not be important at all, as he sees things in this world. What we regard as power, he may regard as weakness.

OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

That's one of the reasons that God's promises may seem so "impossible". We judge them on the basis of our very limited human perspective. But what he's trying to help us understand is that there is usually more than any human being can see and understand.

Yes, Mary and Joseph were unimportant nobodies in the eyes of the world, and yes, the birth of Jesus in a stable manger would not have made the 6 o'clock news. But God's Holy Spirit can take even the most humble circumstances and means to fulfill his promises and our hopes.

And that is the faith that turns a manger into a throne.

Monthly News

SOMEONE IS SNEAKING UP ON YOU

Old man winter is on his way with his usual bagful of dirty tricks. Coughs, sneezes, sore throats, stuffy noses, chest colds and the like. Staying out of his path is a tough job and chances are all of us will be affected at one time or another.

Professional advice on "over-the-counter" non-prescription medicines for simple colds is a most important part of our pharmacy service. Naturally, for anything more serious you should consult with your physician. He can prescribe more potent medication to help you recover quickly.

Designer has 'Alice' looking wonderous

By Frank Lovece

Clothes make the man. Paul Zastupnevich makes the clothes.

Paul Zastupnevich

He's been doing so for 28 years, and for hundreds of films and TV shows. The veteran costume designer has created gowns for Olivia de Havilland, Jacqueline Bisset, Faye Dunaway and Jennifer Jones, as well as the monsters in TV shows such as "Time Tunnel," "Lost in Space" and "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea." This week, the more than 500 lavish creations Zastupnevich (pronounced Zaws-too-NYEH-vich) created for "Alice in Wonderland" will be on display when the four-hour, $14 million miniseries airs Monday, Dec. 9 and Tuesday, Dec. 10 on CBS.

"It's been a long time since anyone's created so many new costumes for an 'Alice,'" says Zastupnevich, who claims he used 6,000 hooks and eyes and 2,000 spools of thread for the miniseries. "The major challenge was to come up with designs close to those of (original "Alice" illustrator) Sir John Tenniel, but in which the actors could move around comfortably. I didn't want my designs to be exactly like those of Tenniel. I had to have my fun too."

Before designing the playing-card costumes, for instance, Zastupnevich studied cards from France, Austria, Russia and Germany. "The basic elements are similiar," he says, "but each country's cards also reflect traditional modes of dress. I took a little bit from each and combined them so that the costumes are exotic, but universal."

Zastupnevich also had to account for modern TV technology. Alice's dress, for instance, is peach-colored rather than the familiar blue. "A lot of scenes had to be shot against blue backgrounds," he explains, "so that the special-effects people could add things later. That meant we couldn't have any other blue in the picture. But our Alice (played by 10-year-old Natalie Gregory) is a lovely blond, and the peach color enhances her skin tone and hair. I think it's a refreshing change."

Then there were the problems. "Poor Ringo Starr," muses Zastupnevich, "had to be strapped into the Mock Turtle's shell. Then he had to slip on foam rubber fins. The costume didn't breathe, and he was completely encased. Ringo probably lost five pounds every day he worked!

"But he had a good sense of humor about it," the 63-year-old designer adds. "You need that in this business."

Grant Cramer keeps soap fans in lather

By Kimberly Redmond

"The Young and the Restless" is my favorite soap, and Shawn Garrett is my favorite soap character. He's so dreamy! What can you tell me about Grant Cramer, the actor who portrays Garrett? — K.L., Lehigh Acres, Fla.

Grant Cramer

Cramer assumed the "Y&R" role more than a year ago, after appearing in a small role on "General Hospital." He has appeared in the TV movie, "Desperate Lives," and he starred in the forgettable feature films, "Hardbodies" and "New Year's Evil." Cramer's stage productions include "Billy Budd," "Home of the Brave," and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." His "Y&R" role marks the actor's first recurring TV role. For trivia fans: Cramer is the son of actress Terry Moore, who was once married to Howard Hughes.

Not too long ago, Peter Reckell sang on "Days of Our Lives." Was that really Reckell's voice, or did another actor dub for him? If it was Reckell, does he have an album available? — D.R., Edison, N.J.

Your ears didn't deceive you, D.R., that was Reckell warbling those romantic lyrics to his on-screen sweetheart, portrayed by Kristian Alfonso. As far as we know, Reckell doesn't have current plans to record an album.

I heard that Doug Davidson, the actor who plays Paul Williams on "The Young and the Restless," was hired while he was visiting the set of the CBS soap. Is this true? — G.G., Scranton, Pa.

According to reliable sources, Davidson was hired to appear in several episodes of "Y&R" when he visited the soap's set with a friend

It's true: The walls have ears. That's what Mary Crosby and Richard Thomas learn when they find themselves trapped in an inner city in "Final Jeopardy," a made-for-TV film airing Sunday, Dec. 8 on NBC.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Is Simon MacCorkindale, the actor who starred in the series "Manimal," the same actor who was in "Jaws 3-D"? What can you tell me about MacCorkindale? Where can I write to him? — A.M., Staten Island, N.Y.

Simon MacCorkindale

Yes, A.M., MacCorkindale, who currently stars on "Falcon Crest," was in both "Manimal" and "Jaws 3-D." The actor hails from England, and he's married to British actress Susan George. Among his acting credits, MacCorkindale directed Linda Purl ("Happy Days") in a Los Angeles production of Ibsen's classic, "A Doll's House." He recently appeared in "The Importance of Oscar," a one-man show about the life of author Oscar Wilde.

You can write to him c/o Lorimar, 3970 Overland Ave., Culver City, CA 90239.

I'm 14 years old and probably Victoria Principal's biggest fan. In what other shows has the actress appeared? — B.C., Clearwater, Fla.

Miss Principal got her first big break when she was cast as Paul Newman's Mexican mistress in "The Life and Times of Judge Roy Bean" (1972). Other films in which the actress appeared include "The Naked Ape" (1973), "Earthquake" (1974), "I Will, I Will ... For Now" (1976) and "Vigilante Force" (1976).

Miss Principal has also appeared in episodes of "Fantasy Island" and "Love, American Style."

Benny Hill is my idol. Where can I write to him? — K.H., Colstrip, Mont.

You can reach the funny man by sending your letters c/o Thames Television, 31 West 56 Street, New York, NY 10019. They will forward your mail to England, where Hill lives.

Phyllis Frelich and Ed Waterstreet star in "Love Is Never Silent," a Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation airing Monday, Dec. 9 on NBC. In the film, Miss Frelich and Waterstreet — both of whom are deaf in real life — portray deaf parents struggling in a hearing world.

TUESDAY

Arte Johnson stars as the Dormouse and Ann Jillian portrays the Red Queen in "Alice in Wonderland," Irwin Allen's $14-million miniseries. Part II of the two-part, four-hour opus airs Tuesday, Dec. 10 on CBS.

Deaf world explored in brilliant 'Silent'

By Marc Minnelli

The phones are ringing off the hook. Co-workers are screaming across the room. The construction crew decided to start drilling early today. Noises — loud, grating, consistent — and everyone of them is driving you crazy.

Phyllis Frelich

So you stuff cotton in your ears, run to your room and escape to a world of silence.

There's only one hitch: You can end the self-induced silence. Others cannot.

The two worlds of the deaf and of the hearing will be explored in "Love Is Never Silent," a Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation airing Monday, Dec. 9 on NBC. The film made history when it cast real-life deaf performers Ed Waterstreet and Phyllis Frelich opposite hearing performers Mare Winningham and Cloris Leachman. More than 40 other non-hearing actors and actresses also appear in the film.

Unlike "Alice in Wonderland," the film's CBS competition, "Love Is Never Silent" is low-keyed. There are no petite blondes falling down rabbit holes, no star-studded cast dressed in animated finery. This is a film about emotional turmoil, hidden resentment and unbridled jealousies. This is a film about compassion. And life.

"This is the first big film for and about deaf people," says Miss Frelich, 41, who speaks through her interpretator, husband Bob Steinberg.

"For years, hearing actors have misrepresented deaf people, and this is the first time deaf people have been given the proper exposure. It's important for hearing people to see that we're just like everyone else; we share fears, joys and loves."

Miss Frelich, who won a Tony Award for her performance in the Broadway play "Children of a Lesser God," was born (as she likes to say) "stone deaf. I have come to grips with my deafness," the actress explains. "So I don't know what I'm missing. If I hold a baby and it laughs, I sometimes wonder, 'What am I missing?' But I have no desire to hear, just as I have no desire to be blonde. I was born with brown hair and it's going to stay that way."

Yet she has a voice. "I have learned never to use it," she says. "I can still remember being taught to be embarrassed and ashamed by it because it sounds so funny. So I am silent," she says. "Even my laughter is silent. Anyway," she adds, her face breaking into a huge grin, "it probably sounds like a cow yelling in the background."

Reid hopes his video stops drug madness

By Gregory Garver

There are some weeks when Tim Reid, who plays police lieutenant Downtown Brown on the CBS series "Simon & Simon," has a bigger part than other weeks. The reason for the role reduction? It's because the series' producers give him some time off to pursue another of Reid's major interests: the fight against drug abuse. And getting time off the series is exactly how Reid was able to plan, produce and promote his new anti-drug music video, "Stop the Madness."

Tim Reid

"That video came about," the actor says, "after a year of discussion with the Entertainment Industries Council. In our meetings, I tried to push what this industry does best, and that is make shows.

"My idea was that young people today are watching videos," Reid, 41, adds, "so why not meet them on their own home ground? Most anti-drug messages are so heavyhanded. I wanted to make something where the message was so slight it was almost hidden. This is it — while they are dancing and singing, we hit them."

Reid says that the famous "We Are the World" record and video showed that social messages, when coated with song and dance, can be effective. He hopes that "Stop the Madness," which he created and co-wrote, has the same sort of success.

The video features Claudia Wells ("Back to the Future") and Michael Chambers ("Breakin'"), and has guest appearances by dozens of today's top singers and sports stars. Reid's "Simon & Simon" co-stars, Jameson Parker and Gerald McRaney, also make guest appearances.

"When I was growing up in Norfolk, Va.," Reid recalls, "anyone involved in drugs was a shady character, and not in any way glamorous. Using drugs was not an alternative life style then. Later, as I grew up, I saw the destructive nature of drugs and something inside me screamed out against it."

Reid believes that through his efforts — and the efforts of others — progress is being made. "The change is slow," he says, "but it is permanent."

Mary Tyler Moore is back in weekly series

By Gillian George

How much is the real Mary Tyler Moore like the beloved television characters she has played? The question is easily answered by listening to her describe her attitude toward her own success.

Mary Tyler Moore

Remember that this is a woman who has won five Emmys, was nominated for an Oscar for her extraordinary work in "Ordinary People," won a special Tony for her work in the Broadway drama "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" and will soon receive the rare and coveted honor of being inducted into the Television Academy Hall of Fame.

How does it all make her feel? "I will go to my grave thinking of myself as a failed dancer, not a successful actress," Miss Moore, 48, says without hesitation. And isn't that exactly what you would expect from Mary Richards or Laura Petrie?

Even Miss Moore laughs at the inevitable comparison. In fact, she unhesitatingly admits that, "Every lady I've played on television series has been 80 percent Mary Tyler Moore. The other 20 percent is characterization and timing."

So can we expect another lovable clone when her new "Mary" series premieres Wednesday, Dec. 11?

"Yes," she explains. "The only difference is that Mary Brenner will be 10 years older than my last character, a reflection of the fact that I am 10 years older now. I think the kind of maturity that brings is great as long as I still retain the characteristic that the public seems to like, which is vulnerability. Both this character and I have had some hard knocks and wonderful experiences — and that gives her another edge."

Indeed, the new show and the new character sound promising. Mary Brenner is the kind of woman who willingly gives up a high-paying position as an editor on a glamorous fashion magazine to become a Chicago newspaper's help-line columnist.

James Farentino will play the fictional Chicago Post's editor and Miss Moore's potential love interest. John Astin is the newspaper's pompous theatre critic, newcomer Katey Sagal is a younger columnist and Carlene Watkins (who was so appealing as the wife on "Best of the West") will play a yuppie neighbor.

"Most of my life, I thought that if I was good enough and smart enough, I could be a perfect person who was happy all the time," Miss Moore confesses. "Now I know you have to fight and work for happiness, just like you do for career success."

Will 'Knots' cast be landing on Broadway?

By Cindy Adams

After six years on television, "Knots Landing" star Joan Van Ark is itchy to go legit. Says she, "I'd give my firstborn, my left leg, name something I'd give anything to do a Broadway show. I'm a stage actress — that's how I started — and our whole 'Knots Landing' company is made up of New York-trained actors: me, Julie Harris, Michele Lee, William Devane. Naturally, I'd consider a comedy, but what I'd love to do is drama. Even Chekhov."

Joan Van Ark

In wall-to-wall bugle beads and fluffy gorgeous hair, Joan didn't look exactly, well, Chekhovian. She added: "I'd love for all of us — the whole TV cast — to come in as one. We'd jump in, do it quick and dirty and the next season — watch out!"

Please, won't someone lend this nice bunch a nice William Shakespeare tragedy for a few weeks?

Gina Lollobrigida is becoming a journalist. So is Richard Burton's widow Sally Hay. Sally was recently in Hollywood, reporting on female industry executives for the BBC. Gina is on "Domenica In...," the Italian government's No. 1 magazine show that airs every Sunday from 2 to 8 p.m. The show features segments on sports, news and entertainment, and Gina does a 20-minute spot.

Gina Lollobrigida

She's already interviewed such notables as Sammy Davis Jr., Bo Derek, Burt Reynolds and Jacques Cousteau. Says La Lollo: "I'm now interviewing heads-of-state. Ten years ago, I was Indira Gandhi's guest and became friendly with her son Rajiv. His wife Sonia's Italian." All of which means Gina's nailed an interview with India's Prime Minister. In an earlier life, she was friendly with Prince Charles, so next up is Gina's exclusive sit-down with Britain's Chuck and Di.

Holiday Mailing Tips Offered By Postal Service

With a little bit of care, holiday cards and packages can arrive on time and in good shape, says Postmaster James A. McDougald.

In addition to mailing early, postal customers are urged to properly address cards and packages with the name, house number and street (or post office box) number, and the city, state and ZIP Code reserved for the last line. Use of apartment numbers is encouraged.

"It is also a good idea to put a slip of paper with the recipient's name and address and your return address inside parcels, and be sure the addressing on the outside of the parcel includes your return address and ZIP Code," McDougald says.

Customers are also reminded to check the size of their envelopes before mailing Christmas and other holiday cards. Letter size standards require that envelopes be at least 3½ inches high and 5 inches long to be accepted for mailing.

Parcels will arrive at their intended destination in good shape if persons follow the following suggestions:

CUSHION: Make sure contents are well-cushioned and there is no empty space in the box. Use crumpled newspaper around the item - including all sides, top and bottom. Commercially available foam shells or air-pocket padding also are good cushioning materials. Padded mailing bags are a good way to mail small items.

DON'T OVERWRAP: Just use your carton. Brown paper and twine cord are not necessary. Paper can rip. and twine can become entangled in mail processing equipment.

SEAL PROPERLY: Close your parcel with one of the three recommended types of tape: pressure sensitive, nylon-reinforced kraft paper, or glass-reinforced pressure sensitive. Don't use cellophane tape or masking—they aren't sturdy enough. It's a good idea to put a slip with the address and return address inside the parcel.

AVOID SMUDGES: Use smudge-proof ink for your addressing.

POSITION ADDRESSES PROPERLY: Put the recipient's address in the lower right portion of the package. Put your return address in the upper left corner of only one side of the package. Remove all other labels.

USE ZIP CODES: Be sure to include the ZIP Code in both the recipient's and your address. Remember, wrong ZIP Codes can delay the mail.

APARTMENT NUMBERS: Using apartment numbers or suite numbers, when you know them, helps the Postal Service deliver mail in large buildings.

TIME IT RIGHT: Mail early in the month and early in the day.

USE THE RIGHT SERVICE: Irreplaceable items, such as cash and other valuables, should be sent by Registered Mail.

IF YOU RUN OUT OF TIME: Priority Mail affords First-Class handling for packages weighing over 12 ounces and up to 70 pounds. Priorty Mail can be sent from any post office, station or branch or through rural carriers to any address in the U.S. Delivery of Priority Mail is accomplished in two to three days anywhere in the country. Priority Mail can even be used for foreign mailings.

The service is available with insurance, return receipt, COD, certificates of mailing and Special Delivery. Customers interested in Priority Mail should contact the post office for details.

FLOYD W. HARTLEY

Floyd W. Hartley, 76, of Mountain Lake Park, died Saturday, November 30, at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home.

Born in Aurora, W.Va., August 19, 1909, he was the son of the late Colin Hartley and Maggie Hartley.

He was a member of the Loch Lynn Church of God.

He is survived by his wife, Anna G. (Kerns) Ahern Hartley; six stepsons, Charles Ahern, Donald Ahern, Daniel Ahern and Roy Ahern, all of Oakland; James Ahern, McCoole; Raymond Ahern, Fort Worth, Texas; four sisters, Bessie Shapp and Sarah Blake, both of Thomas, W.Va.; Katheleen Williams and Virginia Wade, both of Silver Hill, W.Va.; one brother, Lawrence Hartley, Thomas; 15 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home. A service was conducted at the Loch Lynn Church of God Monday by the Rev. Robert Fletcher and the Rev. Charles Teets. Interment was in Ashby Cemetery.

Memorials are asked to take the form of contributions to the Garrett County Hospice program.

MRS. CLYDE FRANTZ

Mrs. Bessie Ellen Frantz, 81, of Friendsville, died Wednesday, November 27, at Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home in Oakland.

Born in Friendsville May 13, 1904, she was a daughter of the late William Biggs and Bertha (Dye) Biggs. Her husbnad, Clyde Frantz, preceded her in death.

Mrs. Frantz was a member of the Rush Baptist Church and the Friendsville Homemakers Club.

She is survived by one son, Charles Frantz, Friendsville; two daughters, Mrs. Lorraine Kidd and Mrs. Ganelle Wilson, both of Baltimore; one sister, Mrs. Betty Monz, Johnstown, Pa.; three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A service was conducted at the Rush Baptist Church Saturday by the Rev. Ray Perkins. Interment was in Asher Glade Cemetery, Friendsville.

The Newman Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

LESTER E. STEYER

Lester Eugene Steyer, 75, of Deer Park, died Sunday, December 1, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born in Ryan's Glade November 1, 1910, Mr. Steyer was a farmer and coal miner for many years. He retired in 1973 after working for Browning's Foodland Inc. for 10 years. He was a member of the Loch Lynn Evangelical Free Church.

Survivors include his wife, the former Opal Hardesty; two sons, Garland E. Steyer, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Kenneth L. Steyer, Deer Park; one half-brother, Willis Glotfelty, Mountain Lake Park; two half-sisters, Mrs. Janet E. Tichnell and Mrs. Mary Ellen Rodeheaver, both of Deer Park, and three grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home in Oakland, where a service was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Russell Hamilton. Interment was in Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

The family suggests that memorials take the form of donations to either the American Heart Association or the American Lung Association.

OTIS P. COOPER

Otis P. Cooper, 80, of Oakland, died Thursday, November 28, at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

Born April 2, 1905, in Elk Garden, W.Va., he was the son of the late Minor M. Cooper and Mary F. (Spiker) Cooper.

Mr. Cooper retired in 1966 after 49 years as a trackman with the Western Maryland Railroad. He was a member of Calvary Baptist Church in Elkins, W.Va., and the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Juanita C. (Brooks) Cooper; one daughter, Mrs. Glenora L. Yost, of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Letha Powelson, Ridgeley, W.Va.; Mrs. Gladys Peck, Cumberland; two granddaughters and two great-granddaughters.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Sunday by Pastor John Schrimshire. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

MRS. THOMAS WRIGHT

Mrs. Lillian H. Wright, 81, of Keyser, W.Va., died Thursday, November 28, at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

Born May 26, 1904, in Kitzmiller, she was the daughter of the late Charles Edward Harrison and Bertie (Rafter) Harrison. Her husband, Thomas Wright, also preceded her in death.

Mrs. Wright was a retired teacher in the Mineral County school system. She was a member of Burlington Union Church in Burlington.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews.

Friends were received at the Markwood-McKenzie Funeral Home, where a service was conducted by the Rev. Ron Bowyer and the Rev. David R. Peters. Interment was in Queen's Point Cemetery.

The family asks that memorials take the form of donations to Burlington Union Church.

ARTHUR YUTZY

Arthur (Creel) Yutzy, 68, of Baltimore, formerly of Petersburg, W.Va., died Wednesday, November 27, at Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore.

Born December 24, 1916, in Oakland, he was a son of the late Arthur Yutzy and Nora (Mosser) Yutzy.

Mr. Yutzy was a member of Loch Raven Baptist Church and was a Navy veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mila (Bergdoll) Yutzy; one daughter, Mrs. Jackie Salmmon, of New York; one brother, Wayne Yutzy, York, Pa.; and two grandchildren.

A service was conducted Saturday in the chapel of the Johnson Funeral Home by the Rev. James Wosham, with interment in Dulaney Valley Memorial Gardens, Baltimore.

MRS. JACK HOLLER

Mrs. Margaret A. Holler, 63, of Boynton, Pa., died Thursday, November 28, at Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Born February 2, 1922, in Elk Lick Township, Pa., she was a daughter of the late Irvin Kemp and Lulu (Durst) Kemp.

Mrs. Holler was a member of the Boynton Church of God.

She is survived by her husband, Jack R. Holler; one son, Terry J. Friends were received at Nalley's Funeral Home, Mount Rainier. A Mass of Christian burial was celebrated Tuesday at St. Ann's Church, Avilton, with interment in the parish cemetery.

The George-Upchurch Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

MRS. JOHN T. BOLLY

Mrs. Helen P. Bolly, 57, of Keyser, W.Va., died Tuesday, November 26, at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Born in Piedmont, W.Va. December 18, 1927, she was a daughter of the late Louie T. Schoppert Sr. and Gertrude Marie (Coleman) Schoppert.

Mrs. Bolly was employed as an electronic assembler for Westinghouse in Baltimore.

Surviving are her husband, John T. Bolly; two sons, John S. Bolly, Millersville; and Louie M. Bolly, Ferndale; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia A. Daniel, Keyser; two brothers, Louie T. Schoppert Jr. and Harry N. Schoppert, both Piedmont; a sister, Mrs. Betty M. Schell, Oakland; and eight grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Fredlock Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Saturday by the Rev. William Davis. Interment was in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Construction And Retail Activity On The Increase

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says retail sales and use tax revenue totaled $98,495,289 for October, 1985, a seven percent increase over the $92,098,190 collected for the same month a year ago. "These revenues are based on taxable retail sales during September and indicate that both Maryland's retail sales and construction activity in the state are stronger than in most other parts of the nation," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that for the first three months of fiscal year 1986, retail sales and use tax revenue totals $289,777,041, up 8.4% over the $267,433,212 collected during the same period of the previous fiscal year.

"For the three-month period of the current fiscal year, every major category of sales tax collections shows a significant increase over the same period of the previous year," Goldstein said. "While taxable food and beverage have produced the largest amount of revenue, $59.9 million, the construction-related categories of collections continue to be the most rapidly growing, indicating the pace of construction activity in Maryland."

The building and contractors category produced $46.9 million for the three-month period, up 12.7% over the same time last year, while furniture, fixtures and appliances brought in $39.9 million, a 12.3% increase.

NOTICE

The town of Oakland is cooperating with the Downtown Oakland Merchants Association to provide free parking at all metered spaces in the town from November 29, 1985 to December 24, 1985.

The officials hope the offer of free parking will not be abused by employers and employees in town, and warn that the parking areas will be policed to make sure that the same car does not tie up a parking space for an inordinate amount of time.

Garrett Memorial Awarded Maximum Accreditation

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been awarded a Certificate of Accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH). JCAH accreditation is evidence of Garrett County Memorial's efforts to provide quality health care, with Garrett receiving the maximum accreditation of three years.

When asked for his comments regarding the hospital's accreditation, Administrator Larry M. Beck expressed his appreciation to the hospital employees, medical staff and board of governors "for their efforts in maintaining the high quality of medical care as evidenced by the recently granted three-year accreditation."

Beck said that the benefits of accreditation include:

- A demonstration of GCMH's commitment to quality patient care.
- Assistance to GCMH in its efforts to improve the quality of patient care and the provision of a procedure to organize and improve management systems.
- Provides GCMH with an on-site evaluation based on realistic, nationally-recognized standards.
- JCAH staff and surveyors provide GCMH's staff with individualized consultation and education to help in self-improvement efforts.
- JCAH standards include a quality assurance process motivates staff to improve services and care.

To become accredited, Garrett County Memorial Hospital voluntarily requested an on-site evaluation by JCAH surveyors who applied standards designed to further the objectives of quality patient care and the safety of the environment in which that care is provided. These national standards represent a concensus among health care professionals and are periodically updated to reflect changes in health care delivery.

The JCAH survey team consists of health care professionals trained to evaluate the hospital's efforts to provide quality care. The surveyors also consult with the professional and administrative staffs to help them in their efforts to continually improve patient care.

JCAH is a private, not-for-profit organization created by and composed of health care professionals. It is governed by a board of commissioners whose members are appointed by the American College of surgeons, American College of Physicians, American Dental Association, American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association. A public member is appointed by the Board of Commissioners to represent consumer concerns.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has served the health care needs of Garrett County and the surrounding West Virginia communities since 1950. Inpatient services include: two medical/surgical nursing units, a cardiac-intensive care unit, pediatric unit, obstetrical unit, and surgical suite. The emergency department provides 24-hour emergency care and treatment. Ancillary services include: cardiac treatment, dietary counseling, EEG testing, EKG testing, IV therapy, IPG testing, OPG testing, ultrasound, laboratory, nuclear medicine testing, pharmacy, physcial therapy, radiology testing including invasive and non-invasive vascular lab, respiratory care, social work services, and in the near future, mammography testing. Community service programs include the Positive Parenting Program, Pacemaker Clinic, Blood Pressure Screening Program, Community Willness Programs, Children's Hospital and Surgery Orientation Programs, Chaplaincy Program, Volunteer Program, and Mobile Medical Transport Services.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, will have a regular communication on Tuesday, December 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, 3 South Wilson St. On the agenda is the election of officers for 1986 and a Fellowcraft Degree. Worshipful Master Tommy J. Ritchey invites all Master Masons to attend.

Md. Public School Students Score High On Placement Tests

Advanced placement test scores of Maryland public school students are consistently above national means, according to a report released recently by the College Board, Princeton, N.J.

On a scale of one to five, the mean scores for all tests in the series were: nationwide, 3.06; Maryland public schools, 3.13; and national public schools, 3.02.

David W. Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools, said the results confirm other evidence of superior performance by Maryland public school students. He said, "This time we took on all comers, both the overall national group, which includes private schools, and the public schools standing alone, and we outscored them both."

Hornbeck said the continued improvement over the past five years "demonstrates the value of reforms undertaken in the late seventies and the determination of educators, parents, and students to turn around a decade-long decline in student performance."

Maryland students scored higher than the national mean in most subjects, including American History, biology, chemistry, English, European History, French, German, Latin, and physics. They scored below the national mean in only three of the major categories: computer science, mathematics, and Spanish.

The tests were administered to those students who wish to get college level credit for courses taken in high school. A total of 4,251 public school students took 6,071 of the advanced placement tests.

Among in-state colleges, the University of Maryland, College Park, was first, followed by UMBC, Loyola College, Johns Hopkins, and Towson State.

Out-of-state colleges receiving the greatest number of advanced placement grades were Virginia Polytechnic Institute, University of Virginia, Duke, Cornell, and Harvard.

Voters League Slates Social

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will have a wine and cheese social this Saturday, December 7 at 7:30 p.m. It will be held at the home of Connie Margison, 113 South 8th St., Oakland, which is located one block north of Oak St. (Route 135).

The local elected officials have been invited to join league members and their guests to share greetings and welcome in the holiday season. All who are interested in league activities are invited to attend.

Sen. Bambacus Addresses BPW On Pay Equity

Saying, "I feel whatever anybody does is important," Senator John N. Bambacus outlined his feelings on the issue of pay equity for members of the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club and their guests, November 14, at Will O' the Wisp.

The Senator asked, "How do you determine comparable worth for salaries between a secretary, truck driver, golf pro or a lawyer,?" and proved he had done his homework on the issue with his introduction which cited the 1964 Civil Rights Act which requires that work be rewarded equally.

Sen. Bambacus pointed out that nothing presently requires states to remedy inequalities brought about by free market wage practices and said he does not feel government should legislate wages. Noting that a state report on the issue is expected to be controversial and spark much debate, the senator went on to say that Maryland women are paid above the average, earning about 78 cents for every dollar men earn, and that very few pay equity cases have been filed in this state in either the private or public business sector.

Guests for the evening included Connie Margison of the League of Women Voters and new members, Sara Jane Kuhn and Linda Kitzmiller.

The club members were invited to attend a Christmas open house on December 8, at the home of club president, Phyllis Buckel, who resides in Bittinger. The next meeting will feature the chosing of a Young Careerist working woman to represent the club at state competition next May. Kathy Zimmerman is chairman of that committee.

The next meeting is scheduled for December 12, at Will O' the Wisp, beginning with dinner at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made with Joyce Winters by December 9, and those present are asked to bring pantry items which will be donated to the House of Hope.

Committee chairman for the legislative meeting was Pat White and her committee, Barbara Flinn, Bea Crosco, Cosette White Harman and Debbie Frantz.

4-H Club News

Yough Valley Indians
by William Nedrow, reporter

The special meeting of the Yough Valley Indians was called to order on November 18 by Becky Meyers, acting president. Roll call was answered by six members and five leaders.

Under old business, Becky Meyers, activity leader, informed the club about going bowling on November 23 at North Garrett Lanes in Grantsville. She explained the cost, time, and transportation.

The 4-H banquet was discussed. Pat Bowser volunteered to bring the turkey, Jack Teats to bring one ham, and George VanSickle would bring the other ham for the banquet. The club also decided to invite Ted Sprangel and Alice Heyner from the Extension Office to the banquet.

The next meeting was set for November 25.

The November 25th meeting of the Yough Valley Indians was called to order by Becky Meyers, acting president. The treasurer's report was given by Jeff Lowdermilk and Regina VanSickle, acting secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Under old business, we discussed more about our 4-H banquet. The club decided to change the date of the banquet from December 21 to December 15 at 2 p.m.

We talked about having the installation of our new officers for 1986 at the banquet. The club decided to set our next meeting to work on our record books.

Demonstrations were given by Becky Meyers on Car & Highway, Tammy Wakefield on How to Clip Your Cat's Nails, and Jeff Lowdermilk on his compound bow.

The next meeting will be December 9, at 7:30 p.m. Members are reminded to bring their record books.

Country Kids 4-H Club
by Amy Caldwell, reporter

The November meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was opened with pledges and reports. It was announced that baby beef ticket sales were good this year and that the club had the highest sales in the county.

Members discussed the recent picnic held at Swallow Falls. Rebecca DeBerry reported on the Garrett County Fair Stockholders Dinner, which she attended as a club representative.

Enrollment forms were passed out to members for the 1986 year. Announcements were read from the Party Line.

A dicussion followed on what the club could do to help victims of the recent flood. The club decided to meet at 10 a.m. on December 7 at the Deer Park Community Building to make Christmas decorations to be given to those flood victims. Members are to bring a bag lunch to the work meeting, which will last most of the day.

The members are also collecting toys and unused Christmas decorations for the flood victims. In place of a gift-exchange this year, each member should buy one pair of socks and a bag of candy which will be donated along with the toys and decorations. All of these items should be brought to the December 7 work meeting.

A Christmas party was planned for December 17, with those members taking the Teens Entertain project planning the refreshments.

Demonstrations were given by Tim Kepple and Mike Weeks. Tim told how to fill out a record book and Mike showed how to play video games.

Members will be contacted about final plans for the Christmas party.

Production Of Timber Increased Under Program

"Tree planting and tree stand improvement are two of the major practices offered under the Forestry Incentives Program (FIP)," according to Olin S. Davis Jr., chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Tree planting is intended to increase the production of timber and improve the environment. Tree stand improvement is aimed at increasing tree growth and quality on sites suitable for production of sawtimber and veneer logs.

The 12-year old program encourages private non-industrial landowners to raise marketable timber on their land and shares up to 65 percent of the cost of forestry practices with them. Davis said landowners must complete their approved projects in a timely manner. "Work is completed on most site preparation and planting cases within 12 months, while timber stand improvement projects are usually completed in less time," he said.

Because the Forestry Incentives Program emphasizes cost-effective timber production, Davis said participation is limited to land capable of producing more than 50 cubic feet of commercial timber per acre annually. The program offers agreements in designated counties where landowners can plan tree planting and timber stand improvements measures for up to 10 years. To be eligible, farmers must own at least 10, but not more than 1,000 acres of forest land.

"Trees will help reduce soil erosion, improve natural resources, increase timber production and increase the value of the land," the ASCS official said.

In fiscal year 1984, 4,868 U.S. landowners signed FIP agreements to increase timber production on 165,640 acres of forest land.

Traffic Mishaps Claim 12 Lives

Law enforcement agencies throughout the state of Maryland reported 12 motor vehicle traffic fatalities during the week ending December 1. Of these fatalities, six were drivers, five were passengers, and one was a pedestrian. Preliminary investigation of these accidents revealed that alcohol was a contributing factor in three deaths, speed in seven and driver error in 11.

Maryland fatalitites through December 1 total 676, compared to 591 during the same period last year.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The annual Christmas Festival will take place December 7 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Sponsored by the Aurora Extension Homemakers, the event is an offering of homemade gifts, decorations and baked goods. Santa will visit from noon until 2 p.m. and there will be gifts for the children. Food will be available all day.

A Youth Retreat is being planned by the Aurora United Methodist youth and their advisors, Nancy Feather and Julie Adams, for December 13-14. All youth in the area are welcome to attend and may contact the advisors or a member of the group for further information.

William W. Roth of Horse Shoe Run, is a surgical patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Gerald Parks of Eglon remains a patient in West Virginia University Medical Center. He has been visited there by his daughters, Doris Crawford of Virginia and Susie Warner of Salem.

Mrs. Lucile Arnold of Eglon, also remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Eglon Extension Homemakers met Sunday, December 1, at the Maple Spring Church for a Christmas dinner with their families. Following the dinner, there was a business session, during which plans were made for a Tuesday meeting to serve the Mt. Lion's Club on Thursday. Crafts for the whole family concluded the day's activities. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Teets, Nathan and Nicole, Mr. and Mrs. John Teets, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets, Lectie Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Remboid, Shawn and Craig; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hartsell, Carroll Joe and Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, Mrs. Linda Lewis, Julie and Emily, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons.

Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Winters in Eglon were her brother and wife, Delbert and Madeline Sims of Warren, Ohio. On Sunday, their children and families were all present for dinner. They include: Neil and Bonnie Winters, Kevin and Kim, Kims friend; Lisa and Dana Bittinger, Larry and Rhonda Channell, Christopher and Ryan, all of Hutton; David and Lois Layman, Jim and Aaron of Eglon.

Thanksgiving Day guests of Mrs. Olive Beckman were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Arnold, Barry and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Bachtel and Zachary, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Buckley; Tammy, John and Bob, Dover, Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hauser, Wade Dale, Joe and Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rembold, Shawn and Craig; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roth, Chris and Jason, Mr. and Mrs. Don Beckman, Brian, Diane and guests; Walter Griffitts and Ellie Dunson.

Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fike and Mrs. Maye Arnett of Eglon, went Sunday to Farmington, Pa., where the Church of the Brethren, pastored by the Fike's son, Melvin Fike, was presented a live Nativity.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Michael Fike and Shannon of Aurora, were Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Fike's parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Heatwole, in Waynesboro, Va. They returned to their home Saturday.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Wilda Wilt at Aurora, were Beverly and Randy Whetstone of Petersburg, Danny and Martha Pling and Rachel of Parsons; Tom and Kathy Barr, Jeff and Jennifer of Limestone, and Selby Adams of Limestone; Arthur and Janice Forman and Lora of Amboy, Mildred Wilt, Olive Beckman, and Ruth Snyder. Her son, Steven, had recently visited at home and has returned to his employment in Texas.

Mrs. Virginia Beckman of Aurora and her son, Dana Beckman, of Eglon, were Thanksgiving holiday guests of her daughter, Wanda Byrnes and children at Nokesville, Va. Upon their return on Saturday, Dana found that his pickup had been taken from its parking place beside his home. The larceny is being investigated.

Mrs. Ruth Maxey and her daughter, Karen, Clinton, Md., were holiday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teets and brother, Curt, at Eglon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shaffer of Baltimore and their granddaughter, Fern Shaffer, Deer Park, were Saturday visitors of the Armand Heckerts in Eglon. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lipscomb of Eglon, visited them.

Sgt. Richard Gatto recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gatto, in Aurora, before returning to his military base at Hamburg, Germany. On Saturday his brothers and sister and families were guests there also, including Randall and Carolyn Gatto, Brian, Adrian and Rachel of Eglon; Bill and June Shahan, Stephen, Kim and Chris of Points, W.Va.; Roger and Brenda Gatto, Keyser; Bob and Margaret Gatto, Aurora, and Bob's friend, Joe Arnold of Petersburg.

Forty-five members of the Wade Hauser family and guests attended the family Thanksgiving dinner Thursday at the Aurora Community Building.

Bonnie and Charles Douglas of Ashland, Ky., and their son, Charles Lee Douglas, his wife and son of Russell, Ky., were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hauser, Stemple Ridge.

Mrs. Wickey Myers reports that 117 deer were checked in at the K&W Service, Aurora, last week. This count is down considerably from last year.

Ernestine Sisler of Amboy, observed her 80th birthday on November 30 with many cards and an evening dinner for her children, Scott Sisler, Linda Terrant, Phyllis Vandevender and their families. On Sunday evening, December 1, an open house was held in her honor at the St. Paul's Lutheran Parish Hall which was attended by many families and friends. As a teacher of many years experience in this district, she was

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

Brotherhood To Meet

The Brotherhood of three Methodist Churches, Selbysport, Friendsville, and Blooming Rose, will meet on Tuesday, December 10, at 6:30 p.m., at the latter church, with the U.M.W. of the Blooming Rose church serving the dinner. The U.M.W. members will meet after the dinner for a short business session and a gift exchange to reveal secret sisters and draw new names.

U.M.W. To Meet

The Selbysport U.M.W. will meet on Thursday, December 12, at 6 p.m., at the church for a meeting and Christmas party. Secret sisters will be revealed with gifts and new names will be drawn.

Cantata

The cantata "Promise of Peace" by Joseph Lenin, will be presented Sunday, December 15, at 11 a.m. worship service at the Friendsville United Methodist Church by the adult choir. The cantata consists of 18 songs, both old and new, divided into three sections: "Rejoice At His Coming", "Worship Him As Lord" and "Exalt Him As King."

The youth will present "A Certain Small Shepherd", a musical drama on Sunday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

U.M.W. Meet

The Friendsville United Methodist Women met Sunday evening at the church for their annual Christmas party. President Nancy Thomas opened the meeting with a prayer, and Michele Ahlfeld had the program on Christmas with all participating in singing Christmas carols, with Lucile Sines at the piano. Secret sisters were revealed with gifts and new names were drawn. The new officers are president, Winnie Parsons; vice president, Cathy Williams; secretary, Julia Sines; and treasurer, Helen Holliday. They will assume office at the next meeting in March.

Wagner Speaks

Due to the pastor's absence, Oliver Wagner, of Rush Baptist Church, spoke at the morning worship service. The youth of the church met Sunday, December 1, at 3 p.m., at the church to practice for a Christmas program. They will practice again on Sunday, December 8, at 6:30 p.m.

Holy Communion & Service

The worship service with Holy Communion will be held on the second Sunday of Advent, December 8, at Grace Lutheran Church at 9:45 a.m. Sunday School is at 11 a.m.

Baptism

On Sunday, December 1, at Grace Lutheran Church, Joshua David Livengood and Jamie Marie Livengood, Denise Marie Stanton and Sarah Lee Stanton, Shawn Eric Sines and William Everett Sines received the sacrament of Holy Baptism at the morning worship service.

Registration

Registration to be eligible to vote in the town election in February will be held Tuesday, December 10, from 5 to 7 p.m., at the Municipal Building. This registration is for those who have not previously registered. Persons must be a resident of Maryland for one year, a resident of Friendsville for six months, and be 18 years of age or older.

Homemakers To Meet

Homemaker Club members will meet on Tuesday, December 10, at 1:30 p.m., at the Old Mill Grill for a Christmas meeting and party. Each one is asked to bring a covered dish and a $5.00 gift for exchange.

W. O. W.

Mrs. Louella Hinebaugh will be hostess to members of W.O.W. Grove 6043 at her home on Wednesday, December 11, at 6:30 p.m. The lodge will furnish the ham and each member is to bring a covered dish and a gift for exchange.

Rangerettes To Meet

Rangerette Unit 135 of Woodmen of the World will meet on Saturday, December 7, at 11 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Donna Fisher, for a Christmas party and gift exchange. Refreshments will be served.

Movies

Movies lasting approximately one hour will be shown at the library on Friday, December 6, at 6:30 p.m.

Keeler Glade Program

The Christmas program at the Keeler Glade Church of God will be December 15, at 7 p.m. There will be a play presented, called "Why Christmas" and recitations and songs by the children. Pastor Mark Lawson invites the public to attend.

The youth group and other congregation members will be going Chirstmas caroling on December 21. They will be distributing fruit baskets in Friendsville and surrounding areas.

Rotary News

Due to snow and slick roads, there was no program last week, so the members could start home early.

Ross Selby, Jr., a member of the Annapolis Rotary Club, and Clifford VanSickle from Friendsville were guests.

Next week will be a business meeting to elect new officers and make plans for the new Rotary year.

Tuition Money Available For Laid-Off Workers

Garrett Community College has announced the continued availability of funds for tuition reimbursement under the Dislocated Worker Program. Monies are available to eligible participants to cover tuition, fees, books and supplies for vocational credit and non-credit courses for the 1986 Spring Semester, according to a GCC spokesman.

The Dislocated Worker Program is designed to re-train individuals who have lost their jobs due to plant closures, lay offs or cutbacks. Upon completion of training, clients are assisted in job development and placement efforts. Along with regularly scheduled courses, additional courses specifically designed for the dislocated worker will be offered throughout the semester as the need arises. Courses already planned for the Spring Semester include: Electrical House Wiring, A combined Electrical Wiring and Plumbing class, Waiter/-Waitress training, and Retail Sales Training.

Eligibility for the program is determined by the Western Maryland Consortium and is based on employment status. Those receiving unemployment or who have been out of work for a period longer than 15 weeks and will not be able to return to their previous occupation have a good possibility of becoming eligible. Although considered, income level is not a deciding factor for the program.

Interested persons should contact the Consortium for an intake interview by calling 334-8445. For additional information about the program, persons may contact Bonnie Swyter, Coordinator of Special Programs, GCC Continuing Education Office, 334-8266.

"BATTLE OF THE BULGE" — The battle of the bulging waistline was observed by members of C Company 121st Engineer Battalion as they observed Thanskgiving with a dinner at the Oakland Armory last week. SP4 Quintin Guthrie and his daughter, Trista Dawn, and wife, Tana, seem to be enjoying the turkey and all the trimmings prepared by SFC Joe Mechem and his staff. More seasonal meals are being planned by the unit.

FRIENDSVILLE

and son, Mitchell, and his son, James, Painesville, were holiday weekend guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Thelda Frazee, and family. Visitors were Mrs. Lisa Hetzel, Grantsville; and Rev. Robert Brenneman, McHenry.

Miss Lucille Fike and Tony Balsamo, Pittsburgh, Pa., were holiday guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Lillian Bates. Other guests for dinner on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Selby, here, and son, Ross Jr., Davidsonville; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rush, Hobart, Ind.

Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Livengood were their son, Phillip, and daughter, Heather, Palm Harbor, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. David Livengood, Joshua and Jamie, Hoyes; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Livengood and sons, Eric and Daniel. The dinner and cake honored the birthday of Phillip Livengood. Phillip and Heather left Friday morning for their home at Palm Harbor, after a two-week vacation here with his parents and relatives.

Dinner guests on Thanksgiving of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Friend were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gribble and Gary Lee, Rockwood, Pa.; Miss Melinda Jo Gribble, Robert Morris College, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Frantz and Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Friend, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Friend and son, Denny, Mr. and Mrs. William Burow and Stephanie and Billy, all of Blooming Rose. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Friend and family.

Mrs. Marion Townscend, Brownsville, Pa.; Terry Friend, Cumberland; Sherry, Tonja and Shayne Couch were Thanksgiving holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Friend. Visitors were Doug Yencho and Steven Fike.

Genevieve Meyers, Shirley Friend and daughter, Rita, attended a baptism service Sunday evening at the Highland Baptist Church in Mountain Lake Park.

Barry Friend returned home to Norfolk, Va., after spending the Thanksgiving holidays here with his mother, Shirley Friend, and family.

Thanksgiving dinner guests of Delorice Friend were Mrs. Karolyn Dale and daughter, Tara, Silver Spring; M/Sgt. Wayne Friend and Candy, Langley Air Force Base, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Friend and family, Green Gables; Mrs. Donna Turney and son, Chris, Accident; Kim and Amber Dawn Friend, Friendsville; and Jim Friend and Marcy and girls, of Asher Glade. Mrs. Dale and daughter, and Wayne Friend and daughter remained here with their mother for the holiday weekend.

Rick Shoemaker, Annapolis; and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Shoemaker were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Spear and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Everson, Baltimore, are vacationing for several weeks at their home here. Thanksgiving dinner guests of the Eversons were David Coddington and family, of Wheaton; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Chick) Sanner, and Mrs. Annetta Grove. Weekend guests of the Eversons were Mr. and Mrs. Perry Muse, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Mark Frantz and Amanda, Blooming Rose, were Tuesday guests of her grandmother, Mrs. Doris Friend. Mrs. Friend visited on Wednesday afternoon with her aunt, Mrs. Mary Friend, near Blooming Rose.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Campbell and daughters spent the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives in Chattanooga, Tenn.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

The Grantsville Firemen and Auxiliary recently held a Christmas party for members and friends. There were approximately 75 persons present. Herman Yoder, president, welcomed the group. Menno Yoder gave the invocation for the carry-in dinner, which was organized by Mrs. Lulu Brown.

Herman Yoder gave a report on what the firemen had done in the past year. Mark Tice was named for Most Unrecognized Fireman, for his amount of work done; Noah Schrock was recognized for the Most Improved Fireman, and Raymond Yoder was named the Fireman of the Year.

Yoder then turned over the meeting to the auxiliary. Jenny Swauger gave the report and named the officers for the following year. They are Lulu Brown, president; Mary Broadwater, vice president; Shelby Diehl, secretary; Zola Patton, treasurer; Jenny Swauger, historian, and Hilda Sturtz, chaplain.

Mrs. Cleda Baker will be doing the bookings for the use of the fire hall. Persons may call her at 895-5586 for its use.

Mrs. Brown presented a gift of $5,000.00 and $1,490 for rent to Herman Yoder. The firemen expressed appreciation for the help of the auxiliary.

"The Old Timers" presented the group with music and singing, until Santa arrived with a bag of gifts for the children.

Each person was served a dish of homemade ice cream, made by the Yoders.

Seniors Honored

The senior citizens of the Maple Grove Church were all honored in the Sunday morning worship service and each one given a fruit basket.

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Miner are the parents of a daughter, born at Meyersdale Community Hospital. She has been named Karina Danielle and weighed seven pounds eight ounces. Mrs. Miner is the former Miss Nancy Bittinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bittinger are the maternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Reed Miner are the paternal grandparents. Mrs. Miner returned home on Friday, but Karina Danielle was transferred to Sacred Heart Hospital for ten days.

Personals

Mike Walker and son, John, of Gaithersburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Younkin on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Myers and children, Jennifer, Michael and Matthew, of Germantown, were Thanksgiving guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bender. Other Thanksgiving guests were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Yoder and son, Derek, and daughter, Bethany, and her son, Larry Bender.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and children, Johnny and Jill, of Greenwood, Del., were Thanksgiving guests of their mother, Mrs. Esther Durst, and other relatives. Mrs. Durst returned home with them for a visit.

Christian Women Club To Meet

The Oakland area Christian Women's Club will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, December 11, at the Will O' the Wisp. The luncheon meeting will begin at 11:30 a.m.

The special feature will be presented by the Free Christian Book Store of Oakland.

The speaker will be Vicki Marsh from LaVale.

A free nursery is provided at the Deep Creek Lake Baptist Church.

Reservations for the luncheon and nursery may be made by calling Brenda Thorn at 334-8506. The price of the luncheon is $5.50 Reservations must be honored.

There will be no meeting for the months of January and February.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

James N. Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Fox, Friendsville, has joined the United States Navy Delayed Entry Program and will begin recruit training at Great Lakes Naval Center near Chicago later this month.

Following basic training, he will attend Musician School at Norfolk, Va. Here, he will learn basic theories of music, and harmony, instrumental techniques and Navy Music Program practices. Navy musicians perform as members of marching, concert, stage, or dance bands and combos including jazz, rock, soul, pop, country/western, and bluegrass styles of music.

Fox is a 1981 graduate of Northern High School and 1985 graduate of Frostburg State College, where he majored in music.

Seaman Donald L. Wolf Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wolf Sr., of Route 2, Oakland, has graduated from basic training and is currently attending Cryptologic Technician School at Pensacola, Fla. where he is being instructed in typing, Morse code, security procedures and equipment.

Wolf joined the Delayed Entry Program in March, 1985, and began recruit training in August. He is a 1985 graduate of Garrett Community College with an Associate of Arts Degree in business, and a 1983 graduate of Southern High School.

Air Force Airman Scott W. Ramey, son of Douglas D. and Elizabeth M. Ramey, Rural Route 1, McHenry, has arrived for duty with the 3rd Law Enforcement Squadron, the Philippines.

Ramey, a law enforcement specialist, was previously assigned at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

He is a 1985 graduate of Francis Scott Key High School, Union Bridge.

Seaman David V. Tressler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George White, Route 1, Oakland, has completed recruit training at Great Lakes Naval Center near Chicago.

He is currently attending Electrical and Electronics School where he is receiving training in the basic concept of their theories. He then will attend Electronic Technician School to be trained in maintenance of radars, communication and navigation electronic equipment. Tressler will then attend Nuclear School at Orlando, Fla., for instruction in physics, chemistry, heat transfer and fluid flow, reactor principles, radiological controls, reactor plant technology and other subjects related to atomic energy. Following this schooling he will attend a nuclear prototype facility for hands-on-training operating a nuclear reactor.

Tressler will be assigned duty aboard an atomic-powered surface ship or submarine for an additional year of supervised instruction for qualification as a nuclear power plant operator/technician. Nuclear Power School is the most advance training that the U.S. Navy offers.

Tressler joined the Navy Delayed Entry Program in March and began active duty in June. He is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School.

COMPANY C AIDS KITZMILLER — Eight members of Company C 121st Engineer Battalion, Oakland, responded to the call of Kitzmiller Mayor Jim Barrick for assistance after the flood waters of the Potomac River destroyed some 1,100 feet of Main Street in the November 6 flood. By using two five-ton trucks to haul dirt from a strip job and front end loader the men were able to restore the road for temporary use. Company C also supplied water to the residents of the community. Pictured above are SP4 Steve Dilley and Sgt. Ronnie Miller during the repair operation.

State, County Unemployment Rates Increase

Maryland's estimated unemployment rate increased in October 1985 to 4.4 percent from 4.2 percent in September, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Employment and Training. The October rate was the lowest for an October since 1973.

In Garrett County the jobless rate jumped from 8.0 percent in September to 9.5 percent in October, primarily due to coal industry layoffs. The October rate was still below the 1984 October rate of 10.8 percent, however.

Between September and October, Maryland's civilian labor force increased by 12,122 persons, to total 2,291,549 as schools recalled employees for the fall semester and as holiday hiring got underway at retail stores. Employment increased by 7,330 persons for a total of 2,189,921. The number of unemployed persons increased slightly by 4,792 persons to total 101,628.

Over the year, the labor force increased by an estimated 25,099. Employment grew by 36,357 persons. Meanwhile, unemployment declined by 11,258 persons.

Of the State's total unemployed, an estimated 31.6 percent received unemployment insurance benefits in October.

Employment in education increased substantially in October as schools continued their fall hiring. Retail stores began hiring for the holiday season. Other hiring was noted in printing and publishing, health services and local government. Meanwhile, summer workers continued to be laid off in federal government, eating and drinking places, hotels and lodging places, and amusement and recreation services. Other layoffs were noted in electric and electronic equipment and in apparel and textile manufacturing.

The national unemployment rate, unlike Maryland's, decreased in October to 6.8 percent from 6.9 percent in September. In September, only seven states had lower unemployment rates than Maryland. They included New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maine, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont and North Carolina.

Unemployment among black persons, nationally, was down from the 15.1 percent recorded in September to 14.7 percent in October. In Maryland, the unemployment rate among black persons, reported annually, was 9.3 percent in 1984.

In the Baltimore metropolitan area, the unemployment rate increased from 5.1 percent in September to 5.4 percent in October. Baltimore City's unemployment rate rose from 6.7 percent to 7.1 percent.

Unemployment in Maryland's suburbs of the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area increased from 2.7 percent in September to 2.8 percent in October.

Western Maryland's unemployment rate increased from 6.8 percent to 7.7 percent. In the balance of state, the unemployment rate increased from 5.2 percent to 5.6 percent.

Statewide, during October, Maryland's unemployment rates ranged from 2.3 percent in Frederick and Charles counties to 11.6 percent in Somerset County.

State Offering Sediment Control Training Classes

The Water Resources Administration is continuing its efforts to help curb sediment pollution from developing sites by offering to construction industry personnel the "Erosion and Sediment Control, Responsible Personnel Certification Program."

The seminars are being scheduled from December 10 through December 18. All classes will be held between 8 a.m. and noon, except Charles County which will begin at 8:30 a.m. One class will be held December 12 at the Department of Natural Resources, Cumberland Regional Service Center, Naves Crossroads, Cumberland.

Those interested in attending need not pre-register. Opportunity for registration and certification will be completed during the course.

The State Sediment Control Law Section 8-1103 requires owners and developers to have the person responsible for on-site grading and construction certified in erosion and sediment control. Attendance at one of the above seminars will satisfy the training requirements for the certification of the responsible personnel.

This program has been offered to construction industry personnel for the last several years. Those who have previously attended the program and have received a State Certification Card need not attend.

NO HUNTING OR TRESPASSING

All persons are hereby warned not to enter upon, cross over, or in any manner trespass on the property owned by Sky Valley Associates, on Rt. 2 in Swanton Md.

Violators will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

NHS Student Activities Committee Members Named

Playing an important role as part of the Northern High School Student Council are the members of the Student Activities Committee. The goal of the committee is to raise school spirit. It is responsible for the annual Bon Fire and the Student of the Month program. They are now preparing for a Christmas Dance, slated for tomorrow evening, December 6.

Sherri Frantz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Frantz, Friendsville, is a senior student council representative, a member of the girls volleyball team, and the girls varsity club. She served as chairman of the Bon Fire committee and is currently the chairman of the Senior Activities committee. She is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Addison, Pa. After graduation she plans to pursue a degree in accounting or pre-law.

Julie Stevens, a junior, is the daughter of Joe and Becky Stevens, Grantsville. She is a student council representative, a volleyball team statistician, and secretary/treasurer of the Junior Bowling League. She also served on the Bon Fire committee and is currently serving on the Junior Class Activities committee. She attends Welsh Memorial Baptist Church and plans to major in medical technology in college.

Sheli Bittinger, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mike and Linda Bittinger, Grantsville. She is captain of the jayvee cheerleading squad, a member of the cheerleading club, and serves as a student council alternate. She is a member of the Bittinger 4-H Club and Christ Lutheran Church. She plans to attend college following her high school graduation.

Philip Rodeheaver, son of Dale and Wilma Rodeheaver, Accident, is a sophomore. Last year he served as vice president of the S.A.D.D. Club, was a member of the freshman basketball team and a member of the boys tennis team. He attends the United Pentecostal Church. He plans to attend college.

Jennifer Dailey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Dailey, McHenry, is a junior. She is a member of the volleyball team and girls varsity club. She attends St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland. She plans to study bio-chemistry in college.

well known by many of the residents.

Ron and Jana Freeman and daughter, Skylar, of Martinsburg, were holiday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sisler, in Aurora, and also home last week for the Thanksgiving holidays were Cara and Shauna Sisler, students at Potomac State College.

John and Rebecca Teets of Eglon, visited in Greenwood, Del., on the November 24 weekend with his aunt, Mrs. Josie Selder, her daughter, Daisy Melvin, and her grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Melvin, in whose home they have an apartment. They also visited with other friends and relatives in that area and enroute home stopped in Easton, Md., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Vester Fike and Elva Bland.

Marc and Teri Walchman of Columbia, S.C., and Toni Johnson, student at West Virginia University, were holiday visitors with their mother, Mrs. Retha Johnson, Jim and Annie, at Horse Shoe Run.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Teets of Eglon, spent the Thanksgiving holiday in Salem, Va., with their son-in-law and daughter, Don and "Bitsy" Shepherd and family. Their son and daughter-in-law, Scott and Sharon Teets of Knoxville, Tenn., visited there also as Mrs. Teets will be leaving for a period of exchange teaching in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Layman of Aurora, visited from Tuesday to Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Neva Kincaid, in Flatwoods, Ky.

Visitors last week with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Starr at their Stemple Ridge home were Harold and Eileen Harsh, Willis Harsh, Claud and Eldean Poling, Gloria Harsh, Robert Nicola, all of Aurora; Bruce Snyder, Terra Alta; Frank Blamble, Ohio; Dale, Richard and Lyle Harsh of Ohio; the Starr's son, Terry Starr and friend, Melissa, and their daughter, Virginia Lansberry and daughters, Jennifer and Diane Lansberry, and Candi Krites, Ed and Eddie Nicola, Charles, Hamp and Roy Mullins, all of Ohio; Larry Mullins of California; Linda Ayers and Dan Liston of Uniontown, Pa., and Roger, Pai and Jason Harsh of Parkersburg.

Most of the above named also visited with Harold and Eileen Harsh and Claude and Eldean Poling.

A covered dish dinner will be held at the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building on Sunday, December 7, at 12:30 p.m. for all of the members of the Aurora Methodist Charge. A Christmas cantata will be presented in the church at 2 p.m.

NHS Student Council Officers Outline Goals For School Year

The officers of the Student Council of Northern High School are working toward reaching a variety of goals for the 1985-86 school year.

One of the projects completed earlier this fall was the installation of the new school sign. The Student Council executive committee planned the dedication ceremony.

A project now underway is flood relief, whereby the council officers have asked students and school staff to donate food, grooming articles, and cleaning materials to be distributed to those in need in the flooded communities.

The March of Dimes, Southern Exchange Day, and Computer Dating are other projects the officers hope to complete by the end of the current school year.

Michele Glotfelty, daughter of Roy and Lucille Glotfelty, McHenry, is a senior at Northern and also vice president of the senior class. She is a member of the high school band and computer club, and recently reigned as Autumn Glory Queen. She attends McHenry United Methodist Church. Following graduation, she plans to attend a four-year university in Maryland and work toward a degree in secondary math/science education.

Shannon Wright, daughter of E. James and Barbara Wright, Frostburg, is secretary of the junior class. She is a member of the band and pep band and attends the First Congregational Church. Her interests include babysitting and working with animals. After high school she plans to pursue a degree in elementary education.

Melissa Bittinger, daughter of William and Patty Bittinger, Grantsville, is a senior and also serves as secretary of her class. She is the chairman of the Flood Relief Committee, is involved in the school chorus, school newspaper, computer club, and school play. She attends Spring Mennonite Church and is a member of the Oak Grove Youth Group. She plans to attend college next year and pursue a degree in elementary education.

Tammy Swauger, daughter of Joe and Marsha Swauger, Frostburg, is also the president of the junior class. She is a member of the girls volleyball team and the girls varsity club. She attends St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Grantsville, where she is president of the youth group. After graduation she plans to continue study to become a police officer or physical education teacher.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear son, Glenn D. Reese, who passed away one year ago on December 9, 1984.

Loving memories, your gentle face and patient smile, with sadness we recall you had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart, that loved us well and true. Ah bitter was the trail to part. From one so good and true.

You are not forgotten loved one. Nor will you ever be, as long as life and memory last. We will remember thee, we miss you now, our hearts are sore, as time goes by we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face, no one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by,

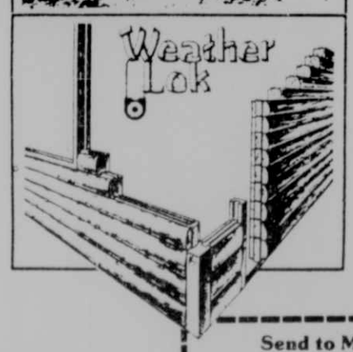
Dear log lover:
You've waited long enough; now is the time to let the natural warmth and beauty of wood become the surroundings of your life.

WHY NOW?
Because there has never been a better time to order your log home package. Mountaineer Log and Siding Co. offers you THREE TYPES OF PROTECTION.

1. PRICE PROTECTION
We will guarantee today's pricing for you for the Spring building season.

2. FREE EXTERIOR PROTECTION
At no additional cost, CWF exterior preservativ adds a clear wood finish to protect your new log home and keeps it looking fresh.



3. "WEATHER LOK" PROTECTION
Mountaineer's exclusive system increases wall strength and protects against air infiltration.

All three protections are available with just a 10% deposit. Make your arrangements now and take advantage of the Spring weather to build.

10% deposit and order placed by Dec. 31, 1985 required. Delivery to occur by April 15, 1986.

If you love the look and feeling that only wood can provide, let the Mountaineer Log & Siding Company make your lifetime dream a reality.

NOTICE

Notice of Surface Coal Mining Performance, Revegetation Bond Release.
Oakland Coal Company
P.O. Box 368
Mt. Lake Park, MD 21550
MINING NO. SM-84-377
No. of Acres Eligible for Release 12.3
DATE: October 10, 1985

The Maryland Surface Mining Reclamation Law requires a coal operator to notify adjoining property owners, local governmental bodies, sewage authorities and water companies prior to the release of bonds required by that law.

This company has 12.3 acres eligible for bond release, located on the Wayne M. Martin tract, in Garrett County in the Trout Run watershed.

The State of Maryland requires two bonds on each acre of surface mining permit:

(1) backfilling bonds (2) a revegetation bond. This notice is for REDUCTION IN REVEGETATION bond(s).

If you have any comments or if you wish to request a hearing on why these bonds should not be released, please write the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Your comments or request for a hearing should be submitted to the Bureau within 30 days of the date of this notice.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Mortgage Revenue Bond Policy Statement.

Notice is hereby given that the Community Development Administration of the State of Maryland (CDA), a division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, will conduct a public hearing at 10:00 a.m. on Tuesday, December 17, 1985, at the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, Main Conference Room, Room 258, 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, for the purpose of providing an opportunity for interested persons to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the report, regarding the housing, development and low-income housing assistance policies which CDA plans to follow in 1986 in issuing single family mortgage revenue bonds, for financing mortgage loans for homeownership, general rehabilitation and energy conservation.

This report is being prepared and the public hearing is being held as required by Section 103A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, regarding the issuance of mortgage revenue bonds and mortgage credit certificates. These federal requirements have been added in order to require issuers of taxexempt mortgage revenue bonds and mdortgage credit certificates to make greater efforts to assist lower income eligible households to receive loans before assisting higher income households. CDA has in the past made efforts to do this and also intends to expand and refine its programs to include new ways to provide homeownership opportunities for the lowest possible income eligible households.

All interested parties are invited to submit written comments and present oral comments at the public hearing regarding the issuance of mortgage revenue bonds and mortgage credit certificates. Written comments should be received by CDA on or before December 13, 1985. Any person desiring to present oral comments should notify CDA at 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, Attention: Stephen G. Leeper, Office of Policy and Governmental Relations on or before December 13, 1985. Oral comments will be limited to presentations of no more than ten minutes per person.

Residents may obtain draft copies of the proposed report prior to the hearing by contacting Stephen G. Leeper at the above address or by calling (301) 269-2176. The final report will be available for distribution 14 days after the public hearing and may be obtained by contacting Stephen G. Leeper.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE

Notice of Surface Coal Mining Performance, Revegetation Bond Release.
Oakland Coal Company
P.O. Box 368
Oakland, MD 21550
MINING PERMIT NO. SM-84-377
No. of Acres Eligible for Release 36.
DATE: October 10, 1985

The Maryland Surface Mining Reclamation Law requires a coal operator to notify adjoining property owners, local governmental bodies, sewage authorities and water companies prior to the release of bonds required by that law.

This company has 36 acres eligible for bond release, located on the Wayne M. Martin tract in Garrett County in the Trout Run watershed.

The State of Maryland requires two bonds on each acre of a surface mining permit:

(1) backfilling bonds (2) a revegetation bond. This notice is for the release of FINAL BACKFILLING bond(s).

If you have any comments or if you wish to request a hearing on why these bonds should not be released, please write the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. Your comments or request for a hearing should be submitted to the Bureau within 30 days of the date of this notice.

FRANK G. GOSS, ET UX
vs
FRANK BELL and the unknown heirs of Frank Bell
Defendants
NO. 8618 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 18th day of November, 1985, a Motion was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the State of Maryland and for Garrett County, Maryland, against the unknown Defendants.

The Motion alleges in substance, Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes, is holding the sum of TWO THOUSAND EIGHTEEN AND 88/100 DOLLARS ($2,018.88), representing the amount received from the tax sale of property owned by the late Frank Bell, that all reasonable efforts have been made to ascertain the heirs of the decedent, and believes Exhibit A filed therewith contains all heirs of the late Frank Bell; however, it is not known whether all heirs have been acertained and that the said sum will be distributed to the known heirs as listed on Exhibit A unless cause to the contrary be shown.

The relief prayed in the Petition is substantially as follows: That an Order of Publication be issued against all unknown heirs of Frank Bell, warning them the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall pass an Order distributing the aforesaid sum of $2,018.88 to the heirs as shown on Exhibit A, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

WHEREUPON, it is ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 18th day of November, 1985, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 13th day of December 1985, giving notice to the said Defendants of the objects and substance of the Petition and warning them to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 14th day of January, 1986, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

CHILDREN AND RECLINER CHAIRS DON'T MIX

Children and recliner chairs can be a lethal combination. The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and the American Furniture Manufacturers Association are issuing a national consumer ale about accidental death or injury to children playing unsupervised on recliner chairs. In the last five years the CPSC has investigated or received reports of three deaths and two serious brain injuries to children which were blamed on recliner chairs.

Usually, accident victims have been toddlers between the ages of 12 and 30 months. They were unsupervised by parents or care providers and were alone in a room with a recliner at the time of the accident. Apparently, the children were climbing or playing on the leg rest while the chair was in a reclined position. The youngsters were trapped when they put their heads in the opening between the chair seat and the leg rest—their own body weight forced the leg rest down.

If you have recliner chairs:

•Use precautions to prevent young children from playing on them.

•Do not leave children unattended in a room with a recliner chair.

•Do not leave the chair's leg rest in the raised position.

Report all accidents involving a child and a recliner chair to the CPSC through their toll-free hotline on 1-800-638-CPSC.

FOOD NOTES

Recently, in a holiday breads class taught by Opal Fazenbaker at the Extension Office, she shared the following recipe with the class participants. It's a nice bread to make for the holidays and it's easy to make.

CRANBERRY BREAD

¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1¼ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 cups Bisquick or Master Mix
¾ cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped cranberries (fresh or frozen, if frozen, do not thaw)

Mix sugar, egg, juice, rind and Bisquick. Beat about 30 seconds. (Batter may be lumpy). Stir in nuts and cranberries. Pour into well-greased loaf pan. Bake at 350°F. until done. Crack in top is typical. May be baked in round cans.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Gift Wrapping Tips" will be the title of a free class to be held on December 12 at 12 noon and again at 4 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland. All interested persons are invited to attend. To register, call 334-2145.

A class entitled "Microwaving for the Holidays" will be held at the Extension Office on December 16 at 12 noon and 7 p.m. The cost of the class will be $1.00. Everyone is invited. To pre-register, call 334-2145.

Openings Remain In Nurses Class

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College announces there are still openings in the Cancer Update for Nurses, to be held this Friday, December 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the McHenry campus of the college.

This course is designed to provide nurses with update training and current information in the field of oncology. Topics to be covered include: overview of cancer, chemotherapy, psychosocial aspects and resources. Upon completion of the course the student should be able to: discuss current development concerning cancer and its treatment; explain what's new in chemotherapy and discuss the safe handling of drugs; discuss the psychosocial aspects of the disease; and list and discuss different resources for the cancer patient.

The fee for the course is $15.00 for Garrett County residents; which includes lunch and handouts. Senior citizens will be charged $7.50. Out-of-county residents will be charged $16.50 and out-of-state residents will be charged $22.50. For registration information, persons should call the Continuing Education Division at 334-8266 today.

Friendsville Visit Of Bloodmobile Collects 18 Pints

A visit by the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Friendsville on Monday resulted in the collection of 18 pints of blood. A blast of winter weather was blamed by the organizers of the visit for the small turnout.

Six of the persons responding were first-time donors. One persons was deferred.

Assisting with the visit were: Kathy Swartzentruber and Angela Pitts, admissions; Rodney Bowser, temperatures and hemoglobins; Pauline Faucett, R.N., hemoglobins and histories; Esther Benedict, histories; Mary Teets, bag table; and Angela Pitts, Sherry King, and Crystal Thomas, all members of the Northern High School Health Careers Club, who served as walkers and canteen helpers. Sophie Benedict also worked in the canteen.

Named All-American

Loretta Bender, a student at Salisbury-Elk Lick High School, has been named an Academic All-American by the National Secondary Education Council.

The Council selects Academic scholars based upon their grade point average, which must be at least 3.3, and upon recommendations of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other sponsors. Miss Bender was nominated for the award by Thomas O'Brian, Spanish teacher.

Miss Bender is the daughter of Loren and Leona Bender.

Local Women To Attend Nursing School At ACC

Four local women were recently accepted to the Allegany Community College School of Nursing, Cumberland. They are: Norma Rodeheaver, Crellin; Susan Murray, Oakland; Cynthia Kutchman, Deer Park; and Sandra Brenneman, Accident.

Admission to the nursing program at ACC is based upon students' academic records. The four local women are currently enrolled in the two-year R.N. program.

BALLOON FINANCING

Balloon financing is not as mysterious as it may sound. It gets its name from the fact that a lump sum payment is due in the future (the "balloon" payment while smaller payments are due at the beginning of the payment period. This can allow a young couple, for example, to purchase a house now, so they can immediately take advantage of the benefits of home ownership. Their payments will be fairly low at the beginning. Later, after the couple has had an opportunity to "get ahead", they will be in a position to set up another financing plan, or to pay off the debt entirely from savings.

Here's an example: Suppose the couple needs to finance $50,000 for a new home. The payments are set up as if the loan were to be repaid over a 40-year period. At 10% interest (for example only) this would be $340 per month. At the end of ten years, however, the amount still due on the loan must be paid off. At that point, however, the couple should be able to afford a higher monthly payment and have no trouble securing new financing.

Commissioners Elect Gregg Board Chairman

Garrett County Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. was unanimously elected to serve as chairman of the board for the coming year during the regular working session of the commissioners on Tuesday.

Traditionally, the top vote getter of the three commissioners serves as chairman of the board during the first year of the four-year terms. Commissioner Gregg served the first year, while commissioners John Braskey and Elwood Groves served as chairman during the second and third years, respectively. This being the fourth year of this term, a new chairman was elected to serve.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners met with Dr. James Fearer, veterinary supervisor of the State's Animal Health Laboratory, adjacent to the Garrett County Animal Shelter.

The purpose of the meeting, according to the chairman, was to solicit comments and suggestions from Dr. Fearer about some of the state-county shared expenses by the laboratory and the shelter.

Currently, the county solely funds the Garrett County Animal Shelter.

Roads matters were also discussed Tuesday by the commissioners and roads administrator, Paul Shockey, along with Harold Smith and Terry Spear from the Oakland garage.

The commissioners said some residents from the Gorman area requested that the county take the initiative to remove debris from the Potomac River which they felt was part of the problem during the recent flooding in November.

Commissioner Gregg said the county officials had approached the Water Resources Administration concerning the feasibility of such an undertaking. He said Lee Thorne from Stormwater Management and Scott Boylan from WRA surveyed and assessed the situation in Gorman. WRA denied the permit under emergency status which ended December 6, but said they would consider such a project under the regular permitting process. He further stated that such a permitting process could take several months.

Commissioner Groves said that the commissioners and WRA did come to an agreement to do a watershed study of the Nydigger Run area which does affect the Gorman area during flood conditions.

In other roads matters, the commissioners met with a faction from the Tannery Road area Tuesday. Residents from that area near Hutton were complaining about the road conditions.

Commissioner Gregg pointed out that several years ago a judge ruled that the Tannery Road would no longer be a part

"DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD HAVE OTHERS DO UNTO YOU" — Following their convictions, these Garrett County farmers have been donating hay for shipment to the flood ravagaged counties of West Virginia for distribution to farmers there who lost their winter feed supplies and who, without help, may be forced to sell their stock. The hay above is being loaded at the Atlee Hershburger farm in Gortner, and was hauled to Romney Tuesday morning. Hershburger spearheaded the drive and is gathering donations for another load. Any area farmer who would like to donate hay may call Hershburger at 334-4191. The truck being loaded belongs to Edward Miller of Grantsville, who has donated its use free of charge.

SBA Approves Low Interest Disaster Loans

Word was received just before press time this morning that Garrett County was approved by the Small Business Administration for low interest loans for homes and businesses damaged in the November 5 flood.

It was reported that Garrett County would receive $230,000 in approved disaster recovery low interest loans.

The SBA loans are available to homeowners, businesses and renters whose uninsured personal property was destroyed. The limits are $100,000 in uninsured damage to structures and $20,000 to uninsured damage to the contents. Eligible businesses may borrow up to $500,000 for uninsured losses. The SBA can give up to 30 years to pay back the loans and depending upon the borrowers' financial situation, the interest rates will vary between four and eight percent.

Applications for individual loans may be filed until February 10, 1986. Applications for economic injury loans for businesses may be filed until September 11, 1986. The SBA will be setting up ofices in the affected areas to process applications.

Gov. Harry Hughes, who has been criticized lately by legislators and Maryland county officials for "dragging his feet" in surveying the flood damage, said of the SBA approval, "This should help offset some of our disappointment over the federal government's rejection of our application for broader disaster relief."

A total of seven Maryland counties will be receiving the approved SBA low interest loans.

Ms. Hamilton Wins Young Farmers Discussion Meet

Karen Hamilton, a freshman at the University of Maryland, was declared the winner of the Maryland Farm Bureau Young Farmers Discussion Meet held December 9 in Ocean City during the 70th annual Maryland Farm Bureau Convention.

Ms. Hamilton is the daughter of Brooks Hamilton, who farms near Red House.

As first prize, Karen will receive an all expense paid trip to Atlanta, Ga., in January to represent Maryland in the National Young Farmers Discussion Meet at the America Farm Bureau Federation's Convention.

Karen's stiff competition was two other young farmers, between the ages of 18 and 30. Second place was awarded to Barbara Fisher of Frederick County, and third place went to David Long of Somerset County.

Karen took part in the discussion meet (debate) Monday evening before the assembled convention delegates. The question drawn for the contestants to debate was, "With specialization as the norm in agriculture, what can Farm Bureau do to help diversified American agriculture speak as one voice?"

The topic involved discussion on how the many different farm factions across the United States can work together to achieve the best for agriculture as a whole, and speak to members of the U.S. Senate and House as one body, with one voice.

After evaluating the overall problem solving performance of the four finalists, the judges awarded Karen first place.

The National Discussion Meet in Georgia will see one con-

Nearly 50 Attend Second Public Hearing On School Redistricting

Some 50 residents attended the second public hearing conducted by the Garrett County Board of Education Monday night at Garrett Community College for the purpose of further discussing and outlining the proposals concerning the redistricting of county schools.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage explained the three proposals which will be voted on by the Board of Education this afternoon at the monthly meeting.

The following proposals were discussed:

1. Draw the attendance lines between Accident and Grantsville Schools so that Grantsville School would retain its present area by pulling all of Legeer Road, Beachy Road, Fox Town Road, Orendorf Road, Route 495 from Rock Lodge Road, Brenneman Road and the Frank Brenneman Road. Accident School would maintain its present area excluding any of the above areas.

2. Draw the attendance lines between Accident and Friendsville Schools so that the Milt DeWitt Road, Route 42 South to and including the Hubert Friend residence, the western half of Gap Run Road and the Sang Run Road between Bishoff and White Rock Road, and the Sang Run Road-Cranesville Road from the eastern edge of Garrett State Forest to the White Rock Road are included in the Friendsville School area.

3. Retain the present attendance districts for Broad Ford and Dennett Road Schools except that all of Mary Drive and any future side streets off of Mary Drive would be incorporated into the Dennett Road district.

During the opening presentations, Dr. Ryscavage explained that his office was given the charge by the state to look at overlapping attendance districts, especially in elementary schools.

First to speak was Al Coviello, director of pupil services for the Board of Education. He outlined present enrollment and projections for elementary schools in the county. He noted that the projections showed a 108% capacity utilization by the year 1993 in the Accident School and a 68.7% capacity level for Friendsville for the same year. That total included the pre-kindergarten program at Friendsville now in operation.

Grantsville showed a 74.3% capacity by 1993, while the Yoder School was projected to drop to 30% capacity.

He said he felt the projections justified the proposals for the recommended redistricting.

Next to speak was Dr. Charlene Evans-Thomas, who explained the proposals. She stressed the redistricting committee's reasoning for such a proposal, "In order to streamline the bus routes, provide a more economical transportation system, eliminate overlapping attendance districts and better utilize our schools' capacity, we offer these proposals."

Last on the redistricting committee to speak was Michael Sines, transportation director, who, with the help of visual aids showed those present how the school districts overlapped. He also spoke of possible bus routing if the proposals were approved and how they would affect the 17 students already enrolled in those overlapping schools.

Following the board's presentation, comments were taken from parents concerned that

Garrett County Denied FEMA Disaster Status

Garrett County, along with Allegany County and seven other Maryland subdivisions has been denied a major federal disaster declaration in connection with the November 6 flood by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Gov. Harry Hughes, who applied for the federal declaration and aid on November 13, one week after the flood, said he is still hopeful that those counties affected by the flood could get help from the Small Business Administration in the form of small interest loans.

U.S. Rep. Beverly Byron said Friday she was "extremely disappointed" that surrounding states had received the disaster declaration while Maryland did not.

Some state legislators and Maryland county officials contend that Gov. Hughes "drug his feet" in even applying for the declaration. Sen. John Bambacus said, "I personally invited the governor to view the disaster, especially in the Oldtown area in Allegany County . . . he said, 'I don't think so.' "

The senator was upset with the governor's apparent lack of interest in the flood-torn areas in his own state.

Some Relief Available

Meg Ellis from Garrett County Community Action stated again this week that some assistance is still available through that agency in the form of low-cost loans.

Those desiring assistance or information should contact Ellis at 334-9431.

Tim Taylor, county supervisor from the Farmer's Home Administration also reminded flood victims in the county that they may be eligible for low-cost loans.

Guidelines for the loans may be obtained at the FmHA office at the Garrett County Courthouse, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Garrett Choral Society Slates Holiday Concert

The Garrett Choral Society will present its annual "Sounds of Christmas" concert on Saturday, December 21, at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday, December 22, at 3 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Under the direction of Nancy Learey, 46 voices will join to perform a mixture of contemporary and traditional Christmas music, including "Come to the Stable" by Gary A. Cornell, Amy Piper, soloist; "Still, Still, Still" arranged by James Fitschel, Leonard Elswert, soloist; "Candlelight Carol" by John Rutter, Kathryn Sincell and Carl Fike, soloists; "Thou Shalt Know Him" by Austin C. Lovelace; "Cold December Flies Away" arranged by Rene Clausen; "Lullaby" by John Ness Beck, Kathryn Sincell, soloist; "In the Bleak Mid-Winter" by Harold Drake, Carl Fike, soloist; "A Spotless Rose" by Herbert Howells, Jim Chisholm, soloist; "Shepherd's Christmas Song" by Heinrich Reiman, Amy Piper, soloist; and "Sleeping the Christ Child Lay" by James Husst Hall, Dave Callis, soloist.

Yough River Assoc., Local Officials Send A Clear Message To DNR

The Garrett County Commissioners hosted a Youghiogheny Panel Discussion in the auditorium of Garrett Community College on December 5, with John E. Hinebaugh, president of the Youghiogheny River Association, acting as moderator.

Guest panelists included DNR's Director of Land Planning, Frank Oslislo; Elizabeth Maumenee, legal council for DNR; Bruce A. Gilmore, director of intergovernmental relations for DNR; Senator John N. Bambacus; and Delegate George C. Edwards.

Oslislo apologized for being late due to the snow storm, and also apologized for DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown, who could not be present due to a conflict in his schedule, and for Jane Nishada, the governor's staff assistant, who was tied up with the Savings & Loan crisis and could not attend.

In his opening address, Commissioner Elwood L. Groves II gave a brief history of the Yough River conflict between the state and the property owners, and said that the goal of the panel discussion was to obtain clear-cut information on specific questions and to have it down in public record.

Senator Bambacus, in his opening words, said that this problem was on-going when he came into office, with correspondence on the issue literally filling up a large box, some going back to the mid-70s.

Delegate Edwards, who introduced the 1983 law which prevents the state from using Program Open Space funds to buy more land in Garrett County, said, "We've been battling this thing since 1975 and we continue to keep guard, keep awake to make sure things don't happen that we're unaware of."

Moderator Hinebaugh stated that the questions he intended to ask were prepared to bring out free and open discussion so that, "in Commissioner Elwood Groves' words, we can clarify any misunderstandings concerning the state's intentions in Garrett County."

The Yough River Association had prepared 18 questions to present to the panel. Due to the late arrival of the panel guests, and lengthy comment to some of the questions, not all of the 18 were asked.

Hinebaugh's first question concerned the lack of a management plan for the Yough River Corridor. That plan, according to the 1975 Scenic and Wild Rivers Act, was to be prepared in coordination with an advisory board of local people and then submitted to local county government for approval and then to the Maryland General Assembly.

Hinebaugh asked, "Why, after ten years, hasn't a plan been prepared and presented to the people of Garrett County for coordination and to local and state officials for approval? Is the Department of Natural Resources above the law?"

Oslislo answered, "No, the DNR is not above the law." He went on to explain that over the years two local advisory boards had been appointed with no coordination and no resulting management plan. "I'm not even sure we disagreed on issues," he said, "I think the major point is, we couldn't agree to talk to each other."

He said that the state does have a draft management plan awaiting coordination with the new local advisory board. Hinebaugh replied, "The law is explicit, the DNR is to prepare a plan, not the advisory board. After it is prepared, it is to be placed before the board. Incidentally, the advisory board is only an advisory board, they have no authority to approve or disapprove."

In a related question to Sen. Bambacus, Hinebaugh asked, since he (Bambacus) was a member of an "oversite committee" of the Maryland General Assembly whose responsibility is to see that the Scenic and Wild Rivers Act is properly implemented, why

Former Delegate And Educator, B.O. Aiken, Dies

A well known retired Garrett County educator and former member of the Maryland House of Delegates, Benjamin Otis Aiken, died Wednesday, December 4, at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Aiken, who owned a farm near Accident, had served as principal at the Accident School for 20 years and had taught at schools in his native North Carolina and in Montgomery County, where he retired in 1962.

As a member of the House of Delegates, he served one term in the mid-1960s. He was instrumental in the formation of Garrett Community College at McHenry and was instrumental in establishment of the Garrett County Library System.

Mr. Aiken, age 86, was born in Salem, N.C., on July 19, 1899. He was the son of the late Rufus Judson Aiken and Nora Hester Aiken.

He was graduated from Duke University in 1922 with a bachelors degree in education, and he received a masters degree in education after attending Columbia University, the University of Chicago and Northwestern University.

He was a veteran of World War I, a member of the Accident American Legion Post 208, the Accident Fire Department, the Friendsville Rotary Club, past president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, past president of the Garrett County Historical Society, chairman of the Garrett County Bicentennial Commission in 1976, a member of the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident, and at the time of his death, he was completing a book about his experiences in teaching.

SUITED FOR ACTION is Lou "Grizzly" Stouffer, better known as Santa Claus this time of year. Grizzly has been quite busy travelling around to the flood victims and other needy people bringing Christmas joy in the form of presents and food. His new suit was made for him by Ruby Rosenbaum of Rowlesburg, W. Va. His "new sleigh" was donated by Marvin Ware Chevrolet in Kingwood, W. Va. Grizzly has already delivered nine pick-up loads of goodies to over 100 families, but he says the needs are so great this year he still needs toy and food donations to help as many people as possible. He also stated that his sleigh takes an "awful lot of gas" since it only gets 8 miles to the gallon. The jolly old elf spent the entire day in flood-torn Rowlesburg delivering gifts and supplies until 3 a.m. Those desiring to make donations may drop them off at the following Preston County locations: Mt. Top Cable Co., Gregg's Pharmacy in Terra Alta, the Preston County News and Marvin Ware Chevrolet.

LOCAL TREE FARMERS, who produce some of the finest Christmas trees in the country, are now scurrying to fill thousands of orders all over the state and region. Besides retailing a variety of evergreens on lots in Montgomery and Howard counties, tree farmer Marshall Stacy of Pinetum in Swanton, also takes special orders for large, premium trees like this 35-foot Douglas fire pictured above, cut especially for the Naval Academy's Bancroft Hall. Ninety-five advance order trees were cut this season and are now being decorated for holiday events, including the annual "Christmas in Washington" television special, airing December 15 at 10 p.m. on NBC, a Christmas gala at the Kennedy Center, and numerous other festivities in public and corporate buildings in the Baltimore-Washington area.

Commodity Food Distribution Set For Wednesday

There will be a commodity food distribution at ten county locations on December 18, according to the Garrett County Community Action Office. Distribution sites will be in Friendsville, Accident, Grantsville, Gorman, Oakland, Bloomington, Deer Park, Finzel, and Kitzmiller.

In order to have the distribution go as smoothly as possible, the site volunteers have attended a training session, where the state regulations and guidelines for the distribution were discussed.

During the distribution the food recipients will be receiving an information sheet. The guidelines which will be contained on that sheet are as follows:

1. Site schedule: The volunteer site managers have been requested to not open the site and begin to fill orders until the scheduled time, so persons are asked to not come too early.

2. Pick-up of food: Persons should have their order filled at the site nearest their home if possible. Going to other sites creates shortages for people in that area. Persons are asked to pick up their own orders and not ask others to do so unless it is absolutely necessary.

3. Shortages of items: State regulations specify that there are to be no substitutes for items which cannot be filled because of shortages. Quite often each site will have plenty of cheese, flour, and rice, and run short of dry milk, honey, and corn meal, a CAC spokesman said. All of these items are distributed equally to each site, but there may be a general shortage in what was received by the county. Therefore, persons may wait in line only to find that they will not receive all of their items. If this is the case, the volunteer cannot, for example, give two flours because there is no milk left, the spokesman explained.

Remaining food is returned to the Community Action building and the day after the county-wide distribution, leftovers may be available there. Persons are advised to first call the CAC office, however, to determine if the item they desire is available. Such availability is not guaranteed.

4. Persons are reminded that everyone assisting with the distribution is a volunteer and is responsible for following procedures and regulations established by the state of Maryland.

5. Persons interested in serving as volunteers to assist with the distribution are asked to call 334-3990.

Persons who are eligible recipients of commodity foods will receive a card in the near future, along with information about designated sites and time of distribution. Recipients are also asked to bring a box or bag for their items, if possible.

Salt Problem To Be Discussed In Finzel, Monday

Officials of the Maryland Department of Transportation will meet with residents of Finzel at 7 p.m. on December 16 to discuss the problem of salt contamination of area water supplies.

The meeting will be held in the Finzel Fire Hall with Senator John N. Bambacus and Delegate George C. Edwards attending. Residents will be brought up to date on the problem which results in drinking water which tastes salty, and water which requires more soap for routine cleaning and leaves a soapy film.

The SHA has been taking efforts to solve the problem, and in the meantime has been hauling drinking water to residents affected by the salt. Some possible causes of the problem in the past have been a residue of salt left on the ground which eventually gets into drainage systems, the mixing of salt outside during the winter, and the amount of salt used on state highways in the area.

GNB Bankshares Meeting Slated For Consolidation

GNB Bankshares, Inc. Oakland, and LTC Bancorp, Cumberland, have notified their respective stockholders of special stockholders' meetings to be held on January 13, 1986, to vote upon a proposed consolidation of GNB and LTC, to form WM Bancorp. GNB is a bank holding company with Garrett National Bank, a national bank, as its principal subsidiary. LTC is a bank holding company with Liberty Bank of Maryland, a state trust company, as its principal subsidiary.

Upon consummation of the proposed consolidation of GNB and LTC, WM Bancorp will be the surviving bank holding company with Garrett National Bank and Liberty Bank of Maryland as its principal subsidiaries and will be the largest bank holding company with its headquarters in Garrett or Allegany counties.

According to GNB Bandshares officials, it is anticipated that the proposed consolidation will be consummated during the first quarterof 1986 after receipt of regulatory and stockholder approvals. Upon consolidation of GNB and LTC, each share of GNB common stock will be converted into one share of WM Bancorp Common Stock and each share of LTC Common Stock will be converted into two shares of WM Bancorp Common Stock. The conversion ratios were designed to approximately equalize the respective interests of stockholders in GNB and LTC, the officials said.

Copies of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus relating to the proposed consolidation are available upon request without charge from either Janey L. Hanline, secretary, GNB Bankshares, Inc., 46 South Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550, or Anne L. Gormer, secretary, LTC Bancorp, 81 Baltimore Street, Cumberland, MD 21502.

Energy Assistance Still Available

The Energy Assistance Program, which provides financial help for heating expenses to lower income households, has completed over 1,500 applications, according to a release from the Garrett County Community Action Office. The program will remain in effect through March and persons may apply for assistance through that time.

Benefits range from $185 to $765. The family size and respective monthly income guidelines in order to be eligible for assistance are as follows: one-member family, $656; two-member, $881; three-member, $1,106; four-member, $1331; and five-member, $1,556.

Persons wishing to apply for assistance or obtain more information may call 334-2151.

Caulk Announces Eligibility For Disaster Aid

Four Maryland counties have been declared eligible for Federal disaster assistance, it was recently announced by G. Wallace Caulk, State Director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration.

Due to damages and losses caused by severe storms and flooding which began on November 3, 1985, President Reagan declared the State of West Virginia a major disaster area. Counties in surrounding states that are located near one or more of the eight affected West Virginia counties have also been declared eligible for federal disaster assistance. Those Maryland counties are Garrett, Allegany, Frederick and Washington.

Applications for Garrett County will be received through July 7, 1986. Applications for Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties will be received through July 9, 1986. Interested applicants should contact the appropriate FmHA County Office for their area.

In a related development, St. Mary's County has also been declared a nearby county where eligible farmers may qualify for FmHA EM loan assistance as a result of the major damages and losses caused by severe storms and flooding in the state of Virginia on November 3, 1985.

Emergency loan applications will be received through July 9, 1986. Interested applicants should contact the FmHA County Office in St. Mary's County.

Goldsborough To Retire After 37 Years With SHA

William M. Goldsborough, Mtn. Lake Park, is retiring from the Maryland State Highway Administration, effective December 31, 1985. He has served as resident maintenance engineer for that agency for the past 22 years.

Except for one year of teaching and two years in the United States Marine Corps, he has been employed by the Maryland State Highway Administration for the past 37 years. He began work with that state agency as a construction inspector and was chief inspector on the first interstate highway contract on I-70 in District No. 6.

For the past 22 years, he has served as resident maintenance engineer for Garrett County for the Maryland State Roads Commission, with the name later being changed to the Maryland State Highway Administration.

Goldsborough was reared in Allegany County and was a graduate of Fort Hill High School. He is also a graduate of Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va., and the University of Maryland.

He has taken an active part in the field of education having been a member and president of the Garrett County Board of Education, a member of the Maryland State Board of Education, a member of the Board of Trustees for Garrett Community College where he served as chairman for four years, and a member and past president of the Dennett Road Elementary School PTA.

The state retiree is also a member of the Oakland Rotary Club; Potomac Lodge, A.F.& A.M. No 100, Cumberland Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, having served as post commander for five terms; past district commander of the Mountain District, American Legion, comprising all posts in Garrett and Allegany Counties; chairman of the fifth annual Autumn Glory Festival; past president of the Garrett County Democratic Club; past president of the Garrett County Community Action Committee; past president of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association; past president of the Resident Engineers Association of Maryland; and a certified lay speaker in the United Methodist Church.

Goldsborough, upon making his decision to retire, sent a letter to all of the employees serving under him thanking them for their cooperation over the years.

Many of the employees said they couldn't contain their tears when they read the letter from their superior.

The letter stated, "I feel that each of you are part of my family. During the last 22 years, I took pride in the organization and I know that highways in Garrett county have been well–maintained during raging blizzards as well as during summer maintenance activities."

Further, the letter read, "I heartily congratulate all of you and admirably and humbly note all the respect that has been given me over the years."

Goldsborough concluded the letter by stating, "However, there comes a time when the leadership wants a change and that I must fade away. I wish you all the best in the future and may God bless all of you."

Goldsborough's plans for the future include continuing his services as a registered surveyor, working with the Garrett County Board of Education where he is currently a member, and to remain active as a member of Bethel United Methodist Church, Mtn. Lake Park, especially as a lay speaker for the district.

He is married to the former Doris Twigg, also a native of Cumberland. They are the parents of three children, Barbara Tichnell, Pamela Smith and David Goldsborough. They also have four grandchildren.

ARBY'S ROAST BEEF IS COMING — A ground breaking ceremony was held Friday for the new Arby's Roast Beef Restaurant which is currently under construction at the Browning's Foodland intersection on Route 135 east of Oakland. According to Donald "Mac" Browning, the Arby's unit is scheduled for completion by mid-January 1986. The new Arby's building will feature a contemporary interior decor package emphasizing individual booth seating with an attractive plant-filled interior in the dining room. The restaurant will also offer drive-through window service. Arby's Roast Beef Restaurant offers a complete line of roast beef sandwiches, in addition to a complete salad bar, boneless chicken breast and fillet of fish sandwiches, French fries, potato cakes, shakes and dessert. The roast beef sandwich chain recently introduced a new Bac'n Cheddar Deluxe sandwich, a Croissant Breakfast menu, and a complete variety of stuffed baked potatoes in markets across the United States. Arby's Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Royal Crown Companies, has over 1,300 restaurants in all 50 states, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Japan, Malaysia, and Canada. The new Arby's Restaurant will employ approximately 50 area people. Those taking part in the ground breaking are pictured above at the site of the new restaurant. From left to right they are: Jim Browning, owner; Garrett County Sheriff Van Evans; Garrett County Commissioner Elwood L. Groves II; General Contractor George Cheek; Mac Browning, owner; Garrett County Commissioner Ernest J. Gregg; Delegate George C. Edwards; Morgan France, civil engineer for the project; Donald Browning, chairman of the board, Brownings, Inc.; and Mayor Russell Alexander of Mtn. Lake Park.

Bank Employees Waive Fringes For Flood Aid

Employees of the First United National Bank and Trust Company of Oakland recently sent checks totaling $10,000 to American Red Cross chapters in six flood-ravaged counties in West Virginia and two in Maryland.

Garrett County, which saw more than 100 homes damaged by the flood, was one of the Maryland counties aided by the Red Cross.

More than 200 bank employees voted to give up many fringe benefits they would have received for the remainder of this year and decided to give that amount to aid the flood victims, according to Col. Haig Jackson, director of the Garrett County unit of the American Red Cross.

Benjamin W. Ridder, vice–president for marketing and planning at the bank, sent checks totaling $10,000 on behalf of the employees.

Financial expenditures for the Red Cross Disaster Service flood relief efforts for Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania are expected to exceed $7.4 million. The Red Cross spent $48 million on disaster relief operations such as hurricanes Danny, Elena, Gloria and Juan, as well as the recent floods in Puerto Rico. Red Cross workers are also providing emergency assistance for communities affected by Hurricane Kate.

Contributions to the Red Cross Emergency Disaster Relief Fund may be sent to the American Red Cross, Garrett County Unit, 233 N. Second Street, Oakland, Md., 21550.

GNB Bankshares Declares Dividend

The Board of Directors of GNB Bankshares, Inc., recently declared a semi-annual cash dividend of 65¢ per share for the last six months of this year, payable on December 31, 1985, to shareholders of record as of November 14, 1985, according to a release from the corporation.

Total cash dividends paid for 1985 were $1.10 per share or $419,929. This represents an increase of 7.3%, on a per Share basis, over the dividend paid for 1984.

Garrett National Bank is a subsidiary of GNB Bankshares, Inc. and has nine banking offices in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Southern Middle Students Aiding Flood Victims

Students in physical education classes at Southern Middle School will expend some energy next Tuesday, December 17, to aid the victims of the recent flooding.

According to Paula Briggs, physical education teacher at Southern Middle, the students are presently gathering sponsors and will run, jog, or walk for 20 minutes on Tuesday to earn these donations. The event was originally intended to be a "Run for Liberty" with the proceeds going to the Statue of Liberty fund-raising effort, however the teachers and students decided that it would be more appropriate to donate to the flood relief effort. They tentatively plan to do a "Run for Liberty" in the spring.

The students began a unit on physical fitness in early November. After establishing individual training heart rates using a computer program, they embarked on a running program to raise fitness levels, Mrs. Briggs explained. The original goal of the program was simply to raise the fitness levels of the students. Aiding the flood victims has now become a second goal.

Mrs. Briggs said that the staff, students, and school principal (John Rickman) have all cooperated to make the idea work. She also expressed her appreciation to the following local businesses and individuals who donated prizes for the top ten most successful money–raisers in the benefit: T-Shirt Shack, The Silkscreeners, Pizza Hut, Bill Lovett, Coca-Cola Bottling, Heck's, Ben Franklin, Foxes Pizza Den, Manor Home Builders, Davidson's Army/Navy, and Naylor's. Persons who made pledges to the students were also thanked.

"The P.E. staff would also like to give a very special thanks to the students of our school who have done their best to make a neighbor happy this holiday season," she concluded.

Case Of Neglect . . .

Governor Harry Hughes has scored another case of neglect for Garrett County and the rest of Western Maryland.

Within hours after the devastating floods of early November, Governor Moore of West Virginia, Governor Thornburgh of Pennsylvania, and Governor Robb of Virginia were on the scene of the destruction in their respective states, surveying the damage and at least showing the people of these areas that they cared. It has been about six weeks since the flood and Governor Hughes has yet to make similar visits in his state.

Granted, the damage in West Virginia and Virginia, and probably in Pennsylvania, was greater than that which occurred in Maryland. However, Maryland towns such as Hancock, Oldtown, Shallmar, and Kitzmiller sustained great losses. Overall damage estimates in Maryland exceed $19,000,000.

On Veterans Day, just days after the flood, Governor Hughes made a trip in his new jet helicopter to Rocky Gap State Park near Cumberland, a flight of less than one hour, to participate in a brief Veterans Day program. After the ceremony concluded, Senator John Bambacus approached the governor and suggested that he take just a few extra minutes to stop by Oldtown on his way back to Annapolis, or at least fly over the town, to see some of the damage there. After a few silent moments, the governor said "I don't think so", and walked away.

Maryland's request for major federal disaster assistance was turned down last week, while West Virginia's, Pennsylvania's, and Virginia's were granted. Although we have no specific proof, many are claiming that it was Governor Hughes' delay in making the request that caused it to be rejected.

We are disappointed with the governor for his apparent lack of concern for the people of Western Maryland. But at least its consistent with his previous behavior.

Now Harry Hughes is on the campaign trail to be our U.S. senator. He is going to find the sledding pretty rough in Western Maryland. If as our governor he neglects us, one would logically predict that as a senator, Mr. Hughes would forget us completely.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Thanks to the cooperation of the offices of the County Commissioners, Department of Natural Resources, and the County Roads for the efficiency with which permits were issued for the great amount of work accomplished in the Spring Lick area after the recent flooding. Special thanks to the County Roads crew that came into the area, getting to the job at hand, bringing order out of chaos; a group of men working so well together as though they were all of one mind. Congratulations to all.

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County feels the need to answer the charge by Dr. Puzzuoli, interim president of Garrett Community College, that it was "unethical and unprofessional" of the League to write to the Governor last summer requesting an investigation of the apparent problems at Garrett Community College.

As a group of dedicated amateurs, we are honored to be considered professional in our pursuit of integrity in government and its institutions.

Voters have depended on the League for many years to provide information and to promote interest in governmental concerns on local, state and national levels. The League of Women Voters would therefore have considered itself to be unethical if it did not respond to requests by the citizenry for action on the college issue.

Sincerely,
Barbara Flinn

To the Editor:

Many personnel changes have taken place at Garrett Community College during the past couple of years. These changes have occurred for a variety of reasons, some perhaps even vindictive reasons, and the public has been aware of most of the "revolving door" personnel moves at the still-troubled institution. However, one of the more recent personnel changes has gone relatively unnoticed and has greatly upset me.

Walter Lee, who happens to be a life-long resident of Garrett County, had been a faithful friend of GCC for eight years. The first six years he did not make a cent. The past two years the College "found" enough money to pay him a salary that didn't even pay for his expenses incurred by the job. Despite all the turmoil, Walt remained a faithful employee. Within two months after the new President started his "regime" at GCC, Walt was relieved of his responsibilities and as trainer of the GCC athletic teams.

Walt is a graduate of Southern High School and Garrett CC. His duties expanded from his start in 1977 to include trainer for all four sports, facilities coordinator, over-seeing work/study students, travel arrangements, care of uniforms, . . .

In addition to the multitude of responsibilities Walt acquired, he still found time to work as a Northern Rescue Squad volunteer and continue his studies at Frostburg State College. Walt is one of the finest people I have ever had the privilege to be associated with.

I always thought that GCC existed to support Garrett County people such as Walter Lee. I would hope that would be one of their objectives (if there are any).

In summary, I would have hoped that GCC would have done something to publicly thank a faithful, hard-working employee for his years of service, but Garrett's track record proves that won't happen. I would like to thank Walter Lee for his years of tireless dedication to the coaches and student/athletes at Garrett Community College.

Walt, your efforts were greatly appreciated by all of us who knew all that you did.

Tom Bosley

To the Editor:

The recent controversy over the GCC status leaves me cold and uninformed as I have always been since its inception. I was one of the 300 and my questions were never answered.

Thank God for Michael Friend and his courage to speak out and in his position it does take courage. Hurray for you, Mike! I share your thoughts and feelings, but we need to go further back than Harman and Learey to get the full story of why Dr. Tscheltelin's decision and the cash containment study conducted by the State Board for Community Colleges of Maryland was made. We finally got the state to wake up and look into the mess and then some don't like the decisions and recommendations! The Board of Trustees have never answered to the public as they should have even now. We are the people who are footing the bills. Why can't the report and recommendations be made public, as they should be and let the public have a change to finally get some written facts?

For anyone who has followed the shenanigan's of the release and or leaving and departure of a steady stream from GCC for so many years, of very qualified heads of Departments, etc. Someone has to wake up one day, to realize something is wrong. Our state laws need to be changed so our elected officials must serve on boards using hundreds of thousands of taxpayers dollars with very little control and apparent by no open books and facts. This is true in our local Board of Education and all our big agencies where the public should have a right to the facts and figures concerning their money being spent.

The transfer of non-use of hundreds of thousands of dollars by the College soon in the animal shelter though there is now no need of it and the Vocational-Technical Educational Division. (How much vision was used in how many technicians could and would be needed to be educated in rural Garrett County, and now all this will become the burden of Garrett County taxpayers and it sounds as though the college was magnaimous in giving all this to us, when it was primarily all taxpayers money to begin with and now what? Should we now give the Bone Drill to the hospital to use permanently for humans? What of all the rest of the hundreds of thousands which will not now be used to educate students, as it all was spent for in the first place?

A new Community College in Oakland, Dr. Puzzoli says, without even touching base with anybody not even the local governing body, how ludicrous can he get?

All these hundreds of thousands for the animal shelter and now what? Not one bed for the housing of the mentally ill in group homes or even apartment living in Garrett County. Maybe we could convert some of four phases of the constructed animal shelter for the mentally ill. That would indicate some degree of the mentality of Garrett County thinking towards their mentally ill population.

Thank you,
Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

Let me use your paper to say "Thank you" to two fine young men who stopped to help when my car slid off on the wrong side of the road coming up Bloomington last Thursday during the snow storm.

They pulled my car with their four wheel-drive truck. The one young man drove my car halfway up the mountain, while the truck pulled.

I later learned that one man was J.R. Martin from Pleasant Valley. He and his friend were coming home from work. Seeing we were having trouble, they turned around and came back to help.

I understand they even had someone to watch for traffic. Being handicapped, I hope they know how much their help means to me. God bless all who helped. Merry Christmas and thanks again.

Delores Beckman

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation and gratitude to the Southern Athletic Association for their outstanding gesture to Kevin Sines, a fine young man, student and athlete at Northern High. I was able in a small way to contribute to this event which featured graduates from the two high schools.

One only has to recall the sometimes bitter rivalry which has existed between the two areas of the county, to understand the significance and implications of this true example of generosity and caring.

Again, thank you to John Hill, Tom Bosley, all the players and coaches and any individuals who played any part in the fundraiser. On that evening, I was Particularly Proud to be a Garrett Countian.

Ed Green
Principal
Northern High School

To the Editor:

I cannot agree with your editorial last week endorsing the county commissioners' plan for taking the cigarette tax money out of the general county fund to help the rescue squads.

The state law dividing the proceeds from the State Cigarette tax among the counties should not be changed. It was intended to help reduce the growing tax burden on our homes.

There is a much better way. Our commissioners should ask Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards to enact a local law to authorize and direct them to place a tax on alcoholic drinks. We have local option on alcoholic beverages in this county and this would be easy to do.

The proceeds from the tax should go to our two rescue squads. This is the logical source from which to take the money. People who drink and drive cause accidents. Accidents help to make rescue squads mandatory, and people who drink can afford to pay taxes.

Further, there is a need to do something to reduce alcoholic drinking in this county. Higher taxes could help discourage drinking and driving under the influence. Anything that can be done to reduce drunk driving so it will be safer for our people to go on our roads with their cars should be done now. Our rescue squads need help. There are too many places along our highways dispensing alcoholic drinks. All of us are likely to become victims of drinking drivers. Our lives are at stake. There is no more time for pussy-footing by our public officials.

We need to contact our senator and our delegate in the Legislature asking them to take action. We need to make our commissioners understand they are not fooling anybody by their dilatory tactics. We are asking them meet the responsibility of their office. We will not tolerate higher taxes.

Clifford Friend

Yough River

after 10 years hasn't the General Assembly taken action in this regard?

Bambacus replied, "The committee on which I serve has held hearings on this matter, most recently on this past September 10 in Annapolis, and many of the same kinds of concerns have been raised. I'm hoping that once the new advisory committee meets, a plan will be developed. The frustrations you raised are frustrations to us as well."

The next question concerned an August 25 letter from Governor Harry Hughes to Senator Bambacus which quoted the governor as saying, "You should know that the issues of the department's ownership of land and legislative restraints in Garrett County are still under active consideration and hopefully can be resolved to clear the way for state acquisition of private property in the county."

Hinebaugh said that he believed the restraints referred to by the governor are those which stipulate that the state is prohibited from any additional land purchases in excess of acreage owned in 1983, and that any purchase in excess of 100 acres must be approved by the board of county commissioners.

He asked if it is the intention of the DNR or Governor Hughes to have those laws amended to permit the state to purchase additional land over and above the 1983 acreage. He asked the senator and delegate if they would introduce such amendments at the next session or any subsequent session of the General Assembly, or would they hold fast to the laws as presently written?

Both Sen. Bambacus and Del. Edwards replied that they do not plan to change the existing legislation on the books and would resist any attempt by anyone to make those changes. "If any legislation was introduced by any other member of the Senate, I would oppose it obviously, and it would also come to my committee," said Bambacus. "As a member of that committee I can assure you that I would vigorously oppose it, and I honestly feel that no proposal would have much of a chance."

A question concerning reimbursement by the state for lost taxes was put to the DNR official, who said that the county gets 25 percent of all revenues earned from state-owned property. Delegate Edwards interjected that he hears quite often that the state is not utilizing what they have here to generate revenues, which could bring more reimbursement to the county.

Hinebaugh related that Senator Frederick C. Malkus (D-Worcester) introduced legislation in the last General Assembly which would reimburse this county, and other counties as well, for lost real estate taxes on land held by the state. That legislation, however, did not get out of committee. He asked the senator and delegate if they would introduce similar legislation at the next General Assembly.

The legislators explained that reintroducing legislation which had failed one year to the same body of legislators the next year was futile, however, it would serve to focus attention on the plight of rural areas. Senator Bambacus said that he would approach Senator Malkus to see what his feelings were for reintroduction of the bill.

Asked if the state endorsed the purchase of Yough Corridor property by the Natural Lands Trust, a non-profit organization, Oslislo answered that the DNR has no control of what land a private buyer may acquire. He also said that the state or county has no way to require a non-profit organization to reimburse the county for lost real estate taxes. Oslislo said that as a practice, the NLT, in lieu of paying taxes, is willing to make grants to county governments in equivalencies to the tax rate.

The senator and delegate were asked if there is anything that can be done from a legislative standpoint to require non-profit organizations to pay an equivalent of property taxes when they become involved in commercial activity. They said that they would look into it, that it was a legal question and they would have to check on it.

The Scenic and Wild Rivers Review Board is required to submit an annual report, none of which could be found on the Yough River by Hinebaugh's association. After a call to Annapolis, Hinebaugh said, the report was located for him. It read, "Continuing planning projects for fiscal year 1984 include Youghiogheny River."

This prompted Hinebaugh to ask if Oslislo seriously believed that this was an adequate report on Yough activity. Oslislo replied that "No, it was not an adequate report." When asked if he believed a report should be prepared and submitted as the Wild Rivers Act requires, Oslislo said, "Yes, I believe it should be." Delegate Edwards jested, "Your report is what a lot of state offices do when they have to do a report, they go back and say it's being studied."

Hinebaugh reported that during the September 10 public hearing by the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee, DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown testified that the state is only interested in buying from willing sellers. Hinebaugh said that for the past 10 years the people residing in the Yough Valley have lived under stringent land use controls imposed by the state. These controls are a form of harassment, he said, which detract from the use and private enjoyment of a person's property and certainly reduce the property's value.

"The degree to which a property owner becomes a 'willing seller' is proportional to the degree that he is harassed by state land use controls," Hinebaugh said. Oslislo referred to the DNR secretary's October 14 letter to Senator Bambacus which said, "I want to assure you that the state will not acquire any privately owned land in the scenic corridor by eminent domain (condemnation). Any acquisition of privately owned land in the scenic corridor will be on a willing seller basis only."

Oslislo said that there is land in the corridor that is being advertised for sale in The Washington Post and The Republican, "You'll have to ask them if they are willing sellers."

Perhaps the question receiving the most heated comment concerned an additional rivers study by the state. The Scenic and Wild Rivers Act requires the secretary to inventory and study every other river and shoreline and to identify rivers that are eligible for inclusion into the Scenic and Wild Rivers Program as either a scenic river or a wild river.

As applicable to Garrett County, this means that studies for the Savage River, Casselman River and Potomac River are to be completed within the next three and one-half-years. Hinebaugh's question to Oslislo was, "Is the secretary proceeding with these studies, are they on schedule, are they expected to be completed by the required date of July 1, 1990?" The answer was, "Yes, they are in process."

Hinebaugh then asked Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards if they had any comment about including these rivers in the Scenic and Wild Rivers Act.

Edwards explained that outside interest, outside push, would have a lot to do with the future of these Garrett County rivers. "I think the one we really have to be concerned about, because I know there is outside activity, is the Savage River," he said. "I'm not trying to get any more rivers classified Wild & Scenic, and I don't anticipate any of us doing anything to increase the Wild & Scenic rivers in the county."

Bambacus, replying a bit stronger and receiving applause from the audience, said, "Let me say point blank, I don't plan under any circumstances to have those rivers designated as a scenic or wild river, unless, and this is a big unless, there is a sentiment from the citizens of Garrett County, and I plan to be guided by those sentiments. Believe me, I think it's fair to say no issue in Garrett County has received more attention than this particular issue. It's an issue that was ill conceived from the beginning - an issue that we're living with right now - and I'll be damned if I'm going to go through this process again. And you can report that back to the secretary - I'll be damned if I'm going to go through this again."

Bambacus went on, "If the state comes in and imposes land use controls on people who don't want them . . . If the people want them, that's fine, the point is, the people of Garrett County don't want the Yough River regulations and I'm sure they don't want any scenic or wild river regulations on other rivers in the county."

Our Turn

The Perfect Gift
by Pam Ashby

It's an annual event here at the Sincell Publishing Company. I'm talking about the Christmas gift exchange. Sometime in late November, we all draw names to allow ample time to shop for the perfect gift.

Selecting the perfect gift is not always the simplest task to perform around here since some people are so humble they won't reveal what they would like to receive. So, this year someone came up with the brilliant idea of posting everyone's name on the supply closet. Each employee simply states what he would like to have under his name, within a reasonable price range, of course. Simple. Right? Dead wrong!

Although a few people were simple with their wants and needs, basically the supply closet door has been the subject of much laughter and even more conjecture.

For instance, there's one lady who wants a garbage can. A garbage can, for heaven's sake. And to top it off, she wants a warm cap. Now, are these items supposed to color-coordinate or are they interchangeable?

Then there's the gal who's been on a diet for months and has already lost a whole other person. So what does she want for Christmas? Chocolate ceramic paint and encouragement to stick with her diet. Word has it that she's reached her breaking point and plans to drink the paint.

Another co-worker asked for a key to the front door that actually works and for time to ride her horse. Is she in luck! By my calculations, she spends about 20 minutes a week fooling with that faulty key and another 10 minutes fussing about it to the office manager. So, that's roughly one half hour per week. Now, multiply that by 52 weeks. That makes 26 hours a year of spare time she can use to ride her horse if someone just gets her a workable key.

The girl who "wants something pretty, something that smells good or something that tastes good" ought to sample the chocolate paint. It sure fits the description.

Rumor has it that the kindly lady who asked for lids for her skillets has neighbors who told her to "put a lid on her cooking" and she took them literally. Seems the neighborhood has been bombarded lately with the aroma of sauerkraut and cabbage.

We needn't mention the already squirrely guy who asked for an assortment of nuts.

To the naive one who requested a winning lottery ticket: Wake up and smell the coffee, honey. That's about as ridiculous as asking for the Sincell Publishing Company. Opps! Someone really did.

The in-house genius asked for a lawn mower and blank VCR tapes. My guess is he's going to video tape himself mowing the lawn one time and then play it over and over with the television propped outside the kitchen window so his wife thinks he's mowing the lawn faithfully every week. Thing is, though, his wife asked for a washing machine and blank VCR tapes.

The gentleman who asked for "yesterday" should know better. Paul McCartney longed for it for years. Did he get it? No. He said something wrong.

Then there's the office ditz who asked for butterflies or a trip to Hawaii. The office gang has convinced her that there's this huge species of butterfly that migrates to Hawaii every December 25, and that one flight ticket remains to be purchased if the bearer doesn't mind the thorax section. I don't. . . I mean, she doesn't mind. Gulp.

Seriously, folks, this was all in fun. The entire staff here at the local paper wishes you and yours a very happy holiday and a prosperous new year filled with love and hope.

Antlerless Deer Season To Begin

Doe, or antlerless deer, season will be December 13 and 14. This year the county is divided into two zones for the antlerless season, and not only does a hunter need a permit to hunt Friday and Saturday, they must hunt in the correct zone listed on their permit. It is a violation, subject to a $100 fine to be caught elsewhere.

Zone I includes the eastern portion of Garrett County from the Allegany-Garrett County line west to where U.S. Rt. 40 enters Maryland from Pennsylvania to the junction with U.S. Rt. 219 at Keysers Ridge, then proceeds south on Rt. 219 to Oakland, then follows State Rt. 135 to State Rt. 560 at Loch Lynn, then south on Rt. 560 to the Potomac River at Gorman. Zone II includes the remainder of the county west of Zone I.

Licensed hunters and landowners alike may not hunt deer during the antlerless season if they have already taken a buck in the firearm season. Also, every deer harvested during the season must be checked at a checking station within 24 hours by the person who killed the deer.

Persons with further questions about the antlerless deer season can contact the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service at Mt. Nebo Wildlife Management Area, at 334-4255.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR VISITS — Joseph Curran, currently the lieutenant governor of Maryland and candidate for Attorney General of Maryland, paid a visit to Garrett County on Monday and was the guest of honor at a reception at Will O'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Curran served in the Maryland House of Delegates and in the Senate prior to being elected lieutenant governor with Governor Hughes in 1982. He has been a legislative sponsor or leading spokesman in the General Assembly on issues such as tougher drug laws and drunk driving laws, modernization of Maryland divorce and alimony laws, reform of adopting and guardianship laws and foster care, protection of victims of domestic violence, the Equal Rights Amendment, and improvement of judicial and correction systems. He serves on numerous councils, task forces, foundations, and government departments. He is a graduate of the University of Baltimore Law School. In his comments to local persons Monday evening, he stressed the importance of elected officials maintaining close contact with their constituents and said he planned to travel all over the state on a regular basis if and when he is elected Attorney General. In the photo above, Curran chats with Garrett County Commissioner Elwood Groves and his wife, Ruth Ann. In the background is Dr. William Buser, who was one of the organizers of the reception for Curran.

RESPITE CARE GRADUATES — A commencement exercise was held December 6, for the training volunteers who completed a course on respite care. The Respite Care Training Program for Older Workers is a combined effort of the Garrett County Community Action Area Agency on Aging, the Garrett County Health Department and Garrett Community College. Funding was made possible through a grant from the Maryland State Office on Aging. The purpose of the program was to train senior citizens to be Rspite Care workers in order to supplement their incomes while providing valuable service to the community. Pictured below, front row, left to right, are Marcia Kitzmiller, business instructor; Genevieve Friend, graduate; Beryl Foy, graduate; Orpha Miller, graduate; and Margo VanDiver, director, Area Agency on Aging. Shown second row, left to right, are Pearl VanSickle, graduate; Howard B. Moats, graduate; Earl Wentz, graduate; Rich Tepper, coordinator of JTPA programs; and Jean Friend, graduate. Other instructors for the program were Virginia Jefferey, Theresa Hannibal, Donna McClintock, Norma Bolding, R.N., Jackie Snelson, R.N., Ann Carroll and Helen Heath, R.N. Those desiring more information on the program should call Tepper at 334-2151.

MSTA President Stonestreet Tours Garrett County Schools

Beverly C. Stonestreet, president of the Maryland State Teachers Association, was in Garrett County yesterday and took time out from visiting schools and school officials to meet with the news media to explain the purpose and the goals of the MSTA.

Meeting with the media, along with Stonestreet, was Tom Shaffer, MSTA staff member for Garrett and Allegany counties; and Mike Pula, president of the Garrett County Teachers Association.

Stonestreet, whose two-year term began in September, said that her plans as MSTA president are to keep in touch with teachers, to visit as many counties as she can, as often as she can.

She explained that one method MSTA uses to improve education is to become involved in politics. "We learned a long time ago that every decision that affects education is a political decision, and we made a commitment to make an impact on those decisions by becoming involved in politics," the state president said.

MSTA concentrates on legislation to the point of having a field office in Annapolis staffed by a political action coordinator and a legislative manager.

At this time, MSTA is quite concerned about the continuation of state funds for education. Stonestreet pointed out that the Civiletti program, which has been providing additional funds for education, is a five-year program. Next year the General Assembly can change it, or continue it, or drop it - they have to make a decision. "MSTA is trying to get them to change it - meaning increase it - because we know that it has made a very positive difference in the schools," she said.

Statewide, Stonestreet said that MSTA is looking at the governor's race, and intends to endorse a candidate for governor, lieutenant governor, comptroller, and attorney general. An endorsement meeting is set for mid-April. MSTA also plans to make recommendations to the national teachers organization for a candidate to fill Sen. Charles McMathias's seat, and also some congressional seats.

Stonesteet spoke of MSTA's view of the pending teacher shortage. "One thing we do not do is deal with the teacher shortage," she said, "we do not lower our standards. We do not lure unqualified people." She said that to attract new teachers, improved working conditions are needed. That includes improved salaries and more opportunities for study to make this an attractive career.

Salary increases are happening only in some spots, Stonestreet explained. "The disturbing part of it, though, is it's happening only at the very beginning of the salary scale, not extending increases through the total salary scale. It's not that we don't want to see first year teachers well paid, but everyone needs to be well paid."

Discussing advanced education for certification purposes, Stonestreet said that reimbursement to teachers for college credits is up to counties. MSTA takes a stand that says "If you (county) require us to take courses, you should provide the classes free or reimburse us for taking them."

Pula reported that the Garrett County Board of Education is very supportive, and will provide up to $65 a credit hour for up to six credit hours a year for as long as a teacher continues to teach. "This is the kind of thing we're encouraging boards of education to do to make teaching more attractive," Stonestreet replied.

When asked what obstacles she has faced since taking office, Stonestreet said, "I guess my biggest frustration is seeing that some people don't put a very high priority on education. Another frustration is seeing teacher leaders, like Mike Pula, doing two full-time jobs. He's teaching class rooms and he's also serving as president of the Garrett County Teachers Association. So he knows the things he wants to do for the Garrett teachers, and he's not able to do it because he has his sixth graders that he has to do for, too."

Stonestreet said that there are benefits and incentives for teachers to join an organization such as MSTA. "The safety of numbers is the biggest incentive for the average teacher to join MSTA. Another incentive is the commitment that an individual teacher can make to a group, knowing that then that group is going to turn around and help the individual teacher. Plus through MSTA and its locals and its national organization, every individual teacher can have an impact. Everyone gets to vote, serve on committees, work up in leadership, or remain at the level of a dues-paying member, knowing his interests will be taken care of."

Seniors Quilt For Flood Victims

In the aftermath of the recent flooding which devastated so many friends and neighbors, many local residents wanted to help in some fashion. A small group of senior citizens from the Oakland Senior Center responded by making quilts.

The idea for quilts came from Mrs. Evelyn Harvey, a regular participant at the Center. Mrs. Harvey brought in her portable sewing machine and the quilting began. The ladies worked diligently for several weeks making a total of 17 quilts. Materials were donated by senior citizens and area residents.

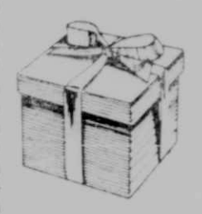
Others participating in assembling the quilts were Nettie Peck, Mabel Yutzy, Cecelia Brant, Gertrude Plank, Mildred Savage, Hilda Winters, Bessie Ashby, Evelyn Whitmyer, Glenn Alexander and staff, Mary Browning and Mary Gill.

Sincere Thanks



The management and staff of Rigidply Rafters wish to thank the Oakland, Deer Park, Deep Creek, and Gorman Volunteer Fire Departments for their service to us during the fire of the rafter shop and office. And a special thanks for saving the house and storage buildings nearby.

We also want to thank the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, for giving warmth and shelter to the family members while the fire was being fought.

We thank all our neighbors and friends who helped during the fire and cleanup. This was greatly appreciated. We wish God's blessing to each one who helped during this time.

New Scholarships Offered At GCC

Cissy VanSickle, financial aid Director at Garrett Community College, has announced that two new scholarships have been established at GCC.

The Board of Trustees scholarship is being funded by donations from members of the Board. There will be two scholarships based on academic achievement. One will be offered to graduate of Southern High School and one offered to a graduate of Northern High School entering GCC in fall of 1986. The scholarships will be for full tuition and fees for the recipients. Application deadlines will be April in order that an announcement may be made during graduation ceremonies at the local high schools. Deadline for application is February 15 and applications are available at each of the high school guidance offices, as well as the Financial Aid Office at GCC.

The John L. Fitzwater Jr. Memorial Scholarship will be offered to a graduate of Southern High School who will be majoring in education. This scholarship has been established by Mrs. Helen Fitzwater in memory of her husband who taught at Southern High. The amount of the scholarship will be $200 for fall 1986. Applications must be submitted by February 15. Applications are available at both Southern High School Guidance Offices and the Financial Aid Office at GCC.

Senior Brunch Is Planned At SHS

A Senior Brunch is being planned by the Southern High School Class of 1986 and will be held on December 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Southern High School Cafeteria.

Sheriff Evans Notes November Activity Report

Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans this week released the activity report for the month of November, 1985.

Records indicate that 215 complaints were answered by the department throughout the county. Numerous patrol checks were made checking homes and businesses for security.

A total of 187 papers were served relating to civil, law, criminal, equity, juvenile and miscellaneous matters.

Sheriff's deputies arrested 34 individuals on various charges including rape, larceny, assault, disorderly conduct, failure to appear in court and others.

Jail inmate population was 33 at the beginning of the month. To that total, 30 were added and 31 were released, leaving inmate population at 32 at the end of the month.

Monthly activity added approximately 20,000 miles to departmental vehicles while answering complaints, serving papers, transporting prisoners and making patrol checks.

MSP Helicopter Transports Two Hurt In Mishaps

Two persons were transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by the Medevac helicopter in separate accidents this week, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment.

Lois Helmick, 20, Eglon, W. Va., remains a patient at the hospital with multiple fractures and is listed in "stable" condition, according to a hospital spokesman.

Helmick was injured Sunday night in a 9:50 p.m. one-vehicle mishap which occurred on U.S. Route 50 near the Wilson–Corunna Road.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman investigated the accident and said Helmick lost control of the 1985 Toyota pick up she was operating east on Route 50. The vehicle traveled off the left side of the highway, hit an embankment and overturned.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched the Southern Rescue Squad and the Gorman Fire Department to the scene.

In a two-rig accident Monday afternoon, a Pennsylvania man was also flown to the hospital after reportedly sustaining a broken wrist and abdominal trauma.

William R. Kunkel, 53, Harmony, Pa., has since been released from the hospital after being a patient for several days following the 1:45 p.m. accident on Monday.

Tfc. D. W. Broadwater investigated and said the accident occurred on U.S. Route 48, a half mile east of the Finzel Road exit. He reported that Kunkel was operating only the tractor portion of a tractor trailer, and Robert L. Hartrum, 44, Newark, Ohio, the other driver, was operating a tractor trailer loaded with a dry chemical.

Police said both vehicles were eastbound. Hartrum was driving in front and Kunkel behind. Kunkel told Broadwater he was approaching the Hartrum vehicle when he was blinded by the sun, causing him to strike the end of the Hartum trailer.

The tractor driven by Kunkel was demolished, resulting in a diesel fuel leak.

The eastbound lanes of Route 48 were temporarily blocked and all vehicles but trucks were detoured onto Alternate Route 40 for a short time. Trucks traveling east were halted until the wreckage was cleared, said Broadwater.

Police charged Kunkel with a speeding violation and negligent driving. Hartrum was charged wtih a license plate violation.

Allegany County Civil Defense also dispatched Frostburg, Shaft and Eastern Garrett firemen to the scene along with the Frostburg Area Ambulance. Due to the fuel spill, the Water Resources and State Highway Administrations were also notified.

Multiple charges were filed against a Deer Park man following a one-vehicle mishap early Sunday morning.

Curtis M. Pritts, 27, was charged with driving without a license, driving while revoked and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs following the 2:01 a.m. accident which occurred on U.S. Route 219 north of the Mayhew Inn Road.

Tfc. R. C. Resh investigated and reported that Pritts, operating a vehicle belonging to Debbie Lacy, 46, Oakland, who was also a passenger, traveled on the right shoulder then crossed both lanes and ran off the left side of the highway into a ditch.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Southern Rescue Squad to the scene and both parties were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Lacy was reportedly released the following day, while Pritts was transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland for observation.

A Saturday morning accident sent one woman to Garrett Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released and later readmitted for apparent unrelated illness.

Beverly Trautwein, 51, Oakland, was taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad following the 5:59 a.m. mishap.

The injured was a passenger in the 1982 Subaru operated by Charles G. Trautwein, 51, Oakland, which was traveling east on Alder Street when it was struck by a 1976 Bonneville Pontiac operated by Rebecca Mason, 39, Oakland. The Mason vehicle was traveling north on Fourth Street and reportedly failed to stop for a stop sign.

Mason told police she sighted the Trautwein vehicle and attempted to brake but began skidding on the icy roadway and struck the other vehicle.

Tfc. R. C. Resh investigated and charged Mason with failure to stop for a traffic device.

An Oakland woman was treated and released at Garrett Memorial Hospital following a one-vehicle accident last Thursday on the Old Crellin Road.

Violet A. Foster, 52, was slightly injured when the vehicle she was operating began to slide off the road and hit a small tree.

Tfc. C.R. Smith investigated and said there was little damage and that the front tires of the vehicle were nearly smooth. Smith charged Foster with operating on unsafe tires.

Foster was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Three passengers in the vehicle were apparently uninjured.

School Hearing

their children would have to be relocated in a different school.

Some of the questions and concerns raised by the parents were:

1. How do you justify running two buses by some homes under the new proposals and still maintain you're saving money?

2. What about the emotional stability of our children if they are faced with moving to another school?

3. What if your projections do not come to fruition? Is it worth moving a few children to another school?

4. Why weren't these proposed bus routes figured out before this meeting.? Wasn't this the purpose of this second meeting? Shouldn't the bus routes be more clearly defined?

5. How do you justify turning a bus around on a dangerous place in the road for the purpose of saving money when children's lives are at stake?

6. Some of our children are already on buses for nearly two hours a day and it seems many of them will be on buses even longer if these proposals are approved.

7. We (Accident School parents) fought for a closed classroom atmosphere when our new school was built and won. Now you tell us our children have to go to an open classroom situation (Friendsville School).

One Accident School parent read and submitted a letter to the board composed and signed by many of the Accident School parents who wished that their children remain in that school rather than move them to another environment.

The sometimes emotional discussion ensued for over an hour until board president, Earl Clark closed the question period and stated that the board had some "very tough decisions to weigh over the next few days" before the board made its final decision on Thursday (today).

Coviello also pointed out that if the proposals were approved, parents did have other avenues to take to either keep or move their children to other schools within the county system if they felt strongly that their children would suffer if moved to another school

Following the meeting, Coviello said he sympathized with the parents' concerns, but noted that the board had to also abide by the State Board of Education's directive to alleviate overlapping districts.

One of the obviously distraught parents said he hoped the board would "look at the whole picture and not just a little money saved."

A decision on the proposals is expected late this afternoon when it is reviewed and voted on by the Board of Education.

Gibson Smiling As Lakers Open With Five Consecutive Victories

Dennis Gibson, first-year coach of the Garrett Community College men's basketball squad, is smiling a lot these days, mostly because his Laker team is off to its best start in the history of the college with a 5-0 record, making him probably the only collegiate coach in the state to have never lost a game. Garrett's latest win was last night against visiting Frederick Community College, 80-66, in the Lakers Maryland JUCO American Division opener. The first four Laker wins were on the road.

The Lakers also rolled over CCAC Boyce Saturday in Pittsburgh, 74-55, and nipped Penn State-Fayette Monday evening, also in Pennsylvania. Coach Gibson's team will host Dundalk CC on Saturday at 8 p.m. and the Community College of Baltimore at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sean Hazel led the Lakers against Boyce on Saturday with a 21-point, eight-rebound performance, while Jerry Monroe and Jim Feagins each finished with 16 points.

Garrett was sluggish in the first half of the contest, assuming a 10-8 advantage midway through the period and a 26-21 lead at intermission. The Laker offense took control in the second half and ran away with the game, while Jim Ragler paced the defense with six steals. Monroe and Feagins also led in rebounding with nine and eight, respectively.

Ragler, who was playing with a sore ankle, also finished with a dozen assists.

"We played poorly early in the game," Coach Gibson said. "Our shots just wouldn't fall."

Seibles led Boyce with 13 points, followed by McClain with 12 and Searles with 10.

A 17-foot jump shot at the buzzer by Ragler resulted in the Lakers' victory over Penn State-Fayette on Monday.

The Lakers had the game fairly well under control in the first half, holding a 37-24 advantage at intermission, but they came back onto the floor cold and managed only two points in the first five minutes of the second half. This allowed Fayette to knot the score and the lead changed hands several times the rest of the game.

Fayette went on top by three, 61-58, at the 3:00 mark. Jerry Monroe responded for the Lakers with a bucket underneath to close the gap to one. Feagins then tied the score at the 2:43 mark by hitting the front end of a one-for-one.

A 15-foot jumper by Hazel with 42 seconds remaining gave Garrett a 65-64 lead, however Fayette's Rodney Green was fouled and went to the line on a one-and-one. He hit the first shot to tie the score again, but missed the second one and Scott Stem came down with the rebound for the Lakers at the five-second mark to set up Ragler's game-winning shot.

Stem paced Garrett's scoring with 17 points. Hazel netted 16, Monroe finished with 14, and Ragler recorded ten points.

Ragler also contributed ten assists and five steals. Monroe led with 13 rebounds, while Savoy, Feagins, and Hazel each had nine and Stem pulled down eight.

Stem also led the Lakers' scoring effort last night against Frederick as he hit seven buckets and two of two free throws for 16 points. He also had a game-high 13 rebounds.

The contest was close throughout much of the first half, as the score was knotted at 20 with six minutes remaining. The Lakers then exploded for 14 points, compared to only two by the Cougars, giving Garrett a 34-22 advantage at intermission.

Ragler again provided the spark for Garrett, as he has done all season, finishing with 12 points, 13 assists, five steals, and five rebounds. Hazel recorded 12 points, eight rebounds, and six assists, while Feagins added ten points. Darin Blackwell was credited with nine rebounds.

Leading Frederick in scoring was Doug Woodward with 26 points on a dozen buckets and two free tosses. Scott Cochran and Mike Anderson each netted 14 points, followed by Greg Allen with ten. Frederick had only six players at the game.

LOCAL BASSERS WIN NATIONAL AWARD — The Garrett Bassers Association was named the recipient of the Chapter Conservation Award by the National B.A.S.S. (Bass Anglers Sportsman Society) Chapter Federation at the recent annual Federation convention held in Pine Bluff, Arkansas. A goal of the Garrett Bassers is to develop the Youghiogheny River into one of the best smallmouth fisheries in the eastern United States. In its quest of that goal, they have designed and constructed a two-acre rearing pond and were instrumental in raising over 7,500 smallmouth bass fingerlings. Since 1982, the local anglers have annually constructed artifical reefs to improve largemouth bass habitat and, in 1984, they placed more than 900 tires in three locations, which have significantly increased game fish populations. There are 39 members of the local chapter, with Roger Skipper serving as president. Above, chapter conservation director, Phil Davidson, left, accepts the Conservation Award from Bob Barker, conservation director of the national B.A.S.S. In the background is Ray W. Scott Jr., founder and president of the B.A.S.S. Federation.

Ram Wrestlers Drop Opener To Fort Hill, 52-18

The Southern High wrestling team opened its season Tuesday evening by being overwhelmed by a powerful Fort Hill squad, 52-18, on the Sentinels' mats.

Brad King, Chad King, and Doug Evans were the only Rams who were able to come away with victories, as the Kings won by decision and Evans pinned his opponent in the 145-pound class. Fort Hill finished with six pins, a decision, and a forfeit to record their second win of the season.

Coach Rob Browning's Rams will return to action this Saturday as participants in the Thomas R. Davis Memorial Tournament at Allegany High School, Cumberland. The competition, which involves several area schools, will get underway at noon. Consolation finals will be held at 6 p.m., followed by the championship finals.

Seven returning champions, including Bruce Brown of Southern, will be in the tournament.

98—Matt Thomas, F, pinned Lance Beeman, 1:26.
105—Double forfeit.
112—Paul Thomas, F, dec. Bruce Brown, 15-6.

Rams Open Round Ball Campaign With Losses To Bruce, Fort Hill

The 1985-86 high school basketball campaign has opened on a disappointing note for the Southern High boys varsity team as the Rams dropped a squeaker to Bruce in the season opener on Friday, 58-57, in Westernport, and were then crushed by visiting Fort Hill Tuesday evening, 72-45. Coach Oren Yoder's squad will attempt to rebound on Friday in Frostburg against Beall.

R.L. Fisher led the Bulldogs against the Rams Friday evening as he finished with 27 points and brought his team back from a 26-24 deficit.

Southern was on top 13-10 at the end of the first period, but a third quarter surge by Bruce gave the Bulldogs a 44-39 advantage as the final period began. The Rams battled back to close the gap to one-point in the final moments of the game, but that is where the score remained.

Pacing Southern's scoring were Jeff Sweitzer and Jon Reneslacis, who each netted 17 points. Fisher was the only Bulldog to reach double figures.

The evening was not a total loss for Southern fans, as the Ram jayvees topped their Bruce counterparts, 46-41.

It was a 28-point performance by Geoff Karlen that led the Sentinels to their easy win over the Rams Tuesday night in Oakland.

Fort Hill's press was too much for the Rams all evening, as Southern committed 30 turnovers.

The Sentinels jumped out to a 19-10 lead in the first quarter and quickly increased that advantage to 27-10 early in the second quarter. The Rams were down 41-21 at halftime and 63-29 by the end of the third stanza.

Reneslacis again led the Rams with 12 points, followed by Jimmy Liller with ten. Jim Washington also reached double figures for the winners with 14.

The Southern jayvees upped their season record to 2-0 with a 34-33 win over Fort Hill in the preliminary contest. J.R. Bosley led the Rams with 11 points.

The Rams will meet the Sentinels again next Tuesday evening in Cumberland and then host Valley on December 20.

Huskies Open With Win Over Salisbury, Loss To Mountaineers

The Northern High boys varsity basketball team blasted visiting Salisbury Friday evening, 67-39, in the season opener for both teams, but then fell to Beall Tuesday evening, 60-51, also at the Cove.

Three of Coach Harv Speicher's Huskies reached double figures in the Salisbury contest as Northern was never threatened. Bill Torres finished with 13 points, Mark Robeson hit 12, and John Brobst added ten, as the Huskies assumed leads of 14-4, 34-12, and 48-24 at the quarters.

Sam Ferraro and Ralph Pitz each recorded eight points for the Pennsylvanians.

Salisbury did salvage something that evening, by edging the Northern jayvees, 33-31, in the preliminary game. John Harmke paced the little Huskies with a dozen points.

Four Huskies finished in double figures Tuesday evening against the Mountaineers, but it was not enough as Mike Eberly and Eric Patterson paced Beall with 18 and 17 points, respectively. Brobst led Northern with 17, followed by Bill Torres with 12, and Mark and Mike Robeson with 11 points each.

Beall moved out to an 18-12 advantage by the end of the first period and then stretched that lead to 38-23 by halftime. Northern closed the gap to 49-39 in the third period, but was never able to get much closer.

The Northern jayvees were also defeated by Beall, 41-36, as Harmke again paced the Huskies with 16. Chris Stevens led Beall with 14.

The Huskies will attempt to return to the win column this Friday evening in Lonaconing against the Black Knights of Valley.

Coed Volleyball League Forming

The Garrett Volleyball Association is seeking teams for its newly formed Coed league. Teams will consist of three male and three female players.

First round of play will be regular coed rules with men's height net. Second round of play will be reverse coed with women's height net and no men's spiking. U.S.V.B.A. rules will be followed.

For further information persons may contact Mike Stephens at 387-9395.

Northern Girls Topped By Bruce

The Northern High girls basketball team dropped to 0-2 on the season last night after losing a heart-breaker to visiting Bruce, 32-30. It was the second straight win for the Lady Bulldogs.

Jennifer Hurd's pair of foul shots with just seven seconds remaining gave Bruce the win. Stacy Nash led the Bulldogs in scoring with 14, while Hurd finished with nine.

Julie Robeson led the Huskies with 14 points, while Melissa Beeman recorded ten.

The Northern jayvee girls were also defeated by Bruce, 24-10.

Southern Girls Win Two, Fall To Allegany

The Southern High varsity girls basketball team, which was the Maryland Class C runner-up last year, continued its winning tradition in the first two games of this season, however stumbled last night against a powerful Allegany squad, 50-26.

The Lady Rams opened the campaign with a 39-31 win at Hancock on Friday and a 33-31 edging of Mercersburg on Saturday.

Trisha Heatherman and Vickie Dilgard led Southern in scoring against Hancock with ten points each, while Tracy Watson netted 10 and Heatherman nine at Mercersburg.

Hancock's Jenny Barnhart led all scorers with 14 in Friday's game, while Sarah Wilson paced Mercersburg on Saturday with ten points.

The Southern jayvee squad also won its first two games with a 29-27 victory over Hancock and a 25-8 mashing of Mercersburg. Courtney Smith led the junior Rams' scoring.

Pam Breza and Yvonne Cousins led the undefeated Lady Campers in Oakland last night against the over-powered Rams, finishing with 12 and ten points, respectively.

Heatherman again led Southern with 13 points.

The Southern jayvees also fell to their Allegany counterparts in the preliminary game, 26-12. Courtney Smith led the Rams with ten points, while Refosco netted ten for the winners.

Coach Don Stemple's team will return to action this evening at Meyersdale and then entertain Valley next Wednesday.

Laker Women Finish Third In PSC Tournament

The Garrett Community College women's basketball team finished in third place in the Potomac State College Invitational Tournament, held last weekend in Keyser.

The Lakers were trounced in the opening round of the tourney by Mt. Aloysius, 71-33, on Friday, but came back to defeat Harford Community College in the consolation round Saturday, 72-69. Mt. Aloysius went on to win the tournament championship by edging Potomac State in the finals.

The Lakers' scoring attack against Mt. Aloysius was led by Vicki Plitt, who hit eight points, followed by Lillie Jeffries with six.

Amy Wharf, who was named the tournament's most valuable player, finished with 17 points for Mt. Aloysius and Mary Deskevich chipped in with nine.

The Lakers were edged by only one in rebounding as Jeffries and Lisa Roberts led Garrett with 11 and ten, respectively. Amy Berry dished out eight assists.

The Lakers' miserable shooting percentages, 25 percent from the floor and 23 percent from the free throw line, resulted in the lopsided score.

"I was very displeased with our play against Mt. Aloysius," stated Coach Ann Wellham. "We were playing against a much bigger squad, but I felt our quickness would have helped. We were not running our offenses as we are capable of doing and it was apparent that their transition game dominated us."

In the consolation round against Harford on Saturday, Lisa Roberts led the Lakers with 22 points, followed by Amy Berry with 16 and former Southern High standout Natalie Vetter with 15.

Once again the rebounding was fairly even, 49-47 in favor of Garrett, but the Lakers' shooting percentages were increased to 34 on the floor and 50 at the line.

Harford's Shelly Zahner led all scorers with 25 points, while teammates Susan Zachry and Debbie Roloff added 16 and 13 points, respectively.

Roberts and Jeffries paced Garrett's rebounding with eight each.

"Our game against Harford showed much more control as we were taking better percentage shots and capitalizing on defensive steals," stated Wellham.

Jeffries and Berry were among those players named to the All-Tournament team.

Tickets Still On Sale For GCC Benefit Raffle

Tickets are on sale for a benefit raffle being sponsored by the Garrett Community College baseball team, according to Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt. The drawing for a video cassette recorder, or a cash prize of $300, will be held Monday.

Proceeds from the raffle will go to the local flood relief effort, Nesselrodt said. The goal for the project is at least $1,000.

Tickets may be purchased at Browning's Foodland and Heck's in Oakland and at Fratz Red and White in Accident, as well as at GCC home basketball games this Saturday and Sunday.

Currently on display in the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, is a group exhibition of paintings, drawings, and prints by artists and art students associated with the atelier at Garrett Community College. The atelier is an approach to art education which enables beginning students to have experiences with professional artists, advanced students, and the instructor in an open studio atmosphere.

The exchange of ideas, technical information, and working disciplines become motivating and inspirational for each individual participating in the atelier, according to Ronald Skidmore, assistant professor of art at GCC.

The concept of the atelier began in ancient Greece and was the principal method used in teaching young artists during the Italian Renaissance, Skidmore said. The atelier was fully developed in 18th and 19th century France. A leading example of a contemporary atelier is Stanley William Hayter's Atelier 17 (Paris before World War II, in New York during World War II, and back to Paris after World War II); Atelier 17 played a leading role in technical experimentation and inventiveness of imagery in etching.

Skidmore extended an invitation to the public to meet the artists and view the exhibition at a reception on December 14, 1 to 4 p.m. at the Library. The exhibition includes a variety of images and expertise in oil painting, etchings, prints, and other visual art media. During the reception, the artists will be available to discuss their works with the general public and other interested persons.

Choral Society

The J.S. Bach selections will include: "Now Let All the Heavens Adore", "Come Blessed Lord", "Break Forth, O Beauteous, Heavenly Light", "How Shall I Fitly Meet Thee", "Rejoice and Sing", "Ah!, Dearest Lord," "Beside Thy Cradle Here I Stand," and "Come, Dearest Lord."

The Choral Society will remember the late Patti McLaughlin, to whom the concerts have been dedicated, by singing "Deep Peace" by Maxcine W. Posgate. Mrs. McLaughlin, who died suddenly in October, was one of the Choral Society's accompanists.

Accompanist for the choir is organist Dr. David Sheets. For a number of selections, Ruth Heubner will add flute harmony. A brass quartet, consisting of Jim and Fred Fox, Tim DeWitt, and Don Sincell, will also perform.

Advance tickets are available at the prescription counter of Englander's Pharmacy, Oakland, or from Choral Society members. Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens.

of the county roads system. Gregg said that one if the residents complaining the most Tuesday and on numerous other occassions was largely responsible for the removal of the road from the county system in the first place.

"It is unfortunate for those residents," said Gregg. "But that gentleman won the battle but lost the war, so to speak. Therefore, we have no authority and that's it."

The board of commissioners will, along with county clerk, Robert Fousek, will be spending the remainder of the week at the winter conference of MACo in Hagerstown.

While at the conference Commissioner Gregg will moderate a panel discussion of five speakers on the social, political and economic implications of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

Other topics of discussion at the conference will be the closure of hospitals across the state, liability insurance crisis, Project Open Space, real estate costs and housing initiatives.

ROBERT J. SUTTON

Robert J. Sutton, 67, of Wexford, Pa., died Monday, December 9, at North Hills Passavant Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa. He was a former resident of La-Vale and summered for many years at Deep Creek Lake.

A native of Bolivar, Pa., he was a son of the late Frank J. Sutton and Clara (Crawford) Sutton.

A retired Celanese Fibers Company employee, Mr. Sutton worked at the Amcelle plant in Cumberland and retired from Panma Manufacturing Company, a subsidiary of Celanese in Gastonia, Ga. He served as an Air Force captain during World War II, and was a member of Ingomar United Methodist Church and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eleanor (Eisel) Sutton; a son, Robert A. Sutton, Gibsonia, Pa., and one granddaughter.

Friends were received at the Hafer Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, where a service was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Adam E. Grim. Interment was in Rest Lawn Memorial Gardens.

MRS. HERBERT LEIGHTON

Mrs. Leona (Houck) Leighton, 86, of Oakland, died Tuesday, December 10, at her home.

She was born in Streator, Ill., September 12, 1899, daughter of the late Frederick Philip Houck and Anna (Schar) Houck.

Mrs. Leighton was a retired educator, having taught in Ohio, West Virginia and Garrett County schools. She also assisted her husband, Herbert C. Leighton, who owned the Leighton Funeral Home in Oakland, now the Durst Funeral Home.

Mrs. Leighton was a member of St. Paul's United Methodist Church and Oakland Chapter 67, Order of the Eastern Star. Her husband died in 1967.

She is survived by two sons, both physicians. They are Dr. Herbert H. Leighton, Oakland, and Dr. Richard F. Leighton, Toledo, Ohio. Also surviving are seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Durst Funeral Home today from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Oakland Chapter 67, OES, will hold a memorial service at the funeral home Friday at 7:30 p.m.

A service will be conducted at St. Paul's United Methodist Church Saturday at 11 a.m. by the Rev. Allen Ridenour. Interment will be in the Oakland Cemetery.

The body will be taken to the church a half hour before the service.

The family suggests that memorials take the form of contributions to St. Paul's Church memorial fund.

MRS. ARLIE BIBLE

Mrs. Zernie J. Bible, 68, of Maysville, W.Va., died Tuesday, December 10, at the Winchester, Va., Medical Center.

She was born at Landes, W.Va., May 9, 1917, daughter of Mrs. Hannah (Shirk) VanMeter, Oakland and the late Homer E. VanMeter.

Besides her mother, Mrs. Bible is survived by her husband, Arlie L. Bible; four sons, Bobby E. Bible, Maysville; Ronnie W. Bible, Petersburg, W.Va.; Roger L. Bible, Moorefield, W.Va.; Merlin Bible, at home; one stepson, Marvin Bible, Sherr, W. Va.; two daughters, Mrs. Hilda Lambert, Franklin, W.Va.; Mrs. Norma Feaster, New Creek, W.Va.; two sisters, Mrs. Delia Folk, Oakland; Mrs. Margie Keplinger, Petersburg; two brothers, Carl E. VanMeter, Petersburg; Melvin S. VanMeter, Euclid, Ohio; six grandchildren, two step-grandchildren, and two step-great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Schaeffer Funeral Home, Petersburg from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. today. A service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the Falls Assembly of God Church, Maysville, by the Rev. Luther Travis, the Rev. Stanley Kile and the Rev. Thomas L. Goldizen. Interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

The body will be taken to the church at noon on Friday.

The family suggests that memorials be directed to a charity of the donor's choice.

DELTON E. WINTERS

Delton E. Winters, 67, of Dubuque, Iowa, formerly of Eglon, W.Va., died Tuesday, December 10, at Canterbury Health Center, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Born September 8, 1918, in Eglon, W.Va., he was a son of the late William H. Winters and Myrtle A. (Carver) Winters. He was preceded in death by his wife, Louise (Stemple) Winters, in January 1983.

Mr. Winters owned a refrigeration and air conditioning company in Oklahoma and was an Army veteran of World War II.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Sheryl L. Dunhan, Oklahoma City; a son, Steven Winters, Minneapolis, Minn.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Anita Hustead, of North Carolina; a brother, George F. Winters, Eglon; four grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland today from 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in Eglon, Friday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Rogers Fike and the Rev. Galen Fike. Interment will be in Eglon Cemetery.

The body will be taken to the church one hour prior to services.

Aiken Dies

Surviving are his wife, Hildegarde (Miller) Aiken; a son, William E. Aiken, Buckhannon, W.Va.; four daughters, Mrs. Barbara Sutton, Baltimore; Mrs. Margaret Byrne, Durwood; Mrs. Martha Best, Clarksville, and Mrs. Amelia Abrahams, Silver Spring; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home in Accident. A service was conducted Saturday in the Zion Lutheran Church by the Rev. Wilfred Karsten. Interment was in the church cemetery.

The family requests memorials take the form of contributions to the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad, Accident Fire Department or to the scholarship fund at Garrett Community College.

A FURRY FELINE FRIEND — This female domestic shorthair would be a fine friend during the Christmas season, and with the proper care, a companion for life. The yellow Tiger can be adopted simply by calling the Garrett County Animal Shelter at 334-3553. The age of the cat is unknown. Last week's kitten was adopted by Derek Hulick of Grantsville.

OCPD Reports Arrest, Mishap

An Oakland man was arrested last night for driving while intoxicated, according to Chief John Sines of the Oakland City Police Department.

Dallas M. Uphold, 47, was apprehended by Cpl. Ron Beeghly at approximately 10 p.m. on Center Street. He was also charged with failure to keep right of the center line.

Chief Sines reported that Uphold spent the night in the Garrett County Jail.

The department reported a hit and run mishap which occurred last Wednesday in the Town Parking Lot.

Chief Sines, who investigated the incident, reported that approximately $300 damage was done to the right front bumper area of a blue 1984 Pontiac Sunbird 2000.

Chief Sines said the department has no leads, and anyone with information about the mishap should contact the police department.

The department also reported that a brown 20-inch Western Flyer boy's bicycle was found last Thursday night at the intersection of Second and Oak Streets. The bike can be claimed at the department.

Poultry In Garrett County

According to a phone survey of most feed dealers in Garrett County there are over 100 small poultry flocks in the county. And with the Avian Influenza outbreak last year and other diseases, the University of Maryland Poultry Specialists are suggesting the following steps of Good Neighbors—A Health Program for Small Poultry Flocks.

Safeguard Flock Health And Maryland's Economy

Practice Confinement Management—Always keep your poultry housed or in a fenced area. Never let poultry or other fowl run loose. Dead birds should be burned or buried at least one foot deep.

Avoid Mixing Species—When wild or tame waterfowl or parrot-type exotic birds are housed or fed near chickens, turkeys or other game fowl, outbreaks of disease can occur with disastrous consequences. Also, simply mixing chickens and turkeys can prompt disease outbreaks.

All-In, All-Out—Process entire flock every 12 to 15 months. Freeze or can the meat for later consumption. Wash and disinfect the poultry house. Replace flock with healthy chicks from a single source. Do not add any new stock until the next cleanout.

Health Specifications—Avoid bargain poultry. Insist that 1) replacement chicks have been vaccinated against Marek's disease, and 2) all chickens, turkeys, game fowl or waterfowl purchased are officially classified as U.S. Pullorum-Typhoid Clean.

Nutrition—Always provide fresh, clean water and a commercially produced feed. Such feeds are nutritionally complete and balanced. Do not feed skimpily.

Medication—Generally, 1- to 21-day-old fowl benefit from vitamins added to their drinking water. Also, feeds used for 1-day to 8-week-old turkeys and 1-day to 16-week-old chickens should include a coccidiostat. After turkeys are 8 weeks old, blackhead medication should be added to their feed

Diagnostic Services—Report unusual losses or "colds" as soon as possible. The following laboratory provides free poultry diagnostic services. It is advisable to phone ahead for directions and advice on what to bring for examination. For Garrett County: Md. Animal Health Laboratory, 12 South Third Street, Oakland, Md. 21550; Phone 334-2185.

The Oakland Extension Office has additional information available on small poultry flocks and sources of approved hatcheries for chickens, turkeys, and other fowl.

DISCUSSION MEET WINNER — Maryland will be represented at the national Young Farmers Discussion Meet by a Garrett County farmer for the second year in a row. Karen Hamilton, of Red House, won the 1985 Maryland Young Farmers Discussion Meet Monday night in Ocean City during the Maryland Farm Bureau Convention. Karen (right) was presented, as a trophy, a model Allis Chalmers tractor, a symbol of the grand prize awarded at the national contest. Karen is shown receiving her trophy from the outgoing Maryland Young Farmers president, Lee West. Pictured on the left is Criss Kepple, who was the 1984 discussion meet winner and served as the moderator for this year's state contest. Both girls are agricultural students at the University of Maryland.

Farm Bill Review
. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

The House-Senate farm bill conference committee has been "hard" at work for a week trying to come up with a bill they can hand to the president before the end of the year.

For a week, they have been trying to complete a compromise on the major commodity sections of the bill, but many of the conferees are still interjecting personal interests instead of working to produce a bill for the benefit of farmers and farm programs as a whole.

Reported examples include an attempted trade action against Canada by Sen. Jesse Helms because he feels it would punish Cuba and Fidel Castro who is a trading partner of Canada. Sen. Edward Zorinsky has been spending time condemning the Reagan administration, and has threatened to "do everything I can to delay there being a farm bill this year" unless some of his demands are met.

The committee has pledged to finish their work before Congress adjourns for Christmas sometime next week, but who knows?

Agriculture Secretary John R. Bock is representing the Reagan administration, which opposes both the House and Senate versions of the farm bill. The administration, however, is more comfortable with some of the approaches of the Senate legislation, which would gradually wean farmers away from government subsidy programs.

The Senate proposal would cost more than the House's, however, and the administration thinks both bills cost too much.

The House and Senate bills are at odds on everything from sunflowers to sheep, but the main battlegrounds are the dairy program, basic income-subsidy programs for big crops such as wheat and soybeans, and the total cost of a farm bill.

There's fear that the bill may end up delayed until next year or that the current legislation will simply be extended again. Maryland's outgoing Farm Bureau president, Henry Holloway said he is concerned that the committee will put off any action until it is too late, leaving the state's farmers in the dark about the government's plans.

"Current farm programs have not been successful, and extending them would be a serious mistake," Holloway said. "After working on the bill for an entire year, it is time for Congress to act so that farmers can plan for 1986," he said.

With the conference committee, as well as the rest of Congress, striving to adjourn soon for Christmas, I certainly hope to have more information (and I hope it's something positive) to report in this column next week.

Oakland Members Attend Southern States Conference

Southern States Cooperative's annual stockholders live videoconference was held November 20 at the Ramada Inn in Morgantown, W.Va. The videoconference, which originated from Richmond, Va., was viewed by members and guests at 10 locations across the co-op's five-state territory by means of broadcast signals beamed to satellites and relayed back to earth.

A full report of this first such conference for regional farm supply cooperatives in the United States was printed in the November 28 issue of The Republican. Not included in that report were the names of Southern States members from the Oakland area who attended the conference. They were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shillingburg; and Rex Hoalcraft, manager of Southern States Oakland Cooperative, Inc.

Dandridge Named Manager Of Luke Westvaco Mill

Roger A. Dandridge has been promoted to the position of manager of Westvaco's Luke Mill, effective immediately, according to an announcement by Harold A. Sutphen, senior vice president of the company.

Dandridge succeeds Dr. Philip H. Emery, Jr., who has accepted a position with another company. Dandridge had been serving as production manager of the Luke Mill since April 1981.

In commenting on Emery's resignation, Sutphen said, "Phil Emery's career with Westvaco, which spanned more than 20 years, has been distinguished. During the 4½ years he served as mill manager at Luke, a great many improvements were put in place which will help insure the future competitive position of the mill and will serve as a foundation for its continued growth."

Dandridge joined Westvaco in June of 1965 at the Charleston mill as a technical service engineer. He was promoted to group leader of the mill's Technical Service Department in November 1970 before transferring to Luke in May of 1973 as a technical assistant in the Paper Mill group. He advanced to supervisor of No. 9 paper machine in January of 1974 and was appointed superintendent of Nos. 8 and 9 paper machines in October 1978. He became production manager in April 1981.

He is a native of Charleston, S.C. and received a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering from the University of South Carolina.

Dandridge and his wife, Zelda, reside in the Bel Air section of Cumberland. They have three children, a daughter living in Charleston, S.C., a son attending Virginia Tech, and another son at home.

LOCAL YOUTH HONORED — Robert Germain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Germain, Oakland, was among 24 Maryland youths who were honored at a reception and banquet last month in celebration of International Youth Year. The event, which took place in the Constellation Room of Baltimore's World Trade Center, was sponsored by the Governor's Youth Advisory Council (GYAC), which is composed of 60 young people between the ages of 13 and 20 from all over the state who advise the Governor on youth issues and concerns. The banquet recognized one young person from each local jurisdiction who has demonstrated a commitment and contribution to bettering themselves and/or their community. Each honoree received a letter from the Governor, the state insignia flag pin, and mementos from his or her home county. Pictured above is Germain, center, with Governor and Mrs. Hughes.

Income Standards For Prescription Assistance Upped

A 3.1 percent increase in maximum income standards for the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program now in effect, corresponding to cost-of-living increases in federal retirement programs, will enable current beneficiaries to remain on the program and additional Marylanders to participate, DHMH officials said this week.

The increase in gross annual income standards for individuals and families of all ages is a result of a legislative amendment passed by the 1985 Maryland General Assembly, according to John W. Baker, manager of the Pharmacy Assistance Program in the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

If an individual's gross annual income is $5,800 or less and he or she is not receiving Medical Assistance (Medicaid), that person may be eligible to obtain prescription drugs and certain other covered items at a cost of one dollar, with the State paying the remaining cost.

For each additional eligible person in the family, the income limit increased by approximately $600. The asset standards for the Pharmacy Assistance Program are similar to those for the Maryland Medical Assistance Program.

The Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program was established in 1979 to provide assistance to those persons who have an annual gross income higher than that which would make them eligible for Medicaid, but who are in financial need for the purchase of prescription drugs.

Approximately 13,000 Marylanders from throughout the state currently receive support from the Pharmacy Assistance Program.

For more information or an application form, eligible individuals are encouraged to call toll-free 1-800-492-1974. Correspondence may be addressed to the Maryland Pharmacy Assistance Program, Post Office Box 386, Baltimore, Maryland 21203.

Tucker County Flood Aid Dance Swings Dec. 13

A benefit dance for the flood victims of Tucker County, W.Va., will be held Friday, December 13, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Thomas Community Center in Thomas, W.Va.

"Allegheny Front", from Garrett County, and Canaan Valley's "Riece Brown and The Late Nite Show" will feature rhythm and blues, country, and bluegrass music.

Tickets at the door will be $4 per person and $7 per couple. Pre-sale tickets are available for $3.50 per person and $5 per couple at Grandmother's House and The Arts 'N Crafts Center in Oakland.

The public is invited. B.Y.O.B., ice and set-ups will be available. All proceeds will go to the Flood Aid Christmas Fund sponsored by the Alpine Heritage Preservation, Inc.

Tina Rodeheaver To Compete For Md. Miss TEEN

Tina Louise Rodeheaver has been selected to compete in the 1986 Maryland Miss T.E.E.N. Pageant to be held at the Ocean City Convention Hall in Ocean City on April 11, 12, and 13, 1986. The 14-year old Friendsville girl is the daughter of Gary and Sandra Rodeheaver. In her pageant, she and other 13 to 18 year-olds will be honored and recognized for their achievements—personal, in school, and in their communities.

Tina and other young ladies from all over the state who participate in the pageant must maintain a "B" grade average in school. Contestants are also required to participate in the Volunteer Service Program. Through this program many teen girls are becoming involved in community activities by contributing at least 12 hours of time benefitting those less fortunate than themselves.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, volunteer service, speech or talent, personal interview, and formal presentation. Awards will be presented in each category. The 1986 Maryland Miss T.E.E.N. will receive a $1,000 cash scholarship, a full modeling scholarship to Barbizon School of Modeling in Baltimore, a round trip flight and all expenses paid to compete in the National Miss T.E.E.N. finals for over $25,000 in scholarships and other awards.

Tina was the 1982 winner of the Herring Heritage Award and enjoys basketball, running, and swimming in her spare time.

Her sponsors include Bridgeview Coal Company of Farmington, Pa.; Donald F. Frazee of Kingwood, W.Va.; the S&S Market in Friendsville; and the Oakland Coca-Cola Plant.

Something To Think About

DIRECTOR

FUNERAL COST PREPAYMENT

If you wish, you may choose not to do anything at all about prepaying your funeral expenses. Let the money come out of your estate's assets when you die. If it's obvious that there will be money in your estate—in the form of savings, insurance, cashable stocks or bonds, or other liquid assets—that's probably all the protection your survivor needs. The money you would otherwise tie up for funeral payments could be invested or put into savings instead.

The disadvantage of this course is that your estate may never be so large as to cover the funeral costs adequately. Another possibility is that even if you are well off now, your financial fortunes may change to such a degree that there won't be much money in the estate when you die. In such cases, your survivors would be under great financial strain to meet the cost of your funeral and burial. It may require going into insurance money or other resources more urgently needed to live on.

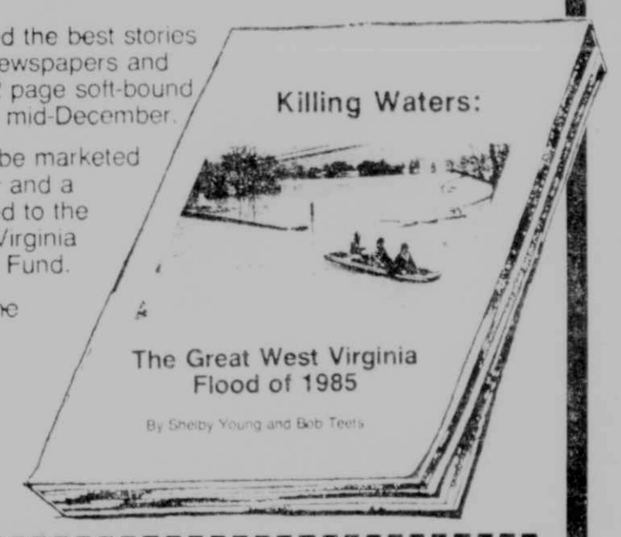
SPECIAL FIRST EDITION! Available in mid-December...



West Virginia newspapers were on the scene when an unprecedented flood brought death and destruction to 29 counties in West Virginia. But despite the devastation, countless stories of bravery, of neighbor helping neighbor, of heart-rendering heroism emerged in the aftermath.

Killing Waters:
The Great West Virginia Flood of 1985
By Shelby Young and Bob Teets

Two newsmen have compiled the best stories and photographs from those newspapers and put them in one volume, a 112 page soft-bound book which will be available in mid-December.

This special first edition will be marketed through state newspapers only and a portion of the proceeds donated to the Salvation Army and the West Virginia Press Association Flood Relief Fund.

Reserve your copy now at the special pre-publication price of $9.95 (price will be $12 per copy after first edition is sold) by filling out the order blank below.

Please reserve for me _____ copies of Killing Waters. I enclose $9.95 plus 50 cents tax (a total of $10.45) for each copy. (If you would prefer to receive your copies by mail, please see #2 below for mail order information and costs.)

Two Interesting Words...

. . . research and documentation.

The first implies searching AGAIN for something others found . . . or didn't find. The second suggests discovering the record of the search and its results.

Similar words, properly yet rarely used in the same context, are CHURCH and BIBLE.

In church a man pursues his spiritual research. He seeks the truth and joy that others have sometimes found . . . recognizing that some did not always find them.

In the Bible a man surveys the account of earlier searches and their results. He can link his own findings to all that was revealed to those who searched before him.

In this scientific age it may be that you, like many before, require research and documentation for your religious beliefs. In the laboratory and library God has provided — they're waiting for you now.

WHAT IS YOUR PAIN QUOTIENT?

Pain, your body's signal to you that something is wrong is not tolerated equally by the sexes. It is far more painful for women than for men. Also more painful for the young and for orientals than for the blacks and whites. A recent experiment in pain tolerance found that sex was the most important factor in determining how well a person can stand pain. Even the oldest men withstood pain better than the youngest women.

Fortunately, pain relief can be equally appreciated by everyone and in our prescription department we regularly stock thousands of medicines whose sole purpose is to alleviate pain.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

OVER TO BETHLEHEM

December 15, 1985

Background Scripture: Luke 2:8-20.
Devotional Reading: Luke 1:67-80.

The Christmas story is very likely the single most familiar story in the world. There is hardly a culture anywhere that does not know it.

In fact, it may well be that the world is too familiar with the Christmas story--so familiar, perhaps, that we easily overlook many of the significant implications of it. For example, everyone knows that shepherds tending their flocks in the fields were visited by angels who proclaimed Jesus' birth in Bethlehem. But, when you go back and read the story in Luke 2, you find that the angels' appearance to the shepherds is no mere sidelight on the Christmas story. The shepherds, it would appear, were singled out--and apparently the shepherds alone--to receive the message from the angels and make the short journey to the Bethlehem manger "to see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us" (2:15).

WHY SHEPHERDS?

Apart from the wise men, who may have come as much as a ye later--no one else got the messa to go over to Bethlehem to see ar adore the Christ child. The bett part of Luke's account of t nativity of Christ is dominated b the shepherds, their experience the angels and their visit to th manger. No kings, no merchant no priests got either the messa or the invitation. Just a few humb shepherds tending their flocks b night.

Why shepherds? Well, course, shepherds make for a mo colorful and romantic story. Bu although I can't claim to kno God's mind on this matter, I a quite confident that God's choic of the shepherds was based upo something more than just a deta for a colorful tale. It would seer that his selection of the shepherd was in line with his decision to kee the principal components of th story on a humble level: a peasar family, an unknown maiden an her betrothed from an obscur village, and a stable and manger i an inn that was already full. An then, it was to humble shepherd that the angels came.

"LET US GO!"

It is as if God is emphasizin that the Christmas story an message is for everyone every where. One does not have to b learned, powerful or rich to receiv and appropriate the Good New of Christmas. All that is needed i the humble responsiveness dis played so beautifully by th shepherds: "Let us go over t Bethlehem and see this thing tha has happened..."

Advent and Christmas are a tim when the whole world has th opportunity to hear the angels an to make the timeless pilgrimage t Bethlehem to see for ourselves th good news that God has sent to al humanity.

Insight Into Education

This article was written by Arthur A. Refosco, principal of Southern High School.

SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL

Traditionaliy students from Southern High School have consistently scored higher than other students from Maryland and across the nation on the verbal, math and Test of Standard Written English sections of the Scholastic Aptitude Test. In addition, many of Southern's graduates have been exempt from freshman composition classes in various colleges and universities because of their outstanding skills in thinking and writing.

To insure the continued success of Southern High School's graduates and to make the curriculum even more highly competitive with the curricula of other outstanding high schools, this year the faculty is implementing various activities related to Writing Across the Curriculum, a nationwide movement that emphasizes the process of writing in all classes, not just in English classes.

The following poem by Jim Wayne Miller from Vein of Words expresses the emphasis that is being placed on Writing Across the Curriculum at Southern High School during the 1985-86 school year: "Try to think of your rough draft as a creek in flood time, roaring out of banks. There's been a nightstorm on your mind's headwaters so the poem comes trash-filled, tumbling, full of chicken coops, barbed wire, tin shed roofs scraping down either bank, dropping fertilizer sacks and two-by fours in branches. It's swirling and standing out in bottomland.

"Now you work with it until it drops every tin can and bottle and runs clear again between its banks. Of course you'll want to leave a few surprises, so the reader, out in your poem like a troutfisherman in waders, rounds a bend and comes on a piano lodged high in the forks of a sycamore."

The flood imagery in this poem clearly relates the strength and power of the written word as a tool for students to express their thoughts by: 1) letting their thoughts flow, 2) sorting their thoughts, 3) organizing them logically, 4) revising for clarity, and 5) creating a unique style.

These are all a part of the writing process that is being taught by the English Department of Southern High School.

Because the ability to think and communicate clearly and effectively is a skill that students will need throughout their lifetime in many different situations, the main goal of the Southern High School faculty this year is to help students improve their writing skills.

To achieve this goal, in September Arthur A. Refosco, principal, appointed a steering committee which made recommendations for the following specific course of action to implement Writing Across the Curriculum.

The English Department has reviewed the teaching of writing as a process including prewriting, drafting, revising and evaluating.

Six English teachers are helping students improve their writing skills during a Writing Activity Period once a month.

English teachers are available by appointment before school, after school, and during study halls to have conferences with students on an individual basis, and all eleventh grade English teachers are serving as special advisors for their students who still need to pass the Maryland Functional Writing Test.

In addition to the "functional" writing activities, the English Department of Southern High School continues to teach the higher-level of thinking and writing skills that are required for college-preparatory students.

Special orientation meetings regarding Writing Across the Curriculum have also been conducted for departmental chairpersons and for the entire faculty by Mr. Refosco; Mr. Luther Parrack, Director of Secondary Education; and Mrs. Linda Buckel, language arts resource teacher. All teachers have been asked to incorporate writing as a learning tool in their curricular areas.

In the near future, two videotapes will be used for inservice education to show the faculty of Southern High School a series of writing experiences that demonstrate the power of Writing Across the Curriculum as a learning tool.

The first tape, entitled Three Strategies for Using Writing to Learn, stresses that writing can 1) help us recall what we've already learned; 2) prepare us to learn something new; and 3) facilitate learning as one studies any topic.

The second tape shows how "searching writing" is a way of thinking and learning. By viewing this tape, the faculty will learn how to help students to fulfill their needs to learn about something they're genuinely interested in while simultaneously satisfying the curricular goals in any academic discipline.

Local Student To Sing At Mercersburg

Scott Browning, a sophomore at Mercersburg Academy, will sing as a member of the Mercersburg Chorale in the annual Candlelight Service on Sunday, December 15, at 4 and 7:30 p.m. in the Academy Chapel. The theme of this year's service is "The Poetry of Christmas."

In this second year at Mercersburg, Browning is also a chapel usher. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cheston Browning III, Oakland.

Selective Service Registration Deadline Nears

The Selective Service System reaches an important milestone in the registration of young men on January 1, 1986.

Beginning on this date, men who were required in 1980 to register with Selective Service will be turning 26. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept registrations olf men after they turn 26. Men who failed to register will have permanently forfeited their right to certain Federal student aid and job training benefits as well as Federal employment. Additionally, registration with Selective Service is a requirement in some states for various employment opportunities such as law enforcement agencies and permission to practice law.

Men born in 1960 who have registered, will reach age 26 in 1986 and, under present law, will no longer be eligible for selection for induction. Over 15 million men, age 18 through 25, have registered with Selective Service since President Carter initiated registration in 1980.

Many of the men who are non-registrants may be unaware of the requirement or do not understand the importance of the obligation to register. Some have served in the military, but failed to register either before entering the Armed Forces or after leaving active duty. Others may have been incarcerated at the time of their 18th birthday and not realized they were required to register if released from custody prior to age 26.

Selective Service personnel state that men age 18 to 25 who have not yet registered should register promptly to avoid prosecution and/or loss of benefits. Registration takes about five minutes at any post office. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to five years imprisonment.

Tuition Money Available Through New Horizons

The New Horizons Program, a Single Parent/Homemaker/Displaced Homemaker Project sponsored by Maryland State Department of Vocational/Technical Education and Garrett Community College, has available for the spring semester at GCC $5,000 tuition assistance money to be used by eligible program participants in pursuing vocational training in both non-credit and credit areas. Credit tuition assistance is a new addition to the program this funding year and the New Horizons staff says it is ready to make this money available to clients interested in credit classes in the vocational area.

Arrangements have also been made to assist clients with the purchase of materials to be used in taking classes such as non-reusable file boxes, workbooks and softbacked books in the non-credit classes and up to $20 per class on college books in credit classes.

To learn more about the New Horizons Program or to determine eligibility for assistance, persons may contact New Horizons between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays at 334-9184 for more information or to schedule an appointment or visit the New Horizons office at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College in Room 607.

Westernport Choir To Present Cantata

The Westernport Church of the Brethren choir will sing their annual Christmas cantata, "Love Beyond Measure," this Sunday, December 15, at the 10:40 morning worship hour.

The musical is arranged by Michael E. Parks.

Directed by Mrs. Carol Lee Kelly, the choir will be accompanied by Gene Marsh. Gary Clem will narrate the story.

Featured in special parts will be Mrs. Donna Grogg, alto soloist, and Wendy Marsh, soprano soloist.

A women's three-part chorus will be featured in "No Room In Bethlehem" and "Glory To God", the men's chorus will sing "Seeking A King."

The choir will present the cantata at Heartland in Keyser, W. Va., on Thursday, December 19.

Parks To Hire 40 For Summer

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service in Garrett County announced it will hire over 40 persons for summer jobs at New Germany, Big Run, Deep Creek Lake, Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks. The jobs include building and grounds maintenance, small construction projects, fee collections, office duties, interpretive programming and seasonal rangers.

To qualify, applicants must be able to read and write, provide their own transportation to work, be physically able to perform the required tasks and be available to work a variety of shift schedules including weekends, holidays, evenings and nights. Applications will be accepted from persons who are at least 16 years of age as of May 1, 1986. However, first consideration will be given to applicants who are at least 18 years of age.

Interested persons may apply in person for employment applications between January 1, and January 31, 1986, at the Maryland Job Service Office, 216 East Alder Street, Oakland. Applications will not be accepted at park offices.

Dack Rambo heads for other side of cameras

By Cindy Adams

Dack Rambo, that handsome hunk from "Dallas," has written a TV movie about twins. He'll produce it himself. Said Dack: "It's my own story about growing up as a twin, about trying to gain your own identity. A few years ago, my twin brother was killed. I had a premonition; I could feel the dread. It took me five hours to answer my phone. I've had therapy, and writing this film has been a catharsis. Maybe I'll finally get it all out now. I won't star in the film because the story's too painful."

Dack Rambo

Dack, who was wearing celadon green all over — suede jacket, linen pants, silk shirt — added: "'Dallas' is my first success as an actor, but what I want to do is produce. Acting isn't what's important for me."

The actor was holding hands with "Falcon Crest" star Morgan Fairchild, yet he still said: "Marriage isn't what's important for me either right now. For me, it's career. I've been through lots of relationships. I'm 40. I'm too old for kids and I'm not willing to give of myself."

I later noticed Morgan was no longer holding his hand.

Morgan Fairchild

Timothy Daly just ended his stint in the Manhattan Theater Club's production of "Oliver Oliver" at City Center in New York. Before "Cagney & Lacey" came along, older sister Tyne Daly auditioned for the MTC. She was turned down — five times! Backstage, when she visited her kid brother, Tyne asked the producers, "Now will you give me a job?"

Don Adams' new USA Network sitcom "Check It Out" takes place in a supermarket. After each taping, the fruits and veggies are shipped to local charities. ... If any of you CB mamas want to know Burt Reynolds' CB handle, it's "Navajo Breeze." And 10-4 to you, too. ... Prolific celeb biographer Charles Higham's next tome will be on the life and times of Lucille Ball.

Persistent Karlen hits big-time TV success

By Gillian George

Don't tell John Karlen that "It's always darkest just before the dawn" is merely a cliche. He has ample reason to know that the adage can sometimes be the simple truth.

John Karlen

"The six months before I was hired to play Harvey Lacey on 'Cagney & Lacey' were the lowest point in my 30-year career as an actor," recalls the 52-year-old actor. "Even though I had been working steadily in TV and movies for 15 years, I was dead broke, feeling middle-aged and overweight and beginning to lose a bit of my strength and determination.

"I love acting and wouldn't choose to be in any other field. But the real reason I was hanging in there," Karlen adds, "is that I'm essentially a gambler. I've always understood the concept of odds, and I figured that if I was just around long enough, and was good enough, some day it would happen for me. And, of course, it finally did."

Karlen dropped out of school at 16 and, two years later, joined the Air Force. When he discovered that military life was no more appealing than working with his hands, Karlen took the advice of one of his three sisters and gave acting a try.

"Something clicked immediately," Karlen remembers, "though it took me a couple of years to really make up my mind after my discharge. I had a desire to act, but it wasn't exactly burning."

Karlen enrolled in New York's American Academy of Dramatic Arts in 1957, and made his professional acting debut less than a year later in a live "Kraft Theater" TV drama. "I still remember how shook up my father was after seeing his kid on TV," the actor laughs. "He finally told me I was very good."

Nowadays, he says his only real nagging doubt is whether Harvey Lacey is just too good to be true. "Sometimes when I watch the show and Harve has just given Mary Beth the best back rub in the world — not to mention understanding every problem she has and never grousing about her dangerous line of work — my real wife throws something at me and says, 'Give me a break!'

"I actually think Harvey is a little bit too nice," Karlen confesses. "Nobody is that understanding all the time. I wouldn't mind if the writers would rough him up a bit around the edges. But other than that, I couldn't be happier playing Mr. Mary Beth Lacey."

What's in a name? Cliff (Bill Cosby) tries to convince his daughter Rudy (Keshia Knight Pulliam) that her unusual first name is all right after she's heckled in school in "The Cosby Show," airing Thursday, Dec. 19 on NBC.

Reid hammers his way to good fitness

By Renee Ross

Wielding a hammer can be as exhausting as pumping iron, says Tim Reid. "I'm remodeling a house, so there's constant hauling of lumber and swinging of hammers," explains the actor, who stars as undercover police lieutentant Downtown Brown on the CBS series "Simon & Simon."

"I don't have a chance to get to the gym since we've started, but remodeling seems to be more than enough workout at this point," laughs Reid, who viewers remember as hip deejay Venus Flytrap on the long-running series "WKRP in Cincinnati."

When Reid first learned he would play a cop on "Simon & Simon," he took the new acting assignment seriously. "Going from the role of disc jockey to police officer required quite a bit of mental and physical preparation," he recalls. "Cops should be in good shape, and I decided to shape my body to fit the role."

So Reid embarked on a grueling exercise plan that added nearly 20 pounds to his weight and 20 inches of muscle to his arms and legs. Once he achieved his workout goals, the actor says he was wise enough to stop before he became obsessed.

"I started to ask myself, 'Why exercise so much?', and I couldn't come up with any legitimate answer except egotistical ones," explains the 6-foot, 174-pound Reid. "I'm growing out of my clothes anyway — I went from a size 38 to a 41 sports coat. There's no reason to be any bigger."

Though he's in top shape, the 41-year-old actor opposes jogging. "I hate it," he says. "I think it's doing more harm than good for many people. Unless you're training for the Olympics, there's no reason to run 10 miles every day of your life through rain, sleet and snow. Running helps the cardiovascular system, but it isn't that good in terms of shaping the body. The most it does," Reid adds, "is give you strange-looking calf muscles. I think the best exercise anybody can do is ride a bike."

Reid, a Norfork, Va. native who earned a college degree in business before turning to comedy, says good eating is an important key to keeping fit.

"I've been involved in nutrition for almost 10 years. I don't eat red meat or use salt or sugar," he explains, "and prefer poultry, fish and vegetables. If I'm going to be busy working, I increase my protein intake. I believe in listening to the body."

Winkler wakes fans by producing TV fare

By Frank Lovece

Forget the Fonz. Henry Winkler is an executive producer now, and he doesn't say things like "Ayyy, Mr. C! Gotta development deal for a prime-time action-adventure series targeted to 18-to-24-year-old urban males!" Winkler doesn't say things like that, he simply does them. Witness "MacGyver," the splashy first effort from Henry Winkler/John Rich Productions.

Henry Winkler

"Slowly but surely," reckons the articulate, soft-spoken 40-year-old Winkler in his Los Angeles Paramount Studios office, "'MacGyver' is working out as we conceived it. Then again," he adds, "you never know where your show's gonna take you."

You could say the same thing about Winkler's career. After portraying teen icon Arthur "Fonzie" Fonzarelli in the long-running ABC series "Happy Days," Winkler has put his acting ambitions on hold, finding new success as a producer-humanitarian. He's been honored with the United Nations Peace Prize and a B'nai Brith "Champion of Youth" award. His two other production companies — Fair Dinkum and JZM (named for his children Jed, Zoe and Max) — have helped put together such pro-social TV and video fare as "Strong Kids, Safe Kids" and "Who Are the De-Bolts and Where Did They Get 19 Kids?"

Winkler's few film appearances have been met with tepid response, although he did earn a Golden Globe nomination for his starring role in "Night Shift" (1983). As for the future, he says, "Not only do I not have the time (to act), but I don't even think about it the same way I used to. I'm having such a good time I might produce and work with kids for the rest of my life."

He just might. Winkler-Rich's second show, "Mr. Sunshine," is slated as an ABC mid-season replacement, and the production company has plans for two more series.

"I'm very fortunate," Winkler adds. "I have a wonderful time doing what I'm doing. I have great children, a great wife and a great partner. We're having a good time making a show we enjoy. Gimme a break!"

Well, they do say California is falling into the sea. Winkler smiles. "I'll tell you what," he quips. "I'll learn to swim."

For the record: A list of sound gift ideas

By Marc Minnelli

The Christmas clock is ticking away. You still have gifts to buy. Lines are long. Tempers are short. And — bah humbug! — you're running low on cash. What to do?

Why not get in the groove by dishing out vinyl platters? This year, there's a bevy of Christmas records from which to choose, featuring tunes that range from the ridiculous to the religious.

Rock and rollers will love "Rockin' Christmas — the 50's" (Rhino Records, $8.98), a tuneful disc featuring such gems as Bobby Helms' 1958 classic "Jingle Bell Rock" and the rare 1956 ditty "Christmas in Jail," a warning about the evils of drinking and driving. Delicious!

The Yuletide spirit continues into the next decade with "Rockin' Christmas — the 60's," (Rhino, $8.98). This platter is as tuneful as its predecessor. There's a plethora of prizes here: Aretha Franklin's searing "Winter Wonderland" James Brown's "Let's Make Christmas Mean Something This Year" and steel-guitar masters Santo and Johnny's "Twistin' Bells," a highly energized version of "Jingle Bells."

If you're looking for Christmas chuckles, try "Christmas Time with the Three Stooges" (Rhino, $5.98), a reissue of the comedy trio's classic 1959 album. Here are six madcap versions of your holiday favorites, including "Wreck the Halls with Boughs of Holly" (sound effects and all!) and "Jingle Bells Drag." A Stoogephile's treasure!

More Christmas craziness can be found on "Dr. Demento Presents the Greatest Novelty Records of All Time — Vol. VI, Christmas" (Rhino, $8.98), a treasury of 12 winterland winners. How can you resist such goodies as "Grandma Got Run Over by a Reindeer," by ex-veterinarian Elmo Shropshire and his wife Patsy. The 1979 ditty is daffy and delightful: "She had hoof prints on her forehead," warble Elmo and Patsy, "and incriminating Claus marks on her back." On Donner and Blitzen! Other best bets: Spike Jones' 1947 version "All I Want for Christmas is My Two Front Teeth" and Allan Sherman's hysterical version of "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Then there are the more colorful holiday records. "Christmas Rocks" (Rhino, $5.98) is a plastic, green Christmas-tree shaped disc boasting four songs masquerading as Christmas carols. Three selections are the Dragons' infectious rock version of "Silent Night," the Raves' driving "Punk Rock Christmas" and the Beach Boys-esque "Santa's Gone Surfin'," by the Malibooz. "Hey, I don't want to see no frown/He'll get to you when the waves are down."

"Hanukah Rocks" (Rhino, $5.98) is a plastic blue star-shaped disc by Gefilte Joe and the Fish, who bill themselves as the world's only senior-citizen Jewish rock band. It takes repeated spins to appreciate such tunes as "Napper's Delight" and "Walk on the Kosher Side," but "Matzoh Man," a spoof of the Village People hit "Macho Man" is as good as kreplach. Enjoy!

Morris finds role not an impossible mission

By Kimberly Redmond

I'd love information on Phil Morris, the actor who portrays Tyrone Jackson on "The Young and the Restless." He's my favorite daytime actor. — T.M., Laurinburg, N.C.

Phil Morris

Morris joined the cast of the CBS soap in 1984, and instantly became a hit with the show's fans. The role marked Morris's first recurring soap role.

He has many other TV credits, including guest roles on such shows as "Hotel," "Hart to Hart" and "Vega$." He had a recurring role in the 1981-82 nighttime show, "Mr. Merlin," and was a featured player in the film, "Star Trek III: The Search for Spock." Morris, who is the son of actor Greg Morris of "Mission: Impossible" fame, lives in California with his wife Carla and their infant son, Jordan.

Whatever happened to Kim Ulrich, the actress who portrayed Diana McColl on "As the World Turns"? — H.F., Omaha, Neb.

After she was released from the CBS soap, Miss Ulrich and her actor husband Robert (not to be confused with the "Spenser: For Hire" star) moved to California to pursue other acting opportunities. If you look closely, you can spot her in TV commercials.

Can you tell me if actor Sam J. Jones ever appeared on a soap opera? — J.R., Naples, Fla.

There's no record that Jones ever appeared on a daytime soap. The actor, however, appear in the films, "10" (1979) and "Flash Gordon" (1980).

Sam J. Jones

It's that time of year — again. Christmas is quickly approaching, and what better way to celebrate than by tuning in Emmanuel Lewis (l.) and Mr. T as they celebrate the holiday season in "A Christmas Dream," airing Friday, Dec. 20 on NBC. (Rebroadcast)

SHOW AND TELL

'Webster' star has age-old problem: age

By Gregory Garver

He was full of confidence. He stepped up to the bar. "What'll it be, friend?" asked the bartender. "Let me have a suicide," he said.

Emmanuel Lewis

So the bartender poured the drink — equal parts of ginger ale, 7-Up, orange soda and root beer. That's his favorite drink, and it's mighty potent. But, at 14, Emmanuel Lewis can take it. And, as the star of "Webster," the petite performer can afford those expensive drinks, too. Especially now that he's also making movies, such as his recent CBS film "Lost In London." Lewis will also be seen in two Yuletide specials. On Sunday, Dec. 15, Lewis makes a guest appearance on NBC's "Bob Hope Christmas Show"; five days later, on Friday, Dec. 20, Lewis teams with Mr. T for a repeat broadcast of NBC's "A Christmas Dream."

The actor's age often confuses people who meet him, because he is considerably smaller than the average 14-year-old. There is nothing physically wrong with him, however, and Lewis is expected to be a normal-sized adult. Still, his tiny stature is often a source of frustration and annoyance. "I don't like it," he says, "when I meet people and they ask my age and I tell them and then they say 'No!' And we have to go through the whole ordeal about 'You're not 14' and 'Yes, I am 14' and all that. They wind up saying, 'I still don't believe you. I think you're 4 or 5.' And so I say, 'OK, you got it.'"

He is so small, in fact, that he must have a bodyguard with him at all times (even when he attends school) to avoid getting lost and trampled on. "Sometimes I like being recognized," he says. "And sometimes, when I'm tired, I don't."

Lewis says he is anxious to grow up — and here he's not talking so much about his size, but about his age — because he wants to finish school. If he's still doing well in acting when he turns 18, and is no longer legally required to go to school, he doubts he will continue with any more education.

"There are a few things I'll want to pick up," he explains, "but I can do that on my own time." He says he likes science — "biology is neat" — and thinks math is "pretty good." But he's pretty certain his future will be in show business, probably acting, but perhaps producing and writing.

He may also be a comedian. "I'm on a seafood diet," Lewis quips. "Every time I see food, I eat it."

Holidays Often Pose Special Concerns For Divorced Parents

This holiday season, the divorced heads of approximately 3.6 million households in this country will face an annual concern: how do you share what is common to both parents, avoid conflict, and still make the Yuletide a special and personal time for you and your child?

The answer is not unlike the kind of advice divorced parents should be heeding for the remainder of the year, says Dr. Billie Frazier, human development specialist with the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service.

Within the framework of their separation or divorce agreement, parents can usually find a way to share children during the holiday season with minimal stress to mom, dad and the kids—just by following some general, and commonsense guidelines, according to Frazier.

In general, and above all, parents should focus on the holidays as a special occasion for the child, Frazier says.

One way to do that is to minimize possible conflict between parents, she says:

•Strive for agreement with the other parent over the holidays and how your child will share in each household's activities.

•Keep face-to-face contact with the other parent at a minimum if you suspect a potential problem.

•Confine pickup and dropoff of children to brief encounters at the door.

•Set up specific times for pickups and dropoffs, and for telephone conversations.

•Pay extra special attention to the beginnings and endings of contact with the other spouse. Frazier says these encounters leave a lasting impression on a child.

After the holidays, try to dicuss with the other parent any problems that arose this year, and make plans to avoid the same problems next year.

Sounds deceptively easy? It isn't, acknowledges Frazier. "Nobody ever said any of this—divorce, sharing custody of children—would be easy."

But, whenever possible, parents should try to join together to plan for the holidays and for their children's joy.

"Planning is the key word," says Frazier. "That way, everyone knows what to expect, and what is expected of them, including the children."

Making children a part of the planning contributes to their sense of control over the situation, she adds, and contributes to their need for what she calls "significant roles" of responsibility in the household.

"If children know they have a part to play during the holidays—or during any part of the year, for that matter—they will have a keener sense of self-importance and belonging."

Topping Frazier's list of "no-no's" is "one-upmanship."

"If you are the non-custodial parent, this trap is so easy to fall into. But try to refrain from constantly entertaining or indulging your child during the holidays to make up for time you've lost during the rest of the year. Instead, make time for everyday activities, such as grocery shopping or going to the cleaners together.

"Kids are smart, and you can't buy their love with extravagant gifts," she says.

HOLIDAYS CAN SIGNAL NEW UNDERSTANDING

Divorced parents can get a head start on avoiding conflict during future holidays by adopting some of these tips now, says Frazier:

•Do not discuss negative feelings about your ex-spouse with your children.

•If your child is having a problem with your ex-spouse, do not leap immediately to the child's defense. There are four sides to every story: your child's, your ex-spouse's, your's, and the cold, hard truth.

•Do not communicate with your ex-spouse through the children. If the matter is important, communicate directly with your ex-spouse.

•Be careful about mixing time with your children with your dating, especially in the early months after separation and divorce. Children need to know your love for them is enduring, even if your marital situation is not. The major exception to this is if the dating relationship is well advanced and appears to be continuous and permanent.

•Don't let competiton exist between yourself and your ex-spouse's new husband or wife. A mother or father cannot be replaced by a step-parent—parents are for life, Frazier says. If you find yourself in the role of step-parent, strive to be a friend to the child and leave discipline to the natural parents.

•Give your child permission and reassurance that it is quite okay to maintain old relationships and to develop new ones—especailly those that come with a new marital situation. Parents need to realize that children have a "right" to love both sets of parents—both parents and children need all the love and care they can get.

How To Handle Holiday Stains

Red wine on white carpet. Greasy gravy on your favorite linen. Candle wax on almost anything.

Once the guests depart, too many hosts and hostesses must contend with permanent memories of their holiday parties.

Fortunately, however, most stains can be removed if they are treated before they set, says Judy Williamson, a specialist on home furnishings with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

In addition to acting quickly, Williamson recommends you pretest spot remover and avoid overwetting and rubbing. To prevent spots and stains from spreading, she also suggests you treat stains from the outside edge to the center.

For protection against the most frequent holiday spills, follow these simple rules:

•Wine and other alcoholic beverages: blot liquid with a clean white cloth. Wipe with a solution of 1 teaspoon detergent, 1 teaspoon white vinegar and 1 quart warm water. Launder washable items, or rub non-washable items with a damp cloth. Quickly blot dry.

•Fruit stains, fruit juices, soft drinks and coffee: follow the same procedure for removing alcoholic beverages.

•Candle wax: scrape away excess with a dull knife. Cover area with several layers of absorbent towels or tissue. Place a warm iron on towels; change towels as wax is absorbed. (Apply heat cautiously, if candle wax is colored. Heat may permanently set some dyes). Launder or wipe with a drycleaning solvent to remove oily residue.

•Chocolate: blot liquids or scrape up solids. Apply drycleaning solvent. Blot solvent with a clean, absorbent cloth. Wipe with detergent-vinegar solution. (See wine removal). Launder or rinse area with cool water. Quickly blot dry.

•Sap from a Christmas tree: wipe area with nail polish remover or a drycleaning solvent. Be sure to test before proceeding.

•Gum: harden with ice, then scrape with a dull knife. Wipe with a drycleaning solvent to remove remaining residue.

If you are still stumped, call your county office of the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and ask to speak to a home economist.

Parents Advised To Trim Lists When Buying Toys

More is not necessarily merrier when you select toys for your children this holiday season, says a specialist in human development from the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

"The message from television, radio, newspapers and magazines is "If you love your children, you'll have plenty of gifts waiting for them under the Christmas tree," says Billie Frazier.

"But giving too many gifts typically teaches children too many wrong lessons."

For example, parents who go well beyond the bounds of budget when they buy toys may send to their children the wrong kinds of messages about spending money.

Says Frazier: "Kids pattern themselves after their parents. Consequently, if mom or dad go out on a financial limb every year at Christmas, kids absorb the message that it's really okay to spend recklessly."

Moreover, even if money is not an issue, too many gifts can still create problems, says Frazier. She explains: "Children need limits, even with holiday toys and gifts. They need to learn that not all wishes are granted, either to youngsters or adults."

Unfortunately, too many parents are still trying in indulge their child's every wish.

Last Christmas parents spent an average of $250 per child—a statistic that makes Frazier cringe.

She stresses: "A few well-chosen gifts that will last and be used in a number of ways are much better for children than a host of extravagant gifts. By doing so, you're not only playing down the materal side of the holidays, you're putting the spirit back into giving."

To keep your gift giving within appropriate bounds this holiday season, Frazier recommends that you:

•Carefully analyze your motives for giving. Don't shower your child with gifts to buy a favor or compensate for misplaced guilt. Instead, give for the sake of giving.

•Play up other traditions besides gifts—tree trimming, family reunions and caroling, for example.

•Consider giving "family" rather than individual gifts—games, sports equipment or food.

•Encourage your family to decrease personal gifts and increase contributions to charity.

•Give at least one homemade gift to family members.

Short On Space? One Can Still Decorate For The Holidays

'Tis the season to be festive and to decorate. But what are your options if your apartment or home is too small for a traditional tree and trimmings?

Plenty, says Judy Williamson, a specialist on home furnishings with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. Just remember that ingenuity not space, is the real prerequisite for a successful holiday decorating.

For example, rather than just insist on the kind of tree you remember at grandma's, purchase a scaled-down Norfolk Island pine, Or, decorate what you already have—houseplants. Better yet, suggests Williamson, construct an old-fashioned sugar plum tree.

Simply select a colorful assortment of fruits with edible skins--appies, pears, cranberries, grapes, or figs. Dip the fruit into a mixture of one egg white and ½ teaspoon water. Roll the glazed fruit into extra-fine sugar, setting the fruit on a sugar-covered tray until dry.

Next, cover the base of a cake stand with evergreen sprigs, and arrange the fruit on top of the evergreen in a pyramid. For a final touch, fill any empty spaces with nuts.

Consider also these other space savers:

•No room for a tree of any sort? Tie "bows" of greenery on dining and living room light fixtures.

•Make your pillows more festive by tying them with velvet ribbons.

•Fill your favorite baskets with pine cones and evergreens.

•Create a country centerpiece of candles of all shapes and sizes.

•Change the color of your accessories to red and green.

•Don't just make your home look like a holiday. Make it smell like a holiday too. Boil cinnamon sticks, cloves and nutmeg in a pan before guests arrive.

Whatever direction you take, however, remember to keep it simple and avoid decorative "clutter". Trying more than two or three of the above options, says Williamson, can overwhelm a small room and destroy the effect your are trying to create.

'Tis The Season To Spend —Unless You're Clever

American consumers who deck their halls with piles of credit card receipts this holiday season may be putting themselves in serious financial jeopardy.

"Christmas is typically the most costly time of year for consumers," says Mary Stephenson, a family financial counselor with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. "But even before retailers begin ringing up Christmas sales this year, consumers were hitting dangerously high credit rates." As of early November, American consumers spent an average of 18.6 percent of their take-home pay on credit payments - and those payments, says Stephenson, did not include monthly mortgages.

Moreover, credit counselors warn that consumers with credit rates of between 16 and 20 percent are already fully extended. Excessive holiday charging could prove their undoing.

"Most of us want to be generous at Christmas," says Stephenson. "But, this year, generous gift buying could push many consumers over the financial edge."

Laurine Gibson, executive director of the Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Southeast Maryland, confirms, "I don't mean to sound like the Grinch, but a large percentage of consumers who buy holiday gifts now and intend to pay later are not going to have the money to pay later."

So what can you do to protect yourself against serious financial trouble?

First, to see what gifts are available this season, Stephenson recommends spending several hours shopping - without buying. Next, make a detailed shopping list that includes definite price limits.

"You'd be surprised how many people rush into a store and buy the first thing they see," says Stephenson. " A shopper who only could afford a $10 tie ends up with a $40 shirt."

Also to be avoided: shopping with more than one credit card. "Twenty dollars charged at Sears, $30 at Penneys, or $35 charged at Bloomingdales might not seem like much individually," says Stephenson. "But the total can be a rude surprise."

Stephenson also advises treating that lone credit card as though it were cash. Other pointers:

•Keep a written record of all charge receipts, so that you know precisely how much you are spending.

•Do not charge or borrow money if you are already paying only the minimum amount of credit card purchases, dipping into savings to pay your bills, or are frequently using your checking account overdraft.

•Be wary of deferred billing - an arrangement that allows credit card holders to make purchases in December without being billed or charged interest until several months later. Though in principle a good idea, this aggressive kind of retailing lures many shoppers into overspending.

•Consider giving the gift of time - three hours spent babysitting for your sister's children, cleaning your mother's attic, or ironing your father's shirts. You'll save money and make a lasting impression.

WVU Architecture Students To Help In Re-Building Of Rowlesburg

Nearly two weeks after the rampaging Cheat River churned much of Rowlesburg, W.Va., into a sea of muck and debris, a contingent of West Virginia University landscape architecture students walked the muddy streets, making mental notes for plans to rebuild the town's housing and businesses on higher ground.

The students—seniors in a design lab under Professor Alon Kvashny—have agreed to spend the rest of the year preparing flood recovery proposals for Rowlesburg and surrounding areas devastated by flooding.

The plans will be presented to local citizens and officials to assist them in deciding how and where to reconstruct.

The CSX Corp., which operates the B&O Railroad through Rowlesburg, has agreed to donate a 14-acre tract of land it owns in the center of town to the reconstruction effort.

Much of the students' work will center on how this land—and other vacant land higher off the valley floor—can best be used to provide both space for housing and opportunities for business and manufacturing.

The students arrived in Rowlesburg while flood cleanup was still in progress. Main Street was blocked by a green National Guard dump truck while an endloader scooped debris into its bed.

For several blocks along the river, where rows of homes once stood, all that remained were giant, smouldering piles of debris amid the outlines of a few cement foundations. In some areas, the ground was covered with several inches of newly deposited sand.

The WVU class stood at the edge of the pavement where the bridge to the Salt Lick area was washed out. Several feet below, a half-dozen of the giant steel trusses that held up the bridge pavement lay stacked against the riverbank like driftwood.

A few hundred feet away, a crew of railroad workers was assembling a new trestle over the river to replace the one sitting in pieces in the river.

"What we hope to do this semester is a series of proposals for land use in the immediate area," said Jack Paules, a landscape architecture professor who accompanied the group. "They will just be preliminary plans."

In the spring semester, he said, other classes will be asked to work on more detailed proposals and seniors will be encouraged to make flood recovery plans as their final projects.

"We want to look at a comprehensive land use plan for the Rowlesburg area," Paules said. "this will involve increasing the commercial-industrial base and creating a use for the flood plain."

"The river owns the flood plain," Kvashny told the students. "I think what you see shows you better than any book what happens if you build there."

Camp Sites To Be Closed On Holidays

Forest, Park and Wildlife Service Chief of Operations David L. Hathway has issued a reminder that all day use and camping areas in state forests and parks will be closed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

"Visitation is traditionally low on those days" stated Hathway, "so we close the parks so that our employees can spend Christmas with their families." Day use areas that are regularly open on a winter schedule will re-open on December 26.

For information about state forests and parks, persons may call (301) 269-3771 or write: Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Department of Natural Resources, Tawes State Office Building, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, Md. 21401.

Sachs Announces Reversal In Welfare Decision

Attorney General Stephen H. Sachs announced last week that the Grant Appeals Board of the United States Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has reversed a decision of the federal agency disallowing approximately $3.3 million in federal child welfare funds paid to the State.

Following argument by Assistant Attorneys General Sarah R. Kaplan, Ralph S. Tyler and Mark J. Davis, the Grant Appeals Board held that HHS had made erroneous findings in its 1982 audit of the State of Maryland, improperly denying Maryland money for its foster care program. Consequently, the Board has remanded the matter to HHS to continue its audit.

HHS policy would have precluded an audit of Maryland's program for 1983 if the State had passed the 1982 audit. Because the Board ruled that the audit findings for 1982 were incorrect, the Board did not proceed to rule on the agency's disallowance for 1983.

HHS sought to recover from the State approximately $1.3 million for federal fiscal year 1982 and $2 million for 1983. The Board's decision allows the State to retain all of these funds.

The funds involved were used to provide services to children in foster care.

Christmas Fire Safety Tips Issued By State Fire Marshal

As the holiday season approaches, the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office and the Maryland State Firemen's Association urge all Marylanders to exercise good judgment in the decoration of their homes and businesses with Christmas trees and other decorations.

Each holiday season, families as well as their homes are destroyed by fires, usually caused by carelessness. Some examples of these careless acts which cause fires include the improper use of decorations, faulty light wiring, and placement of Christmas trees too close to heating appliances.

According to State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele, "live" Christmas trees are a good example of a holiday decoration which can become an extremely flammable object in the home. "Christmas trees may become highly flammable when cut long in advance of their use and placed indoors where heat and low humidity accelerate drying," stated Gabriele. "Furthermore, Christmas trees should only be kept indoors as long as absolutely necessary, and the base of the tree placed in water."

The State Fire Marshal's Office suggests in order to adequately water a "live" tree, the tree trunk should be sawed off at an angle at least one-inch above the original cut, and the tree placed in a pail or tub of water, so that the water level is always above the cut.

The Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office and the Maryland State Firemen's Association offer the following guidelines in an effort to help Marylanders celebrate a happy and safe holiday season:

CHRISTMAS TREES

—Christmas trees should be kept away from all heating appliances such as wood stoves, electric and/or kerosene space heaters.

—Christmas trees should be placed in an open area, and away from exits from the home.

—The tree should be disposed of when the tree shows signs of excessive dryness.

LIGHTS

Only UL listed indoor lights should be used on Christmas trees, whether artificial or "live."

—All lights and extension cords should be checked for cracks or frayed conditions before the equipment is used.

—When not at home, decorative lights on the tree should be turned off. Christmas tree lights and other decorative lights should be kept away from curtains and other flammable or combustible materials.

DECORATIONS AND CANDLES

—When possible, all decorations should be non-combustible or flame retardant, and should be kept away from heat producing appliances.

—If candles are used to decorate a home, make sure they are out of the reach of children.

—Make certain all candles are extinguished before you leave your home or go to sleep, and —Never use a fireplace to burn the Christmas wrapping paper, as this paper can burn very rapidly and cause a severe burn injury.

For further information on Christmas tree or holiday fire safety measures, citizens can contact the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office at (301) 225-1250 or their local Fire Prevention Bureau. The Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office and the Maryland State Firemen's Association wish everyone a happy and fire safe holiday season.

MDT Discourages Mixing Driving With Medications

Cold and flu medications can turn you into a zombie on the highway, according to the Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT).

"All drugs, not just alcohol, can impair the senses and alter perceptions," cautions MDOT Safety Specialist, Jim Lang. "Medications for pain relief, allergies and head colds can slow down the same brain functions that alcohol impairs."

The MDOT notes that December 15-21 is National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week, a time to focus attention on this growing problem. "One in every 100 arrests for driving under-the-influence involves a drug other than alcohol," said Mr. Lang.

The department asks drivers to consider these safety measures:

•Ask your doctor or pharmacist if it is safe to drive after taking a prescribed or over-the-counter drug, then strictly follow this advice.

•Read the label for a warning describing potentially adverse effects such as dizziness or drowsiness.

•Be safe and do not consume alcoholic beverages while using the medication.

MDT Suggests Designated Driver For Party Goers

December brings Hanukkah, Christmas and New Years Eve, traditional times of celebration and joy. But December may also bring tragedy to 2,000 families with loved ones who become victims of motor vehicle accidents because they mixed alcohol and driving.

The Maryland Department of Transportation notes that December 15-21 is National Drunk and Drugged Driver Awareness Week, a time to focus attention on this devastating holiday problem.

The Maryland Department of Transportation asks hosts and hostesses to promote this effort by using the "Designated Driver" concept at all gatherings where alcohol will be served.

"All that's required is for a select few to 'volunteer' at the beginning of the party to drink non-alcoholic beverages and to drive the other guests home safely," according to Highway Safety Specialist, Jim Lang. "The responsibility is rotated to other volunteers at the next party."

The number of tragic seasonal fatalities can be reduced if this act of goodwill is offered at holiday gatherings.

"What better gift can a person offer this holiday season than to care about the lives of their friends?" said Lang.

Elected Officials Attend Voters League Social

A social get together with legislators and elected officials was held by the League of Women Voters of Garrett County on December 7 at Connie Margison's home, 8th Street, Oakland.

Attending officials were Senator John N. Bambaucs, accompanied by his wife; Delegate George C. Edwards; Russell Alexander, mayor of Mtn. Lake Park; Sheriff Van Evans; and Orphans' Court Judge, Wilmer Margroff, accompanied by his wife. Also attending the social was Jeannine Humphrey from Hagerstown, who is State Consultant to the Garrett County League. It was the first meeting with the Garrett County League for Humphrey, who was just recently appointed.

A social hour provided opportunity for much informal discussion and meeting officials on a personal level, after which the officials had time to address the group. Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards gave a brief overview of some of the issues to be considered in the upcoming legislative session. Some of the concerns discussed were the future of Garrett Community College, flood relief for Garrett County, increased funding for libraries, and liability insurance for cities and municipalities.

The local officials gave on overview of the status of their positions and discussed some current developments.

All of the officials encouraged the League and other interested citizens to continue to be involved in the activities of government and to contact them if we have any questions or concerns.

League meetings are open to any interested person. A non-partisan organization, League works to promote political responsibility. It encourages citizens to be informed and actively participate in their government. It does not support or oppose any political party or candidate. Membership in the League is encouraged to all citizens 18 years of age and over. Chairman of membership is Dayle Dabney, 334-4068. Questions may be directed to Barbara Flinn, president, 334-3228.

Columbia Gas Offers Free Game For Kids

Columbia Gas has designed and introduced a new safety game, "Streets and Strangers," to teach youngsters how to cope with threatening situations they may face. The game, which is free, is available at Columbia Gas of Maryland, 1000 Industrial Blvd. in Cumberland. Interested persons in the Garrett County area may call the office at 334-1411, and the game will be mailed to them.

"Streets and Strangers," a board game developed by Columbia Gas and the 4-H Clubs of Ohio, helps children guard against strangers by reinforcing personal safety tips, according to Thomas Lindsey Jr., Columbia manager in Cumberland.

"It is designed to be played with children aged four through nine. Players advance along a winding road toward home by giving correct answers to safety questions," Lindsey said. "Parents can easily add their own safety questions."

A sample question given as an example asks, "You come home from school to an empty house and see a broken window. Should you go inside?"

"Streets and Strangers" is part of an educational packet that Columbia mailed recently to area elementary schools.

Last May Columbia joined the National Child Safety Council and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in their efforts to protect children. "Making our entertaining and educational game available to schools and parents is an extension of Columbia's long-standing consumer safety program," Lindsey said.

Local Students Among FSC Grads

A number of Garrett County students are among those persons at Frostburg State College who will be awarded degrees at the college's mid-year commencement ceremonies on Saturday, December 21.

The event will be held at the Physical Education Center beginning at noon, with the address given by U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes. The college will award 310 undergraduate and graduate degrees to students who completed requirements for these degrees this month or this past summer.

Garrett County students who will receive degrees include: Donna H. Buckel and Wendy A. Friend, both of Accident, bachelor of science; Linda M. Buckel, Bittinger, master of education; Robert M. McKenzie and Richard I. Zimmerman, both of Grantsville, bachelor of science; Charles F. Graham and C. Markwood Powles, both of Mtn. Lake Park, bachelor of science; Mary Jane Fike, Mtn. Lake Park, master of education; David M. Marple II, Linda J. Mott, Noni A. Henderson, and Christine C. Sisler, all of Oakland, bachelor of science; and Nancy J. Pagenhardt and Maureen R. Sharps, both of Oakland, master of education.

A RARE PIEBALD DEER was shot on opening day in the Sanders Lane area of Garrett County by Chip Voitelle of Westminister. Voitelle has hunted for 20 years in the county, and this year, was with a group of hunters on the Bill Nemith farm when he bagged the three-point piebald buck. The deer had been seen in the area often, the last time on Thanksgiving Day at a location three miles away from the area it was killed. The coat coloration is extremely rare and is caused when a white-tailed deer has more white hair than usual. This is a genetic trait but not a dominant genetic trait. A piebald deer differs from an albino, in that a true albino has a pure white coat and pink eyes.

Cantata Scheduled

A cantata "Promise of Peace" by Joseph Lenin will be presented this Sunday, December 15, at the 11 a.m. worship service at Friendsville United Methodist Church by the adult choir. The cantata consists of 18 songs, both old and new, divided into three sections: "Rejoice At His Coming," "Worship Him As Lord," and "Exalt Him As King." The public is invited.

The youth will present "A Certain Small Shepherd," a musical drama, on Sunday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Christmas Programs

The Blooming Rose United Methodist Church will have its Christmas program on Saturday, December 21, at 7 p.m., at the church.

The Selbysport United Methodist Christmas program will be Christmas Eve, December 24, at the church at 7:30 p.m.

To Go Caroling

The United Methodist Youth Fellowship will go Christmas caroling and deliver fruit baskets in the area of Blooming Rose, Selbysport and Friendsville on Friday, December 20, leaving Friendsville Methodist Church at 5 p.m. All will then go to the home of leader, Carol Frazee, for a Christmas party.

Sand Spring Service

On Sunday, December 22, at the Church of God, Sand Spring, Sunday School will be held at 9 a.m. and worship service is at 10:15 a.m. Sunday evening at 7 p.m., there will be a Christmas service closing with a candlelight communion service.

School Program

The elementary school will present a Christmas program on Wednesday, December 18, at 1:30 p.m., in the cafetorium. The public is invited.

Rush Baptist

The Rush Baptist Church Christmas party will be held Sunday, December 15, at noon at the church with a covered dish dinner. Each one is asked to bring a $3.00 gift for his or her own age and sex for exchange. Sunday School is at 9:45 a.m. and the service at 11 a.m. each Sunday.

The Rush Baptist Youth group will sponsor a film, "Never Ashamed", at the church on Saturday, December 14, at 6 p.m. The public is invited.

Asher Glade Brethren

The Asher Glade Church of the Brethren's Christmas program will be on Monday, December 23, at 7 p.m., at the church.

The young adults of the church will have a Christmas party on Saturday, December 21, at 5 p.m., at the home of Rick and Karen Meyers.

The Ladies Aid of Asher Glade Church of the Brethren met at Glisan's Restaurant, Rt. 40, for lunch and a Christmas party on Thursday, December 5, at noon, with 22 women and five children attending. Secret sisters were revealed with a gift and new names drawn. New officers elected for 1986 are president, Phyllis McCarty; vice president, Karen Meyers; secretary, Doris Frazee; and treasurer, Mary Ann Umbel. The next meeting will be in March 1986.

L. C. W.

Lutheran Church Women met Tuesday evening at the church with 16 attending for their annual Christmas party. A gift exchange revealed secret sisters, and a Christmas program with president, Donna Turney, in charge, was held with all members participating. Each member brought a decoration for the Christmas tree. A gift was presented by members to Pastor and Mrs. Yelovich who also attended the party. Refreshments were provided by all members.

Keeler Glade Church

The Keeler Glade Church of God Christmas program will be held Sunday, December 15, at 7 p.m. It will include a play, "Why Christmas", and recitations and songs by the children. The youth group and members of the congregation will be going Christmas caroling on Saturday, December 21. They will be distributing fruit baskets in Friendsville and surrounding area. Mark Lawson is pastor of the church.

Museum, Library, & Store

The Friend Museum, Library and Store will be open Wednesdays and Saturdays, 1 to 3 p.m., until Saturday, December 21, and closed for the winter months. Anyone needing any information may contact Ina Claire Hicks, 746-5615.

On Saturday, December 21, an open house will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

T. & C. Winners

The Town and Community Women, Inc., raffled off two "Hugga-Bunch" dolls on Friday evening, December 6, at S&S Store, Maple Street, with winners being Mrs. Eleanor Teats and Mrs. Wayne Anderson. The proceeds from the raffle ($100) will be given to Mrs. Eleanor Teats for an educational trip in the spring for her students at Friendsville Elementary School.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Holy Communion services were held on Sunday at all three churches of the Bittinger parish. Rev. Beryl Maurer, Morgantown, W.Va. led the services.

A congregational meeting was held after worship services, and a budget for the coming year was adopted. New council members were elected, including Jeff Montgomery, Audrey Brenneman and Phillip Buckel.

The joint property committees of the three churches met on Sunday afternoon at the parsonage.

District Court Results Noted

In Garrett County District Court proceedings December 3, a pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Michael C. Amoroso, 24, Westernport, after he was found to be guilty of a theft charge.

The charge was filed by Tfc. Gary M. Long for the theft of 10 various county road signs from the Savage River State Forest area. The signs were inspected and found to be damaged and no longer of value. The cost of replacing the signs was estimated at $420.76.

The judge ordered probation before judgment for a theft charge against Stanley J. Eggleston, 21, Friendsville. He was then placed on 90 days unsupervised probation with the condition of no violations of the law.

The charge was filed by Tfc. Cindy R. Smith following a September 9 incident.

Charges of breaking and stealing and malicious destruction of the property of another were not prosecuted by the court due to a plea agreement.

Placed on the stet docket were charges of attempted breaking and entering, assault, and trespassing against Michael Fitzwater, 25, Deer Park.

The charges were filed by Brenda S. Beckman, Swanton, following an October 26 incident in Swanton.

Two bad check charges and two counts of theft against W. Keith Nicholas, Oakland, were placed on the stet docket.

The charges were filed by Hobert J. Shillingburg following a July 1 incident. According to court documents, Nicholas obtained cash from the Wagoner Oil Company by writing two bad checks. The first, from the First United Ntional Bank and Trust, was for $100, and the second, from the Garrett National Bank of Oakland, was for $50.

Also placed on the stet docket was a charge of malicious destruction of the property of another against Justin L. Fagan, 18, McHenry.

The charge was filed by Tfc. Cindy R. Smith following an October 10 incident in McHenry.

A charge of battery against John D. Upole, 21, Oakland, was also placed on the stet docket.

The charge was filed by Cynthia D. Holland, Deer Park, following an October 25 incident.

Charges of breaking and entering, wanton trespassing, and two counts of malicious destruction of the property of another were not prosecuted by the court.

Upole was represented by Henry R. Adams, an Oakland attorney.

A bench warrant was ordered for Paul D. Thayer, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, when he failed to appear in court for four bad check charges and four theft charges.

The charges were filed by Robert G. Stuck, Oakland, following an August 26 incident at Oakview Motors, Inc.

Thirteen Killed In Traffic Mishaps

Law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Maryland reported 13 motor vehicle traffic fatalities during the week ending December 8. Of these fatalities, seven were drivers, one was a passenger and five were pedestrians. Preliminary investigation of these accidents revealed that speed was a contributing factor in four deaths and driver error in nine.

Traffic fatalities in Maryland through December 8 total 689, compared to 600 during the same period last year.

Rep. Byron To Wed Washington Businessman

U.S. Representative Beverly B. Byron, D-Md., who assumed her husband's Sixth-District seat in Congress after his death in 1978, will be married next spring to Washington businessman, B. Kirk Walsh.

Mrs. Byron, 53, and Walsh plan an April 5 wedding to be held in Frederick.

Walsh, a former Jesuit priest, is an investment banker in Washington who also deals in commercial real estate and government relations.

A Jesuit priest for 17 years, he served as a U.S. Army intelligence officer in Europe after World War II and was an assistant secretary of Housing and Urban Development during the Nixon administration.

Walsh served as vice president of Regis College, a Jesuit school in Denver, Colo., before leaving the Jesuit order in 1974 and becoming a businessman.

In 1980, he unsuccessfully ran for the congressional seat in Michigan's 12th District.

Mrs. Byron is a Democrat, while Walsh is a Republican.

"Philosophically we're the same," Walsh said. "She's a conservative Democrat and I'm a conservative Republican."

St. Paul's U.M. Plans Homecoming

Members of St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland, are currently developing plans for a homecoming which will be held August 23 and 24.

A church spokesman reported that plans are to have a reception in the church fellowship hall August 23. On August 24, a guest speaker will be featured during the morning worship service.

After the service, a covered dish dinner will be held, followed by a short program and fellowship.

Invitations will be sent to former members. However, invitations are available now to be sent to out-of- town guests for which the committee does not have addresses.

Anyone wishing more information may contact Carol Clark, chairperson.

PRIVATE ZONING

Nearly everyone is familiar with zoning laws imposed by the government. Did you know that real estate can also be subject to "private zoning"?

Often real estate developers write a document containing conditions called restrictive covenants. This document is filed with the office where deeds are recorded, and thus becomes a public record. These restrictive covenants impose limitations on the use of all the property within the subdivision or other development.

Common restrictive covenants include a minimum or maximum of square feet in any house built in the subdivision, prohibitions against outbuildings such as storage sheds, a limitation on the number of stories of buildings, and clauses either requiring, regulating, or prohibiting certain types of fences.

Generally, restrictive covenants are designed to benefit property owners. However, there may be a restrictive covenant preventing you from using the property as you would like. Before buying property, consult your Realtor.

Agency On Aging Stresses Need Of Sheltered Housing

With the cold weather and the holiday season approaching, the Area Agency on Aging is concerned about those senior persons who are in need of "special assistance with one or more essential activities of daily living." These activities would include grooming, bathing, dressing, feeding, and transporting.

The agency believes that there is a very real need for elderly sheltered housing in Garrett County and the Maryland Office on Aging is authorized under law to develop an alternative to more costly, but not required institutional care.

Individuals living in sheltered housing are 62 years or older who, because of temporary or periodic difficulties, require assistance with the daily essentials of living. Individuals may be frail but not ill and should be ambulatory.

Any facility with four or more unrelated elderly residents can be certified by the Maryland Office on Aging as a Sheltered Housing Project provided all applicable local laws and regulations have been satisfied, such as zoning, housing, safety, and health codes.

The maximum number of units of sheltered housing for which a provider can be certified for, in buildings other than apartment buildings, is fifteen. Sheltered housing includes but is not limited to shelter, meal service (three meals daily), personal services (assistance with bathing, grooming and laundry), and housekeeping.

In addition, providers should be able to offer 24-hour supervision and access to medical services, if necessary.

Approved sheltered housing projects are issued a certificate to operate. The certificates are valid for a period of up to 12 months and are renewable annually.

Anyone interested in becoming a sheltered housing provider or needing an application for a certificate to operate should contact Rebecca Oldham, coordinator of Residential Care Services, at 334-3990.

Dennett Road Parent Advisory Council Meets

The Dennett Road School Parent Advisory Council met last Thursday morning and heard guest speaker Mrs. Sheila Hughes from the Ruth Enlow Library. Her topic was "Creating a Desire to Read."

Mrs. Hughes explored about 15 things parents can do to stimulate in their children a desire to read. Copies of these points are available for the asking to interested parents.

A second topic, "How to Help Your Child With Word Recognition," was presented by Mrs. Barbara Flinn, Chapter I resource teacher. Mrs. Flinn briefly explained a strategy for figuring out new words, the importance of a sight vocabulary, and many ways of drilling sight words. She gave the parents handouts on phonics rules, lists of basic sight words with gameboards and rules which the parents can use at home to reinforce vocabulary/sight words with their children.

After refreshments the meeting was adjourned. There will be no PAC meeting in January. The next meeting will be in late February with the topic, "How to Turn Your Home Into a Learning Center."

Cherry Grove Youth To Present Christmas Play

The youth of the Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, Route 219, North, Grantsville, will present a play, "Isn't This What Christmas is All About?", by Bernard Dougherty, Sunday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m. They will be assisted by the children of the Sunday School and the adult choir.

A candlelight service, led by Pastor Steve Durr, will follow their presentation. Wilma Wilburn and Bernice Merrill are directing the program. The public is invited.

Randolph Speaks At ARC's 20th Anniversary Fete

U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va) was the featured speaker yesterday at the 20th anniversary of the federal Applachian Regional Commission held by Tri-County Council of Western Maryland at the Cumberland Country Club.

The senator was introduced by Allegany County Commissioner president and current TCC chairman, Arthur T. Bond.

Hans Mayer, deputy director of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, was the master of ceremonies.

Nearly 40 local and downstate people received medallions commemorating their work with ARC.

Senator Randolph has lived in Elkins, W. Va. since 1926 and was a newspaper and magazine editor. He has also been a college professor, university dean, airline executive and transportation official.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1932 and served 14 consecutive terms before he was defeated in 1946. He also served four terms in the U.S. Senate.

Senator Randolph said, "My interest is in the future because I am going to spend the rest of my life there."

4-H Club News

The Green Swans 4-H Club
by Linda Bowser, acting reporter

The Green Swans 4-H Club met November 25 at the Swanton Community Center.

A Christmas dinner was planned for December.

The club members made favors for the Swanton Senior Citizens.

Present at the meeting were four adults and seven members.

MONTE VISTA
by Tara Wildensen, reporter

The December 5 meeting of the Monte Vista 4-H Club was opened by pledges led by Ruth Evans and roll call by Pam Gnegy. Pam Gnegy, treasurer, gave a report.

Lori Dodge, president, made the announcement that the Club would be carolling at the nursing home in Oakland at 2 p.m., December 23, after which the club would hold its annual Christmas Party at the Episcopal Church. It was decided to cancel the gift exchange for members; instead, the members would purchase a gift and give to the flood victims in the Petersburg area, where many would not otherwise receive gifts this Christmas. Gifts are to be dropped off at the Extension Office by December 13.

Jennifer Snyder and Tiava Beitzel demonstrated "How to Cut a Cake to Make A Christmas Tree", Kara Freyman demonstrated "Seven Layer Bars," and Pam Gnegy demonstrated "Different Ways to Make Popcorn". Tara Wildesen led games in the Junior Group.

Election of officers was held with the following results: Chrissy Mattingly, president; Frances Bachtel, vice president; Renee Stark, secretary; Melanie Tasker, treasurer; Miriam Evans, photographer; Alison Winter and Heather Gilbert, reporters for the Junior Group; Tara Wildesen, reporter for the Senior Group; Jessica Yost, recreation; and Jennifer Snyder, refreshments.

The next meeting will be January 2 when members will be enrolling for the new year.

Obituaries

GEORGE H. RODEHEAVER

George Hamill Rodeheaver, 100, of Oakland, died Saturday, December 7, at the Cuppett–Weeks Nursing Home, Oakland.

Born in Sand Flat July 19, 1885, he was the son of the late Patrick H. Rodeheaver and Lily (White) Rodeheaver. His wife, Mrs. Catherine E. (Fischer) Rodeheaver died in 1958.

He was a retired teacher with the Garrett County school system, and also owned a commercial printing business in Oakland for a number of years.

He served as Oakland Assistant Postmaster, and was a member of Garrett Lodge 113, Knights of Pythias, and the St. Paul United Methodist Church.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Anna Harvey, of Oakland, and Mrs. Ardella McIntire, of California.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Monday by the Rev. Allen Ridenour. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Memorials are asked to take the form of contributions to the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad.

ELDEN C. LANDIS

Elden C. Landis, 61, of Keyser, W.Va., died Saturday, December 7, at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Born July 2, 1924, at Swanton, he was a son of the late Clyde Landis and Anna (Friend) Landis.

A machinist-helper with the Chessie System Railroads, Mr. Landis was a member of the Episcopal Church and the machinist local.

Surviving are his wife, Lena E. (Fazzalore) Landis; two sons, Michael L. Landis, Keyser; and Donald Landis, Bayard, W.Va.; one daughter, Miss Barbara S. Landis, at home; one sister, Mrs. Gertrue Rexrode, Oakland; and five grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Rotruck Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Tuesday by the Rev. Leonard S. Gross and the Rev. Leroy D. Beyer. Interment was in St. Thomas Cemetery.

ARTHUR R. ALEXANDER

Arthur R. Alexander, 83, of Confluence, Pa., formerly of Accident, died Thursday, December 5, at the Somerset, Pa., Community Hospital.

Born in Hoyes March 1, 1902, he was the son of the late McClellan Alexander and Adeline E. (McGettigan) Alexander.

Mr. Alexander worked on various area dairy farms before his retirement.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Nora Folk, Bayard, W.Va., and Mrs. Gertrude Metzger, Baltimore.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Accident, where a service was conducted Sunday by the Rev. Alva Maust. Interment was in Hoyes Cemetery.

Karen E. Wilt, Robert P. Dice Exchange Vows In October Event

Karen Elaine Wilt and Robert Paul Dice were united in Holy Matrimony during a double-ring ceremony October 19 at Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, Grantsville, with Reverend James Show officiating. Organ music was provided by Roselee Folk.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair E. Wilt, Grantsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth D. Dice, also of Grantsville.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her brother, Steve. He was attired in a navy blue tuxedo with a white front pleated shirt. He wore a light blue mum boutonniere.

The bride was attired in a gown of polyester and acetate taffeta. The close-fitting bodice was embellished with simulated pearls and sparkling sequins. Schiffli embroidery details the lace stand-up collar. Illusion net front-yoke with ruffle trim. Full skirt with tiers of lace and polyester that extended into a heart-shaped chapel train. She wore a bridal hat with a turned up side brim embellished with simulated pearls and net streamer. She carried a cascading bouquet of light blue, pink and white silk baby roses and mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. Wanda Warnick served as her sister's matron-of-honor. She wore a full-length gown of light blue satin with a white lace overlay and a light blue wide-brimmed hat. She carried a white lace fan with light blue, pink and white silk baby roses and mums and baby's breath with white satin streamers.

Kristi Wilt, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a white knee-length nylon pleated dress with a pink satin belt and bow. She wore a halo of light blue, pink and white silk baby roses and mums. She also carried a white lace fan with light blue, pink and white silk baby roses, mums and baby's breath with white satin streamers.

The groom was attired in a navy blue tuxedo with a white front-pleated shirt. He wore a single white rose boutonniere.

Elmer (Smoky) Wilt, brother of the bride, served as best man. He also wore a navy blue tuxedo with a white front pleated shirt. He wore a light blue rose boutonniere.

Philip Dice, brother of the groom, and Michael Reamy, brother-in-law of the groom, served as ushers. They both wore blue suits with boutonnieres to match the best man's.

The bride's mother wore a silver-grey street length dress with a light blue and white silk baby rose and mum corsage. The groom's mother wore a teal street length dress with a silk pink and white baby rose corsage.

The bride and groom each presented their mothers with a single long-stemmed red rose after the ceremony.

Birdseed packets were distributed by Jason Wilt and Michael and Matthew Warnick, nephews of the bride.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the Casselman Valley Sportsman's Club, Grantsville. The club was decorated in the same light blue, pink and white color scheme.

The food and punch were served buffet style. Mrs. Maxine O'Brien, aunt of the bride, cut and served the three-tier cake and two side cakes which were decorated with light blue and pink roses. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Shelby Gable, Cresaptown.

Music was provided by High Chapparal from Uniontown, Pa. The bride and groom danced the first slow dance to "Cherish."

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Northern High School and is presently employed by Goodwill Nursing Home, Grantsville. The groom is a 1978 graduate of Northern High School and is presently employed by O'Brien Builders, Swanton.

The bride was a guest of honor of two surprise showers. A pantry shower given by her mother, sister and aunt, Maxine O'Brien, and a lingerie shower given by her cousin, Barbara O'Brien.

Out-of-town guests were from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

Following a honeymoon trip on the Blueridge Parkway and to the Great Smokey Mountains National Park, the couple established residence near Bittinger.

Miss Sweitzer To Wed Mr. Wilson

Mrs. Jean Sweitzer, Route 2, Oakland, announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Victoria Lee, to Samuel Wilson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson, Oakland.

Miss Sweitzer is a 1984 graduate of Southern High School and is employed at Potomac Engineering and Surveying. Mr. Wilson is a 1979 graduate of Southern High School and is employed with Potomac Farms Dairy, Oakland.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Tarita Lantz To Wed James McBee

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Lantz of Corinth, W.Va., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Tarita Ann to James Leo McBee Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Leo McBee Sr., of Crellin.

The wedding will be held at the Crellin United Brethren in Christ Church on Saturday, December 14, at 1 p.m.

A reception will be held following the ceremony in the church basement.

An open church wedding is being observed and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Dr. Shaw Becomes Bride Of Dr. Rover In October Event

Dr. Jean Duncan Shaw, Gaithersburg, formerly of Oakland, became the bride of Dr. R. Craig Rover of Tempe, Ariz., at a morning wedding held at the Oxnam Memorial Chapel of the Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C. on October 26.

The bride was attended by her sister, Dr. Anne Roos, of Mullica Hill, N.J., and given in marriage by her eldest son, Dr. L. Gardner Shaw, Rockville. The ring bearer was Benjamin Green, grandson of the bride, from Rochester, N.Y. The best man was R. Craig Rover II, son of the groom, Atlanta, Ga. Performing the ceremony was Rev. John Grant, Oakland, and Rev. Dorsey Smith, Ormand Beach, Fla.

The procession was led by Judge Fred Thayer playing the bagpipes, followed by the processional by Betty Jean Tyler, organist, Pitman, N.J. Donald Green, son-in-law of the bride, sang Aaron Copland's "Simple Things" and "The Wedding Song," accompanied by Sue Ann Shaw, Haddonfield, N.J. A reading from "The Prophet" was given by John D. Shaw, son of the bride. Patricia Shaw Green, daughter of the bride, sang "Whither Thou Gost" and "A Scottish Prayer."

Robbie Rover was acolyte for the ceremony and the unity candle was lighted by Barbara Shaw and Eleanor Rover, signifying an association of the extended family. The benediction was sung from the back of the chapel by singers of the bride's family, joined by Clarence and Lois Miller, of Glassboro, N.J., former educational associates of both the bride and groom, and Eileen Dunham, Carney's Point, N.J.

Ushers for the ceremony were Ricky Rover and Michael Shaw, grandsons of the couple. Robin Shaw, Rockville, and Heather Shaw, Haddonfield, granddaughters, were in charge of the guest book.

At the reception, following the ceremony, Mrs. Paul Hewitt, Pitman, N.J. and Barbara Fisher, Alexandria, Va., were hostesses at the punchbowls.

Following a trip to Georgetown in the Cayman Islands, British West Indies, the Rovers are making their home in Tempe during the winter.

Garrett County friends among those attending the ceremony and reception were Mrs. E.I. Baumgartner, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Englander, Mrs. John Grant, Ms. Marcella Kerins, Mrs. Fred Thayer, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tressler.

Lewis-Boylan Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. H. Jack Lewis, Cumberland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jackie Lynn, to Scott F. Boylan, McHenry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth K. Boylan, Ellicott City.

Ms. Lewis is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and Allegany Community College. She is currently employed by the State of Maryland, Department of Natural Resources, in Cumberland. Mr. Boylan is a graduate of Mt. Hebron High School and Garrett Community College. He is currently employed by the State of Maryland, Department of Natural Resources, Water Resources Administration, in Cumberland.

An April 19 wedding is planned.

Lees Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Lee, Red House, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a surprise open house held at their daughter's home along the Mason School Road.

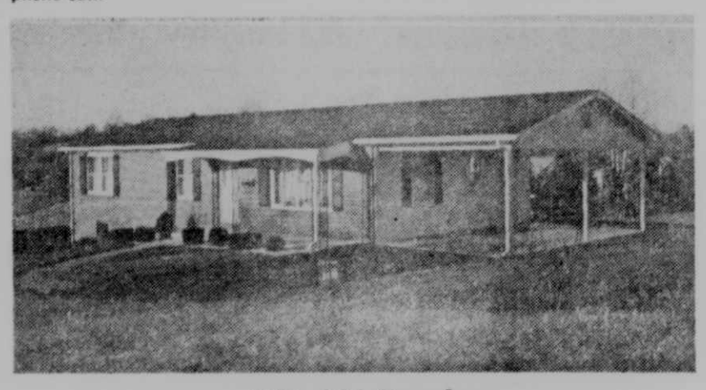
The former Violet Celeste Foster and Victor Horace Lee were married October 26, 1935, at the parsonage of St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland by the Reverend Charles A. Shilke, now deceased.

Mr. Lee obtained employment with the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company at Middle River, and moved his family to Baltimore in 1942. They remained there until the end of World War II. Their small bungalow in Essex housed many young women from various states who came during the war to work in war-related positions. Many of these remain in close contact with the Lees to date.

The Lees purchased the farm where they live today and when the war was over, returned to it and are still very active at farming and gardening. Mrs. Lee is well-known for her appliqued quilts.

Mr. Lee was owner and operator of his own lumber company from 1949 to 1954.

They are the parents of one daughter, Shirley Cosner; three grandchildren, Richard Cosner, Mayhew Inn Road; Liane Preston, Red House, and Phillip Cosner, Baltimore. They have three greatgrandsons, Eric and Nicholas Cosner and James Preston III.



Approximately 80 friends and relatives came to the open house throughout the day to extend congratulations. Many cards, gifts and phone calls were received.

Laundering Procedures May Need Modification

The Maryland Legislature passed a bill this April that bans the use and sale of phosphate detergents, effective December 1, 1985.

For Maryland consumers, the ban means that we may have to spend more per family per year for extra heating of wash water and using more bleach, pretreatment products and fabric softeners, as consumers who live in other ban areas have discovered.

Adjustments in laundering procedure may be necessary. Here are some suggestions to help in achieving good results:

•If you have hard water you may want to install a water softening system to reduce some of the laundering problems caused by hard water.

•Dissolve detergent in wash water before adding clothes.

•Read and follow package directions for all cleaning products, but remember that the amounts recommended are based on moderate water hardness and average soil and load sizes. Hard water, very dirty clothes and large loads require extra product for good cleaning.

•The use of bleach, presoak or detergent booster products and prewash soil and stain removers will aid in removing stubborn soils and stains.

•Sort clothes carefully, making separate loads for whites, light colors and dark colors. To prevent damage to delicate items, don't wash them with heavy sturdy clothes. Wash very dirty clothes separately to keep dirt from redepositing on less soiled items.

•Don't overload the washer. This limits cleaning action.

•In the interest of saving energy, you may wish to use warm water for most loads, cold water for others. Remember that the cooler the water the harder it is for any detergent to clean. In cooler temperatures, adding more detergent will help, as will the use of bleach on bleachable loads. Use hot water when you need to, for example, for very dirty loads, for diapers or if there is illness in the family. You can save energy by always using a cold rinse, which does not affect cleaning.

•The use of fabric softener can help counteract stiffness or harshness in clothes.

FOOD NOTES

Cheese sauce is a nice addition to vegetables, casseroles, and many other dishes. Plus it's a good way to add much needed calcium to your diet. Here is a recipe that is easy to do and it's delicious.

CHEESE SAUCE
(makes 3 cups)

¼ cup margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
(skim, 2% or whole milk)
¼ teaspoon mustard
1¼ cups cut up cheese

Melt margarine in saucepan. Mix in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring all the time, until sauce starts to boil. Lower heat. Cook for three minutes or until thick. Add mustard and cheese. Stir over low heat until cheese melts. (This recipe can also be prepared successfully in the microwave oven).

Serving Suggestions: Mix sauce with cooked potatoes, macaroni, rice, noodles, or hominy. Pour over cooked vegetables or cooked eggs.

EXTENSION HAPPENINGS

"Microwaving for the Holidays" is the title of a class to be held on December 16 at 12 noon and again at 7 p.m. at the Extension Office in Oakland. The cost is $1.00. Everyone is invited.

Sheriff's Dept. Investigates B And E, Theft

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are investigating a breaking and entering theft which occurred at the Garrett County Animal Shelter sometime last Friday or Saturday.

According to reports filed by the department, access was gained by removing an air conditioning unit. All rooms in the building were entered, and small items were removed from desks and filing cabinets. Approximately $90 in checks and currency were taken.

According to Deputy L.E. Gnegy, no suspects have been named at this time.

The department arrested Robert R. Rhodes, 49, for the assault of his father, Burton, near Deer Park last Thursday.

Rhodes is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail awaiting a bond hearing.

MSP Officer Speaks To Students

First Sgt. Howard Graham, of the McHenry Detachment, Maryland State Police, spoke to the fifth grade class of Mrs. Rosanne Sherwood, Accident Elementary School, last Thursday. Sgt. Graham was welcomed and introduced to the class by his fifth grade daughter, Cindy Graham. He spoke on the importance of wearing safety belts while in a moving vehicle.

At the present time, Maryland does not require individuals under the age of 5 to wear a seatbelt; however, all children under the age of 3 are required to be secured in a safety seat and children ages 3 and 4 are required under state law to be fastened in seat belts. Drivers of motor vehicles found not meeting these requirements are subject to fines. It is a state police regulation for all troopers and passengers to wear a safety belt while in a police vehicle. State police have developed the habit of reminding one another to "buckle up" if one should forget, Graham said. Pupils were encouraged to remind other passengers in an automobile to "buckel up for safety's sake".

Sgt. Graham discussed with the students common fallacies of wearing seat belts; i.e., seat belts are not necessary when traveling at low speeds or for short trips, seatbelts hurt people, being saved by being thrown clear of the car, and seatbelts trap individuals in a burning or submerged car. He said it is a proven fact that wearing a safety belt will almost always guarantee less severe injuries or no injuries at all when individuals are involved in a motor vehicle accident.

Following the presentation and question and answer session on safety belts, Sgt. Graham answered student questions on snowmobile and bicycle regulations and safety.

Students expressed their gratitude to Sgt. Graham for coming and for the literature he gave them.

Sgt. Graham is pictured above with students, left to right, Lana Hall, Cindy Graham, Scott Swauger and Nathan Mickle.

Tax Collections For Nov. Yield $1,240,213.90

Tax collections for the month of November, 1985, amounted to $1,240,213.90, according to figures released this week by Arzella Parsons, Garrett County treasurer.

Of the amount collected, $100,283.35 was from real estate taxes, $1,181.76 from personal property taxes and $35,252.27 from ordinary business taxes.

Taxes from prior years brought in $23,009.03, while state taxes totaled $10,967.99. Ad valorem taxes amounted to $3,004.35. Recording taxes added $17,431.64 and transfer taxes tallied $1,789.44.

Cigarette taxes amounted to $24,751.64 while coal tonnage tax brought in $13,788.27. Interest collected last month totaled $42,093.51. Liquor surcharge added $34,000 and $572,599.92 was collected in state shared income taxes.

The county's share of the state highway fund realized a total of $173,990.92. Money received from other sources increased the monthly budget by $191,607.59. A total of $5,537.78 was allowed in discounts and credits.

Fairview Church Slates Program

The Fairview Church of the Brethren will present its Christmas program this Sunday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m. The youth group of the church will present a play entitled "And Now a Word from Our Sponsor", directed by Mrs. Bruce Warsaw.

Refreshments will be served following the play. Pastor David C. Moon invites the public to attend.

Fairview Church is located along Fairview Church Road, just south of U.S. Rt. 50 off Table Rock Road.

Area Agency On Aging Announces New Programs

Too old to hire, but too young to retire is how persons who are over 55 but unemployed are often described. Because there are many local persons in this situation, the Garrett County Area on Aging continues to work on skill development and employment opportunities to meet the needs of these "displaced older workers."

In the past the Agency has provided training in the areas of home repair and respite care. Additional programs are now being planned, such as helping senior citizens become licensed home improvement contractors. This would involve skill training in carpentry, electrical, plumbing, and business techniques.

Another program in the offering is sheltered housing, which is designed to help senior citizens capitalize on the investment in their homes by providing a shelter for other older citizens who need a home.

Requirements for participation in these programs are: being at least 55 years of age, meet certain minimum income requirements, and being physically and mentally capable of performing the required tasks.

For more information about training opportunities for older workers, persons may contact the Area Agency on Aging coordinator of JTPA programs at 334-2157 or 334-3990.

Mosquitoes are attracted to the color blue twice as much as any other color.

ARROWHEAD
· TOWNHOMES ·

LOCATION: Convenient to year-round recreational facilities—Wisp Ski Area, State Parks, plus the lake is at your doorstep for the summer.
LOCATION: Convenient for vacation leisure—restaurants, both casual and elegant within ½ mile, convenience store and services are adjacent.
LOCATION: Easy to find—located just off U.S. Rt. 219 means driving time to Arrowhead is shorter, and the primary road access is especially important in winter.

Arrowhead is a twenty-six townhouse condominium neighborhood situated on the shores of beautiful Deep Creek Lake, Maryland. Amid tall pines, the development is carefully designed to offer a private and elegant living environment. The highlight of the development is its spectacular location on a crescent shaped peninsula, surrounded by the waters of one of western Maryland's most beautiful lakes. Year-round recreational opportunities are abundant in the nearby waters and mountains. Each townhome enjoys a panoramic view of the lake and its landscape.

We all know that location represents the true measuring stick by which to evaluate a potential real estate purchase—both for investment or private enjoyment.

Arrowhead Townhomes are the epitome of this maxim on Deep Creek Lake.

Arrowhead Townhomes are easy to buy—choose your down payment from as low as 5%—choose your interest rate from as low as 10% fixed. (Note: Interest rate varies with amount of down payment.)

Five units are complete and ready to move into as soon as you select your carpet color.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

The Preston County Child Development Eglon Center held its annual Halloween party on October 30 with 54 children and parents present. Lunch was served by the Aurora-Terra Alta Post VFW. Prizes for best costumes went to: Most Original, Grant Harsh; Prettiest, Melinda Mayne; Funniest, Valerie Wiles; and Ugliest, Heather Mullenax.

On November 20 drawing for the prizes in the raffle was held with first prize going to Judy Teter, second prize to Ilene Fint, third to Carolyn Fazenbaker, and fourth prize to Phyllis Sigley. Total proceeds from the raffle were $277.19.

A Christmas party will be held on December 18 at the Eglon Center for the Child Development children.

The Eglon Homemakers met on Tuesday, December 3, at the Eglon Memorial Building for crafts and a cookie exchange. Planned was a work day at the Eglon distribution center in the old Fike's Store, but due to the winter weather, this had to be postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets of Aurora, spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Virginia visiting with their children, the Doyne and Alan Teets families at Springfield, and Jack and Greta Weeks and children at Marshall.

Visiting with Martha Crowe in Aurora, on Thanksgiving were Glenn and Thad Crowe of Rockville, Md., and Nancy and Elizabeth Crowe of Roanoke Rapids, N.C.

Guests last week with Mrs. Lectie Bonner in Eglon and hunting in the area were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bonner, Mark and Cindy Klockenga, Justin and Pam Grimmett and Ryan, Dwight Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carr and Harold Carr.

"Ebenezer Jr." is the Christmas musical to be presented at the Maple Spring Church on December 22. Everyone is invited to this evening presentation, the time which will be announced later.

Their annual Christmas dinner with turkey, roasted by Mrs. Naomi Teets, was held on Saturday evening, December 7, at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building by members of Union District Senior Citizens.

A business meeting followed the meal and president Wilda Wilt announced that low-income fuel assistance applications were available. There is a planned trip to Florida in April and anyone interested in going should contact Mrs. Junior Myers at Aurora.

Devotions on a Christmas theme were presented by Ruth Snyder. Entertainment consisting of contemporary Christmas music was presented by the Goff sisters, Debbie Simmons, Carol Forman, Trina Rumer and Cheryl Skipper. They also sang the benediction which closed the meeting.

The next meeting of the Union District Senior Citizens will be January 4 with the covered dish dinner at 6 p.m.

Donations recently made to the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department were by Homer and Marguerite Myers and to the Union Ambulance Association by Gladys Teets.

Class parties are scheduled for December 20 at Aurora School, the last day of school before Christmas vacation.

Roy Garrett of Eglon, was admitted Saturday to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he remains a patient.

Also still in Garrett County Memorial Hospital are Lucille Arnold of Eglon, and W.W. Roth of Horse Shoe Run.

Mrs. Ina Beckman moved Sunday from the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Melvin and Rose Ina Harsh, at Eglon, to an apartment in the Meadows East complex at Mt. Lake Park.

The Galen Fikes received word on December 7 of the death of his brother-in-law, Joseph Miller, of Broadway, Va. Mr. Miller was a retired teacher and musician and a minister in the Church of the Brethren. His wife, Dove Fike Miller, survives him. Although they had no children, they reared her brother's children, Earle W. Fike Jr. and Betty Lou Fike Meyers.

Services were held from the Linville Creek Church of the Brethren near Broadway on Monday, December 9.

Lois Snyder Helmick of Horse Shoe Run, was injured seriously in a 9:50 p.m. auto accident near Red House on December 8. She was taken by helicopter to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she remains a patient.

Loch Lynn Church To Present Cantata

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Milton A. Fike, who passed away December 8, 1984.

Day by day we saw you fade
And gently pass away;
Yet, in our hearts we always hoped
That you would longer stay.
If love and care could death prevent,
Your days would not so soon be spent;
Although life was desired it could not be,
Eternal rest was meant for thee.
But forget you, no, we never will,
We loved you here and love you still
It was a bitter pain, a shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear.
Although you had to leave us
And we miss your loving face,
You have left us to remember,
None on earth could take your place.

Sadly missed by
Wife, daughter & family

FRANK BELL and the unknown heirs of Frank Bell
Defendants
NO. 8618 EQUITY
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 18th day of November, 1985, a Motion was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the State of Maryland and for Garrett County, Maryland, against the unknown Defendants.

The Motion alleges in substance, Arzella T. Parsons, Treasurer and Collector of Taxes, is holding the sum of TWO THOUSAND EIGHTEEN AND 88/100 DOLLARS ($2,018.88), representing the amount received from the tax sale of property owned by the late Frank Bell, that all reasonable efforts have been made to ascertain the heirs of the decedent, and believes Exhibit A filed therewith contains all heirs of the late Frank Bell; however, it is not known whether all heirs have been acertained and that the said sum will be distributed to the known heirs as listed on Exhibit A unless cause to the contrary be shown.

The relief prayed in the Petition is substantially as follows: That an Order of Publication be issued against all unknown heirs of Frank Bell, warning them the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall pass an Order distributing the aforesaid sum of $2,018.88 to the heirs as shown on Exhibit A, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

WHEREUPON, it is ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 18th day of November, 1985, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 13th day of December 1985, giving notice to the said Defendants of the objects and substance of the Petition and warning them to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 14th day of January, 1986, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

Proposed issue of industrial development revenue bonds George H. Collins and Madeleine C. Collins.

On Monday, December 30, 1985, at 2:30 p.m. in the County Commissioners Meeting Room of the Garrett County Courthouse Addition, 203 Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department will conduct a public hearing with respect to the issuance and sale by Garrett County, Maryland as its limited obligation and not upon its faith and credit or taxing power of one or more series of its Industrial development revenue bonds.

The bonds, if issued, will be issued pursuant to the Maryland Economic Development Revenue Bond Act for the purpose of financing the cost of the construction and expansion by George H. Collins and Madeleine C. Collins (the "Facility Applicant") of a certain facility known as McHenry Plaza (the "Facility") located in Garrett County, Maryland. The Facility will consist of (a) the construction and expansion of the existing improvements located in McHenry, Garrett County, Maryland, to contain 4,000 square feet, and (b) the construction and installation of certain necessary and useful equipment and machinery. The Facility shall also include building, machinery, equipment, furnishings, or other personal property necessary or desirable in conncection with the foregoing construction. The Facility to be used by the Facility Applicant as a general store and pharmacy.

The maximum aggregate facility amount of the Bonds proposed to be issued with respect to the proposed facilities is $200,000.00. The Bonds may be issued at one time or from time to time and in one or more series. If the Bonds are issued, Garrett County, Maryland will lend or otherwise make the proceeds of the Bond available to the Facility Applicant, which will use the proceeds for the purpose of financing the cost of acquiring and renovating the Facility.

Interested persons are invited to attend the public hearing and will have a reasonable opportunity to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the proposed issue of Bonds and the location and nature of the proposed facilities to be financed.

Written statements must be submitted to the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department at or prior to the time of the public hearing. Any person wishing to submit a written statement prior to the hearing or wishing to receive copies of the resolution authorizing the Bonds should contact the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department, Garrett County, Courthouse, 203 Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, (301) 334-4200.

This hearing is being held pursuant to Article 25, Section 33(r).

NOTICE
OF PUBLIC HEARING
GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

Proposed issue of industrial development revenue bonds Thomas E. Schroyer, t/a Pasco Development Company.

On Monday, December 30, 1985, at 2:30 p.m. in the County Commissioners Meeting Room of the Garrett County Courthouse Addition, 203 Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department will conduct a public hearing with respect to the issuance and sale by Garrett County, Maryland as its limited obligation and not upon its faith and credit or taxing power of one or more series of its industrial development revenue bonds.

The bonds, if issued, will be issued pursuant to the Maryland Economic Development Revenue Bond Act for the purpose of financing the cost of the construction and expansion by Thomas E. Schroyer, t/a Pasco Development Company (the "Facility Applicant") of a certain facility known as Grantsville Shopping Center (the "Facility") located in Garrett County, Maryland. The Facility will consist of (a) the construction and expansion of the existing improvements located in Grantsville, Garrett County, Maryland, to contain 15,000 additional square feet, and (b) the construction and installation of certain necessary and useful equipment, fixtures and machinery. The Facility shall also include building, machinery, equipment, furnishings, or other personal property necessary or desirable in connection with the foregoing construction. The Facility to be used by the Facility Applicant as commercial retail shops to be leased.

The maximum aggregate facility amount of the Bonds proposed to be issued with respect to the proposed facilities is $800,000.00. The Bonds may be issued at one time or from time to time and in one or more series. If the Bonds are issued, Garrett County, Maryland will lend or otherwise make the proceeds of the Bond available to the Facility Applicant, which will use the proceeds for the purpose of financing the cost of constructing and expanding the Facility.

Interested persons are invited to attend the public hearing and will have a reasonable opportunity to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the proposed issue of Bonds and the location and nature of the proposed facilities to be financed.

Written statements must be submitted to the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department at or prior to the time of the public hearing. Any person wishing to submit a written statement prior to the hearing or wishing to receive copies of the resolution authorizing the Bonds should contact the Director of the Garrett County Economic Development Department, Garrett County, Courthouse, 203 Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, (301) 334-4200.

This hearing is being held pursuant to Article 25, Section 33(r).

Rotarians Honor SHS Students

Three Southern High students were honored for their scholastic achievements Thursday, December 5 by the Oakland Rotary Club.

Kimberly Ann Rosenberry, a junior, was recognized as the Outstanding Student of the Quarter for the third quarter of the 1984-85 school year. She is enrolled in college preparatory courses and plans to pursue a career in math and music. She is a member of Southern's concert and marching bands, Students Against Drunk Driving and the Teen Center committee.

One of three daughters of Charles and Verla Rosenberry, Oakland, Kimberly is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church and is active in youth organizations there. She also enjoys playing the flute and piccolo, swimming and working crossword puzzles.

Bobby Bernard, a sophomore, was recognized as the Outstanding Student of the Quarter for the fourth quarter of the 1984-85 school year. He is enrolled in college preparatory courses and plans to pursue a career in math. He is a member of Southern's football and basketball squads and the Senior Division baseball league.

The son of Robert and Joann Bernard, Oakland, Bobby is a member of Sand Flat Assembly of God. His interests include baseball, basketball, football, golf and playing trumpet and piano.

Brenda Butler, a senior, was honored as the Outstanding Student of the Quarter for the first quarter of the current school year. She is enrolled in college preparatory courses and plans to pursue a career in banking and management. She is a member of the National Honor Society. She has been an honor roll student for the past four years and has received numerous honors, including: Who's Who Among American Students, Who's Who In Band, Society for Distinguished American High School Students and the United States of Achievement Academy.

The daughter of William and Barbara Butler, Sunnyside, Brenda attends Maple Springs Church of the Brethren. Her interests include tutoring other students, water skiing, crafts, flower arranging, reading and painting ceramics. She also works parttime as a waitress.

The Oakland Rotary Club regularly honors the Southern High student who has achieved the highest grade point average in each quarter of the school year. Each honored student receives a plaque commemorating the accomplishment.

Northern GOP Women Hold Holiday Luncheon

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club recently held its Christmas luncheon at Hill Top Inn.

Carolyn Ganoe welcomed members and guests. Twila Mae Fike led the group in prayer. Christmas Carols were sung. The "Christmas Miracle" was read by Twila Mae Fike and Lois Rowe. The group joined in a circle and each held a lighted candle while singing "Silent Night."

In place of a gift exchange $86.00 were collected for the Northern Rescue Squad. The club will not meet again until Spring.

Those present and taking part were Zeola Robeson, Hazel Jenkins, Jean Friend, Cora Bowser, Helen Keller, Orpha Miller, Hazel Margraff, Stella and Linda Edwards, Evelyn Younkin, Louise McKenzie, Jennie Stark, Laura Turner, Bernice Merrill, Mary Broadwater, Twila Mae Fike, Lois Rowe, Wilma Wilburn, Cleda Baker, Clara and Leanna Layman, Carolyn Ganoe and two guests, Louise Platter and Pam Cutler.

AARP Against Medicare Control By Blue Cross

Reacting to a proposal for Blue Cross/Blue Shield to underwrite Medicare in Maryland, the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) said today that "despite the potential of this proposal to benefit Marylanders over 65, we believe the plan as it now stands is incomplete and has a number of flaws that make it very difficult to support."

John Bernhardt, chairman of AARP's State Legislative Committee (SLC) in Maryland, said, "The proposal seems to offer a wider choice of health plans, potential cost savings and the ability to disenroll from Blue Cross' private coverage alternatives. Medicare beneficiaries would have access to the Blue Cross/Blue Shield's participating physician network and statewide health plans that might offer better benefits than traditional Medicare.

"Although the proposal is intriguing," Bernhardt continued, "we cannot support it until we see improvements in the structure of the Blue's plan and specific responses to questions we have raised."

Bernhardt's comments came as AARP's State Legislative Committee in Maryland sponsored a presentation on the Blue Cross/Blue Shield demonstration project with members of Blue Cross/Blue Shield, the Maryland Hospital Association the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland. He noted that AARP's concerns with this proposal relate to the Health Care Financing Administration's (HCFA) lack of supervision over the program, the inadequacy of the appeals procedure, and the monopolistic nature of some aspects of the plan.

"With the exception of reviewing financial reports, the federal government would have little control over operations and there would be little direct supervision of Blue Cross," Bernhardt said.

At a December 11 meeting with health care officials and in testimony recently before the Maryland Office on Aging, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and the Department of Insurance, AARP said that many questions about the proposal remain to be answered.

"Our questions fall into four categories: beneficiary relations, continuity of care, reimbursement of providers, and treatment of reserves. Of prime concern is the lack of information upon which to compare the Blue Cross/Blue Shield proposal with traditional Medicare coverage. Blue Cross/Blue Shield provides little premium information and the complexity of the proposal makes consumer analysis most difficult. AARP is also concerned that the so-called catastrophic cap does not appear to count in-patient, out-of-pocket expenses toward the cap. All in all, the proposal has potential but requires extensive flushing out before AARP can support it," Chairman Bernhardt said.

The American Association of Retired Persons, a nonprofit organization, is the nation's largest aging organization with over 20 million members nationwide and almost 400,000 members in Maryland.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 108 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1985 | PER COPY 30¢ | NO. 42

DOING THEIR PART to help the victims of the recent flooding in Garrett County and surrounding West Virginia communities were the students of Southern Middle School, who raised over $3,400 this week by holding a benefit run in the physical education classes. Before the floods early last month, the proceeds from the run were going to be directed to the Statue of Liberty restoration fund. However, the students decided that assisting their neighbors who were suddenly in need was of a higher priority. Students gathered pledges and then ran for 20 consecutive minutes in their classes to fulfill their commitment to those who made the pledges. According to Paula Briggs, physical education teacher, the goal of the project was two-fold: to raise money for flood relief and to encourage better physical fitness in the students.

Braskey Receives Response From Governor Hughes

Garrett County Commissioner John G. Braskey said Tuesday at a press conference that he had received a letter from Gov. Harry Hughes in response to the recent lay-off at Mettiki Mines.

Following the permanent lay-off of 114 employees of that coal mine in early October, Commissioner Braskey blasted the Department of Economic and Community Development, along with Gov. Hughes for their apparent lack of concern for the high unemployment rate in Garrett County. Braskey noted that previously the state had aided the eastern part of the state when the seafood industry began showing sharp decreases.

"The state has sponsored a seafood marketing office for years," stated Braskey at that time. "Has a similar effort been mounted for coal? The answer in no!"

He also questioned the mission of the Bureau of Mines who had increased their staff by 100%.

The response from Gov. Hughes, dated December 4, praised the efforts of the Department of Employment and Training (DET). The governor said that while he understood the frustration of the citizens of Garrett County, he assured county officials that DET was doing everything in their power to provide prompt unemployment insurance and referrals for employment for the laid-off miners. The only mention made of DECD and the Bureau of Mines was that the governor referred Braskey's objections and suggestions to the "appropriate administrators."

He said he asked them to review the suggestions and "initate any corrective action which is deemed feasible at this time."

Of Hughes response, Braskey stated, "Basically, it's what I expected. The governor did say he brought the problem to the appropriate administrators. For now, we'll take the 'wait and see' approach, but only for a reasonable amount of time."

Braskey said they would wait until after the first of the year for additional communication from the departments involved before restating their position on the high rate of unemployment in Garrett County.

Braskey further stated, "It's a shame we have to go to the media to get a response from state officials. It seems it's the only way to draw attention to the problems of Garrett County

Joyous Noel

In song and story, the meaning of Christmas inspires us with joy and reverence. It is a time to cherish the many blessings we all enjoy...friends, family, health and happiness...and to renew our faith in His words. We look gratefully to you, our customers and friends, whose kindness and trust we also cherish. May your joy be boundless throughout this special season.

Best wishes from the staff of The Republican

BPW Selects Lisa Thayer As Young Careerist

Lisa Thayer, of Oakland, was selected by a panel of judges as the Young Careerist to represent the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club during the December 12 meeting. Ms. Thayer, currently employed by Davidson's Army-Navy Store, recently passed her Maryland Bar examination and will begin practicing law in the near future.

She will represent the club against winners from other Maryland clubs March 8 at a preliminary speakoff at the Washington County Library and again at the state convention of BPW clubs in Ocean City next May. At that time a contestant will be chosen to compete in the national Young Careerist speakoff. The topic for Thursday's competition was "The future of women in the workplace."

Judges Judy Stewart, Jeri Swartzentruber, and Ann Taylor deliberated for quite some time before announcing their choice of the three competitors. Runners-up were Peggy Jamison, planning technician for the Garrett County Planning Department, and Peggy Chappell, R.N., patient care coordinator for the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home. Special guests for the evening included Kay Burdock, Peggy Chappell's supervisor.

Christmas songs and music were provided by Lana Brenneman while the judges were making their choice. Kathy Zimmerman was the chairman

Area News Media To Hold Joint Food/Toy Drive This Saturday

A joint effort to help the needy this holiday season is being sponsored by two major news sources in Garrett County. WXIE-FM radio and The Republican Newspaper will be holding a House of Hope Food Drive and a Christmas Gift Gathering, respectively, this Saturday, December 21, in downtown Oakland.

WXIE has been sponsoring the food drive semi-annually for over two years. This year The Republican will join in the drive to collect new or good, used toys for Lou "Grizly" Stouffer, who has played Santa Claus for the needy in the Terra Alta, W. Va. and surrounding areas for over 12 years.

Monetary donations will also be accepted by WXIE for perishable food items for the House of Hope and by The Republican to help defray sleigh operating expenses and to purchase Christmas dinners for the needy and/or flood victims.

The drive will be held in front of The Republican office and Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. WXIE will be broadcasting five-minute sports live from the collection site every half-hour during the drive.

A special visit from Santa (Grizzly) is expected at approximately 10 a.m. He will talk with the children who bring toy donations and provide them with a small token of appreciation for their gifts.

"Because of the recent flooding, the needs are greater this year," said a House of Hope spokesman. "Let us remember our neighbors who suffered the devastation of the flood, but let us not forget our own needy right here in Garrett County. Please help."

Due to limited storage space, clothing will not be accepted at either collection site on Saturday.

Those desiring to make donations before Saturday may earmark them for either the House of Hope or Gift Gathering and drop them off at the The Republican office.

Christmas Peace Pilgrimage Slated

The fourth annual Christmas Peace Pilgrimage, sponsored by four Oakland churches, will be held this Friday, December 20, beginning at 7 p.m.

The walk will begin at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church and then proceed to St. Paul's United Methodist Church. From there, the pilgrimage will go across town to St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and conclude at St. Mark's Lutheran Church with the service of peace. A fellowship hour will then be held with hot chocolate and cookies being served to the walkers.

GCC Trustees Accept Puzzuoli's Recommendations

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met Tuesday evening and approved the interim president's recommendations for the positions of a dean of student affairs and assistant professor of education.

Recommended for dean of student affairs by Dr. David Puzzuoli was Nancy Rich Priselac, who is presently employed by West Virginia University, Morgantown, W. Va. She has also instructed courses at Penn State and Marshall University. Dr. Puzzuoli noted that she had administrative experience and an international reputation having conducted workshops in Singapore, West Berlin and London.

Priselac's background is in mathematics and analytical sciences. She is scheduled to begin her duties in mid-January.

Recommended for assistant professor of education at the college was Sandra Bellanca, who is presently employed at West Virginia University. Dr. Puzzuoli said she is expected to have her doctorate by August. She will begin her duties of improving students' reading and writing skills in January.

Oakland Facility

Professor Michael Will told the board Tuesday that his committee is continuing to evaluate the current and future programmatic needs of the Oakland Center of GCC.

He said they are still taking suggestions from all factions at the college to put together a proposal for the best types of programs and how those programs can best be offered to the community, whether it be at the current facility, a new facility or through microwave broadcasting.

"We're taking a good, hard look at needs for that facility and for the community," said Will. "We're not sure yet whether it will be a brick and mortar project. We are studying the trends in education, particularly in community colleges."

He stressed that no proposal

Garrett County Deer Harvest Reported Normal

After low opening day totals due to the bad weather, the buck kill in Garrett County was normal compared with the official totals since 1980. The official 1985 count in Garrett County was 1,064. Each year since 1980 saw the total just over 1,000 except 1982, which had a total of 976, and 1984, which had a record harvest of 1,173.

According to Al Bourgeois, DNR Wildlife Manager for Garrett County, not every station was equipped to weigh the tagged deer this year. The largest bucks by weight are from reports taken at the stations with scales.

The largest bucks reported this season were: a 166-pound, 10-point buck, killed in the Koontz Run area; a 155-pound, 8-point buck, killed in the Crellin area; a 153-pound, 10-point buck, taken in the Mosser Road area; a 153-pound 8-point buck, killed near Turkey Neck; and a 151-pound, 10-point buck taken in the Swanton area.

The largest racks taken this year were all 10 or 11 points, according to Bourgeois. The largest was an 11-point, 150 pound buck, taken at Deep Creek State Park; an 11-point, 143 pound buck, killed in Big Run State Forest; an 11-point, 114 pound buck, taken on West Shale Road; a 10-point, 166 pound buck, killed in the Koontz Run area; and a 10-point, 153 pound buck, killed near Mosser Road.

Redistricting Decision Delayed By Board Of Ed.

The Garrett County Board of Education postponed their decision for the redistricting proposals at the monthly public meeting held last Thursday.

Members of the board said they had several questions they wished to discuss with the subcommittee, and would then like the committee to further investigate the proposals.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, stated that the committee will meet before the January public meeting, when a decision will be made.

Other items discussed at the meeting included the vocational programs at both high schools.

The board voted to have the drafting program at Southern remain vocational, and that the pre-vocational aspect of the program be improved.

The drafting program at Northern will also be improved, with a longer program to be introduced. A new teacher, which will be at least half-time, will be hired at the school for this purpose.

Also to be added to the vocational program at Northern will be distributive education and business data processing.

Several PTA presidents and County Council members were present to give input and voice concerns.

Another topic of discussion was Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, which is a national holiday for the first time this year. School principals will be di-

Flood Victims Meet With SBA Administrators

Garrett County flood victims met this week with administrators from the Small Business Administration Monday and Tuesday to apply for SBA disaster loan assistance.

Although the Federal government declined to declare Garrett County or any other county in the state a disaster area, the SBA did last week for seven Maryland counties.

Charles J. Gaston, district director for the U.S. SBA, said last week, "This declaration made SBA disaster loan assistance available to residents and businesses who suffered losses from a severe storm, flooding, high winds and tidal surge which occurred in early November.

According to SBA officials, residents may borrow up to $100,000 to repair their primary home plus $20,000 for personal property losses. Businesses may borrow up to $500,000.

Disaster loan funds can only be used to restore property affected by the disaster and the loan is limited to the amount not covered by insurance. Interest rates will either be 4% or 8% depending upon the applicant's own resources.

Although the majority of SBA disaster loans are approved at the lower rate, no determination can be made for individual cases until their application is processed. All applicants must be able to demonstrate repayment ability and all losses will be verified by SBA.

HAPPY TO GIVE AND TO RECEIVE are Robert Proudfoot, right, chairman of the Rowlesburg Flood Relief Fund in Garrett County, and Melvin Schwing, commander of Grantsville Post No. 214, American Legion, Department of Maryland. Schwing presented Proudfoot with a check for $1,000 Tuesday for flood relief victims. The Grantsville Post raised the money through ongoing fundraisers which they donate back to their community and neighboring communties in time of need. Schwing stated, "The recent flood certainly brought about a need for the people of Rowlesburg and we welcome the opportunity to serve." He said he hoped their donation would encourage other organizations to continue giving."It will take a year or two of contined giving to get the people of Rowlesburg back on their feet," said Proudfoot."We not only need money, but volunteer labor for clean-up and repair." Those desiring to offer their services should contact Proudfoot at 334-3119.

Office Closing; Deadlines Noted

The Republican office will be closed Wednesday, December 25, in observance of the Christmas holiday.

All advertising copy and changes to be published in the December 26 issue must be submitted by Monday, December 23. News copy must be in by noon on Tuesday, December 24.

THE BABES IN TOYLAND came to life at night. The yard sale and flea market dolls Freda Iden re-creates also seem to come to life as each one has its own personality. Freda began this unique hobby a few years ago when she purchased a doll at a yard sale and turned it into a society lady from the 1890's. Freda has fashioned bride gowns and various other costumes for nearly 20 dolls she salvaged. Bea Manor is the name given to the doll pictured above. She was purchased at a yard sale at Bradley Manor for ten cents. Hence, the name. Freda began to bleach her and scrub her with a Brillo pad and finally removed all the filth to reveal a doll that had teeth and brown eyes (an unusual color for doll's eyes). Pictured above, right, is Bertha Stackhouse, a bride from the Victorian era, whose gown was fashioned in intricate detail by Freda. Christmas seemed the perfect time to feature a story on one of the oldest gifts given at this time of year - the doll. (See feature on page 5)

PSI Ordered For Local Man

In Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last week, Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation for a Mtn. Lake Park man.

Samuel Junior Wilson, II, 26, was charged with two counts of distribution of a controlled dangerous substance, two counts of possession of marijuana, and two counts of maintaining a common nuisance.

Wilson pled guilty to the distribution charge and to both possession charges.

The charges stemmed from separate incidents on April 25 and May 16 in the Mtn. Lake Park and Broadford areas.

According to court documents, Wilson sold marijuana to Sgt. C.H. Hinnant on May 16, and was arrested by Cpl. M. R. Mattingly in June.

Wilson was represented by Robert E. Watson, an Oakland attorney.

In another court case, a presentence investigation was ordered for Michael E. Bittinger, 27, Grantsville, after he pled guilty to two counts of assault and a charge of carrying a weapon with intent to injure.

Not prosecuted by the court were two counts of attempted murder and two counts of assault with intent to murder.

According to court documents, the charges stemmed from a May 18 incident when Bittinger saw his wife, Vickie, in a vehicle with another man near the Lower New Germany Road.

Bittinger then fired shots at the vehicle with a .308 caliber rifle. One shot struck the gas tank and another entered the passenger compartment, narrowly missing Mrs. Bittinger.

In another case, Wilford S. Leasher and Peggy Leasher were both sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for arson, and one year for burning with intent to injure the insurer. The sentences will run concurrently.

The Leashers were originally sentenced in February, then filed for an appeal, and were released on appeal bond.

However, the Court of Appeals affirmed the judgments, and the Leashers made a motion to revise the sentence. Judge Thayer denied the motion, and the Leashers were committed to Sheriff Van Evans.

The couple was charged following a May 7, 1983 fire which gutted their home on the Chestnut Ridge Road, Grantsville, causing an estimated $50,000 in damages.

Following a jury trial in April of 1984, Judge Thayer declared a mistrial because the jury could not agree after three days of testimony.

In a plea hearing before the court, Joel B. Miller, 33, Grantsville, pled guilty to a third degree sex offense.

Miller's bail was continued, and he was told to complete his in-patient services treatment at the sexual clinic of Johns Hopkins Hospital. The hospital will then furnish the court with a full report.

Miller also faced a charge of assault and battery.

The charges stemmed from an April 5 incident in the Oakland area involving a six-year-old girl.

Christmas Lights To Be Darkened

Oakland Mayor H.D. Swartzentruber reported this week that the decorative Christmas lights along the streets of Oakland will be turned off for a 24-hour period, beginning at 8 p.m. Friday. This is being done in cooperation with a directive from Governor Harry Hughes in memory of the 258 men and women of the 101st Airborne Division who died this week in a plane crash in Newfoundland.

Fire Damages Grantsville Area House Tuesday

Damages were estimated at between $500 and $1,000 after fire broke out Tuesday in a house under construction in the Grantsville area.

Volunteer fire fighters from Grantsville, Bittinger, and Eastern Garrett VFDs were summoned at 3:43 p.m. to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Platter and their daughter, located along New Germany Road. Upon their arrival, Grantsville firemen found that the corner of the kitchen had been on fire, but a Potomac Edison employee working in the area had extinguished the blaze with a fire extinguisher. Bittinger and Eastern Garrett VFDs were returned to their stations.

Herman Yoder, chief of Grantsville VFD, stated that the fire was accidental in nature and began in a box containing wood scraps and rags soaked with varnish. They said the room had no furniture in it, although there was minor smoke damage throughout the rest of the house. Firemen used exhaust fans to clear the air in the structure.

Firemen remained on the scene until 5:08 p.m. Yoder stated that road conditions were hazardous because of blowing snow, making it difficult to get to the scene.

Numerous other fire alarms sounded in the county throughout the past week, however most were flue fires that caused little or no damage.

Commencement Slated At FSC

Frostburg State College will conduct its 87th Commencement ceremonies on Saturday, December 21, beginning at noon at the Physical Education Center.

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes will be the principal speaker and over 300 degrees will be awarded at the public ceremonies.

The college will also confer an honorary Doctor of Laws upon the Maryland Senator.

Music for the program will be provided by the Commencement Ensemble, and Michelle E. McBride, member of the Class of 1985, will sing the National Anthem and the Alma Mater.

Dr. Kenneth Jablon, acting president, will confer the degrees, while members of the Board of Trustees of the State Universities and Colleges will present the degrees.

Rev. John M. Nelsen, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Frostburg, will deliver the Commencement prayer and benediction.

Deer Park Youth "Satisfactory" After Collision

A Deer Park youth was listed n "satisfactory" condition this norning at Cumberland Memorial Hospital following a vehicle accident which occurred last Thursday.

Renee Helmick, 16, was transported to the hospital by Medevac helicopter following the 4:50 p.m. accident on Route 135 several miles above Bloomington.

According to reports filed by the Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment, Harry E. White, 66, Deer Park, was eastbound on Route 135 in a 1975 International Tractor Trailer. The truck was descending Backbone Mountain at approximately 10 miles per hour.

James H. Harvey, 18, Kitzmiller, was also traveling east in a 1984 Ford Escort. According to police reports, Harvey failed to reduce the speed of his vehicle and struck the rear of the tractor trailer.

Tfc. L. Rosage investigated the mishap, charging Harvey with failing to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Harvey was transported to Cumberland Memorial by Tri-Towns Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released.

A single-vehicle accident Sunday resulted in a driver being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

According to police reports, Gregory Alan King, 22, Cumberland, was eastbound on U.S. Route 40, just east of U.S. Route 219 South, in a 1984 Plymouth Colt.

The vehicle left the right side of the road, swerved back onto the roadway, and ran off the left side, striking a guardrail. The vehicle then came back onto the road, hit the guardrail on the right side, crossed the road again, and finally came to rest against the guardrail on the left side of the road.

Both King and a passenger in the vehicle, Daniel Ray, 24, Keyser, were transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad, where they were both admitted and later released.

Trooper David W. Broadwater investigated the incident, charging King with crossing the center line and negligent driving as well as DWI.

A single-vehicle accident occurred last Wednesday on U.S. Route 40 just east of the Zehner Road.

According to police reports, Carl Harvey Wilt, 60, Bittinger, was charged with DWI following the accident.

Police said Wilt failed to negotiate a left-hand curve and ran off the road into a wooded area, striking several trees with the front end of the vehicle, a 1979 Chrysler LaBaron.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger investigated the mishap, charging Wilt with crossing the center line as well as DWI.

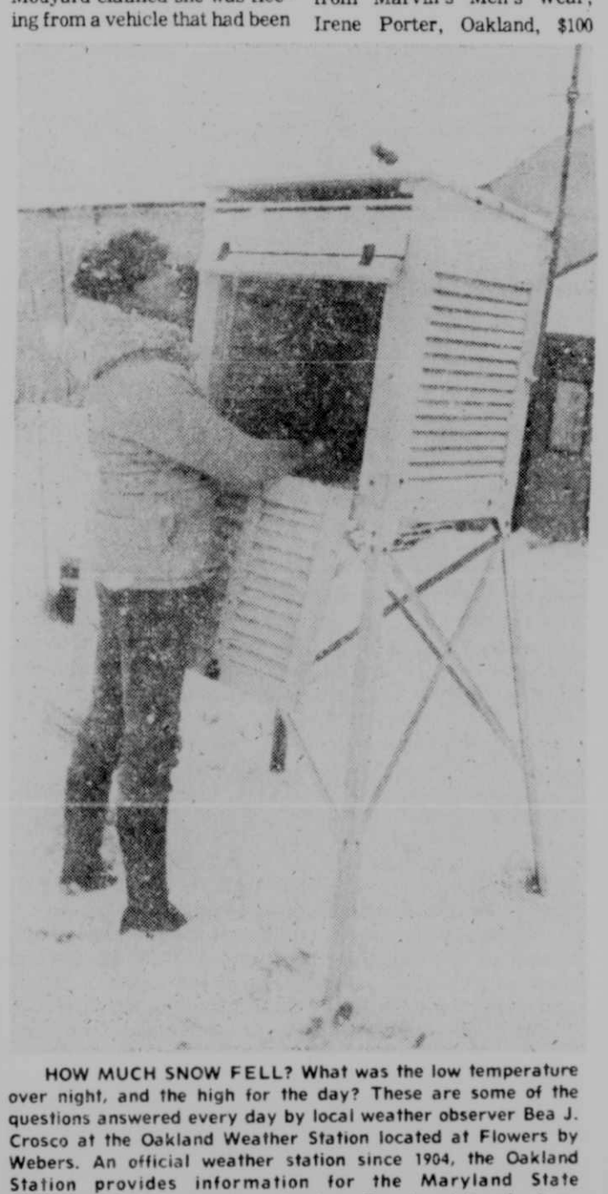
A single-vehicle accident occurred December 1 on the Cranesville Road.

According to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, Mary H. Mouyard, 35, Mtn. Lake Park, was traveling south in a 1982 Jeep Wagoneer at a high rate of speed.

The vehicle left the road and overturned. Police said Mouyard claimed she was fleeing from a vehicle that had been following her.

Tfc. R.C. Resh investigated, charging Mouyard with negligent driving.

Both Mouyard and a passenger, Pamela G. Layton, 34, Mtn. Lake Park, were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.



CHOSEN YOUNG CAREERIST — Lisa Thayer, second from right, was selected Young Careerist for the Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club at the December 12 meeting. Extra Special Giving . . .

Christmas is a time of caring, sharing, and giving. Never has this been more evident in Garrett County this year when we consider the outpouring of these Christmas qualities since the flood disaster last month. The response by Garrett Countians to help the victims of the flooding has been unsurpassed by any other county, West Virginia or otherwise.

The caring, sharing, and giving began moments after the flood, as many who were able-bodied went to the scenes of the devastation and assisted in clean-up efforts. Others helped by donating and collecting food, personal items, furniture, and money. Area businesses have been selling needed items at or below cost to the flood victims.

Today's issue of The Republican contains several photographs of local people, many of them young people, who have raised money and collected gifts for those in need. This week the students of Southern Middle School, all on their own, raised over $3,000 by holding a benefit run in their physical education classes. Soon after the flood, the students of Northern High School began gathering personal items for the flood victims and quickly surpassed their goal of one item per student. This month, they have continued their giving by working to collect and purchase Christmas gifts to be donated. All of the local schools have been involved in similar worthy projects.

We appreciate the decision of Superintendent of Schools Jerry Ryscavage and the Board of Education to temporarily lift the restriction against holding fund-raising efforts as school activities. Even more so, we appreciate the fabulous response by our young people and their teachers. It is so heartwarming to see this happening, because it is that most special form of giving, whereby the giver expects no reward, not even a thank you. The children who open these donated gifts on Christmas morning will probably have no idea where they came from.

Yes, there is still a whole lot of evil in our world. One can spend a lifetime, every hour of every day, agonizing over it, worrying about it, and complaining about it. But what a miserable way to spend a life; for there is also a whole lot of good out there. Let us never stop fighting the evil, but let us also never allow the evil to make us blind to the good.

Sin is a condition of mankind. It will never go away until mankind goes away. Thank heavens each of us received a special gift some 2,000 years ago that provides the one and only way to conquer sin. That gift also provided an example for us to follow as we progress through life on this earth. The giving that we have witnessed lately by so many local folks lives up to that example.

Merry Christmas.

Letters to the Editor

Editors Note: The following letter was received from the Maryland Hospital Association. It was written to Larry M. Beck, administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, by Richard J. Davidson, president of the MHA.

Dear Larry:

I just wanted to take time to commend you and all the staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the outstanding job that you did during last month's flood.

From this vantage point, you provided an example of all of us to point to of a community hospital truly responding to a community need without regard to whether or not you would ever get paid for such a response. It seems to me that is what our roots are all about.

The hospital's cancellation of the Christmas dinner/dance and the donation of that money to help flood victims is just another sign of the entire hospital family's commitment to community service.

Please accept congratulations and commendations from everyone here for your exceptional leadership.

With warm regards,
Sincerely,
Richard J. Davidson
President

To the Editor:

Recently I heard a rumor that the monies that were deposited for the flood victims had been turned over to the Red Cross. I would like to state that such is not the case. I have contacted the three counties surrounding Garrett County and have been informed that the following are the appropriate groups for the distribution of the money: Grant County Ministerial Association, Tucker County Ministerial Association, and the Town of Rowlesburg, all in West Virginia.

Some of the money will be made available to the Kitzmiller Lions Club who are expending over $5,000 for work in their area.

It may also be of interest to note that the National Chapter of the American Red Cross has spent six to seven times the money that has been sent in from the local chapter. They have spent thousands of dollars in our area over the past three years.

Also, donations can still be sent to the: Flood Relief Fund, in care of First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland, Maryland.

Sincerely,
Brad Stewart

Editor's note: The following two letters are directed to Dr. Torrey Brown, secretary of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and Donald E. MacLaughlin, director of Forest, Park and Wildlife Service in Maryland, concerning Deep Creek Lake regulations.

Dear Dr. Brown:

As Deep Creek Lake property owners, we are concerned about the impending Deep Creek Regulations. Due to the distance from our home and the fact that our cottage is now closed for the winter, we were unable to attend the meeting held in McHenry on November 23. It appears that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) may have deliberately selected a time of the year for the hearing that precludes attendance by many Deep Creek property owners. Attendance at such meetings in November encompasses not only inconvenience, but unnecessary expense for property owners as we would be required to house and maintain ourselves during the time of the meeting as well as our share, as taxpayers, for the Maryland state officials in attendance.

At the present time, the taxpayers who own Deep Creek Lake property are paying dearly for absolutely no services whatever! When our roads need repair, we must complain long and loud in order to get any satisfaction. There is no trash collection available except at the individuals expense. True, there is a sewer system available to some property owners, but may I remind you, it does not begin to serve all the tax payers. Most of us must provide for our own sewer and water needs within the state and local regulations.

The Deep Creek Regulations were drawn up without any property owner input. A simple questionnaire sent to property owners might have saved a great deal of time and trouble for all concerned. As that was not deemed necessary, we must now request a fair and open hearing scheduled at a time when all interested parties will have an opportunity to attend. I would suggest the Memorial Day Weekend of 1986 when the largest number of the property owners might be available. This would afford the DNR valuable input which they have chosen to ignore completely, and perhaps might stem future confusion and ill will. As tax payers, I feel we are entitled to "due process" and do not feel we have been afforded that opportunity to date.

The Regulations, as they are now written, are confusing, vague and difficult to understand. They also embody changes without adequate explanation. In short, the Regulations require interpretation and clarification.

We feel the property owners of Deep Creek Lake have been by-passed, deliberately or otherwise, and denied the opportunity to input and "due process" regarding the proposed Deep Creek Regulations. Please schedule another hearing for the Memorial Day Weekend of 1986 so we may attend and understand one another's needs.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,
Mary Jane Raher for
Mr. and Mrs. David G. Raher

Dear Mr. MacLaughlin:

I am writing to protest the "public" hearing held by the DNR in November, which only a very small percentage of the public was able to attend.

The DNR has had several years to study Deep Creek Lake and formulate regulations for the benefit and protection of the general public, the property owners, and the lake itself. Then the final public hearing was deliberately scheduled during the off season when most nonresident owners could not possibly attend.

In reply to my recent protest about the inappropriate timing of the DNR hearing, I was given a most inadequate answer. The hearing during the off season was necessary, it seems, in order to lift the moratorium on dock permits. If this is such a pressing concern, why cannot the DNR lift the moratorium right now? New permits can be issued on the basis of the regulations as now pending, subject to changes during the final adoption.

As presently drawn, the regulations fail to address some of the most important long-term problems on the lake:

1. The regulations impose no limit on the number of boats which may be rented to the public, nor on the number of boats which may be launched from public facilities. How many boats can the lake absorb?
2. The long overlooked issue of restrictions or licensing for boat drivers has not been addressed. A 12-year-old child, who has never before been in a boat, may legally drive a huge power boat pulling a skier. This is obviously a great danger.
3. In regard to buffer strip use, the requirement for written consent of a property owner before public use has been eliminated. This is grossly unfair to people who 25 years ago invested heavily in a home which supposedly provided privacy.
4. There is no limitation on speed or on exhaust noise, both of which are serious problems.
5. All people are aware that metal barrels do break down and cause pollution. Why are they again being permitted?

If government, in this case the DNR, is to serve the majority of citizens, it should be more receptive to the suggestions and criticisms of those citizens. Why cannot these vital matters be discussed in another hearing over Memorial weekend?

Yours truly,
Harold A. Greenberg, M.D.

To the Editor:

I was appalled to learn two days ago that Mike Friend's contract at GCC had not been renewed as director of student services, adding to the long list of questionable contract releases and loss of very competent personnel. What and who is calling these shots at GCC? The silence of the media and this is "deafening" and stunning. Where is the student council and the Academic Forum now? You learn so fast to keep your mouth shut in Garrett County or suffer the consequences—is no job.

For one of such integrity and high standards as Mike Friend to be let go as so many other equally excellent staff have been tells me no wonder the administration of GCC is to be moved to Cumberland ACC. There is no competency in what we have here and there hasn't been in so many long years, not just a few months. Anyone who thinks so is looking at the world through rose colored glasses and for the reasons they are well aware.

We have no real moral leadership here and never have generally. We learn never to open our mouths publicly early on here, unless we want to be dismissed, ostracized or even accused of being "acutely ill" mentally and or?

I often wonder what "our America" is really for anymore?

Do we have a mini-Mafia type structure operating here as I have been told so often? It seems so.

"Be a good little girl or boy and never speak out against injustice, discrimination, neglect and corruption of thought, word or deed and you'll make it."

I often wonder where our moral and Christian judgment really is here. Gone jogging or skating or skiing—permanently?

Are only alcoholics and some such winners here? I know too many for whom this seems to be true.

There are houses that need to be gotten in order here! Is anyone man enough for the real job of helping to see it gets done, or are too many still concentrating on bigger businesses, assets, influential positions and where they are in their own self-deluded positions of importance in the community?

A Christian area? Don't make me laugh?

The Coming Crisis In Our Schools

THE COMING CRISIS IN OUR SCHOOLS
by Senator John N. Bambacus
(R-Allegany, Garrett)

There's a time bomb ticking at the heart of Maryland's public school system.

In the next eighteen months we face an unprecedented shortage of classroom teachers in virtually all subject areas and in all sections of the State. Moreover, the gap is widening daily.

When the bell rings for classes across Maryland in September, 1987, 9,000 teachers will be needed in our elementary and secondary schools. But the pool which supplies 35% of our teachers - the State's colleges and universities - has been drying up. Our teaching ranks are being thinned out by retirements, career changes, fewer and fewer individuals pursuing teaching careers, and by the attrition of a highly fluid profession. We are not replacing them fast enough. Of the 3,000 students who will graduate from our colleges and universities next year, only a handfull will enter elementary and secondary teaching.

In my view, the teacher shortage is part of the larger question of where Maryland is heading in educating its future citizens. At this juncture the picture that is emerging looks increasingly dismal.

How did we get into this predicament, and who is to blame? The reasons are manifold, and there is enough blame to go around.

Certainly, the unforeseen baby boomlet of the past decades and a half is a factor. But I believe that other, deeper reasons lie at the core. They include a perceived weakening of public support for education, marginal teacher salaries, classroom discipline problems, attempts to introduce questionable professional competency testing both here and elsewhere, the drive toward unionization, and a general belief among our best and brightest young men and women that the corporate boardroom holds greater professional challenges and rewards than the classroom.

In recent days and weeks, the State's educational leadership has begun moving to address the seriously deteriorating teacher recruitment issue. Various task forces have been appointed to assess the impending shortage and to begin looking at the long term of general educational reform in Maryland.

These moves, however, may be too little, too late.

Because of this, I believe the time has come for the General Assembly to seriously ponder using its constitutionally mandated oversight responsibility in a prospective way. In short, we in the Legislature must begin searching for new ways not only to head off the coming teacher crisis, but to sound the call for a thoroughgoing public debate about educational policy for the future.

Maryland's educational establishment owes us a detailed accounting, a firm plan of action and an acceptable timetable for resolving the coming teacher shortage. But they also need to begin addressing a long range educational policy. Maryland is not the same State of a decade ago; we are not the same State of five years ago. Accordingly, we need to begin planning now for the next decade and the decade after that.

In an effort to move toward that goal, I have called on the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee to conduct public hearings in mid-January. I am delighted that Chairman Norman R. Stone, Jr. (D-Baltimore) has scheduled these vital hearings.

I am fully aware of the dangers of political meddling in policy formation. However, in the case of public education, the war is far too serious to be left solely to education's generals. It must be an enterprise conducted at a high level of visibility with the full participation of government, educators and the public.

Gone are the days of leaving educational policy solely to the educators and the educational interest groups. In spite of significant expenditures for education over the past two decades, there is insistent dissatisfaction in the General Assembly with the results. Rightly or wrongly, the perception is that educational quality in Maryland has declined and little is being done to reverse it.

Moreover, change and reform in education is being imposed from without instead of bubbling up from within. I believe that the time has come to restore public confidence in and support for public education in Maryland. Legislative oversight can be an effective instrument toward its achievement.

•We need closer cooperation between higher education and our local communities and their school systems.

•We need better educational forecasting. Supply and demand projections must be made available to school system personnel offices by our colleges and universities to enable them to anticipate personnel shortages.

•We need to recognize that educational responsibility transcends the schools. Home life and school life need to be brought closer together.

•We need improved teacher education and enrichment programs, and we need a frank assessment of such programs currently on the books.

•We need to make teaching more attractive and rewarding by improving salaries and working conditions.

•We need to know how well our boys and girls are learning. Standardized educational testing can accomplish this, and the results should be made available to policymakers for assessing the effectiveness of teacher training in our colleges and universities.

Higher education must be a major player in this drama. Our colleges and universities can no longer exempt themselves from standards of performance and accountability. Academic freedom notwithstanding, there must be a thorough airing of the basic relationship between expenditures for higher education and its results.

The people of Maryland deserve no less. We, their elected representatives, must demand it.

Some educational experts claim that resources are stretched thin and are too unevenly distributed to guarantee uniform quality throughout the State; others suggest that the problem is wholly financial, that with higher salaries and rewards for superior teaching will come the quality we are seeking. Both may be correct.

But before we launch a broad assault on the teacher shortage with the State's checkbook, we need a careful cost-effectiveness analysis of current expenditures. We need a realistic assessment of what current expenditures are buying in terms of quality. We need to determine whether we can realign current expenditures in a way that will give us more quality for our investment.

Without this, we will continue to put dollars into a system, which I am not convinced is providing the quality educational programs Maryland parents want for their children, and for our State's future. As Robert Kennedy once said "Every generation inherits a world it never made and automatically becomes the trustee of the world for those who came after."

The teacher shortage is a symptom of a larger issue determining the direction of public education in Maryland as we move toward the immense potential of a new century. We must not only effectively defuse the time bomb, we must guarantee that we never hear another one.

Our Turn

Sane Christmas
by Pam Ashby
(Sung to the tune of "White Christmas")

I'm dreaming of a sane Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know.
When I was younger
And had more time,
And didn't mind all the snow.

I'm dreaming of a sane Christmas
With every Christmas gift I hide.
Wish my days were less occupied
And my patience wasn't so tried.

I'm dreaming of a sane Christmas
'Cause hectic it's been up to now.
I'm not finished shopping;
I keep on hopping.
My mood is getting really foul.

I'm dreaming of a sane Christmas
With every ounce of strength I have.
Oh, think I'll change my tune and be light
"Cause all my Christmases have always been alright.

Susan and I would like to extend holiday greetings to all our readers. May your days be merry and bright.

- a county which has a population of about 26,000, but only 12,000 registered voters. There seems to be a general lack of understanding of what we need here in Garrett County."

The commissioners noted that Gov. Hughes had been to Garrett County only once in three years. He attended an economic development conference in early 1983.

GCC Concerns

Also Tuesday the commissioners met with Patrick Gregg, reporter for the Cumberland Times/News, who had questions concerning Garrett Community College, particularly concerning the rehabilitation of the Oakland Branch of GCC.

Gregg stated that he had met with Dr. David Puzzuoli, interim president at GCC, earlier this week to question him about some college matters.

Gregg read a statement to the commissioners made by Dr. Puzzuli which read, "In September, at a meeting at the Will O' the Wisp, the county commissioners said they were going to institute an engineering study on what it would take to rehabilitate that facility (the Oakland Center). I haven't seen it yet."

The commissioners denied that they had made such a statement. "There was a general quote about the cost of repairing the electrical system at that facility and a variety of alternatives discussed about the building itself on the part of the interim president, but there was really nothing discussed about what the future would hold for the Oakland Center of GCC," said Commissioner Elwood Groves II.

Garrett County Building Supervisor Gary Mullich concurred with the county officials that the only concrete topic discussed with Dr. Puzzuoli was the electrical system at the Oakland Center.

Gregg then asked the commissioners if any other promises were made to the interim president.

"The only promise made between Dr. Puzzuoli and us was to keep an open door communications policy," said Commissioner Braskey.

When asked about Dr. Puzzuoli's "statement to certain parts of the media" regarding the announcement of building a new Oakland GCC facility, Commissioner Ernest Gregg responded, "We are in no position to judge Dr. Puzzuoli's motives, but we feel it was a premature statement. It was certainly inappropriate as it was not done through proper planning or through the proper channels."

"We met with Dr. Puzzuoli after he made that statement and made our position clear that we wanted to be kept informed of any plans for the college, especially in light of the fact that we are partially fiscally responsible for that institution," Gregg further stated. "A plan of that magnitude definitely impacts on the budgetary process of this office."

Gregg then asked the commissioners about laws regarding personnel matters at GCC. The commissioners directed the reporter to the Annotated Code of Maryland to review such laws.

Both Interim President Dr. Puzzuoli and GCC Board of Trustees chairman Katherine Smith were contacted yesterday for contact about the Oakland Center facility and agreed that the possibility of a new Oakland Branch was a conceptual idea at this point and that when the study was complete proper procedures would be followed. (An update on the Oakland Center study appears elsewhere in today's paper in the Board of Trustees story.)

Gregg Honored

At the press conference Tuesday, Commissioner Braskey announced that Commissioner Gregg had received an Appalachian Regional Commission commemorative medallion for his "outstanding contributions" to that commission.

Gregg received the medallion at a recent Tri-County Council conference held in Cumberland.

In a congratulatory letter, U.S. Sen. Paul Sarbanes stated, "I know all Western Maryland citizens share my deep appreciation for your hard work and dedication over the years on behalf of the Appalachian Regional Commission."

Holiday Observation

The commissioners announced that their meeting day would be changed to Monday next week and the following week, in observance of the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The office will close at noon on Tuesday, Christmas eve, and on Tuesday, New Year's Eve, and re-open on Thursday of both weeks.

A Better, Brighter World In 1986

by Charles McC. Mathias Jr.

We are now at that remarkable season when the days grow shorter, the evening falls earlier and the hours of night encompass more of our lives than in any other time of the year. But when we reach December 21, the shortest day of the year, then nature changes and we suddenly look forward to the prospect of longer days and later sunsets—of renewed activity in all the world. The winter solstice is an extraordinary phenomenon of nature and has an enormous impact on all human activity.

But we celebrate at this time, not only these celestial changes, but also our spiritual renewal. We rejoice at the birth of Christ, we delight in the festival of lights, and we make resolutions for the new year.

It is appropriate at this time to step back and consider where we are as a country, and how we coped with all the many troubles and difficulties that we confronted in 1985. We are all sick to death of worrying about deficits, trade problems, and when and how we will impose taxes. In our heart of hearts we know that we are going to have to reconsider those subjects in 1986, but for now, they are the agenda of the old year, and it is a healthy thing to lay them aside and to think of some of the positive achievements of 1985.

The most important thing is that most of the world remains at peace. In spite of all the weapons of war that are lying around ready to be used in almost every country of the world, we have managed to avoid violence and bloodshed on a massive scale. There are unhappy and tragic situations in various places in the world that ought to be better than they are, but at least the worst of all catastrophes possible in modern times has been avoided.

A second development that the world can be proud of is the harvests that the agricultural nations have produced. Harvests abound in every kind of crop and fill the storehouses of the world to overflowing. It is true that some agricultural markets are depressed, and there are pockets of hunger and famine in the world, but never before has the world been so prosperous, so well-stocked with all the good fruits of the soil.

We will face 1986 with a fresh outlook as we cross this extraordinary period of time in which the old year draws to a close, and we make a new beginning.

We look for a brighter and a better world in 1986. If we apply ourselves and the best that is in our nation to making it a brighter world, then I believe we can achieve our goal.

THE WONDERFUL WORLD OF DOLLS is displayed by Freda Iden, center. Shown here are many of the period brides she has created and some of the child dolls she has costumed as carpenters, cooks and seamstresses. The dolls' clothes are fashioned by Freda, right down to their undergarments. The brides are even complete with jewelry of that particular period in history.

MR. AND MRS. CLAUS pose with their creator, Freda Iden. Freda spent long hours repairing these yard-sale purchased dolls before she could even begin to cut and sew their very detailed outfits. These dolls are one of Freda's latest projects. Pictured below are one of Freda's first doll renovation projects. The late 1890's couple display their finery beautifully and look as though they are embarking on a jaunt down posh Fifth Avenue to attend a high-society gala.

A Fantasyland Of Dolls Unveiled—

Created By Seamstress, Freda Iden

by Pam Ashby

Entering the home of Freda Iden a few weeks ago was a trip into my childhood - to the wonderful world of dolls. But there was something special about these dolls and I soon discovered why.

Freda conceived an idea some years ago when she purchased two large dolls at a yard sale. The dolls were old and used, so Freda, with the help of her imagination, some soap and water, and wigs, cut to size, created two fine-looking dolls.

Freda, who is a meticulous seamstress, began cutting and stitching and soon created two outfits reminiscent of the 1890's era right down to the bloomers. A careful inspection of the outfits shows Freda's expertise, not only in sewing but in the research she does before beginning any outfit.

The talented seamstress didn't stop there, though. She began searching for dolls at yard sales and flea markets and continued her research at the Ruth Enlow Library with the help of Edith Brock. From her research was born the idea of period brides.

Since that time she has created brides dating back to the 1700's to present day. "I don't just make an outfit and put it on any of the dolls," says Freda. "Each costume is designed to fit each doll's personality."

That was evident after viewing all the brides she had displayed for the photographer and myself.

Freda is reluctant to brag about her hobby, but she makes the patterns herself for each outfit. Being a long-time seamstress myself, I know how difficult it is to even alter a pattern, let alone create one.

Each bride Freda creates requires her determining what type of fabric was suitable for that period; the jewelry fashions; and even the underwear, which ranges from bloomers, to pantaloons, to panties, and even bikinis. The brides are also fitted with the proper stockings and slips, which are fashioned as carefully as the gowns. The intricate detail given to the gowns alone is amazing.

Freda also names her dolls. Some have been named after actual people of particular periods in history and some have come about by Freda's sheer genius. For instance, one doll she purchased at Bradley Manor for 10 cents was cleverly given the name, Bea Manor. Incidently, Freda has never paid more than $3.00 for a doll, yet they are priceless when completed.

When asked if she would make the dolls and sell them for profit, she laughed, and said firmly, "Absolutely not. These dolls are my hobby. Period." (So don't even ask.)

Freda's most recent undertaking was her creation of Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus. The dolls she chose for this project were large, three-foot dolls that were in deplorable condition when she purchased them. She had to repair the arms and legs and cut down a woman's wig to fit Mrs. Claus. (The previous owner had scalped her.) She then set about the task of cutting the red velvet and white fur to produce the perfect costumes.

Since Freda's children are all grown and married, the dolls have a room of their own and are coverd with plastic to help preserve the delicate fabrics. Her husband, Vane, also gets in on the act by making stands for the dolls.

An impossible dream came to fruition when this special lady purchased that first, ragged, dirty doll and created a doll-land fantasy. And, oh, it does take me back.

Accident School Costume Parade Winners Noted

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

There will be a Christmas celebration at the Maple Grove Assembly of God Church at Horse Shoe Run on Sunday, December 22, at 7 p.m. with children's recitations and a presentation of the cantata, "Forever Christmas." Everyone is welcome.

"Ebenezer Jr." is the name of the Christmas musical to be presented at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren at Eglon on December 22, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold its annual Christmas Eve Candlelighting Service beginning at 7 p.m. As part of the service, the choir will present a cantata entitled, "Songs of Christmas." All are invited.

Linda Secrist Butts and Lonnie Moats were united in marriage on December 14 in a private ceremony at the groom's home in Horse Shoe Run, with the Rev. Galen Fike officiating. A reception was held at the Aurora Fire Hall following the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Virgil and Pearl Secrist of New Creek and has one daughter, Cheryl Butts. Lonnie is the son of Dayton and Margie Moats of Aurora, and has three daughters, Rhoda Wiles, Donna and Samantha Moats. Following a wedding trip to Blackwater Lodge, the Moats are residing in their Horse Shoe Run home, the former Ethel Mullenax property.

"The Cosmic Christmas" was the title of the movie which the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club watched at their meeting on December 9. Devotions were provided by the Recreation Committee, Jennifer and Elizabeth Whitehair and Tammy Slaubaugh. Minutes were read by secretary Julie Lewis and treasurer Debbie Rinehart reported the financial status.

New members not present at the Achievement dinner were presented pins by Elaine Roth. They include Rochelle Evans, Anthony Mathes, Jason and Jamie Michael.

Bingo was played by all in attendance and refreshments were pizza and finger foods. Present at the meeting were Tonya Beckman, Chad Bishop, Dayton and Jeremy Bolyard, Heather Cole, Brian and Kevin Corbin, Shannon Eskridge, Rochelle and Stephanie Evans, Mark Harsh, Brent Hauser, Jackie Lantz, Emily and Julie Lewis, Evelyn Lipscomb, Anthony Mathes, Jamie and Jason Michael, Cheri Minnig, Billy Moore, Conna Mullenax, Debra and Donnie Rinehart, Danny Roth, Laura Shaffer, Tammy Slaubaugh, Kevin, Nathan, and Nicole Teets, John, Mark and Matt Utterback, Elizabeth and Jennifer Whitehair and adults Ardis Teets, Sue Corbin, Carolyn Mullenax, Jean Rinehart, Beth Bishop, Linda Lewis, Connie Evans, Elaine and Arlene Roth.

The next meeting of the Eglon Mountaineers will be January 13 with the program consisting of talks and demonstrations by all. Hostesses for the occasion are Beckman and Lipscomb.

Grace Knotts of Aurora, is a patient in the West Virginia University Medical Center where she underwent surgery and treatment this week.

Lucille Arnold of Eglon, was moved last week from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Heartland in Kingwood where it is reported that she is improving.

Jesse Harsh of Gortner, is to undergo surgery this week in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. His sister, Berdena Hesse of Gortner, was a patient last week in Garrett County Memorial.

The Armand Heckerts of Eglon, were notified recently that Mrs. Heckert's sister, Eunice Waldron, of Aliquippa, Pa., was a surgical patient in a Pittsburgh hospital.

Delton E. Winters, 67, Dubuque, Iowa, died Tuesday, December 10, at Canterbury Health Center, Oklahoma City, Okla. He was born September 8, 1918 in Eglon, a son of the late William H. and Myrtle A. (Craver) Winters. He was preceded in death by his wife, Louise (Stemple) Winters in January 1983.

Mr. Winters owned a refrigeration and air conditioning business in Dubuque but had been in Oklahoma City since becoming ill earlier this fall. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Cheryl Dunham, Oklahoma City; a son, Steven Winters, Minneapolis, Minn.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Anita Hustead of North Carolina; a brother, George F. Winters, Eglon; four grandchildren and two step-grandchildren.

Services were conducted Friday, December 13, at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren by the Revs. Rogers Fike and Galen Fike. Interment was in Eglon Cemetery.

Visiting here last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Winters for the funeral of her father, Delton Winters, were Ray and Cheryl Dunham of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Also here for the Winters service were his step-daughter, Anita and Jerry Hustead, Jessica and Jeffrey's friend of North Carolina, and Paul and Margaret Bolyard of Chester, Md., who were all guests of Mrs. Josephine Stanton in Aurora.

United Methodist Ministers Visit Flood Victims

Ellis Harvey, flood relief chairman for the Swanton-Kitzmiller United Methodist Charge, and Bill Anderson, Mt. Storm Charge pastor, joined other ministers from the Romney District on December 10, to conduct a door-to-door survey to determine the needs of the flood victims in Parsons, W. Va., and to listen to individual stories.

On December 14, Harvey and Brian Schofield worked in the Parsons area doing plumbing jobs. They are scheduled to take turkey and hamburgers to the area today.

Mary Jane Harvey, Swanton, and Carolyn Ganoe, Grantsville, representing the Romney District in Garrett County, took two pickup loads of toys to St. John's United Methodist Church in Parsons on Monday.

Christmas Activities

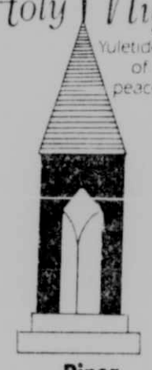
A Christmas dinner was held Sunday at the Swanton Community Center for 85 members of the Swanton United Methodist Church.

Christmas carols were sung and music was provided by Ray Sweitzer, Kenny Kooken and Buss Harvey. Games were provided and the Christmas story was told by Santa Claus. A Christmas card was made and signed by everyone for the church bulletin board.

The King's Kids went caroling on Tuesday evening.

A homemade Christmas treat will be made at the Community Center on Thursday and distributed on December 22, at Sunday School.

The Christmas program will be held December 22 at 6:45 p.m. Everyone is welcome.



January is the church's month to help replenish the pantry for the House of Hope. Members are asked to bring a pantry item as their offering to the Christmas program.

Farm Bill Review

. . . . . A Garrett County Viewpoint

by Bernice Kepple

Late last night, Congress passed the final farm bill and sent it to the president. The five-year farm bill's fate at the hand of President Reagan is unknown. The bill is still about $2 billion over the limit set by the president, although many of the administration's policy recommendations are in the final bill. Some sources are reported as saying that if the president signs the legislation it will be with strong objections to some policy provisions, including sugar, dairy, and export subsidies.

The main objection to the conference committee's bill in the Senate yesterday was that it is inadequate. "The entire economy will suffer if nothing is done to help the farmer . . . at best, this is a hold-the-line measure that will help buy time for agriculture," said Sen. Edward Zorinsky of Nebraska, the ranking Democrat on the Agriculture Committee. "But it is far better than the complete turnaround sought by the administration," he said.

The final bill was approved in the House by a 325 to 96 vote, and in the Senate with a 55 to 38 vote, winning out over several senators' objections. The bill, which is six inches thick, has 18 sections that range from income supports and conservation to food stamps, agricultural research and exports.

The bill in its final form will drive down commodity price-support floors in an effort to make U.S. farm goods more competitive overseas, while maintaining income subsidies to farmers near the current levels. The lawmakers agreed on lower price supports for wheat and corn, and no more than a 10-percent cut over the next five years in deficiency payments.

Congress agreed to cut dairy price supports but not as abruptly as the administration wanted. The dairy changes should reduce federal spending by about $3.4 billion over the life of the bill by gradually dropping supports and encouraging farmers to leave the business. The bill dropped the diversion plan in favor of straight price-support cuts and passed the farmer-financed whole-herd buyout.

The support level will continue at its current $11.60 per hundredweight through 1986, then drop to $11.10 by the end of 1987. By 1990, the support price will drop to $10.10 if CCC purchases continue to exceed five-billion pounds. (The CCC is currently purchasing 13-billion pounds.)

The American Farm Bureau Federation urged Congress to pass the conference committee's bill because with a few exceptions, the bill goes along with Farm Bureau policy, and they feel is by far better than no bill, at this time.

The bill is now in the hands of the president, and it shouldn't take him long to sign or veto it. After we know which decision he makes, I'll look into just what that decision means to Garrett County farmers.

White Fly Insect on Poinsettias

I have had several calls on the little white fly on Poinsettias. This insect can eventually kill the plant if not controlled. Also the white fly will spread to other house plants. One of the most effective insecticides to use is Resmethrin. Resmethrin will only kill the adult fly, therefore you must keep a close eye on additional eggs hatching. As soon as you see another fly—spray again. It may take 3 or more insecticide applications to break the reproduction cycle. If you need additional information contact my office at 334-2145.

Hay And Straw Directory To Be Compiled Soon

The Marketing Services Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture will soon begin compiling a new edition of its "Hay and Straw Directory" to assist farmers in selling hay and straw.

This year, a new service will be used to allow farmers to submit their information over an 800 toll-free telephone line.

Tom Butler of MDA, who is putting the directory together, says here's how farmers should use the service:

"First, figure out what you have to sell and make a listing, such as alfalfa, 1,000 bales; barley straw, 26 tons, etc.

"Then, dial the toll-free number: 1-800-638-2209.

"The telephone will be answered automatically announcing you have reached the 'MDA Data Line.'

"At the indicated time, you should then state the following: your name, name of the farm, telephone number, complete mailing address with ZIP CODE and the county in which the farm is located.

"Then state the items you have for sale.

"Please provide this information by December 28, 1985. If you have problems, you can call our office during business hours at (301) 841-5770."

Missionary Meets

The Baptist Missionary met November 13, at the home of Sarah Metheny to honor her mother, Mary Frankhouser, who is ill and has been with her daughter for some time.

The meeting was called to order by Ruth White, president.

The topic for the program was "Touch God's Earth, but Not with Nuclear Weapons" Taking part were Ruth White, Betty Messenger, Dorothy Kisner, Wilma Lee, Mary Frankhouser, Ethel Hammack and Madeline Sisler.

A card was signed for Louretta Turley who is a member of the Missionary, but lives in Kingwood.

Hostess for the December meeting will be Wilma Lee. The meeting closed with the group repeating the Missionary Creed. Refreshments were served by Betty Messenger.

Personals

John and Madeline Tichenell visited in the home of Mrs. Tichenell's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Feather, Cuzzart.

Visiting in the home of Dick, Jean and J.R. Powell recently were Melissa Boyer, Betty Boyer, Alecia Boyer, Elly Friend, Michael Ridenour, Flippy Likens and son, John, Madeline Tichenell and Bob Crane.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin have been Chaplain Major Melvin E. Martin of George Air Force Base, Cali.; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Martin, Arlington, Va.; David Hoffman, Greg and Mark, Shinnston; Harold Martin, Morgantown; Rev. and Mrs. Bruce Hoffman, Carol and Melissa, Shinnston, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Martin and Sarah, local.

Hopemont Helps

The Volunteer Office at Hopemont Personal Care Home reports numerous individuals and organizations contributed toward helping flood victims. Nearly all departments of Hopemont helped in some way.

The residents helped by washing clothing and cleaning toys. Other state long-term care facilities, as well as former employees and friends of Hopemont, as far away as Florida, Ohio and other states, sent monetary donations, food and many other needed items.

The Volunteer Office with the assistance of Nursing Department and Social Services acted as a "clearing house" for the donated items.

As many families of Hopemont were directly affected by the flood much of the donated items were directed toward them first, however, many items were taken to surrounding communities to assist the flood victims in those areas.

Lakers Still Unbeaten, To Host Tourney This Weekend

The Garrett Community College Lakers added two more wins this past week and will take their 7-0 record into their own Coca-Cola Tournament this weekend, an event which will feature at least one other outstanding team besides the Lakers.

Coach Dennis Gibson's squad held off a late rally by visiting Dundalk Saturday evening to nip the Lions, 62-61, and then whipped last season's JUCO American Division champs, the Community College of Baltimore, 77-69, on Sunday, also in McHenry.

Gibson said the Lakers played "terribly" against Dundalk, noting that they hit only 39 percent from the floor, but held on for the win with another excellent performance by Jim Ragler, who finished with 20 points, six rebounds, five assists, and four steals.

Garrett maintained about a five-point advantage throughout most of the first half, but the Lions rallied in the closing minutes and assumed the lead. The Lakers came back to knot the score at 28 at halftime.

After intermission the Lakers again took control of the contest and held seven to nine-point leads through most of the second half. However, Dundalk once again rallied in the final two minutes and cut the Laker lead to one with 30 seconds left.

Garrett's Scott Stem was fouled, but missed the front end of a one-and-one, giving the visitors the opportunity to win the game on a final shot.

The Lakers' 2-3 zone, which they had used all evening, held the Lions in check, forcing them to call a timeout with seven seconds left. After the timeout, the Lakers again lined up in the same zone coverage, but when the ball was inbounded, they quickly switched to a man-to-man defense, which seemed to fluster the Lions and prevented them from getting a shot off before the buzzer.

Stem added 13 points to the Laker total, while Sean Hazel hit 12. Darin Blackwell came off the bench to record ten rebounds.

Smith paced the Lions with 22 markers, while Lewis and Poplovski netted 14 and 12 points, respectively.

"This was a great win for us," Gibson said. "They are the best team we have faced this year. They are very well coached by Frostburg State grad, 'Doc' Edwards."

Gibson said the Laker defense is "constantly improving" and added, "Hopefully with the return of Jim Mayfield we will be able to use more man-to-man pressure."

Jimmy Feagins was the top point-producer on Sunday against the Red Devils of Baltimore CC as he hit seven buckets and seven of 11 from the line for 21 points.

The Lakers outrebounded the visitors, 41-28, and dominated the second half of play after being down 8-1 in the early going.

A pair of free throws at the 6:50 mark of the first half by Feagins gave the Lakers a 17-16 advantage, a lead they would never relinquish.

The Lakers caught fire and increased their lead to 14 late in the half, but Baltimore came back to cut the advantage to 34-25 at intermission.

Garrett went on top by 20 in the first eight minutes of the second half, but Baltimore began to chip away at the advantage again, cutting the lead to nine with two and a half minutes to play.

A quick dunk by Blackwell and a steal and conversion by Ragler stopped the Devils' rally and seemed to secure the win for the Lakers.

Stem finished with 17 points and led Garrett in rebounds with 13, while Ragler recorded ten points, six assists, four steals, and six rebounds. Sean Hazel added 11 points.

Commenting on Feagins' performance, Gibson said he is "capable of being a great player if he can make the mental adjustment to the college game. He shot poorly, but once he got on track he hit some big play shots for us."

Gibson also noted that Scott Stem, former Southern High standout, has been affected by the team quickness that prevails in the Maryland JUCO. "However, with each game he adjusts and improves," he said. "Thirteen rebounds against a team as big and physical as Baltimore is an outstanding job."

The other three teams in the Laker Coca-Cola tourney this weekend include Penn State-McKeesport Campus, Beaver Community College, and Charles Community College, with Charles CC appearing to be the strongest of all four teams. Charles finished last season with a 26-5 record with a team composed of almost all freshmen. They also managed to recruit a giant in Vannis Livermann, who is 6-11, and another excellent Washington. D.C., player in 6-5 Ernest Bruno.

"They are 15-strong, with no players under six feet," Gibson said.

Charles will face Beaver in the 6 p.m. game Friday, followed by Garrett vs. McKeesport in the 8 p.m. contest. The consolation and championship games will be played the following evening.

Beaver and McKeesport have already played each other once, with Beaver winning by just two points. Coach Dick Henry of McKeesport said his team has "played against very good teams" and currently holds a 2-3 record.

Beaver is currently 6-4 and depends on a strong transition game. They are led by Larry DeVinentis, a sophomore guard who is averaging 12.5 assists, and Kris Gomory, who is averaging 14 points and eight assists.

Scott Stem is leading the Lakers' scoring and rebounding with 16 points and eight rebounds per contest, while Ragler continues to shine as floor leader with an average of 12 points, ten assists, four steals, and four rebounds. Feagins, of Randallstown High School, is hitting 14 points and pulling six rebounds per game, while Hazel, a 6-4 guard, is netting 13 points and seven rebounds per contest. A back-up point guard, Hazel is also dishing out five assists per game.

"We are getting great play from our bench," the first-year coach noted, "down to the ninth man. Someone is always ready to come in and do the job. And the great thing is, it is always someone different each game. This gives us great team unity, which is the biggest factor in our success."

Gibson said the Lakers have now proven they can play well against some of the better teams in the JUCO, such as Dundalk and Baltimore.

"We have accomplished every goal that we have set so far," he said. "Our next step is to win our own Christmas tournament, but also to have fun. These next two games are not nearly as important as our primary goal: winning the Maryland JUCO."

Gibson said he hopes there is a large crowd on hand for the tournament and noted his appreciation to Coca-Cola for sponsoring the event and to the faculty, administration, and staff at GCC, plus the community in general, for all of their support. "They are the real reason we are doing so well," Gibson concluded.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT NEWSPAPER

Rams Edged By Beall, Crushed By Fort Hill

The Southern Rams saw their record fall to 1-3 on the season this past week with a 50-48 overtime loss to Beall Friday evening in Frostburg and a second thrashing this season by Fort Hill, 59-29, Tuesday evening in Cumberland. The Sentinels had similarly whipped the Rams just one week earlier, 72-47, in Oakland.

A pair of free throws by Beall's Scott Dixon with just ten seconds remaining in the overtime period gave the Mountaineers their second victory in three starts.

A last-second shot by Darin Gaynor in regulation time took away the Rams' opportunity for a 44-42 win. Gaynor led Beall with 13 points, while John Ralston hit ten.

Pacing the Rams was Eric Rice who finished with 14 points, ten of which came at the foul line. Jeff Sweitzer and Jon Reneslacis added 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The Rams were on top 10-6 at the end of the first period, but Beall came back to tie the score at 21 at halftime. Southern held a 32-29 edge by the conclusion of the third period.

The Southern jayvees dropped a 37-31 decision to Beall in the preliminary game. J.R. Bosley netted ten for the junior Rams.

As in their first encounter with Fort Hill, the Rams were never really even in the game, as the Sentinels jumped out to an 18-9 lead by the end of the first period, moved ahead 31-16 by halftime, and led 40-21 by the end of the third quarter.

None of the Rams reached double figures, as John Liller and Zack Gibson each finished with nine points. Geoff Karlen and Shawn Courtney netted 14 and 13 points, respectively, for the winners, while Jim Washington scored 11.

The Rams were out-rebounded, 27-15.

Again the Southern jayvees went down to defeat, 52-44, in the preliminary. J.R. Bosley led the junior Rams with 13 points, while Jesse York recorded ten for the winners.

Coach Oren Yoder's Rams have another tough encounter before the Christmas break as they are slated to host Valley this Friday evening.

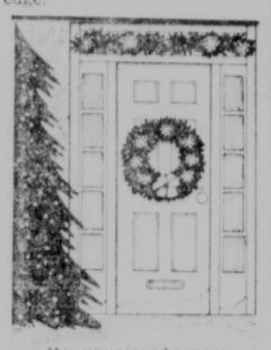
Laker Women Rebound With Win At Harford

After an 84-42 thrashing at the hands of the Community College of Baltimore at McHenry on Sunday evening, the Garrett Community College women came back Wednesday night to record a 68-52 victory over Harford Community College in the Harford CC Women's Classic.

The 3-3 Lakers were led against Baltimore by Stephanie Burks, who netted nine points, while Purvey paced the winners with 21.

Lillie Jeffries finished with a 23-point performance last night for the Lakers and also pulled down 12 rebounds. Burks also grabbed 13 rebounds and Natalie Vetter was credited with five assists.



Garrett held a 34-29 halftime edge.

Sharrone Buchanan and Debbie Roloff each scored 11 points for Harford.

The Lakers will meet Prince George's CC today at 5:30 p.m., while Allegany CC will face Harford at 7:30 p.m. ACC defeated Prince George's in the other opener, 66-53.

Ram Wrestlers Finish Sixth, King Is MVP

The Southern High wrestling team finished a disappointing sixth out of eight teams in the annual Thomas R. Davis Memorial Tournament at Allegany High School on Saturday, however one of the Rams was named one of two Outstanding Wrestlers in the event.

Chad King, who won the 132-pound eight class championship, shared the Outstanding Wrestler honor with Joby Topper of Hyndman, who won the 167-pound division title. King decisioned Beall's Ryan Davis, 6-3, to win his division.

Beall finished first in the tournament with a total of 195 points, followed by McDonough with 178, Hyndman, 152; Valley, 114; LaPlata, 105; Southern, 80; Smithsburg, 63 and one-half; and Allegany, 32.

Capturing third places by winning their consolation matches were Southern's Bruce Brown in the 112-pound class and Brad King in the 132-pound class. Brown decisioned Darrell Hawkins, of McDonough, 4-3, and King pinned Chip Parsons, also of McDonough.

Winning fourth places for the Rams were Doug Evans and Chuck Fitzwater, while Lance Beahm and Tim Kepple recorded sixth places and Todd Beahm finished in seventh place.

MOST OUTSTANDING WRESTLER — Chad King, a member of the Southern High School wrestling team, was named one of two Most Outstanding Wrestlers in the annual Davis Memorial Wrestling Tournament, held last weekend in Frostburg. King was the champion of the 132-pound class. As a team, Southern placed sixth in the eight-team tourney.

Southern Girls Defeat Valley, To Host Classic

The Southern girls varsity basketball squad upped its record to 3-2 Wednesday evening with a 45-36 win over visiting Valley.

Jackie Noe led the winners with 18 points on six buckets and six of eight free throws, as the Lady Rams exploded for a 21-5 lead in the first period.

Valley narrowed the gap slightly in the second period to 28-15 and came within ten by the end of the third stanza, 37-27; however Southern never trailed in the contest.

Amy Beeman finished with 12 points to pace the Black Knights, who fell to 0-3 on the season.

The Lady Rams will return to action this Saturday evening by hosting the annual Snowflake Classic. Valley, Fort Hill, and Meyersdale will be the other three teams involved, with Southern slated to face Meyersdale in the 8:15 contest. Valley and Fort Hill will meet in the 6:30 p.m. game.

The finals and consolation game will be played Monday.

Huskies Now 1-3 After Losses To Knights, Indians

The Northern High School boys varsity basketball team experienced a disappointing week by being soundly defeated by Valley Friday evening at Lonaconing, 80-54, and by undefeated Mt. Savage Tuesday night, 77-31, on the Indians' floor. The losses dropped Coach Harv Speicher's squad's record to 1-3 on the season. The Huskies will attempt to get back into the win column this evening when they travel to Oldtown.

John Smith guided the Black Knights past the Huskies Friday night with a 26-point performance, including 12-for-13 at the free throw line.

Valley moved out to a 20-12 advantage by the end of the first quarter and expanded that lead to 46-22 by intermission. The score was 66-39 as the final stanza opened.

Bill Torres of Northern also netted 26 points in the losing cause, hitting ten buckets and six of eight free tosses. He was the only Husky to reach double figures.

Tim Beeman finished with 16 points for the Knights, while Jason Bartlett recorded 12.

The Northern jayvee team also lost to their Valley counterparts, 32-24, in the preliminary game.

It was another 26-point effort by a Mt. Savage player that paved the way for the Huskies' second loss of the week. Scott Williams sunk nine baskets and nine of ten from the line, as the Indians coasted to their fourth straight win. He also was credited with ten rebounds.

Mt. Savage was never seriously threatened in the contest as they held leads of 16-6, 36-9, and 48-15 at the quarters.

Doug Deremer added 15 points to the winners' total, while Torres again led the Huskies with nine points.

The Husky jayvees were again edged in the preliminary game, 38-35.

NHS Girls Fall To Beall, Then Whip Oldtown

The Northern High girls varsity basketball team was crushed by Beall in Frostburg on Friday, 52-23, but rebounded Wednesday with a 38-18 mashing of visiting Oldtown. It was the first win in four starts this season for the Lady Huskies, who will be idle until January 3 when they will host Valley.

The Huskies jumped out to an 8-2 advantage in the first quarter against Beall, but were outscored 21-5 in the second quarter to give the Mountaineers a 23-13 halftime lead. They stretched their advantage to 38-17 by the conclusion of the third period.

Kelly Manley led the winners with 14 points, followed by Janeen Spence with ten. Julie Robeson paced the Huskies with a dozen points.

It was Beall's third win in four starts.

Robeson also led Northern with 14 points against Oldtown, this time in a winning cause, while teammate Melissa Beeman added 11.

Oldtown, which dropped to 0-3, was led in scoring by Michelle Ginevan, who finished with seven points.

The Lady Huskies were never threatened in the contest, holding leads of 9-3, 18-5, and 34-12 at the quarters.

Rams Second In Wrestling Event

The Southern High wrestlers hosted a tri-match Tuesday involving Valley and Keyser and came away with a win and a loss.

The Rams dropped a 39-28 decision to Valley, but came back to record a 42-25 win over the Golden Tornado. Valley also topped Keyser to take first place in the event.

Recording wins for the Rams against Valley were Bruce Brown, Todd Beahm, Chad King, and John Lewis by way of pins and Brad King by decision.

Against Keyser, Brown, Chuck Hosteler, Beahm, Brad King, Doug Evans, and Chuck Fitzwater all recorded pins, while Jim Shaffer won by default.

The Southern grapplers will return to action on January 3 at Northern.

The meaning of Christmas easily becomes lost in the hurly-burly of the season. Give the children on your list a gentle reminder of the holiday's true spirit with inspirational books written especially for them. Choose "The Book for Children," "The Child's Book of Prayers," or "Old Testament Bible Stories for Children," with its companion cassette tape. Give the true spirit of the season from The Book Market..

Inducts Two

Two new members, Linda Kitzmiller and Sara Jane Kuhn, were inducted during the meeting by Cosette Harman, membership chairman, and Phyllis Buckel, president. Linda Kitzmiller, of Sky Valley, is a member of the quality control staff for Westvaco's Luke mill, and Mrs. Kuhn, Oakland, is a network administration clerk for C&P Telephone Company.
